DEALERS !!

Having just secured the stock of a well known Western dealer, as well as two or three smaller properties, we are anxious to raise cash quickly, so will sacrifice part of it at practically cost price. Included are some very desirable lines of both used and unused stamps, which we can offer by the 10 or 100. This offer only holds good for about 10 days, so write at once if you wish to take advantage of it.

WANTED!

IN SUPERB CONDITION.

The following stamps of France:

1849-50, 10c, 15c, 40c, 1f Carmine, 1f Vermilion.

Also old Europeans.

I solicit approval selections and will return them the same day as received, in the same manner in which they are sent.

Square Montholon, PARIS, 9, FRANCE
Reference, First-class dealers in U. S. [94]

in quantity—as for instance those of Cyprus, Mauritius or Nova Scotia. They came on to the market in the early nineties of last century—but have long been "worked off." Few dealers possess great stocks of these stamps, and they must certainly be of very safe investment, as it is impossible that they will ever depreciate in value.

It is said that when the plates were being destroyed, some one secured "broken pieces" of several, showing perhaps five or six each stamps, and that they proceeded to reprint from these. It is hardly likely when destroying plates, that they would "break" them up. More likely they would be defaced with a chisel and then "scrapped." I do not think anyone need fear any reprints of these issues.

H. Wesley Legg gives a remarkable illustration of the power of the WEEKLY to pull business. We will allow Mr. Legg to tell his own story.

PEPPERILL, MASS., Dec. 24, 1909.

To the Editor:

In the WEEKLY of Dec. 18th, I advertised the current U. S. on experimental bluish paper and at this moment I have just filled the 100th order. As this is the largest number of replies to any "ad" I have ever had in the WEEKLY (or any other paper) I thought it might interest you to know it.

With compliments of the season,

Yours faithfully,

H. Wesley Legg.

We do not need to make any comment on the above. It simply shows that stamps marked at proper prices are bound to sell.

DESIGN FOR COVER WANTED.

We Shall Celebrate—In March, 1910, the WEEKLY expects to issue its one thousandth number and naturally, it is the intention to make the issue suitably commemorative of the achievement of our paper. We wish to begin our task of preparation for the number by considering the design for the cover and we appeal to our readers for suggestions as to what form it should take. The alert minds of readers will grasp what would be striking and appropriate for the occasion. The cover must convey in convincing way the philatelic theme and the number that is celebrated; it must represent the union of philately and the millennial issue of the WEEKLY. For the best idea, according to our views and needs, conforming to the conditions mentioned, an award of $5 will be made; two other payments of $3 and $2, respectively, will be given to the two who furnish the "good" and the "better" designs in comparison with the "best" which receives the $5 preferment. In this particular competition an important qualification must be named. The prizes are to be conferred according to the judgment of the publishers; for instance, the $5 will be sent to the person whose sketch or idea is used even though it may not be so finished or artistic a production as some of the other designs. Practicability and adaptability must be consulted in making the choice; and entrants will please bear in mind the position of the publishers. The contest will close January 15th, 1910. There will be fame for the successful artist, as the one thousandth issue will be a big edition of the commemorative number which will be well circulated throughout the world.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT,
 1204 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Imperial Philatelic Association, J. Russell Reed, Sec., 39 Rindge Ave., N. Cambridge, Mass., will shortly publish a philatelic reference book, containing lists of philatelic publications, societies, catalogs, dealers and information generally useful to collectors. A few pages will be reserved for advertising.

—John M. Hubbard, Rochester, N. H., has composed and published a march dedicated to Hon. Henry B. Quinby, governor of the state. Some months ago we noted that Mr. Hubbard had placed upon the market Canney's March, dedicated to Grand Master C. H. Canney of the I. O. O. F.

—Cleveland Bundie favors us with specimens of the W. A. T. A. label described last week in our columns.

—The I. X. L. Stamp & Coin Co. sends us a clipping noting the death of John Hopkins, who is stated to be "The first man to drive the historic pioneer pony express that carried the mail overland from St. Louis to San Francisco."

—We have received a copy of the Waterbury American containing an interview with Wm. D. Pierson, a local philatelist, in which he deals with the advantages of stamp collecting in such a way as to make it a valuable contribution to recruiting literature.

—Geo. T. Bush sends us a cordial word of greeting. We quote from his communication, "Best wishes for the season from one of your A. P. S. supporters. I start on a trip around the world in January, to be gone six months."

—The Hussman Stamp Co. has ordered a square permanent insertion on page 8, supplementary to the two other positions already occupied by this firm.

—W. C. Emery, 50 Dawes St., Springfield, Mass., has been appointed Sales Supt. of the U. S. R. S. and is desirous of receiving stamps for circuits, and as well requests for circuits. For information address him as given above.

—Howard C. Bartlett sends us a couple of clippings from Wisconsin papers. One from the Wilwaukee Sentinel is an interesting sketch about the stamp fad with a local coloring. Mr. Bartlett also submits a specimen of the Xmas label issued by the W. A. T. A. to fight the white plague. The label is in the familiar red and green colors, but is about twice the size of the red cross stamp. At the top are three bells and underneath a wreath with the usual inscriptions enclosed.

—The story with variations is still going the rounds of the press of the young lady who insists on using 3c stamps on correspondence in order to harmonize with her lavender stationery. The latest is from the N. Y. Tribune. Clipping from F. W. Graham.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

(Under this heading we note the receipt of catalogs, price lists, etc., from advertisers using the WEEKLY. Where addresses are given samples may always be obtained post free.—Ed.)

—Picture post card "Temple of Heaven," Peking, from Jun Kobayagawa Co.

—Clippings from J. A. Wainwright (2), Chas. E. Fisher, Giles H. Dickinson (3), E. R. Vanderhoof, M. A. Lesser (2), and Walter M. Smith.

A PHILATELIC CHRISTMAS TREE.

"A little nonsense now and then,
 Is relished by the best of men."

This old adage was fully proven on the evening of the 21st of December, when the members of the Philadelphia Stamp Club met to the number of forty to celebrate their Christmas meeting. The entertainment committee had provided a Christmas tree beautifully decorated with a number of bright colored electric lights and glass ornaments, and over the whole was arranged a shower of favors, one for each member. The favors consisted of a card bearing an embossed wreath of holly, enclosing the date "1909" and below the wreath in old English type "Greeting from the Philadelphia Stamp Club" on the opposite and each card bore a stamp covered by a band of holly paper bearing an appropriate Christmas stamp. Each card was numbered, and the members drew lots for the stamp prizes, which listed from 5c to $1.25 each. This is the first instance of a philatelic Christmas tree on record, and to say that the members enjoyed the occasion is putting it very mild. Mr. Steinmetz presented the club library with a number of valuable philatelic works, making the presentation with very beautiful and complimentary remarks. An auction of 101 lots completed the evening's entertainment, which was voted as one of the most enjoyable the club had experienced.

Auction (High-Grade) Sales

To Buyers

I am revising my auction mailing list. Hereafter catalogs will be sent regularly only to those requesting them. A few sample copies will be mailed to outsiders each time, but if you want to be certain of receiving all catalogs promptly as issued, please write me to that effect.

To Sellers

I am now working on a sale to be held in January, but can include about one hundred more lots if I receive them immediately. Write to me for my unusual terms if you have anything choice to sell.

they dispense so freely during the season; and when they returned home, they had forgotten the queries. We repeat the questions and anxiously await what happens; for the sake of the WEEKLY's reputation, we hope that something will. Here are the questions:

Dividing lines—1895 watermarked issue of U. S. A. stamps.

1. In the 1, 2 and 10c plates with 400 on, I understand there is a printed line through the centre perpendicularly and also through the centre horizontally, dividing the sheet into four panes—each of 100 stamps, and that it was through these printed dividing lines that the sheets were cut before distribution. This explains the top, bottom, left and right hand "cut edge" varieties, and also the 4 varieties each with one long and one short cut edge. Most of these I have, showing the dividing lines not cut away.

(a) Are there any other lines on these plates?

(b) Are there any other of the values of this issue with 400 on plate?

2. If the 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 15, 50c, and 1, 2, $5 plates were all 200 on:—

(a) Are the two 10x10 panes placed horizontally on the plate, with a perpendicular dividing line between them? I assume it is so as I have nearly all these values each with cut edge and dividing line not cut away at left, and also at right hand side.

(b) What is the object of the horizontal line to be found along top and also along bottom edge of the "perforated all round" stamps of these values? I have all values up to and including $1.

(c) In what position on the plate was this line placed?

(d) Is it on the plate of the 2 and $5?

In the same type, 1898, change of colour.

I have 10c with line and cut edge at top, and also at bottom; and I have just obtained a copy of this 10c with line and perforations at bottom. Why the difference?

THE STAMP MARKET.

By SENAX.

Looking through an old list I see the 15 paras Servia, surcharged Arms, 1903, priced wholesale at a much lower figure than it can be got now-a-days, and snap my fingers in vexation that I didn't invest in a few hundreds. I sold a copy to-day for 2d and think it cheap at that figure. By the way, the 15 paras of 1905 does not seem to be so frequently employed in the post as it once was; anyhow, it is a good penny stamp.

A seller of Mozambique has hard luck sometimes. Brittle, crackable, with wonderful capacities for face peeling, and a head that sometimes drops entirely out of the frame on account of the severity of the embossing, perfect copies of the 1885 series should be worth all they are priced.

Of Bosnia, 1906, used values above the 10c are coming to hand freely, and have a good sale. Among the 35h I found a copy perforated 12 1/2 by 9 1/2 by 7; this ought to be worth something to a specialist!

Older issues of Bosnia, now gradually coming into popularity on account of the European revival, should perhaps be ventured upon carefully; in this field there are some heavy postmarks.

Some of the Brazil Services come to hand crushed and crumpled, probably by being used on parcels; pressure between sheets of damp blotting paper is found to be an effective straightener.

I had an idea that 6d for a set of four Azores, 1906, was dear, until I came to handle a sample lot of these. Nice copies being hard to find it seems hopeless to attempt to sell the set for less.

Used 1c values of Madagascar, 1904, must be elevated to the rank of penny stamps, since their cost is about double what it used to be; in a list before me it is priced even higher than the 4c denomination, which is not too easy to get.

Seeking to buy old issues of French Unpays of the dozen, the price is found to approach in some cases to nearly full catalogue value. And the price per ten copies for the French 3c yellow on buff of 1877, and the 1c, 2c, 4c and 10c greens of the same date, is close enough to the retail quotation to almost rub shoulders.

Quotations for some South African stamps may entice by the lowness of the figure, but the buyer should ascertain whether the parcel contains fiscally as well as postally used.

It is noticeable that when any older issue is quoted for, in the price lists, the quotation does not usually stand for very long; to this remark there are exceptions, but a buyer is perhaps wise where he invests in the stamps that are least accessible.

The interest displayed among recent Panamas has apparently led to a wider appreciation of the older issues of this territory, for some correspondents have nice lots of the 1892 issue, and these are good things to have.

The 5 piastre Egypt O. H. H. S. is a more frequent quotation per dozen than it used to be.

The 50c and 1 peso Mexico are also obtainable occasionally in dozens, are usually nicely cancelled, and are good sellers.

Persistent enquiry for the 12c, 15c and 20c Mexico, 1895, in good condition, should prove a profitable venture.

Some time ago an American correspondent sent a few copies of the 5c Ecuador, 1904, at a few pence a piece; these, in one English catalogue, are now priced 3s each. It would be interesting to know whether this set is really scarce.

"Attractive" stamps are the kind most enquired for, and one wonders what is to become of the less glorious sorts.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

UNITED STATES.—B. D. Forster reports that the $2 New York State Transfer stamp of the current issue is now issued with multiple surcharge in greenish blue instead of maroon, as heretofore.

L. Williams reports receiving a 2c stamp, with a new mailing machine perforation, which came from Chicago. The dark line forming the outside of the design is missing on the right side. As there is a broad margin on that side, the edge could not have been clipped off.

J. Arthur Wainwright reports having seen Permit No. 1, of Baltimore, Md., but with no value before the word "Paid." The postage was paid by 13c and 8c stamps.

BOLIVIA.—Hermann Focke sends us two covers from Bolivia showing the 2c value of the commemorative set, the 20c having been previously noted. The 2c has the portrait of Coronel Ignacio Warnes, and the date is "27 de Noviembre de 1817." Mr. Focke calls attention to a curious blunder in the 20c. The name under the celebrity reads originally "Estevan Arze" which is wrong, as it should be "Esteban" in Spanish, consequently the letter "V" has been altered either by print or by script into "B"; I have several of these two varieties, but have none with a definite "B" for "V."

BULGARIA.—A new series of stamps is in preparation, to consist of 10 values, two less than the current set. The stamps are being prepared by Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co., London. An issue of 165,000,000 stamps of all values has been ordered, the face value being about $1,800,000.

ECUADOR.—Hermann Focke shows a cover having two of the tall 5c fiscal stamps used for postage, without any surcharge. They are dated "1909-1910."

JAPAN.—We have already chronicled the 4s in a new shade. John Terry now shows the 1s in a new shade, and informs us that he has also seen the 15s and 50s in new shades.

Adhesive.

1s pale red brown.

NEW ZEALAND.—A complete new set of stamps has been issued for the "Dominion of New Zealand," as the inscriptions on the new stamps read. The stamps are of the same size as the current Canadian set, but have a different portrait of the King. In fact there are two portraits used, the 1/2d being different from the others in the set. The 1d stamp still appears in a modification of the familiar "Universal Postage" design. All the stamps have "Dominion of" in a straight line at the top, with "New Zealand" in a curved line just below. The value in words appears in a straight line at the bottom of each value, with the value in figures in small shields at the sides, near the bottom on the 8d and 1sh values, at the centre on the 1d and near the top on the balance of the set. Each stamp shows minor differences in the ornaments, though the Imperial Crown occupies a prominent place on all the values except the 1d, and there are three crowns on the 4d. The 1/2d and 1d stamps are perforated 14x15 1/2, and the balance of the set 14, all being on paper watermarked single lined NZ and star. We are indebted to Hermann Focke for an opportunity to examine the new stamps, which were issued November 6.

previous designs, but in the case of the centime values the designs are enlarged to the same size as the franc values. The letter "c" is added also to all the centime values, in a very small type near the top of the figure, with a period below the letter. There are minor differences all through the stamps, though naturally less on the franc values, than on those that have been enlarged. The appearance of the whole set is greatly improved. There is no 15c in the set as shown. All the stamps are in new colors, and the perforation has been changed to 13x14.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—The 2sh 6d stamp, with large postage, has appeared on Crown A paper.

SPAIN.—A new set of stamps is in process of issue, the 15c value having been shown us by the New England Stamp Co., while Ewen's Weekly notes the issue of the 5c value also. An entirely new design has been prepared, the King's head appearing in a small circle near the top of the stamp. The portrait is the same as that used on the last issues of Rio de Oro and Spanish Guinea. The circle containing the portrait is surmounted by a crown, while small shields in the upper corners contain the figures of value to the left and the abbreviated denomination to the right. "Espana" is printed in white letters below the tablet, while "Correos" is just below in colored letters and a curved line. The stamps are a great improvement in design over the previous issue, though radically different in appearance. They still have control letters on the back. The remainder of the values and colors given below we draw from Lemaire's Collectionneur.

TURKS AND CAICOS ISLANDS.—Louis G. Barrett suggests that the "strange object" in the lower corner of the new stamps is probably a "sea anemone," commonly found in southern waters.

A 10% New Issue Service And Its Actual Cost Over Face Value.

Few collectors realize the smallness of the premium that the above implies.

In 1909 the entire percentage and postage, only amounted to the following:

	2sh 6d value	£	s	d
For stamps supplied up to and including	2sh 6d value	10	0	0
" " " " " 10sh	10sh	17	8	0
" " " " " £1	£1	1	7	0
" " " " " £2	£2	1	7	0
" " " " " £5	£5	1	7	0
" " " " without limit of		2	7	0

The Service being up-to-date the above percentages were incurred upon the actual New Issues of this year only, i. e. from June to December.

Thus every customer had, for a uniform percentage, the advantage of receiving, without preference, all the stamps his limit demanded, irrespective of any premium they might be commanding over face, no payment in advance being made (any deposits being merely optional, and to save trouble of small remittances).

I have never proposed, nor do I now, to supply New Issues without profit, but I claim that consistently with a thorough and regular Service, the above rate is shown to be the most economical possible, or now in operation.

Beyond the success that has already attended the above Service, a guarantee of its continuation is that afforded by a world wide business, the satisfaction of my customers, and an active direction.

The rate is uniform. Distributions are complete, and the accounts are simple in the extreme.

Any further particulars will be promptly given upon application.

Switzerland came to the fore and shew the progress attained by collectors in the 1st few years. The idea was readily taken up, as it is now 14 years since the last International Philatelic Exhibition was held in Switzerland. A number of philatelists have already promised their coöperation and we trust this Exhibition will be really international in the widest meaning of the term.

I shall take the liberty of advising you regularly of any points that may interest your readers and hope that you will give us the assistance of your journal to help to make a success of our Exhibition. Believe me,

The regular monthly meeting of the New England Philatelic Association was held Tuesday evening, Dec. 14th, 1909, at 28 School St., Room 1, Boston, Mass. Meeting was called to order at 8 p. m. by the Pres., H. Wesley Legg. Minutes of the November meeting read and approved. Treasurer's report read and accepted, showing good balance on hand. Two names, viz., Mr. Percy M. G. Mann of Philadelphia, Pa., and Frank A. Dodge of Cambridge, Mass., proposed for membership. These by the Constitution lay over until the January meeting. The meeting then took a recess subject to the call of the chair and an informal talk on the 15th Anniversary of the association was held. It was decided to hold a banquet after the regular meeting at the Crawford House, Boston, Mass. Tickets to same were placed at $2.00, the actual cost of the banquet. Members present subscribed the sum of forty dollars to cover the cost of incidentals and invited guests, with more to hear from.

To the Members of the American Philatelic Society:

Your Board of Vice-Presidents, after having devoted considerable time in investigating conditions prevailing as to books of stamps placed in the Sales Department for circulation, in endeavoring to hit upon a plan which will tend to lessen trifling offenses in substitution, have, by virtue of the supervisory powers vested in them by the by-laws, formulated the following rules for the safeguarding of members' stamps sent to the Sales Superintendent to be circulated.

I.—Stamps should be mounted in alphabetical order by countries, and in numerical order according to the catalogue.

II.—Scott's catalogue number and value, and also net selling price should be written under each stamp.

III.—All pricing to be done in ink.

IV.—It is suggested that all stamps circulated be in fine condition, except those cataloguing $1 and over. Attention should be called to every defect in brief remarks over the stamps, i.e., repaired, thin spot, tear, straight edge, cut close, etc.

V.—Claims for substitutions occurring in books sent to the Sales Superintendent after this date and not in accordance with the above rules will not be allowed.

VI.—In all claims for substitution aggregating $2 and over, claimants shall file with the Sales Superintendent the original book containing the substituted stamp or stamps, and shall specify, under oath, the stamp or stamps removed, and its or their value, and shall also state that the said substitution was made while the stamp or stamps were in the custody and control of the Sales Superintendent before being retired by him.

VII.—All claims for substitution amounting to less than $2 must be certified to upon the honor of the claimant.

VIII.—The Sales Superintendent shall fine any member for detaining a book over three days, as per Article VIII, Section 2, of the by-laws, and the refusal of any member to pay such fine, which when levied becomes a debt to the association, shall be sufficient cause for denying to the member the privileges of the Sales Department.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

The New Year is with us once more and we are entering upon what should be the best year of our existence to date. Let us all strive to do our share willingly and not say, "Let George Do It." Let's do it ourself. Surely we have outgrown our swaddling clothes and are able to walk alone now. There are many bright minds in this society that could materially advance its power of production in many ways if they would only devote unselfishly a few minutes to the cause. Can't we get you, Mr. Member with the Bright Mind, to do what others would be glad to do if possible. Let's make this year 1910 the best ever, and set a mark that will make other years to come struggle and sweat to eclipse what this year has produced. Will you act?

How about the Battle Cry for this year. Don't forget it! It is On to Detroit, 2000-1910. That means that we have just six months to get the remaining 155 plus those that are dropped for non-payment of dues. If you want to see who some of the real workers in this society are, just scan the list of Applications Received each week and note who are working to attain the desired result. Can't you get your name there also.

To Every Member:—

A 1910 Toast.

Here's to your health, and to your family's health, and may you both live long and prosper.

FOREIGN NOTES AND NEWS.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

King Oscar's Beard.—Ill. Briefm. Journal relates that recently the Royal opera at Stockholm presented for the first time the new play "Oscar I." The actor Ferrasi, who was given the title role, was ordered by the director of the opera to make up with a full beard. During one of the intermissions Ferrasi hunted up the director and remarked that Oscar I never wore such a beard. "What kind of beard did he use then?" "Moustache and goatee, like Napoleon III."

"Ah, go on! How do you know that for sure?"

"From my postage stamp collection." A change had to be made, and at the second performance the public observed with astonishment that King Oscar had altered the style of his beard. To stamp collectors it is hardly necessary to point out that Mr. Ferrasi obtained his information by looking up the issue of Norway of 1856-57.

Germany's Recruits.—There is no country where greater attention has been given to the encouraging of stamp collecting, and the fostering of philatelic tendencies amongst the school boys than in Germany. At the last German national convention of philatelic societies at Carlsbad, Mr. Franz Balke, a well known pedagogist and writer, read an excellent paper entitled, "Philatelic training for youths." The author relates that in 1899 the Revue Philatelique Francaise addressed to a number of philatelists a few questions of which the first and most important read: What must be done, and what must be avoided in order that the collecting of postage stamps may be continued in its present flowering state?

There is as much reason for a serious consideration of that question today as there was ten years ago, and to us, who have given so little thought to the subject, it may be of interest to learn the views of a German teacher and educator. With "philatelic training for youths" the author means a systematic training of youngsters having the collecting instinct, so that they may become reasoning, order-loving and thinking postage stamp collectors. In his opinion there are two kinds of philatelic training for youths. One is a training from a strictly philatelic point of view. The other is a creation of interest in philately by its introduction in the school work and its treatment from a pedagogic point of view. The latter method is more preparatory, and suitable for school boys up to 14 years of age. The strictly philatelic training is more concerned with the modern knowledge of postage stamps, with skilled philatelists as teachers and boys of from 14 to 18 years as pupils.

During the last 4 years special stamp exhibitions for young collectors, with liberal prize awards, have been held at Mulhausen, Basel, Leipzig, Hamburg, Meerane, Augsburg, Erfurt, Regensburg, Munich, Hanover, Stuttgart and Cologne. Most of the exhibitions took place between November and January. The number of entries at the Munich exhibition was 80, at Leipzig 51 and at Hamburg 50. The age of the exhibitors varied from 10 to 18 years. Neatness in mounting and carefulness in arrangement carried most weight in the awarding of the prizes. The latter consisted of money, albums, catalogues, good stamps, nicely engraved diplomas, etc. At Leipzig, 200 marks were divided between nine prize winners. It should be mentioned that all these exhibitions have been arranged by the local philatelic societies and have been accompanied by series of lectures suited to the youthful audiences.

The philatelic societies of Erfurt and Mulhausen arranged philatelic lecture courses for boys with an attendance at the former place of 64 and at the latter of 40. The subjects treated upon included the principles of collecting, the treatment of the stamps, varieties and most renowned stamps of different countries, history in philately, geography in philately, etc. After the lectures the boys were invited to ask questions, and each session closed with a free distribution of stamps.

Enough has been gathered from this first part of Mr. Balke's paper, reprinted in the Ill. Briefm. Journ., to indicate why there are more stamp collectors, more dealers and more philatelic societies in Germany than in any other from a client to secure certain U. S. stamps for him in order to finish up his collection. They are all to be unused, gum not essential, but pen cancelled and washed copies will not pass the eagle eyes of our detective bureau.

HERE ARE THE STAMPS WANTED

1851, 1c full scrolls, also broken circle
1875, Continental Re-issues, all values
1880, American special prints
1879, American B. N. Co., regular issue 10c black brown
1867, 3c with grille 18x15
1882, 10c re-engraved, mint copies

We are always in the market to buy U. S., provided they are unused and very fine—also blocks of all issues, especially 1898.

LAST CALL FOR HOOPER AUCTION BIDS

Sale Takes Place January 14th and 15th, 1910.

If you have not already sent your bids for the Hooper sale, it would be to your interest to look up the catalogue and send them at once. If by any possibility you failed to receive the catalogue, let us know, and we shall be glad to send another copy.

This sale comprises the large collection and accumulations of Mrs. L. C. Hooper of Winnipeg, Canada. Over 200 of the rare Pence issues of Canada, Pence and Shillings of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland; in fact, practically everything of British North America is included. There are also many fine U. S. and Departments, British Colonials, etc. It will pay you to attend this sale in person if you live within 100 miles of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT,

1204 CHESTNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Lane, London, W. C., Eng. Price 12c. This handbook on Uruguay is known as "S. C. F." Philatelic Handbook No. 2 and is a reprint of a translation from the French of Sigismund Jean, which has appeared in installments in the publication above referred to. It is edited by Mr. Bishop, who calls attention to the fact that since the book has appeared in the columns of his paper Jean's "Plan of the Sheet of 240c Red" has been questioned by Mons. de Reuterskiold, who seems to be able to refute the Jean theory and correctly places the seven clichés of the 180c stamp which were responsible for the error of color 180c red. Mons. de Reuterskiold places these errors as follows:

Fourth horizontal row, Nos. 5 and 11.

Ninth horizontal row, Nos. 5 and 11.

Fourteenth horizontal row, Nos. 5 and 11.

Seventeenth horizontal row, No. 11.

The book consists of 84 pages and is fully illustrated. The chapter on postmarks will prove of special interest to specialists in the stamps of this country.

The Avery Collection.—By W. H. Peckitt. We find no advertised price in connection with this publication and the nature of the card enclosed leads us to believe that this book is being sent out as a form of Christmas remembrance.

It is one that will certainly be appreciated by the philatelist who comes into possession of a copy. Mr. Peckitt's purchase of the celebrated Avery collection has been fully exploited in the philatelic press and this book serves to make one a little more intimately acquainted with some of the great rarities of the collection.

The book is printed on heavy calendered paper, the frontispiece showing a fine half-tone of the late Sir Wm. B. Avery. Other pages show illustrations of such gems as a magnificent block of twenty of the 1d V. R. Great Britain; a reconstructed sheet of the British Guiana, 1862, 4c black on blue; complete sheets of Nevis 4d rose, 6d lithographed and 1sh blue-green engraved; pair of Moldavia 27 paras; Naples 1/2 tornese, block of eight used on entire envelope; Geneva 5c large eagle, two top rows of sheets with marginal inscriptions; a Millbury; a 2c Baton Rouge with error "McCmack"; and many other rarities too numerous to mention.

This book with its interesting descriptive text accompanied by a wealth of illustration will prove a very acceptable Christmas greeting and we congratulate Mr. Peckitt upon his enterprise in conceiving it and the ability with which it has been executed.

Bright's A. B. C. Catalog, Part II.—Published by Bright & Son, 164 Strand, London, W. C., Eng. Price 42c, post-free. This catalog should have a good sale in view of the fact that postcards, envelopes, and wrappers are receiving but scant attention at the hands of catalog makers. The book before us devotes ten pages to U. S. issues, which will give one an idea of the comprehensive nature of the book. Illustrations are frequent, sufficiently so to provide a helpful guide to the collector in quest of pictorial information. Messrs. Bright & Son have been advertising this catalog in recent issues of the WEEKLY and we sincerely trust all who are interested in postal stationery will make it their duty to supply themselves with a copy of this book. We shall not undertake to make any comment on the prices as we do not feel qualified for the task.

The book on United States stamps by Eustace B. Power, concerning which there has been no lack of preliminary announcements of a kind calculated to whet keen anticipation, has appeared; and we say that the result is one that justifies all expectation, even though it may have been of most ardent character. Mr. Power, who by intuition and training, is a stamp student of advanced class, early found that the stamps of the United States presented a most worthy field for the concentration of interest; and in the book are incorporated some particulars of individual research that loan an instructive cast of no mean order to the text, although Mr. Power avows that there is no originality in the work.

To us, the main distinction of the work lies in its great utility; it gives information of practical, working value. It tells what stamps are most susceptible to cleaning agents and so, usually selected to be "made anew." It speaks of other of the tricks of the unscrupulous,—the thinning of card board proofs and the perforating and gumming of them, as well as india paper proofs; of the erasure of "specimen"; of the pressing out of "grills" of the 1869 issue; and other malpractice. The cautionary signals hoisted by Mr. Power will be of almost inestimable value to the average reader of the book.

A most excellent feature of the book is the pricing of normal varieties, shades and reprints. How meaningless it would be to mention, for instance, that there was a rare shade of the three-cent, 1861, i. e., claret, as Mr. Power calls it, and say nothing of price. An impression is made on the mind of the reader by the quotation of the price, forty dollars, unused; he knows that it really is something out of the way. As to prices, there is no excuse for Mr. Power if he has rated them inequitably and not truly reflective of conditions; his long and active experience must count for something.

Attention is given to cancellations and the colors of the obliterations on the stamps of early issue are mentioned in their degrees of scarcity; this is an amplification of the ordinary treatment

EDITORIAL.

Beware—A reader sends a warning that we hasten to publish. He says that at this time of year, fumigation of homes is commonly resorted to either at the suggestion of the authorities in cases of sickness or for the same or other sanitary reasons by citizens generally. He says that especial care should be exercised under these conditions to remove stamps that are around loosely, as if they are not lying away from the heavy fumes of the chemicals, havoc will be played with the colors of the stamps. The affinity of sulphur for many colors is known and the fumigants are likely to emphasize this attachment. Caution would suggest that all stamps even those reposing in albums be removed from the zone of the penetrating fumes.

Discouraging—From the English philatelic press we learn that the well-conceived plan of the petitioners appointed at the congress of the philatelic societies of Great Britain to the Postal Union authorities for the suppression of unnecessary stamps has received a discouraging check from the Hon. Sydney Buxton, postmaster-general of Great Britain. In the course of a letter to the committee the officer says: "The Postmaster-General desires me to say that as he reserves to himself the absolute right to decide whether any particular issue of postage stamps in this country is necessary for the public service, he could not well be a party to an international arrangement which would tend to limit his powers in this respect." The position of the postmaster-general is a consistent one and perhaps it does not surprise those experienced men who have undertaken their task so well. As intimated by the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly, it is probable that the postmaster-general did not wholly understand the circumstances; he was solicited to send the petition to Berne even though it may not have had his endorsement. It is generally found that the postal governors of a great country are quick to resent any fancied or real interference with what they regard as the broad public policy of the department. Our contemporary says meaningly: "A general election is impending and in February next it is not impossible that we may have at St. Martin's-le-Grand a Postmaster-General who is disposed to take a more sympathetic view of the movement initiated by the first Philatelic Congress in February last." Let statesmen be taught that there is a philatelic vote to be reckoned with!

Suggested—Recently, H. W. Wolseley of Chicago, sold his nineteenth century collection at auction through J. C. Morgenthau & Company; the sale attracted no little attention and at our solicitation Mr. Wolseley has submitted a few particulars of the sale, supplementing them with remarks of general philatelic interest. Mr. Wolseley retains his twentieth century stamps which he collects in his careful characteristic manner. The amount realized for the Wolseley stamps was 52½% of catalogue value; and so, the owner thinks he may felicitate himself upon having had many years of pleasure from them at what proves to be merely a nominal annual expenditure. The condition exactions demanded by Mr. Wolseley were amply justified by the results; yet his condition standards were intelligently established and varied according to the average of the separate country. His Fijis and early New South Wales inspired sharp competition and high prices. His superb special collection of Straits Settlements vindicated the wisdom of extreme specialism. Mr. Wolseley pays a tribute to the stamp dealers; in every case where it was discovered years afterwards that they had sold a repaired stamp unwittingly as a perfect copy and accepted by him as such, the money was refunded. There was no disposition on the part of dealers to plead lapse of time or otherwise evade the responsibility. As indicating the care with which serious collectors proceed nowadays, Mr. Wolseley says that he noticed that rare imperforate stamps that are the same in design and otherwise as the comparatively common perforated stamps bring weak prices unless the margins of the imperforates are beyond cavil.

Not Infallible—It looks as though too much dependence is not to be placed on postmark dates. We have had a two-cent Columbian called to our attention bearing a date early in 1892 or long before the stamps were distributed to the postoffices. A reader says that he has various interesting transpositions and mistakes in postmark dates. From London comes a story of how a fraudulent use of "post-office date stamps" to further a betting scheme was nipped in its infancy by a postal employee who pretended to acquiesce in the arrangement of the conspirators.

Once Again—We are under the necessity of repeating the conditions under which the Penflip prize will be awarded, as an omission was made in the list of monetary units that enter so essentially into the great problem, as outlined last week. We repeat the list as given and make this addition to the question propounded by Louis G. Barrett: "What British colony, at present issuing postage stamps, expressed on some of its earlier issues, a monetary unit other than pounds, shillings, pence or divisional of a penny; rupees, annas, and pies; or dollars and cents; or centimos, pesetas, paras or piastres?" To the one who returns the best answer to the foregoing question, the renowned Parnassus Penflip has offered a prize. Penflip says: "The honorarium will be a British colonial stamp whose facial expression will not be less than five shillings."

* * *

Be Watchful—The stimulated interest in stamps on the original covers has turned the attention of the faking crew to this collecting division as a field for their misapplied industry. The fraudulent productions do not take the form of counterfeit stamps on the envelope but of altered or manipulated stamps that are canceled or postmarked by imitation, and paraded as authentic examples. For instance, the notorious Wolle, affixed a proof of the 24-cent 1851, after "ageing" it, on the envelope, and postmarked the stamp. His type one, 1851 one-cent was the common type two with the scrolls added carefully in ink the color of the stamp, and in this case, the postmark on the original variety performed its part innocently enough, in the deception. In the newest crop of original covers to which attention has been called by a reader is a pair of proofs, three pence red Canada, 1852, that has been perforated and used on the envelope since they left the possession of a former owner, several years ago. In many instances the fraud in the case of original covers is one that concerns postmarks and cancellations; but occasionally, a forged stamp is placed on the envelope in the hope that the details such as markings on the envelope and the stamp will obscure the bad char-

UNITED STATES.—Cecil W. King reports having a current 1c precancel of Boston, Mass., which has the first "O" in Boston broken, so that it forms a "U", the word reading "Buston".

E. W. Murray sends us the following new precancels:

Youngstown, Ohio, 1c 1908; reading down. Union Stock Yards, East St. Louis, Ill., 4c 1908; reading down.

The latter was used by a firm in East St. Louis, and mailed at the Stock Yards Station. Both stamps were precancelled by a rubber stamp, applied diagonally.

Mr. Murray has also sent us two cotton bale crosstags of the series G and D. These seals were buried at Duval's Bluff by the Federals to prevent them falling into the hands of the Confederates, at the time the Federals evacuated the Bluff to reinforce the Federal army at Helena, Ark. The seals remained buried up to last summer, when some boys digging worms for fish bait dug them up. Some of the dirt is still on one of them. They are quite interesting. G. W. FRANK P. BROWN COMPANY, a copy of the present 2c envelope on amber manila paper.

L. E. Flick submits a 2c stamp of the current series, which has a mark, almost important enough to be called a secret mark. It appears on all the stamps in the four last rows of Plate No. 5119, though which quarter of the full sheet Mr. Flick does not say. In the colorless oval ring surrounding Washington's head is a colored dot, exactly opposite the point of the nose. It does not appear on other plate numbers.

Robert J. Wagner sends a 1c Permit from Cleveland, Ohio, which has an additional 1c Permit printed with a rubber stamp, making the total amount of the postage 2c. The original permit was in an upright oblong, while that printed from the rubber stamp was a horizontal oblong.

Mr. Wagner suggests that it is not unusual for the Postage Due stamps to be cancelled in sheets before using, thus saving the labor of cancelling each individual stamp.

Mr. Wagner also says: "The improvement in perforating the current stamps is most marked. As I sell stamps over the counter, I notice that a poorly perforated sheet now is more uncommon than a well perforated one was before. The Department was frequently criticized a short time ago for poor perforating, but so far I have seen no favorable comment on the improvement."

AFGHANISTAN.—Five new stamps are reported from this country, the three higher values being of large size and supposed to be for parcels post stamps. The meaning of the word "Urusun" is not clear, though it is supposed to mean in the vernacular, the singular form of "rupie." The designs of all the stamps is considerably modified from the previous issue, the principal difference being a rayed circle surrounding the mosque and flags. The stamps are perforated 13 1/4.

STAMPS OF SERIES 1894 TO 1901.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS.

(Our readers will be greatly interested in the from the Bureau of Engraving records. We valuable to students of U. S. issues.—Ed.)

I have obtained the following answers to the questions asked editorially in the Jan. 1 issue. I got them from the records at the Bureau of Engraving through a special courtesy extended to me by the Director, so I think you can assure your readers that the answers are absolutely correct and not mere guess work or belief through having parts of sheets.

Par. 1, Q. (a) Answer. No. None of the plates made prior to Dec. 4, 1895, contained any lines, the guides for the operators of the perforating machines being indicated on the margins by tridents.

Q. (b) Answer. Yes, the first four plates of the three cent, four cent and five cent were made with four hundred on the plates but, as stated above, bore no guide lines. Further than that I might say that the last four plates made of the 10 cent prior to the "Series of 1902" were printed 200 to the plate and are the only ten cent stamps ever printed that way.

Par. 2, Q. (a) Answer. Yes. Q. (b) Answer. There was no line at the top or bottom of any of the plates. The line in question was a horizontal guide line dividing the panes of 100 into two parts but was used only as a guide line and was perforated instead of being cut. This guide line can be seen at the present time in the panes of 100 stamps of the higher denominations.

Q. (c) Answer. Same as (b). Q. (d) Answer. Yes. The answer to the last question in regard to the 10 cent 1898 issue will be found in the answer to question (b) Par. 1. The printing of the four plates with two hundred impressions instead of 400.

I append a list of the plate numbers concerned in these printings.

Three Cent:

Plates 44, 46, 47 and 48 prepared in August, 1894, had 400 stamps each. Plates 91, 95, 103 and 107 prepared in December, 1894, had 200 stamps each. And all subsequent plates had but 200 each. Always used on power presses.

Four Cent:

Plates 45, 50, 51 and 59 prepared in August, 1894, had 400 stamps each; plates 92, 94, 104 and 106, prepared in December, 1894, had 200 stamps each and all subsequent plates had but 200 each. Used on power presses.

Five Cent:

Plates 49, 53, 54 and 56, August, 1894, had 400 stamps each; plates 128, 129, 130 and 134, had 200 stamps and all subsequent plates had 200. Used on power presses.

Six Cent:

All plates were prepared with 200 on each and only one plate at a time. These were all printed on hand presses.

Eight Cent:

All plates were prepared with 200 on each. Plate 58 (February, 1895) and 249 (September, 1896) were used on hand presses. In September, 1899, four plates were prepared, Nos. 928, 929, 930 and 931, for use on power presses.

Ten Cent:

All plates up to and including No. 999 (April, 1900) were prepared with 400 subjects. The last four plates prepared prior to the "Series of 1902" were Nos. 1336-7-8-9 (January, 1902) and had 200 to the plate. These are the only 10c plates made with 200 impressions on.

All other denominations above the 10c were prepared with 200 impressions and were made one at a time for hand press work.

In regard to Plate 170 I have learned all that it is possible, I think, for anyone to learn. I was shown the first impression from this plate which is kept as a record at the Bureau and I find

I HATE U. S. STAMPS

That is what a collector said to us some time ago. Asked for a reason he said he got all twisted up in the varieties, and was unable to split the various printings into their proper issues. Noticing that many collectors are thus perplexed, and remembering that one of our largest clients came to us through our properly placing his U. S. for him, Mr. Power has written an important book on U. S. fully illustrating the various difficult points.

BUY IN AMERICA!

I have always claimed my new issue service as the best in America. I believe it is the best in the world! In a recent "ad" by a foreign dealer he claims that the stamps supplied over 25h 6d face and up to 5sh only cost at 10%, 3sh over face - this means he only supplied in a year six 5sh stamps and no 3sh. This is less than one half those issued. I have sent out 12, 3 and 5sh English Colonies, not to speak of Crete surcharges, Russian and Italian, Levant and many others.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Star Coin Book.—Published by B. Max Mehl, Fort Worth, Texas. "An elaborate encyclopedia" of rare American and foreign coins, giving the dates of all rare U. S. and foreign coins, paper money, etc. Mr. Mehl has placed upon the market a coin book of great value to the general public. Prices are quoted showing what is paid for the coins listed, but scattered through the book is a vast amount of interesting information.

In addition to the text there are no less than fifty-two full page half-tone plates, showing a wonderful variety of coins, including the U. S. $50 gold pieces of 1877, of which only two specimens are known. They were sold at $10,000 each, the highest price ever paid for a coin.

The "Query" column of many a paper devotes considerable attention to coin values and this book with quotations for copper half-cents, nickel, silver and gold pieces will prove a veritable mine of information.

Several pages are devoted to the "necessity money of the United States" and this section of the coin book alone would make the book of more than ordinary interest and value to the philatelist.

We take great pleasure in recommending it and feel that in this review we are doing scant justice to its many praise-worthy features. It consists of 132 large pages, printed on heavy calendar stock, and the price, 50c, will place it within the reach of everybody. We feel that we are doing the proper thing in strongly recommending the addition of this coin book to the library of every philatelist.

THE STAMP MARKET.

By SENAX.

Christmas brings an interlude in stamp transactions which may not be unwelcome. At the moment of writing trade has decreased to almost vanishing point, and may not be expected to revive till January. Such intervals can be turned to good account in the leisurely study of the wide field of stamp prices (a task that absorbs a good deal of time), in the arranging of one's stock or in the conception of new plans of action.

A price list comes to hand with "Merry Xmas" overprinted on the cover, a surcharge that shows kind forethought on the part of the author, and induces to a more than ordinary scrutiny of a list so courteously presented.

An American writer thinks that the "perfection craze" is dying out, and points out that one of the rarest stamps ever sold by auction was a damaged copy. I keep a stock book especially for the reception of damaged stamps, and it is noticeable that it is usually in an empty and stripped condition. Where a fine copy is worth 6d, a specimen with an imperceptible tear will readily fetch 2d or 3d, and sometimes a purchaser may be found for them wholesale at a few shillings per hundred. However, one's best faith is still in the fine copy.

In the case of stamps whose prices are falling, it should be wisest to stock only a limited quantity at a time. Any plunge into large purchases should be safeguarded by the total absence of any possibility of a fall.

It has been said that one way to wealth is to "buy cheap and sell dear." Perhaps it is quite as good a method to buy cheap and sell cheap, thus selling quickly, and freeing one's capital for other uses.

The 3d and 6d Gold Coast, 1909, are on the market in dozens, to retail at about 4d each. The 6d bi-coloured of 1905 is dearer.

Of Brazil Officials, 1906, the 100 and 200 reis, as might perhaps be expected, promise to become the easiest to gather in quantity.

New Zealand Officials ought to be worth their full quoted price, unless the customer will take ragged copies. In each bundle the percentage of unsaleable specimens is not a small one.

It is stated that the 50c and 1 dollar values of U. S. A., 1902, have risen considerably in price in the States.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—"If I should be asked to point out the difference between the 1 cent U. S. envelope of the Reay and the Plimpton printings, besides the descriptions given in the Standard Catalogue, I would unhesitatingly say that in the Plimpton printing the ovals containing the figures are nearly 1mm. longer than in the Reay, and the lower parts of the figures turn up more. These two points are quite noticeable."—S. M. EDWARDS.

—P. J. Kranz sends us no less than twenty stamp clippings from old papers. We are grateful for the courtesy extended, but there seems to be none that are useful for reprinting.

—Errata.—Adv. of Hussman Co. on page 12 on Nyassa offer the asterisk should have been omitted. The set is used and cheap at the price offered. Page 14, Stamp Mart advertisement, the stamp offered "Not initialed" should have been the $1.00 value.

—J. B. Robertson favors us with the following clipping from the N. Y. Commercial:—

"Philatelists are so thick on the Consolidated Exchange that they have resolved to form a club to meet after exchange hours. Among the moving spirits are S. W. Curtis, D. S. Wiley, K. M. Eyland, Walter Chisholm and Waldemar Wurz, the statistician of the exchange. Several of the members have fine collections of stamps, that of Mr. Chisholm enjoying widespread fame. In spite of his retiring nature and innate modesty, it is expected that the presi-

EDITORIAL.

A Few Hints—The Penflip Prize attracts a degree of attention such as to surprise us. When we suggested to the donor of the prize that this intense interest is occasioned by the fact that he is a patron of the competition, he smiled inscrutably. In regard to developments in this contest, Parnassus Penflip authorizes us to speak as follows: "Promulgate this pronouncement to the philatelic population in the praenomen of Parnassus Penflip. One of the stipulations in the regulations of the contest is that the British colony in question still issues stamps. Uganda, for instance, as a national individuality, no longer does. Last week, Cyprus and Gibraltar were eliminated by interdicting centimos, pesetas, paras and piastres, monetary terms inadvertently omitted from the original list of exceptions. Further, the expression 'some of the older issues' leads inferentially to the thought that the colony must have been issuing stamps for a long time else it would have no elderly issues. Verb. Sap."

Ideas for Cover—The suggestions for designs for the cover of our one thousandth number have come in such quantity and quality to disprove to us the captious criticism sometimes heard that there is no art in America. It is just possible that all the art here is monopolized by our readers who are as modest as they are gifted; and how would the distinguished critics come in contact with our subscribers unless they advertised in our columns? Our rates are quoted at the head of the column. We blush, now, that our prizes are so pitifully small, five, three and two dollars, respectively; and it pains us to realize that it is now too late to change them into as many hundreds of dollars. As it is, the winners will accept the prizes deprecatingly, as it is understood that they pursue art for art's sake, alone.

Near Stamps—Edwin B. Hill, Granite Reef, Mesa, Arizona, has become interested in the private express stamps that were used by the companies in rating the payment of newspaper carriage. He has the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 and 25 cents, American Express Co. stamps, and he understands that this series of labels, or the method of prepayment by such stamps is obsolete. Is he correct? We know of no article on the subject of these stamps, although it is not unlikely that one or more has appeared in view of the curiosity often expressed by collectors who seem to give them at least passing attention, occasionally. The use of these stamps extended to a comparatively recent period, even though they may no longer be employed.

Settled Once More—Sumner Gary, Akron, Ohio, is in a position to settle the question of the plate position of triangle II in relation to triangle III, on plate 170, issue of 1895. He has had the kindness to submit the following correspondence on the subject, accompanying it with the following remarks: "In regard to plate No. 170 discussed in your editorial column of January 1, 1910, I am enclosing a little ancient correspondence on the subject. I still have the two lower quarter sheets in my collection. I do not recall having seen any article from Mr. Luff giving further information in regard to this plate." Under the date of February 17th, 1896, Mr. Gary wrote John N. Luff as follows: "Your article in the American Journal of Philately for February entitled 'A Combination Lot.' You say the upper left quarter sheet of plate 170 only, bears triangles II and III. I beg to advise you that I have two entire sheets (100 each) of that plate, but from the lower left quarter, bearing the two styles of triangles as described in your article." Mr. Luff on February 25th wrote to Mr. Gary in these words: "Thanks for the information regarding Plate 170; I had already learned of my error in saying that the two varieties occurred on one-quarter of the sheet and now know that they occurred on both left hand quarters." Thus, again, after a lapse of many years, is the scheme of arrangement on plate 170 of the two varieties of triangle, absolutely fixed.

NASSAU STAMP CO., LTD.,
231 Broadway, New York City.

On November 18th, President Gomez received a petition from the Board of Trade of the Province of Oriente, praying that American money be made the standard of currency throughout the republic "until such time as Cuba is in a position to establish an American currency." The following day a bill was introduced into the Cuban senate to provide for the adoption of a national currency on the gold basis and similar to that in the United States, the unit to be the gold dollar or peso. There will be gold coin and the subsidiary currency is to be of silver, nickel and copper, according to the bill, of the same denomination, value and fineness as those of the United States. A shipment of 17,000,000 stamps from the American Bank Note Company will be used to rate a revenue stamp tax on matches.

Cuban Telegraph Stamps—While the telegraph in Cuba is a government monopoly, yet there has been no issue of distinctive stamps for the use of this branch of the government service, up to the present time. However, a set of stamps purely for telegraphic use is in preparation and some particulars of this companion set of the prospective portrait set of postage stamps are now available. The one-cent will picture General Bernabe in violet; the two-cent, General Jose Lacret, light olive. The likeness of General Flor Crombet will appear in dark olive on the three-cent while the four-cent will show General Oscar Rinelles in orange yellow. The twenty-cent red will present General Jose Maria Aguirre and the fifty-cent will depict Narciso Lopez in black; Lopez was "the Venezuela patriot who was shot by the Spaniards when he came with Crittenden to lead the first attempt against Spanish domination in Cuba." The watermark, "R. C." will be used. Latterly, the ordinary Cuban stamps have been used for telegraph payment but during the first intervention cash only was accepted in payment for telegraph messages.

Chicago in 1911—Chicago now boldly steps to the center of the stage and publicly proclaims its wish to entertain the convention of the American Philatelic Society in 1911. Action has been taken formally by the Chicago Philatelic Society and it has been voted unanimously that an invitation be extended to the next convention at Detroit to select Chicago as the seat of the next year's annual conclave. It is safe to say that the Chicago Branch of the American Philatelic Society will endorse with the utmost enthusiasm the action so very properly taken first, by the local society. It has been many a year since Chicago has been the convention city; it was in 1893 since the last annual meeting was held in that city. Chicago is in earnest and it enters the race for convention

Want Lists

The bulk of my mail business is by "Want Lists." You will find it a very satisfactory way of filling up with stamps you want, provided you can get them at satisfactory prices.

Some collectors have an idea that they have to pay more if stamps are asked for on a want list, than if bought from approval lots. Perhaps so with some dealers.

The opposite rule applies with me, as I should ask more for stamps if I made up a general lot for approval, the chances of a fair sized sale being smaller than if only stamps wanted were sent.

I send the stamps on approval if in stock to A. P. S. members and others giving satisfactory reference, and if price or condition not satisfactory you have only to return.

I do not solicit want lists limited to stamps cat. under 10c but can usually supply some on lists of stamps cat. 2c to $1.00 or higher of any country, particularly 19th Century at attractive prices.

Welcome Home—Henry N. Mudge, president of the American Philatelic Society, has returned to Chicago, after an extended trip through Central America. His long journey while not always unattended with inconvenience, as may be imagined, was an enlightening and an enjoyable one; and it will long furnish a fruitful theme for reminiscence. It is well that Mr. Mudge returned home fortified in health and spirits, else he would quail at the mass of correspondence that accumulated during his absence.

Special to the WEEKLY.

OUR ENGLISH LETTER.

By W. WARD, 65 Bamford Rd., Didsbury, Eng.

New Year in England will be commemorated, not so much by philatelists as the nation generally. The British House of Representatives—the House of Commons—have at last set their back up against the Rip Van Winkles in the ancient House of Lords. The latter have managed to muster courage to refuse a financial bill made to benefit the people. As it will be a battle now between Aristocracy and Democracy, I guess a few of the Noble Lords will be importing themselves into the States. Some dealers here think that the coming happening will effect the stamp trade and the big buyers. The absence for over 100 years of a House of Lords to boss American affairs hasn't done much harm to the American Stamp Trade—in fact I rather think a Senate will hustle things a bit this side.

Hayti 1904 Reminders.—An esteemed writer in an American contemporary has been writing on the forgeries of several modern issues. Among these he includes Hayti, and asks the question as to whether it is likely that any firm of dealers could sell the 1904 set of six values, having a face-value of 17 cents, and catalogued seventy-four cents, at 10c per set if they are genuine? Certainly to those who do not know the full history of these stamps, one would certainly conclude they are forgeries, or as the writer suggests, stolen. These stamps were neither stolen nor reprinted by the Government printer. The history of them is similar to many another Southern Republic of little standing. They were printed in France for the Simon Sam Government. Things were getting bad in Hayti, and the printers could not get paid for their work, so they stopped delivering the stamps, as have done the American Bank Note Company on several occasions. In the meantime President Simon Sam and his Party went burst, and the printing society found themselves creditors with no chance of recovering their money—but fortunately with a good stock of the stamps on hand. After waiting some time to make sure President Nord Alexis was securely in power—they did what any other progressive business firm would do. What they don't know about stamps in France is little use getting information on. The printers started selling to dealers—like the British South Africa and North Borneo Companies, and the French and German Colonial Offices. After fairly well filling up the market at par rates—the demand slackened—but the printers were ready—they dropped their rates—quick. The writer I have made reply to, Mr. Percy McMann, quotes as his authority Mr. Eugene Klein's report to the A. P. S. Convention at Atlantic City. I am not trying to boom the stamp by any means, but I wish to show that it is quite possible for genuine ones to be sold at a dime a set—and if Scott or other cataloguers quote at 74c the set, it is their own business—no doubt having bought good supplies when in issue.

I never like to take the liberty of correcting anybody—more so those enjoying greater footing than myself. This time I however must beg leave to correct Messrs. Mann & Klein. Hayti is a country I have spent a deal of time on—besides getting help in the work direct from Port au Prince. I say that it is impossible to detect forgeries from the genuine by Mr. Klein's description that the cannon balls or paper differ! New plates were made in 1905, whereby the cannon balls differ—as said by Mr. Klein to be forgeries. To speak strictly, new plates were made for all except two values. To describe the detector of the forgeries would take up too much space—besides giving away a valuable piece of information which I believe I possess the exclusive information of outside the printers, and which I desire for a work I am getting up on this country.

Offer to A. P. S. Members.—I can safely say that the cannon balls have nothing to do in the detection of the forgeries. However to put those collectors at rest who possess this set, I will tell all who send their stamps to me mounted, together with addressed envelope and 2c stamp for return postage (5c extra if registered) whether their stamps are genuine or forgeries (A. P. S. members only need apply) but will express no opinion as to the reason of my decision. I might add that the margin of the sheets of the genuine stamps bears the paper manufacturers' watermark—but of course only occurs on the stamps when badly centered. Note my address at the head of these notes.

Another Big Collection to Come.—I have great pleasure in announcing that the United States section of the Munn collection will be sent across to the States for disposal. This has been highly specialized by Mr. William W. Munn, one of our oldest collectors, and a well-known collector of U. S. stamps. I have had the exclusive review of this fine collection on behalf of the WEEKLY, and shall present same in course of a week or so. So important is this collection that I shall be able to prove many little things not known, and also conclusively upset several generally accepted statements made by such eminent philatelists as Mr. Tiffany, Scott Co., Stanley Gibbons, etc., as proved by pieces at present resting in the Munn collection.

Mr. Munn, like many another great collector, has had the modesty to think that his discoveries were minor, whereas they were of the utmost importance to collectors at large. This reticence is to be depreciated. Every philatelist should, no matter how retiring his disposition, make public his discoveries and researches, for the benefit and furtherance of his hobby. If those who do not like taking up a pen, would do as Mr. Munn has done, place in the hands of some press representative, we would not be so often in the dark as to certain issues.

The 131st meeting of the New York Stamp Society was called to order on Thursday, January 6th, 1910 at 8.30 p. m., in the club rooms of the society with President Wilford in the chair and 28 members in attendance.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted as read. The Secretary read a letter from Edgar Nelson, and the same was ordered filed. The application of Emil Reichert, No. 422 Winthrop Ave., Astoria, L. I. C., proposed by Mr. Dicke and seconded by Mr. Levy was read and accepted.

The following resignations were accepted with sincere regrets: Charles W. LeMore, Edgar Nelson, D. E. A. Hunt and Henry Heyland.

Richard A. Kampf of No. 200 Rodney Street, Brooklyn, was duly elected a member.

Upon motion duly made, seconded and carried, $5 was appropriated to the Educational Committee of the A. P. S. It was the sentiment of those present that this worthy object should receive the hearty support and co-operation of all societies and individuals interested in philately and all are urged to contribute generously to insure a splendid success.

Several proposed amendments to the Constitution and by-laws were offered, and they will be voted on at the next regular meeting of the society.

The meeting was adjourned at 10 o'clock.

ODDEST OF MACHINES.

A curious machine is soon to be put on trial in Paris at the Post Office in the Rue Sainte-Anne. It is a machine to register letters, and will be a great advantage to the public, as it will do away with an oftentimes long wait before a busy window.

This apparatus resembles any automatic distributor and works in a similar way.

First you put a nickel 25 centime piece (the tax for registering a letter) in the slot, then you put your letter, already bearing the ordinary stamp, in the box and turn a crank; you will receive a receipt bearing a number which corresponds to that stamped at the same time on your letter, says the Boston Globe.

But what gives originality to the machine, and which made it worthy of notice at the Academy of Sciences in Paris the other day, is an arrangement by which it will accept only pieces of 25 centimes in nickel, immediately rejecting all other pieces of money. This arrangement is based on a very original application of the properties of the magnet.

On the channel where the coin introduced in the machine has to pass is placed a magnet, which has, as every one knows, the property of attracting strongly iron and its compounds, while nickel is sensitive, though very feebly, to the action of the magnet.

Consequently, a nickel piece of 25 centimes put into the machine will simply slow up a little in passing the magnet, but sufficiently to be directed into the proper channel to work the mechanism. On the contrary, any piece of iron will be drawn very strongly by the magnet and will be diverted into a channel which will conduct it outside; it will be the same for all nonmagnetic metals (copper, zinc, lead, &c.), on which the magnet will have no effect, and which will run along another route, coming out at the same place of expulsion.—*N. A NEW AUCTION FIRM.

The advertisement of the Hussman Stamp Co. on page 1 indicates that this firm proposes to enter the auction field. This is due to the fact that during the past year the stock of the firm has become quite unwieldy because of the many purchases that have been made. The company has a large lot of fine stamps and is now negotiating for several magnificent general and two specialized British Colonial collections. The Hussman firm feels positive that it can build up an auction business that will be extensive in nature and satisfactory both to themselves and their clients.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice
up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail.
Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

Oh! By the way, have you paid your dues yet? Dues have been payable ever since the 1st day of September, 1909, to carry you to Sept. 1, 1910. Stop! Think!
Suspensions for non-payment of dues will be made very shortly, and you surely do not want to be on that list. Dues are $1.20 per year in the U. S. and $1.80 for foreign members. Please charge yourself with this and do not forget it.The first number of the Quarterly, which has been held back by unavoidable means, will be out at once and will be followed immediately with the second number. Your dues must be paid to receive these magazines. Buck up, you delinquents.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT,

1204 CHESTNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

A MATTER OF GREAT IMPORTANCE.

A Ruling of the Postal Department that Concerns Every Society Member.

We have received the annual report of the Third Assistant Postmaster General and notice therein a section that concerns every member of the societies represented by the WEEKLY as official journal. We quote from the section the following paragraphs:

"The members of these organizations (fraternal orders and societies) have a full and unquestioned right to subscribe for whatever periodical they may choose, and this department neither has nor assumes any right to interfere therewith, but may incidentally make inquiry as to the character of such subscriptions in its effort to determine whether a publication has a lawful subscription list or is designed primarily for advertising purposes or for free circulation.

"The constitution or by-laws of such orders and societies may provide for the publication or adoption of a newspaper or periodical as their organ, but they can not force the same upon their members as a condition of membership where there is no desire for the publication.

"To meet these conditions, as well as to do justice to that class of publishers who must compete with fraternal and society organs, the department now declines to consider as a part of a legitimate subscription list such subscriptions as are made in connection with the payment of dues, unless it is made plain to the member that he is given the opportunity to say whether he desires such publication, and in the event of his not desiring it sufficiently to pay therefor, his dues will be diminished by the amount of the subscription price of the publication.

"In pursuing this policy, no drastic or harsh measures are employed. The steady effort of the department is to administer the law with firmness, but in justice and with leniency in deserving cases. Where such a publication has already been admitted and has been cited for apparent lapses, it is given a reasonable opportunity to take the proper corrective steps and bring about right conditions under the law, and there is never a revocation of an authorization until this opportunity has been disregarded and the required correction has gone by default."

Under the above ruling it will not be permissible for any society organ or official journal to receive subscriptions except where the individual member indicates a desire for the paper and pays a stated price for the same in addition to the society dues.

The publishers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS desire to announce that they propose to take immediate steps to comply with the above ruling. Our contracts with the Texas Philatelic Association, New York Stamp Society, Washington Philatelic Society and American Envelope Society expired Jan. 1, and if our publication is desired as official journal the by-laws of each society must be so amended as to conform with the rulings of the Department.

Just as fast as our remaining contracts expire they can only be renewed upon the basis above given, including the American Philatelic Society, our national organization. In the by-law pertaining to the annual dues of members must be inserted the subscription price of the official journal, so that members paying their dues can also add the subscription price of the official journal should they desire to subscribe for the same. We shall take this matter up with secretaries at once, so that the Department rulings may become operative with the least delay possible.

Under the new ruling we shall accept subscriptions from society members at our regular price, 50c, and publish as in the past such official matter as may be sent in. This will not be contingent upon any definite number of subscriptions being received and a year under the new arrangement will enable both parties concerned to determine whether the relationship shall be continued. It will be advisable for the members of the smaller societies represented by the WEEKLY to subscribe in goodly numbers, in view of the demand that will be made upon our space for the publication of official matter by the societies to which they belong.

N. E. P. A. BANQUET.

The New England Philatelic Association, having reached the respectable age of fifteen years, celebrated this event in fitting manner by a meeting and banquet at the Crawford House, Boston, on Tuesday evening, January 11th. Out of a total membership of thirty-three there were twenty members and guests that gathered around the convivial board. H. Wesley Legg, president of the association, acted as toastmaster, and L. L. Green, president of the Boston Philatelic Society, was the guest of honor. Others who responded were E. F. Sawyer, president of the American Envelope Society, C. F. Rothfuchs, C. A. Howes and Alex. P. Brown, secretary of the association. Many letters of congratulation were read from presidents of other societies who had been invited to honor the occasion. The menu was garnished with a copy of the 1/2d Papua stamp presented with the compliments of the New England Stamp Co. The varieties catalogued are given in another column of this issue.

A NEW PATRON.

Elsewhere in our columns will be seen the initial advertisement of the Postage Stamp Co., L. Harald Kjellstedt and Edwin P. Seeborn having entered into a partnership under this company name. We do not need to introduce Mr. Kjellstedt to our readers. His connection with the firm will give it an immediate patronage. Mr. Seeborn is not only a member of the A. P. S. but several foreign societies as well. As from time to time the advertising of the Postage Stamp Co. appears in our columns we shall hope that the firm will receive a goodly share of patronage.

EDITORIAL.

Acknowledgment—Chas. R. Morris, Washington, D. C., has rendered a valuable service to our readers as they learned from a perusal of the leading article in last week's number. Not alone did our English correspondent find his questions authoritatively answered but all students of the stamps of our country were edified for the first time, we believe, by dependable descriptions of the guide lines and sheet arrangements of recent issues. Latterly, no little attention has been devoted to the guide lines on United States sheets and the information now at our service is opportunity as well as instructive. We are pleased to acknowledge our obligation to Mr. Morris, who has pursued his researches so advantageously to us all. While no answers were received when the questions were asked last summer, on this second occasion, Messrs. Morris and Nevin (whose letter appeared in No. 993.) came to our rescue; it was well proved worth while to "try again."

Surprise—The results of the Penflip prize contest and the 1000th cover design competition continue to amaze us. The interest created by both was little anticipated but all effort will be made to announce the winners in an early issue. At least, the Penflip prize will be awarded in the next number. While we have often recorded our transcendent admiration for the great Penflip, yet even we did not place a true estimate on the magic of his name. When the answer to the question is given, it will be in the nature of a surprise, it is safe to say.

For Once—Hope springs eternal in the human breast, particularly that in which philately has its lodging, yet those who are blessed in the results are not many. Now and then, a tale of truth and cheer breaks the monotony of the call of the many and the choosing of the few. F. Gaerte has a Campeche stamp that he believed in; he studied Walter Clarke Bellows' wonderful book on these stamps and his faith, if possible, was strengthened. He sent his specimen to Mr. Bellows for expert opinion; and now, not alone does Mr. Gaerte know that he has a genuine Campeche for Mr. Bellows after careful examination pronounces the stamp good and true. The copy is a superb specimen of the 5c and is satisfactory in every respect; and further particulars of it probably will be given.

Reads Well—George Livingston Richards has prepared and sent to those who encouraged his promotions a somewhat remarkable circular, dated December 11th, 1909, at his London office. Our thanks are due to J. Fred Vickrey of Chicago for the privilege of perusing the circular. Mr. Richards is not unknown in the circles of promoters in America as he has been identified with various enterprises concerning which there has been some newspaper publicity, in the past. It is not the intention to review the recent vicissitudes of Mr. Richards who, according to his circular of explanation is hopeful that soon he can rehabilitate his own fortune and that of those whose belief in him has not been shattered by adverse developments affecting him and consequently his adherents. Mr. Richards says: "I found I could print a postage stamp in one or more colors with one die at one impression. This is something that not even the printing press has been able to do, as a separate plate is required for each color. After exhibiting this machine to the newspaper representatives, I addressed the leading Governments throughout the world, and I have in my possession at this writing letters from the majority with whom I communicated, requesting me to send machines for their inspection, which I have been unable to do owing to lack of funds, with the exception of one Government. Should their experts decide favorably it means that I am to construct, perhaps, 25 or 50 machines for them to try out, then if the machines do all that I claim, they will give a large order. Should this one government adopt the machine, it means that others will follow, and every share of this 10,000 pound company will be worth fifty-fold. I showed the correspondence, etc., of the various Governments to the large shareholder who called upon me, and he has also seen the machine in operation in my office. That is all the particulars I intend to give at the present time. I have got a good thing, others say so, and I know it. The business cannot be accomplished in a day or month, but is going to take months, and just as soon as I secure the necessary funds, I will construct machines and send representatives to the other Governments who have requested to see them."

Furthermore—That Mr. Richards is a versatile genius and has another string to his bow is seen from the following excerpt from an article in a London newspaper that Mr. Richards incorporates in his circular: "An invention which, if officially adopted, bids fair to revolutionize the postal services of the country, has been brought out by an American, Mr. G. L. Richards, which consists of a machine for franking postage stamps or impressions on letters, postcards, etc., instead of awaiting the convenience of the Post-office officials when requiring a stamp. All one has to do is to place a half-penny, penny or two pence, half-penny, as the case may be, in a slot, lay the letter on a kind of shelf which is above, and by depressing a lever the letter receives the correct impression of a postage stamp. The working of the machine is most simple and the cost would not average more than ten pounds. The inventor calculates that 25,000 letters could be stamped without rendering it necessary for the die inside to be re-inked. . . . The invention is intended to be placed in pillar letter-boxes, in post offices, hotels, large stores, railway buildings, etc." We shall not attempt any speculation as to the potentialities of these machines but shall be content with the observation that Mr. Richards' inventive activities are calculated to preserve the philatelic equation. On one hand, he impairs the necessity for using actual stamps, while on the other, he encourages the creation of many new issues.

Isle Away—One of the standard topics for discussion some years ago was the governmental and postal status of the Isle of Pines and the question was often adverted to in our columns. The ultimate understanding was that rightly Cuba claimed and was granted administrative control of the island by the United States. However, Senator Clapp of Minnesota has brought strong argument to bear in favor of this country's ownership of the island; and in a recent issue of the North American Review, Senor De Quesada, former minister of Cuba to the United States advances testimony greatly to the advantage of the position of his country. He quotes Elihu Root, ex-Secretary of State as having said: "The island is lawfully subject to the control and government of the Republic of Cuba, and you and your associates are bound to

The bulk of my mail business is by "Want Lists." You will find it a very satisfactory way of filling up with stamps you want, provided you can get them at satisfactory prices.

Some collectors have an idea that they have to pay more if stamps are asked for on a want list, than if bought from approval lots. Perhaps so with some dealers.

The opposite rule applies with me, as I should ask more for stamps if I made up a general lot for approval, the chances of a fair sized sale being smaller than if only stamps wanted were sent.

I send the stamps on approval if in stock to A. P. S. members and others giving satisfactory reference, and if price or condition not satisfactory you have only to return.

I do not solicit want lists limited to stamps cat. under 10c but can usually supply some on lists of stamps cat. 2c to $1.00 or higher of any country, particularly 19th Century at attractive prices.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A philatelic society has been organized in New Albany, Indiana, with the following officers: T. C. Meinhardt, President; James Coomes, Vice President; Harold Venable, Secretary; Robt. Jackson, Treasurer; W. A. Millican, Contest Manager and Editor Official Organ. Meetings are held every Friday night at the homes of the members.

—Specimen approval book from J. Wheeler & Co., Beckenham, Kent, England, showing a fine lot of stamps at 50% discount from Gibbons'. The firm states, however, that it is unable to fill want lists on this basis.

—From Frederick Guthrie, 19 Waterloo St., Glasgow, Scotland, November pricelist of 28 pages, listing used "Kings", stamps issued during the reign of King Edward and in finest used condition. Quotations are for finest copies. Inferior obtainable at proportionate prices. All stamps subject to approval and our readers are urged to send for this very interesting and rather unique catalog.

—Clipping through Walter S. Wilmot from the N. Y. Times describing the contents of the Nassau auction sale to be held at the Collectors' Club Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 and 2. This is the Worcester collection that has been advertised in our columns.

—Clipping from Richard Mann taken from the N. Y. World describing the new French 100fr bank note.

—Samples of the "Newport Hinge" which Arthur P. S. Hyde proposes to exploit as "a peelable hinge that is peelable." In addition to being a peelable hinge its smallness in size will appeal favorably to the average collector. It will be advertised next week.

Ill., would like information as to whether any dealer has had unsatisfactory dealings with E. R. Payne, Howard, South Dak. This notice is inserted by the advice of F. D. Goodhue, the A.P.S. Att'y.

—If the party in New Jersey who sent a registered letter to Chas. E. Severn, Boston, Mass., with five days return request upon the same will address Mr. Severn at 721 Oxford Bldg., Chicago, Ill., the delivery of the letter can be effected.

—The editor of Billikins writes us thusly: "Thank you very much for your kind words. But I am afraid from the way you have worded it that people will imagine it is an amateur publication. Far be it from that. Bill is an old philatelic writer of the early 90's and not an amateur by any means. Would you kindly correct the possible impression at once. It is Billikins Philatelic Magazine, not Billikins. The Feb. number will be 16 pages and cover in two colors, full of good things. It is not in the nature of an experiment, but a carefully considered proposition."

—"I want to compliment you and your paper as an advertising medium, as I received about 20 answers to the postal card I sent you in reference to file of your WEEKLY I wished to dispose of. I think it no more than right and proper that I should inform you of the result, as you were kind enough to insert the card I sent you. You must certainly be successful if that is the general result of your advertisements." —BALDWIN SCHLESINGER.

—Edgar Nelson exhibited his collection before the Saginaw, Mich., society recently. F. J. Martin, of this city, who sends us clipping with above item of news, would like to have auction catalogs, price lists, etc., for the use of the local society.

—C. F. Heyerman, Detroit, Mich., sends us a rubber stamp design that is being used to exploit the Panama-California Exposition to be held at San Member A. P. S. and C. P. S.

Diego in 1915, to commemorate the completion of the Panama Canal. Mr. Heyerman asks, "Is this the forerunner of another special issue of stamps?" We are not very much at prophecy but would answer "Yes."

—Arthur P. S. Hyde has closed a deal with Major Palmer whereby he has acquired a large part of the latter's collection. The Philippine Islands section is almost complete, a few of the rarities only being lacking. We congratulate Mr. Hyde upon this acquisition. The amount involved in the transaction is represented by four figures.

—Unable to attend the N. E. P. A. banquet, we have received from the secretary, Alex P. Brown, a copy of the menu printed elsewhere in this issue. Thanks!

—Miss Amy L. Swift sends us a clipping from the Brockton Times relating to Edgar F. Brightman, formerly of Whitman, who will be remembered by many stamp collectors as a philatelic writer of a few years ago. Though stamps have now given place with him to things of greater import, Miss Swift writes that he still retains a pleasant memory of their attractions. The clipping follows:

Rev. E. S. Brightman, pastor of the Methodist church, Cohasset, and a student in the senior class of the Boston Theological Seminary, has been awarded a scholarship, allowing expenses for a year's study in Germany, and $500 in cash. Mr. Brightman has been attending the seminary daily, beside performing his church duties. He is a graduate of Brown university and lives with his mother, Mrs. Mary Brightman, in Cohasset.

—Robert Moore, Clayton, Wash., informs us that his A. P. S. Year Book for 1908-9 has three frontispieces and an equal number of name plates. Mr. Moore suggests that this may be a rarity in the way of philatelic literature.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

In competition with some of the largest dealers in America and Europe, we were the highest bidders. Inside of five days we paid Spot CASH and took possession. It will be several months before everything will be in shape but in the meantime we would be glad to receive want lists and will give them our careful attention.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison Street, Arlington, Mass.

UNITED STATES.—M. E. Baizelay sends us an ordinary envelope, with a "Paid Permit" in the corner, on which the postage, one cent, has been prepaid with the current 1c, precancelled "Boston, Mass.," with the precancellation inverted. None of these things are uncommon, though the combination may be considered so.

Charles M. Breder reports having seen the current 1c precancelled "Schenectady, N. Y.," with the precancellation inverted, and the stamp perforated with the General Electric Co.'s private monogram perforation.

Henry A. Wahlborg reports having seen a Chicago 1c "Paid Permit," on which the postage has been paid by an imperforate 1c stamp.

AUSTRIA.—Offices in the Levant.—Die Post says that the postage due stamps are no longer printed on chalky paper.

BOLIVIA.—Champion's Bulletin chronicles three new values in the current commemorative set, the 2c and 20c having been previously chronicled. The 5c has a portrait of Pedro Domingo Murillo, and is dated "16 de Julio de 1809." The 10c illustrates Bernardo Monteagudo and is dated "25 de Mayo de 1809." The 50c has a portrait of Antonio Jose Sucre, and is dated "9 de Diciembre de 1824."

Adhesives.

5c carmine and black.
50c olive and black.

BULGARIA.—The Postage Stamp gives the denominations and illustrations of the new set now being prepared in London as follows: 1s, ancient Bulgarian fortress; 2s, portrait of King Ferdinand; 3s, view of the ancient capital, Tirnova; 5s, portrait of King; 10s, portrait of King in naval uniform; 15s, railway tunnel; 25s, portrait of King; 30s, view of Varna harbor; 50s, view (subject not stated); 1l, portrait of King; 2l, view of Rilo Monastery; 3l, picture of Holy Trinity Monastery.

CHINA.—Gibbons' Weekly reports the issue of the 4c stamp in a new color.

Adhesive.

COLOMBIA.—Gibbons' Weekly notes that several of the current issue have been surcharged with a type set form reading "Correos—Departa—Metales" in three lines, or "Correos—Depmentales" in two lines, the latter having a type ornament in the centre. Both have rule borders. The stamps are thus converted into Departmental or Official issues. Both types of overprint are found upon the 1/2c yellow, 1c green, 2c carmine, 5c blue, 10c violet, 20c gray black and 1p brown of 1904, the 1/2c orange, 50r red brown and black.

EGYPT.—Sudan.—Ewen's Weekly reports that further printings have been made of the "Army Service" stamps, and as the surcharge is reset each year, slight variations appear.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Offices in the Levant.—Another value has been added to the list given in No. 993. The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the new 4d orange, surcharged with value in Turkish money. The surcharge is in black and in two lines thus: "1 piastre—30 paras."

Adhesive.

1pi 30pa on 4d orange.

INDIA.—Hyderabad.—L'Echo chronicles the 1/2a vermilion of the new type, with official surcharge.

MAURITIUS.—The stamps thus far issued in the new re-engraved Arms type are the 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 6c, 8c and 15c. The balance of the set is printed from the familiar De la Rue "Postage and Revenue" keyplate now for the first time used for this colony. All but the 1c, 8c, 5c and 12c are on chalky paper.

Adhesives.

Adhesive.

6d red orange.

NEW ZEALAND.—Later information makes it plain that the 2 1/2d, 9d, 2sh and 5sh stamps in the new set, are to be of the old designs.

PANAMA.—Gerald D. Bliss favors us with a specimen of the new 5c blue and black, with American Bank Note Co. imprint, and states that the stamp was placed on sale in the Panama city post-office the morning of January 4.

PERSIA.—Champion's Bulletin illustrates the kran values of a new set of stamps for this country, made necessary by the political changes that have taken place lately. Apparently all the chahi values are on green paper and the kran values on brown paper. We give the list below, subject to revision later. The same paper also gives a provisional, the 1c of 1908 have been surcharged with an "S."

Hermann Focke writes: "The 10c Registration stamp is now printed by the National Printing Office, in a very bright violet color, the design in general differing considerably from the former printing made by Arango of Medellin. The principal and most easily distinguished differences are in the 'N' of 'No,' the '10' in each of the lower corners, and the height of the words 'Republica de Colombia.'"

SIERRA LEONE.—Ewen's Weekly reports the current 1d in a paler shade.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.—The 5d is now coming in a lighter shade, olive yellow, perhaps. The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a copy.

COMMUNICATION.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

Sir: About a year ago you published a letter from me relative to the "Ser. et" errors, Jamaica, current arms type. I stated at the time that a careful investigation had led me to believe that this error existed on the following stamps only, viz.:

- Single CA, 1/2d, 1d, 2 1/2d, 5d.
- Multiple CA, 1/2d.

On a visit to Jamaica in 1908, I had had the opportunity of examining entire sheets of the 2 1/2d and 5d on multiple paper, and as the error was not there, I concluded naturally enough, that it did not exist. A short time after the publication of my letter, one of your readers submitted a copy of the 5d multiple, showing the error, and a few months later I bought one from an English dealer. Now Mr. Astley Clerk, a well known philatelist of Kingston, Jamaica, informs me that the error positively exists on the following:

- Single CA, 1/2d, 1d, 2 1/2d, 5d.
- Multiple CA, 1/2d, 1d, 2 1/2d, 5d.

How I could possibly have examined complete sheets of the 2 1/2d and 5d multiple, without detecting the error, passes my comprehension, as I had plenty of time and examined every stamp on the sheets. Still, seeing is believing, and as I happen to be the fortunate owner of a fine mint copy of the 5d, there is no doubt that the stamp actually exists. In connection with this stamp Mr. Clerk gives me the following interesting facts. There were only 153 issued (95 Single CA and 58 Multiple CA) and of this number it is positively known that 11 copies were destroyed in the terrible earthquake and fire which destroyed Kingston in 1907. This leaves a total of 142 copies of this stamp, and the current quotations for them in Kingston is now $75.

Very truly yours,
BENEDICT PRIETH.

THE 4c PAN AMERICAN INVERTS.

Gen. Madden, formerly Third Asst. Postmaster General, is suing the Star Publishing Co. (New York Journal) of Washington for $100,000 for libel and the hearings have been held in that city. At one of the sessions the chief of the Stamp Division (Mr. Reeves) testified that, at Mr. Madden's personal order, he went over to the Bureau of Engraving & Printing and ordered that one sheet of the 4c Pan American (1901) series should be printed with the centre inverted and that, when it had been so printed, perforated and gummed, he went again to the Bureau and took the sheet to Gen. Madden. This sheet consisted of 400 stamps. He testified further that 100 of the stamps went to the Postal Museum here. It is a matter of record that, when Gen. Madden relinquished his office, 234 of the stamps were found in the safe in his office and were afterwards destroyed. This leaves but 66 of the stamps which can have come upon the market, including those with and without "specimen".

REPRINTS OF SPECIAL ARTICLES.

(We have secured a nice binder of the right size for these reprints that we will send on receipt of 30c, which just pays expense of manufacture and postage. As reprints are issued week by week they can readily be inserted in alphabetical order. This binder is Carter's Modified Multibinder, made to accommodate our WEEKLY reprints and every collector should have one. If two or three can be ordered at one time they will stand handling better.—Ed.)

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice

up. Please aid us and help protect yourself

and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing

therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail.

Also please report to the Secretary of the So-

ROBERT C. MUNROE, Chmn.

Address, So. Park Terrace, Longmeadow, Mass.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 74th regular meeting was held January 11th, President Mason in the chair, with 14 members and one visitor present.

Minutes of the 73rd meeting were read and approved.

Mr. P. M. Thomson was proposed for active membership and his name ordered posted for the required two weeks.

The annual election resulted in the following officers being chosen: President, Mr. Paul Mason; First Vice President, Mr. Wm. H. Field; Second Vice President, Mr. Opha Moore; Secretary, Mr. Geo. K. Smith, Jr.; Treasurer, Mr. O. A. Schenck; Directors, the above officers and Messrs. J. F. Ranney and C. W. Sachs.

The annual report of the Secretary was presented and ordered filed.

Messrs. W. H. Field and W. F. Savage were appointed to audit the books and accounts of the Treasurer and Secretary.

The use of the club rooms having been granted the Geo. W. Linn Company for an auction, meeting adjourned about nine o'clock.

GEO. K. SMITH, JR., Sec.

The New England Philatelic Association.

H. W. LEGG, Pres.; WILLIS D. KING, Vice Pres.; ALEX. P. BROWN, Sec. and Treas., 14 Longfellow St., Dorchester, Mass.; WM. G. BAIL, EDWIN F. SAWYER and CHAS. H. STONE, Governing Board; EDWIN F. SAWYER, CATANO FRATUS, Ent. Com.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the New England Philatelic Association was held in Room 20, Crawford House, Boston, Mass., January 11th, 1910. Nineteen members and friends sat down at 7.30 p. m. to an elaborate feast which was finished up at 10 p. m., when cigars were lighted and the meeting called to order by Pres. Legg. Two new members namely, Mr. Percy M. G. Mann of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mr. Frank A. Dodge of Cambridge, Mass., were admitted as members. The names of Mr. L. L. Green and P. C. Kimball were proposed for membership. A vote of thanks was given the New England Stamp Co. for supplying the Papua stamps that adorned the supper menu. All other business including election of officers were laid over until the February meeting. After adjournment of the meeting the President called on the following gentlemen to address the members and they all responded quite felicitously: Messrs. L. L. Green, C. A. Howes, W. L. Aldrich, W. G. Bail, E. F. Sawyer, W. F. Marquardt, C. F. Rothfuchs, C. H. Stone and several others. Letters of regret at being unable to attend the banquet were read from Gen. C. A. Coolidge of the Detroit Society; R. C. Munroe of the Springfield Club; F. J. Wilford of the N. Y. Stamp Society; Percy M. G. Mann of the Philadelphia Society; Wendell A. Mowry of the Providence So-

THE AVERY COLLECTION

RECENTLY PURCHASED BY W. H. PECKITT
FOR £24,500 NETT CASH

The numerous rarities in this unique collection cannot be enumerated within the space of an ordinary advertisement; particulars of many of these will, however, be found in a small souvenir, which I have recently published.

This book, containing many illustrations, and interesting reading matter, will be sent with pleasure to those of my customers who have not already received it.

I shall be very pleased to receive enquiries and lists of wants, for any countries or separate stamps, as collectors should take the opportunity of an exceptional occasion like this for filling their wants in well-known rarities, and rare varieties.

W. H. Peckitt would remind collectors, that beyond his well-known business in rare stamps, reinforced as it is by such a purchase as the above, he has devoted considerable attention to the supply of New Issues, at a uniform rate of 10% over face value.

Particulars of this most economical method of collecting will be forwarded upon application.

It is perhaps wholly natural that Hercules, the reputed founder of the games and the unconquerable "strong man" of the Greeks, should find a place on these issues. Two incidents from his remarkable career are represented, taken from some ancient ceramics. On the 20 and 50 lepta of 1906 we find Atlas bringing the apples of the Hesperides to Hercules.

AT AUCTION—THE BANNARD COLLECTION

FEBRUARY 18th AND 19th, 1910

Catalogues are now ready describing the 1158 lots comprising this splendid sale. Mr. Bannard's collection numbers over 10,000 varieties, and is rich in stamps of the United States, including postage and many fine cut square envelopes. There are a number of early Europeans, a dozen nice Sidney Views, Cape Hope wood blocks, Swiss Cantonals, rare early France, etc., etc.

The catalogues have been mailed. If you have not received yours, drop us a postal today, and we will mail one to you.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

1204 CHESTNUT STREET, PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The story runs thus: The golden apples which Juno had received at her wedding from the goddess of the Earth had been entrusted to the keeping of the three daughters of Hesperis, assisted by a watchful dragon. As one of his twelve labors, Hercules was ordered to get these, but it seemed the most difficult of all as he did not know where to find them. After various adventures Hercules arrived at Mt. Atlas in Africa. Atlas was one of the Titans who had warred against the gods, and when the latter had subdued them Atlas was punished by being compelled to bear the weight of the heavens on his shoulders. He was the father of the Hesperides and Hercules thought if anyone could find the apples it would be he. But if Atlas went, what about the heavens while he was gone? Hercules solved it by taking the burden on his own shoulders, as we see by the stamp, where he is upholding the moon and stars. Atlas is very kindly returning with the apples, and was good enough to take up his burden again, though somewhat reluctantly.

The 25 lepta of 1906 shows the encounter between Hercules and Antæus. The latter was a mighty giant and wrestler, whose strength was invincible as long as he remained in contact with the ground, for he was a son of Terra, the Earth. He compelled all strangers who came to his country to wrestle with him on condition that if conquered (as they all were) they should be put to death. Hercules encountered him, as shown on the stamp, and finding it was of no avail to throw him, for he always rose with renewed strength from every fall, he lifted him up from the earth and strangled him in the air.

On two stamps of the 1896 issue we have representations of two famous statues of antiquity. It may be wondered why these should grace a set that commemorates athletic contests, but the connection is not too distant. The 2 drachma stamp has a picture of the statue of Hermes by Praxiteles, one of the greatest of Greek sculptors. The god is shown leaning his left arm upon a stump and supporting with it the infant Bacchus. The uplifted right hand carries a bunch of grapes toward which the baby god of wine is reaching. It will be remembered that Hermes presided over gymnastic exercises and sports which required skill, and we need but to add that the statue in question was located in the temple of Hera at Olympia to show why it appears here.

On the 5 drachma stamp is the statue of Nike or Victory by Pæonius, another celebrated Greek sculptor. This represents the winged goddess as sweeping through the air, with drapery pressed to her form and streaming behind in the wind. The statue was located within the enclosure that surrounded the temples at Olympia, and was conspicuous among many statues of victors and votive offerings. Early in the sixth century of our era the temples at Olympia were overthrown by earthquakes, and inundations buried the site under gravel. Not until 1875 was any determined move made toward excavation, but the German government then assisted the enterprise and these two statues were among the treasures recovered. The Nike was found in 1875, in a much damaged condition, and the Hermes in 1877, minus the right forearm and the two legs below the knees.

The 1 drachma stamp of 1896 is of interest as showing the Stadion or Stadium where the inauguration of the re-established Olympian games took place. The original structure, laid out in a hollow between low parallel hills, is said to have been built by Lycurgus about B. C. 330, but was rebuilt by Herodes Atticus about A. D. 130 in white marble. Most of this structure was burned for lime during the Middle Ages, but when the first games in the modern series were held at Athens in 1896, the ancient site was refitted, in part with marble, by the patriotic munificence of M. George Averoff, a wealthy Greek of Alexandria, together with the efforts of the Greek National Committee. The ground enclosed by the seats is 670 feet long by 109 feet wide.

In the background is seen the Acropolis of the ancient city, and the 10 drachma gives an idea of it restored from a nearer point of view. The Acropolis, as we all know, was the religious center of the ancient city and was given up to temples and shrines. It was destroyed by the Persians in B. C. 480.

The 20 and 40 lepta of the 1896 issue give a picture of an ancient amphora ornamented with a representation of Minerva, or rather Pallas Athene, to give her her Greek name, the patron goddess of Athens, for whom the city was named. She is the goddess of wisdom, though represented in rather warlike garb, with shield, spear and helmet.

Several of the stamps bear palm branches and wreaths as tokens of victory. The wreath or crown of olive from the sacred tree, supposed to have been planted by Hercules, was the only prize anciently awarded the victors. They assembled for the prize in front of the temple of Zeus on the last day of the festival and were afterwards banqueted by the State of Elis. The victor returned home in triumph to enter the city in a chariot accompanied by processions and songs. He was rewarded with particular honors by his fellow-citizens and often lived thereafter at public expense.

The modern Olympic games, re-established at Athens in 1896, are for the most part open to the world. The second Olympiad was held at Paris in 1900, the third at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, a ten-year renewal at Athens in 1906, and the regular one again at London in 1908. But so far Greece, and with reason, has been the only country to celebrate in philatelic form.

EDITORIAL.

Greece—There is a marked difference in the stamp catalogues of today and those of forty-five years ago in the Greece section. Then, a leading catalogue in describing the set, one to eighty lepta said: "All the stamps now in use except the 1 and 2 lept., bear the figure of value on the back, and are printed with less care than the sheets first issued, which were worked off at Paris, and of which only the 10 lept. bore a numeral on the back, and that was double the size of the figure on the back of the current stamp." Now there is a formidable list of varieties which extend over pages in the catalogues. Thus early were the Paris prints distinguished from the Athens productions by the cataloguers but as the years succeeded each other and new printings of the same type were made, a condition of some confusion existed in the catalogues and the result was a sense of irregularity in the minds of those who devoted more than average attention to the stamps. Some years ago, one catalogue thoroughly rewrote and revised its list of the stamps of Greece and systematized greatly the different printings. The result is that the complexities presented by the stamps are made amenable, comparatively speaking, to the student of philatelic experience. Yet it is not to be supposed that there is not much material left to engage the best endeavors of the specialist; and of these we know of several who have studied the stamps to a superlative degree. Great Specialty.—There are some wonderful specialized collections of the stamps of Greece; indeed the extent to which at least one of them has been developed is something to marvel at; it is a monument to the intelligent research and philatelic persistence of its owner. The number of its stamps particularly of the first type is almost incredible; this great collection still is the property, we believe, of a collector living in Greece. The Olympian Games commemorative issue of 1896 created something of a furore and it was one of the first sets to be condemned by the once flourishing Society for the Suppression of Speculative Stamps; but as the influence of the organization waned, all classes of collectors regarded the striking set with increasing favor. The surcharges preceding the issue of 1901 were so numerous as to try the tolerancy of many collectors but they are now considered to embody much interesting material. Before dismissing the stamps of Greece, it may be said that among the early essays of that country is a twenty lepta showing the portrait of King George I in a beaded frame in the centre of a view of the Parthenon.

No Winner.—No reader has sent in the answer that Mr. Barrett had in mind in the contest for the Penflip prize. When the competition was first announced, it was thought that possibly it might prove to be an easy one and so, its terms were such as to allow of certain eliminative processes, if necessary to enforce them. Cochín, Travancore and other native Indian states are not British colonies, strictly speaking; "the administration of the native or feudatory states of India, with few temporary or unimportant exceptions, is not under the direct control of British officials." Uganda no longer is a separate stamp-issuing country; condominiums such as Sudan are not wholly British colonies. Gibraltar and Cyprus were removed from the eligible list but these countries were admitted for a week through an oversight, to which attention was called at once. Falkland Islands with its "half a crown" was to be barred by the words, "on some of the stamps of its earlier issues." We can merely announce the result of the contest in this issue, in the following paragraph. While the prize has not been won, we feel sure that Parnassus Penflip will rise to the occasion. We shall hint to the illustrious Penflip that if he wishes to conserve the pleasant feeling inspired by the contest, he should give to those who sent in interesting answers a little philatelic souvenir. Perhaps, the noble Penflip will deign to notice our humble suggestion.

Answer.—On the two shilling green, Victoria, 1858, imperforate,—the same stamp, rouletted, and perforated; on the two shillings, blue on green, 1864, there is the inscription in the upper scroll work under the label, "Victoria," in minute letters, at left "one" and at right "florin." On the six pence of the same type, the inscription at left is "six" and at right "pence." Evidently, "shillings" would require too much space and as two shillings were one florin, the space-saving solution was a happy one. The florin was two shillings; and so one florin was used. This florin has nothing in common with the old English gold florin of the 14th century, whose value was $4.62.

Hussey and His Post.—From P. J. Kranz, we have received a circular showing a large wood-cut of George Hussey, the originator and proprietor of Hussey's Special Message Post, followed by laudatory notices of himself and his activities. All of the matter entering into this advertising announcement, as in reality it is, is of some interest to philatelists today and we shall reproduce such parts of the notices that have a philatelic aspect or are illustrative of the workings of his enterprise, which through the issue of stamps has a place in the minds of philatelists. Further, there may be some curiosity to observe the style of "write-up" that prevailed at the period. We quote most of the following from the biographical sketch in the Literary Album of April 7th, 1866: "Mr. Hussey was born in the city of New York, on the 27th day of February, 1812. His father had died nearly two months prior to his birth, and, as a consequence, he was early thrown upon his own unaided resources. Thus was developed in him that remarkable energy and self-reliance for which he is so noted, and by which he has been enabled to take his stand among the prominent self-made men of our great metropolis. . . . He entered upon the business in which he is now engaged, first introducing the Special Message Post to the New York public in September, 1854, under the title of the 'Bank and Insurance City Post,' with an office at No. 82 Broadway. His well-known probity and business energy speedily secured for him an extensive patronage; and, in 1858, he removed to his present location, No. 50 William Street; and considerably enlarged his field of operations. . . . For the benefit of such as have not been fortunate enough to become aware of the existence in their midst of an extensive and well-organized system of special message delivery, we will briefly refer to a few of its leading features. It is designed in general terms to do for you, with reliability and despatch such errands of business and pleasure as it may not be convenient for you to do yourself. Want Lists

The bulk of my mail business is by "Want Lists." You will find it a very satisfactory way of filling up with stamps you want, provided you can get them at satisfactory prices.

Some collectors have an idea that they have to pay more if stamps are asked for on a want list, than if bought from approval lots. Perhaps so with some dealers.

The opposite rule applies with me, as I should ask more for stamps if I made up a general lot for approval, the chances of a fair sized sale being smaller than if only stamps wanted were sent.

I send the stamps on approval if in stock to A. P. S. members and others giving satisfactory reference, and if price or condition not satisfactory you have only to return.

I do not solicit want lists limited to stamps cat. under 10c but can usually supply some on lists of stamps cat. 2c to $1.00 or higher of any country, particularly 19th Century at attractive prices.

Operation—Before continuing this laudation of Hussey and his post, it is to be said that the foregoing information is nicely confirmed by the inscriptions on the stamps of this post, and the hour of the closing of the daily mail for general delivery, 11 a. m., is indicated on some of the stamps. The modus operandi of the service, described as follows, is typical of the workings of similar postal and affords an idea of the manner in which these private institutions trespassed on the postal monopoly of the government. "Regular messengers leave for the routes each day at 11 a. m. Everything left for delivery before the moment of starting will be, unless otherwise ordered, sent by them at a trifling charge. All matter subsequently presented may either lay over until the following morning, or be despatched by a special messenger at once for a slightly additional sum. These messengers are selected with great care and discrimination, and Mr. Hussey, is, of course, personally responsible for their reliability and trustworthiness. In the character of all his employees, he says he confidently challenges competition."

Hussey and His Rivals—The following reference to Mr. Hussey's competitors was inspired by that gentleman, we assume; and the statement seems to be characteristic of Mr. Hussey who, it is easily surmised, did not allow any undue sense of modesty qualify the tale of personal achievement: "Since the death of John T. Boyd, of Boyd's Post, Mr. Hussey has had no competition worth naming. At the time he first offered his services to the public, he had a supposed rival in the Metropolitan Errand and Carrier Post, which was just then started with a great flourish of trumpets; but, so great was the confidence felt by the business community in Hussey's integrity and energy, that he soon quite monopolized the business in this line; in less than a year's time his rival was forced to succumb and leave him master of the situation. Mr. Hussey is about five feet, eleven inches in height, dark complexion, with a full, well-trimmed beard. Though 54 years of age, he is as active and vigorous as a man of 30, and knows no such word as Fail. His action and speech are rather nervous. His manners are at times somewhat brusque, for with him 'Time is Money,' but he has a warm heart and a generous hand." Etc. Some years afterwards, Mr. Hussey died and the post that he originated, though still retaining his name, passed into control of Mr. Easson.

Private Posts—The circular's reference to the Metropolitan Errand Company is authenticated by the catalogue and the scarcity of the stamps of the company, except the five-cent, is understood in the light of the short existence of the post. The reprints of the stamps are plentiful enough. As for the reprints of the Hussey stamps, they enjoyed the distinction of having been good for postage notwithstanding their character; they were in the class of the United States re-issues. The sole exception to this rule rested in the Hussey stamps of the type of Mercury on horseback. In the year 1866, many of the private posts were still in existence and at that time there was no law of congress that could be enforced for their suppression, even though each postmaster-general in his annual report was prone to recommend legislation by congress to effectually stop these private postal enterprises. In the report of the postmaster-general for the year 1860, the opinion of the court in the case of the United States vs. Kochersperger was included; the result was a compromise between the two contestants. In due time, these private expresses were legislated out of existence, as collectors know.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—An annoying error occurred in a Victoria Stamp Co. advertisement recently. The 1/2c numeral with O. G. was priced at 6c per hundred instead of 60c. The firm states that there were some who took offense because their orders were not filled at price advertised. Stamp collectors should understand that the compositor will occasionally make mistakes.

—B. O. Komorous & Co. after an absence of a few months from our columns, is again using regular space. The firm is making a specialty of auction sales.

—The Ouilmette Stamp Co. would like information in regard to G. W. Falls, whose last known address was 1108 Frick Bldg., Pittsburg, Pa. He cannot now be located.

—Clippings from G. W. Swinburne, Jr., Jos. L. Regensburger, Howard C. Bartlett, Mrs. Laura A. Pickett, Raymond Breunig, Cleveland Bundlie, W. T. Kuhn, C. H. Williams.

Several members have written to the secretary requesting an electro of the society seal for use on their stationery, and when informed that the electro would cost 25 cents, some became indignant and wrote that the society should furnish electros to those members desiring them as it would help advertise the society.

The secretary desires to say just this, for the benefit of all members. These electros are sold to the members at exact cost to the society. If 100 members were furnished an electro free it would cost the society $25.00. What would it be if the entire membership demanded them under similar conditions. The secretary is regulated in this matter by the Board of Directors and must conform to their ruling.

The way some of the new members are hustling around and sending in applications ought to open the eyes of some of you old timers. Surely you are not getting too old to do a little hustling yet. Wipe the cobwebs off your specs and take another look for a live one. Perhaps he lives just around the corner, better go see him. It's going to take hustling by both new and old timers to reach the mark we have set for ourself this year. Had you forgotten? Why its—2000-1910.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF SALES SUPT.

January 1, 1910.

Members of the A. P. S.:

I beg to submit below the quarterly report of the Sales Department for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, as follows:

2563 books in circulation Oct. 1st, priced at $50,838.28

198 books received in October, priced at 4,118.94

189 books received in November, priced at 3,289.90

171 books received in December, priced at 3,127.36

3121 books, priced at $61,374.48

509 books retired (sales $2,168.61), priced at 8,944.85

2612 books now in circulation, priced at $52,429.63

Cash Report.

Cash on hand October 1st, $4,966.30

Cash received in October, 526.90

Cash received in November, 632.14

Cash received in December, 547.44

$6,672.78

509 books retired to owners, 2,168.61

The showing made during the above months is quite disappointing, but we hope that the year 1910 will show a satisfactory total when completed. In response to our recent call for fresh books to meet the demand of members, we are glad, to say that a large number of new books have come in, and the Department is now in a position to circulate among the members, both branch and individual, a very fine line of stamps at prices which are sure to please. We therefore urge all members not participating in the Sales Department, (one of the most valuable features of membership), to communicate at once with the Sales Superintendent, requesting to be placed on either "individual" or "branch" circuit. This is the time of year when we have the most desirable books to send out, and we trust that every member not receiving books will communicate with the Department.

We would call to the attention of collectors of blocks of four that there are in the Department several very nice circuits of blocks. Application should be made early by those desirous of being placed upon the circuit.

Members having desirable duplicates to dispose of should write for blank sales books, which may be had from the Sales Superintendent at 5c each,—fill them promptly and return them to the Sales Superintendent for circulation. Good U. S. postage stamps as well as foreign in fine condition seem to meet with the best sale. The catalogue number and value of each stamp should be given, as well as the net selling price. Those following this rule, and marking their stamps, reasonably, are sure to get very gratifying results.

The branch managers have been doing very good work, and we take pleasure in appending a list with the sales made through each thus far during the fiscal year:

(1) J. W. Haseltine, Philadelphia, Pa.,	$729.72
(2) Don R. Bennett, Detroit, Mich.,	219.18
(3) Chas. R. Morris, Washington, D.C.,	193.29
(4) L. A. Van Toor, Milwaukee, Wis.,	156.64
(5) J. F. Rust, Cleveland, O.,	145.03
(6) W. C. Emery, Springfield, Mass.,	68.57
(7) A. W. Dunning, Newton, Mass.,	57.77

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

PREMIUM OFFERS FOR NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

It can be truly said that there is no hobby so educational, so enchanting, so profitable as the collecting of postage stamps. The above striking headline will reach thousands who have yet to learn that in worshipping at the shrine of the fair goddess Philatelia, MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS is absolutely essential.

To be interested in any business or pursuit and not be kept posted upon its progress would be considered suicidal. Today every trade, every fraternal organization, every religious body has its newspaper mouthpiece and the enthusiastic ambitious spirit cries out for more enterprise in its quest for information.

Subscription price 6 mos. 25c, 1 year 50c.

is a book that should be in the hands of every philatelist. It describes and illustrates:

Regular Government Issues

U. S. Envelopes

Carrier Stamps

Confederate Provisionals

The illustrations are greatly enlarged while the text is clear and conclusive. We cordially recommend the book to every collector of U. S. Stamps. Remit 25c for a new 6 mos. sub., not a renewal, and we will send the book post free.

BUENOS AIRES EXPOSITION.

The A. P. S. has through its secretary received an invitation to take part in a "Universal Philatelic Exposition" to be held in Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic, in the month of September, 1910. Mr. Alair sends us a translation of the prospectus indicating the various classes, with medals to be awarded, and as we are unable to find space to publish the same in this issue we shall gladly send it to any member who may be interested.

The officials state that a large "jury of awards" will be appointed. Any communication relative to the Exposition may be sent to the president of the Argentine Philatelic Society, Dr. Jose Marco del Pont, 1103 Casilla de Correo, Buenos Aires. Acceptance blanks must be returned not later than July 31.

BEWARE OF RIGA, RUSSIA.

We have in the past had quite a little to say in regard to the nest of frauds located in Riga, Russia, and we have advised our advertisers to have nothing to do with anything emanating from that city. A party by the name of

For nearly a score of years MEKEEL'S has steadily, persistently pursued the even tenor of its way until it has become justly famed as the "King of Stamp Papers and the Stamp Paper of Kings." A glance at the contents of any issue will confirm its value as an exponent of philately. To induce you to become a regular reader we give you a choice of various premiums. Address all letters MEKEEL-SEVERN-WYLIE Co., 508 Kast Bldg., Boston, Mass.

Old subscribers paid up 3 mos. in advance and sending in new names may receive any of these premiums.

It must be distinctly understood that these premiums are not given on renewals nor on transfer of subscription to another member of the family.

OFFICIAL STAMP NEWS.

GLEANINGS FROM THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL.

We have Dr. A. R. Butler to thank for the favor of a copy of the above report from which we extract various items that will be read with interest. We quote the following sections:

STAMP BOOKS.

The number of stamp books issued was 20,185,880, or 10.83 per cent over the issue of 1908. The profit accruing from the 1 cent at which the book is sold over postage value of the stamps contained therein amounts, on this number of books to $144,357.06 after paying cost of manufacture. The grand total profit to the department from this source on the 118,561,097 stamp books issued since their introduction in 1900 is $819,198.32.

For the first time since their initial issue the number of books of twelve 2-cent stamps shows a slight decrease, amounting to 139,670. On the other hand, the number of books of 1-cent stamps more than doubled, the increase being 1,898,490 over the issue of 1908.

NEW POSTAL-CARD CONTRACT.

The contract for the manufacture of postal cards for the four-year term beginning January 1, 1910, has been awarded to the Public Printer. The formula fixing specified percentages of ingredients has been dispensed with, the new specifications simply calling for paper "made of bleached chemical wood or of material of equivalent quality, with not more than 10 per cent loading and mineral residue." This is a broad specification, which will obviate the difficulties and annoying controversies attending the enforcement of fixed percentages.

To meet a demand for a card of suitable size for card-index filing purposes provision is made in the new contract for a card 3 by 5 inches in dimensions, which is a standard size of index card.

In the new specifications the weight of the paper was reduced from 150 to 130 pounds per ream of 500 sheets 24 by 36 inches. Without reducing the serviceability of the cards, this change materially affects the first cost of paper, transportation of the finished cards by freight and by mail to postmasters, and transportation in the mails when used by the public. The saving is estimated to amount to $150,000 for the contract term.

REPLY POSTAL CARDS IN SHEETS.

For some years single postal cards have been issued in uncut sheets of 40 and 60 cards, to facilitate economical printing by purchasers. Reply cards were not issued in that form until this year, when an order was received from a Buffalo concern for a carload of 2,500,000. The value of this carload was $50,000, and it is the largest single order for postal cards ever filled.

GOVERNMENT MANUFACTURE OF POSTAGE STAMPED PAPER.

In his report for the fiscal year 1908 the Postmaster-General suggested the advisability of government manufacture of stamped envelopes and postal cards. The contract recently awarded to the Public Printer for the manufacture of postal cards is an important step in the right direction. It is greatly to be hoped that some arrangement may be possible for government manufacture of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers after the current contract expires.

CHANGES IN POSTAGE STAMPS; SPECIAL ISSUES.

In the latter part of 1908 it was decided to change the designs of the regular issue of adhesive stamps, known as the "series of 1902." The past year has also been prolific in special issues. Descriptions follow:

Series of 1908.—For the sake of uniformity of artistic effect the head of Washington (a profile from Houdon's bust) was adopted as the subject of all the denominations except the 1-cent, which bears the head of Franklin (the first Postmaster-General). The border designs are identical on all the stamps, the head appearing within an ellipse on end, with laurel leaves on either side of the ellipse. Above the head are the words "U. S. Postage;" below it, the denomination. The size and shape of the stamps are the same as of the series of 1902. The denominations and colors are: 1-cent, green; 2-cent, red; 3-cent, purple; 4-cent, brown; 5-cent, dark blue; 6-cent, orange; 8-cent, olive; 10-cent, yellow; 13-cent, sea green; 15-cent, light blue; 50-cent, lavender; $1, dark slate.

Some of these stamps, particularly the green 1-cent, 8-cent, and 13-cent, the blue 5-cent and 15-cent, the purple 3-cent and lavender 50-cent, are not sufficiently distinctive, and a rearrangement of the colors is now under consideration.

A Great Success

We are glad to announce that Mr. Power's new book on United States Stamps has already proved a booming success. Collectors all over the country have written to us saying that it is just the very thing they needed and that the illustrations are very clear and distinct. Two big heavy cases of this book were unpacked and every copy used up in orders during the first week of its appearance. Five hundred went to London and are selling there like hot cakes. SAVING OF WASTE IN THE PERFORATING OF STAMPS.

The intaglio plate-printing process by which our postage stamps are produced necessitates a preliminary wetting down of the paper, which is bleached chemical wood stock. This wetting causes a varying shrinkage, which has resulted in heavy waste from the cutting of the perforations into the stamp design. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing experimented with a paper made of about 30 per cent rag stock, in the hope that it would show less shrinkage, but this paper did not overcome the difficulty, as it was found to shrink very unevenly. Some of the stamps printed on this paper, which was of a slightly bluish tinge, were issued to the postmaster at Washington, D. C., the quantities being 1,480,000 one-cent, 1,494,000 two-cent, and 673,000 Lincoln memorial. Some of the Lincoln stamps on the bluish paper were issued to other postmasters, but no record was kept of the quantity.

As the part-rag paper did not reduce the waste, the chemical wood-fiber stock will be continued for the present, 2 per cent of china clay being added to improve the color and surface of the paper.

The bureau has accomplished the desired result, however, by the use of printing plates having longitudinal margins of varying widths between the stamps. The width of the horizontal margins remains uniform, because the shrinkage is not perceptible with the grain of the paper (which is endwise of the stamps), but only across its grain. The shrinkage being greater on the outside of the sheets of paper than in the middle, the outside margins have been slightly widened to give more space for perforating. By this means the waste from imperfect perforation has been reduced from about 9 per cent to less than 1 per cent.

STOCK OF POSTAGE STAMPS.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has accumulated the largest stock of postage stamps in its history. The total amounts to considerably more than a billion of stamps. This is in marked contrast to former conditions, when it sometimes happened that shipments were so close to manufacture that stamps had to be taken directly from the perforating machines and packed for immediate shipment. The larger stock is advantageous in minimizing the danger of a shortage of postage stamps from any temporary failure of paper supply. Stocks of stamped envelopes and of postal cards have also been increased largely, affording the department a very considerable margin of safety.

PHILATELIC DEMAND FOR POSTAGE STAMPS.

The department profits very largely from the sale of postage stamps to collectors, as few stamps bought for this purpose are redeemed by the department in service. The collecting of stamps seems to be considerably on the increase. Large sums, even considerable fortunes in some instances, are invested in collections. The issuance of the new stamps of the series of 1908, the Lincoln, Alaska-Yukon-Pacific, and Hudson-Fulton commemorative issues, as well as of the various unperforated stamps, has apparently contributed in no small degree to the increased interest in philately, judging from the increasing inquiries and orders received from collectors and dealers.

CHANGE IN COVERS OF STAMP BOOKS.

A change in the cover design for books of stamps is now in course of preparation. The old covers are exceedingly plain. The new ones will bear the department's official seal and will be artistically lettered. On the back cover will appear a model form of address.

INCREASE IN ADVERTISING RATES.

As will be seen by reference to our leading editorial the advertising rates of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS will be increased Mar. 1 to a minimum flat rate of 15c per line.

While several reasons could be given for our taking this step, there are two especially strong reasons that have influenced our action.

During the past year our subscription list has grown steadily and substantially, until at the present time we are fast approaching the 7000 mark in actual paid-up subscriptions. We believe that the purchasing value of our subscription list is sufficient to warrant the slight increase that we propose to make in our rate.

We are aware that this advance in our rates will mean a decrease in our volume of advertising. This is to be expected. It will, however, enable us to better serve the interests of philately, in that it will give us more space for reading matter. Our columns have been over-taxed with advertising during the past four months, as will be seen by even a cursory examination.

While the new rates as indicated will go into effect March 1, space may be contracted for at the old rates to use before Sept. 1. Existing contracts extending beyond Sept. 1 will of course be filled, but no renewals can be made on the basis of old rates.

Our equipment for serving the interests of philately was never better and we are confident that our low flat rate of 15c per line will provide an unequalled opportunity for getting into close touch with American collectors.

TRENTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

The T. P. S. continues to grow and prosper and at a no distant date will be one of the leading philatelic organizations of the country.

It is establishing a sales department that will show quick and profitable results to the participants at a very low rate of commission. It has stocked the Melville Stamp Books for 1910 and is authorized agent for the publisher in the United States.

The T. P. S. is the only stamp society in the state of New Jersey and numbers among its members three New Jersey collectors of international prominence; Hon. E. R. Ackerman of Plainfield, state senator and leader of the senate majority; H. E. Deats of Flemington and E. B. Sterling of Trenton, who is president.

Interested collectors should communicate with the secretary, Wm. G. Fitzcharles, who will gladly furnish application blanks, particulars of their new sales department and any other information desired.

In order to obtain new customers I have set aside fifty new magnificent copies of the

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

We shall discontinue the listing of auction catalogs, price lists, etc., such as have been previously included under this heading. As we have made it a practise to refer to such only when sent us by advertisers using WEEKLY space it will be readily seen that no injustice will be done any of our patrons. On the other hand, we shall free ourselves from justifiable criticism upon the part of those who do not press us for complimentary mention.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Important Notice—The WEEKLY will raise its advertising rates on March 1st, 1910, to a minimum of fifteen cents a line; after that date, the flat rate will be fifteen cents a line instead of twelve cents as at present. At this time when there is so much uncertainty about how anticipated rulings by the postal department will affect publications enjoying second class rates and in view of recent orders of a somewhat radical nature, we shall not discuss the advance in any phase except that which appeals to the advertisers who use our columns. Later, we have been increasing our subscription list in a way that is unmistakable, and if we have not been so insistent in calling attention to this growth, as a spirit of publishing enterprise might warrant, it has been because we felt that results would speak more eloquently. There will be no disposition to rest on our oars and we shall achieve the goal of ten thousand subscribers if liberal advertising in the public press and a popular policy of the paper will accomplish it. The new rate becomes effective March 1st, 1910, but up to that day space may be engaged at the present rate, provided that such space be used prior to September 1st, 1910. For the past five months our advertising columns have been very much crowded and this condition has not escaped the notice of others than our readers. Any reduction in the volume of advertising will leave more space for reading matter. Further, we shall have the satisfaction of having conformed to all expectations of the post office department by this change, we think. We wish to certify to the courteous attention that we have received from the postal authorities and to record our appreciation of the reasonable attitude that has been taken, insofar as recent and impending legislation by the department has concerned the WEEKLY.

Not a Stamp—A reader who months ago sent us a sketch of "Cushing & Bailey's Adhesive Envelope" stamp, suggesting that it was an unrecorded United States local stamp is now informed that the impression has no philatelic significance. The original of the picture sent in for inspection was cut from an envelope flap. We are able to confirm this statement through having found an envelope which bears the impression named above, as a tress on the point of the flap of the envelope, in four lines, surrounded by a pearly circle just inside a plain one. The envelope bears a three-cent, 1851, on the face of the envelope. About this time, 1851, or so, envelopes were supplanting letter sheets and it was not long before they were in use exclusively. The "adhesive envelope" under notice evidently was one of the first manufactured for general public use.

Locals in 1872—On March 18, 1872, J. W. Scott, New York, held his first auction sale in London, England, at "No. 13 Wellington Street, Strand, W. C." The majority of the two hundred and seventy-five lots comprising the sale were United States local stamps and among them was "Boyd's City Express, unique, struck over a Pomeroy stamp," seven pounds and seventeen shillings having been realized for it. This was almost a record price; and we are curious to know whether the combination was anything more than the combination of the two stamps when, for franking, the Boyd's alone would have been sufficient. Occasionally, one finds a cover bearing one local used over another, when both emanate from the same town; and again when the first local was replaced by another, it was usually torn off the cover, leaving traces of it. For instance, the City Despatch, one-cent black was sometimes covered over by a Blood (Kochersperger) one-cent black. As showing how locals were esteemed in those days, it is to be mentioned that a "Blood's man stepping over houses, nearly unique," brought sixty shillings or as much as a "5c Brattleboro, upper right hand corner var., extremely scarce" realized.

Watermark Variations—A. A. Kelson, in a recent letter, says that he noticed the remarks of G. B. Lighthall, partly referring to reversed watermarks upon the stamps of the 1895 issue, United States. He adds: "If of any interest to your readers I might mention that as long ago as 1897, I placed amongst others in my collection of United States stamps, a perfection copy of the three-cent denomination of the 1895 issue, watermarked sideways with the letter S."

Nothing Startling—Theatrical note in a Chicago newspaper: "An idea of the size of some of the towns played may be gleaned from the fact that in one burg where she tried to buy a porous plaster, the druggist tried to palm off on her one which had an internal revenue stamp on it." It is characteristic of some to complain even when one tries to give them something for nothing; and it may be added, sotto voce, that there are drug stores in Chicago where the Spanish-American war revenues still festoon the wares.

Further Light—The following interesting letter has been received from Fred G. Ross, Manager, Fritz Scheff Opera Co.; evidently, Mr. Ross did not see the second reference to the subject in the issue dated January 1st, 1910: "The Jarrett & Palmer postmark has no philatelic value. In 1876, Jarrett and Palmer, who were the most prominent theatrical firm of that time, sent a special train direct from New York to San Francisco, which carried the late eminent tragedian, Lawrence Barrett, and a selected company, to produce Shakespeare's 'Henry, the Fifth,' at the California Theatre, in San Francisco. The trip was scheduled for five days, a remarkable run in those days. So hazardous did it seem, that the actors, alarmed at the possibilities, tried to insure their lives in advance; the insurance companies in equal trepidation, refused the risk. The arrival of the company, safely, at the Pacific Coast was deemed a circumstance of moment. No special mail clerk was on the train; the stamping undoubtedly was done by some one in charge of the company and the special form adopted for advertising purposes."

* * *

Near Stamps—Mrs. L. C. Hooper, writes: "I notice that one of my British journals is received handstamped as follows: Postage Paid at Halifax, N. S., in circle, enclosing the date. It appears that this journal is sent out to Halifax, Nova Scotia, by ocean express, and postage paid at Halifax, where copies are distributed to other Canadian points." In speaking of the "postage paid in cash permits," our correspondent makes the point that the authorities call the impression a stamp in the warning notice under the permit are the words, "Anybody using this stamp," etc.

SOCIETY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Our contracts with four societies, the Texas Philatelic Assn., New York Stamp Society, Washington Philatelic Society and American Envelope Society expired Jan. 1 and we shall discontinue all subscriptions at once.

If you are a member of any one of these societies and desire your subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY continued, please remit to the society secretary your dues for 1910 and 50c additional for subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

Want Lists

The bulk of my mail business is by "Want Lists." You will find it a very satisfactory way of filling up with stamps you want, provided you can get them at satisfactory prices.

Some collectors have an idea that they have to pay more if stamps are asked for on a want list, than if bought from approval lots. Perhaps so with some dealers.

The opposite rule applies with me, as I should ask more for stamps if I made up a general lot for approval, the chances of a fair sized sale being smaller than if only stamps wanted were sent.

I send the stamps on approval if in stock to A. P. S. members and others giving satisfactory reference, and if price or condition not satisfactory you have only to return.

I do not solicit want lists limited to stamps cat. under 10c but can usually supply some on lists of stamps cat. 2c to $1.00 or higher of any country, particularly 19th Century at attractive prices.

THE STAMP MARKET.

By SENAX.

It seems that the 72h Austria, 1904, without the shiny bars is worth somewhere about 6d. Is this variety catalogued? Searching through a hundred copies all are found to have the shiny bars.

Australian Commonwealth Postage Dues seem in evidence at present, in some quantity, in places, right up to 5sh value, yet this does not imply reduced prices, for the figures quoted are fairly high. The 6d of 1902, with blank spaces at foot, should be a good stamp.

9d blue, New South Wales, 1904, is perhaps cheaper. Last week I saw the lowest quotation for this stamp yet noticed. The 9d Queensland, which is scarcer somehow, maintains its old figure.

The 2 1/2d, 5d and 6d Tasmania pictorials occur to one as gradually becoming dearer, prices seem "pretty stiff" in some quarters. Double face value for the used 2 1/2d may one day be its regular price. Somebody says the 6d value is obsolete. Is it?

A lower price for the 3d, 4d and 6d "long stamps" of South Australia has also been noticed; the 8d and 10d values, however, are not often quoted for in greater quantities than per dozen.

Where the price of a stamp stops short at the dozen rate it should be safe to buy, if the figure be moderate, for the absence of a price for any larger quantity is of course an admission of inability to supply any very large lot, and this comparative scarcity should give the stamp a better chance of finding ready purchasers. This may be wisdom, or it may be not; the reader is free to judge. This being the festive season the writer is giving his intellectual faculties a brief rest, and all problems are barred till the middle of January.

2 1/2d to 1s values of New Zealand, Queen's Heads, of 1882, seem to be steadily advancing, chiefly, perhaps, in the country of their origin, and doubtless the increase of local collectors is to some extent responsible for this. Time was when some of these were considered good penny stamps, but now—happy is the man who has a few hundred in reserve.

50c orange, U. S. A., of 1902, at a shilling a dozen should be a "snap," if the copies are good, but the quotation will probably not be seen again. Guessing, one would say that 3d apiece, or more, would be a fair price for this stamp at the moment, and the 1 and 2 dollar values of the same issue should be equally good in proportion.

Have seen a low quotation for the 1d rose, Fiji, 1906, a stamp possibly more plentiful than its predecessors.

5c blue and 10c brown, unpaired, of the general issue for French Colonies, are obtainable in places per 100, and should sell readily as being a trifle out of the ordinary for common stamps. A French correspondent can also usually supply odd copies of the higher values which have a fairly good catalogue status.

The 5c Canal Zone, 1906, seems to have accumulated by the hundred in many places since the day it was first given a price in the catalogue; the comparative ease with which this stamp is secured is found to lead to a demand for the 8c and 10c values, which are worth looking out for.

Some new arrivals are the 1 1/2c, 15c and 20c Holland, 1908, the 15c being a good penny stamp for cheap sheets, and is a rather better stamp than the 20c. The red "4" on the 4-on-6 1/2c Postage Due is enticing; this stamp is priced 6d in one catalogue. Nice copies of the 2 1/2c green Queen's of 1892, should be worth at least 3d each, while the 2 1/2c King's Head of 1872, a desirable stamp, is hard to meet with.

Two underpriced stamps of the Dutch Indies seem to be the 2 1/2c, Figures, 1883, and the 12 1/2c grey of 1870. The 15, 20, 25 and 50c surcharged stamps of 1900 usually sell at their full catalogue price; indeed, a judge of values might not be far wrong if he appraised the 25c at 2d, and the 12 1/2c at 3d. The 7 1/2c of 1903 is seldom quoted for, though the 20c olive of the same issue seems slightly cheaper. "Buiten Bezit" are dearer than "Java."—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

In competition with some of the largest dealers in America and Europe, we were the highest bidders. Inside of five days we paid Spot CASH and took possession. It will be several months before everything will be in shape but in the meantime we would be glad to receive want lists and will give them our careful attention.

pane, and from the second, third, fourth and fifth vertical rows. The mark does not appear on the first row, and Mr. Webb is not certain as to its appearing on any other rows than those mentioned above. He thinks the stamps came from Minneapolis.

Willard S. Fuller has shown us a number of United States envelopes with freak varieties, including the following: 2c claret on white of 1907, with the hair cut square in front; several of the 2c envelopes of 1903, with certain variations in the word "Washington," including the "A" above the line, the "S" barely visible, "N" above the line, "G" above the line, dot in place of "N," and a red line across the printed portion of the stamp on a line with the Adam's apple.

Frederic C. de Puy sends us a copy of the current 1c post card, with the upper edge perforated. Has any of our correspondents ever seen this card used as a reply card? •

J. Newton, Jr., reports having seen the 1c of 1902, precancelled Boston, Mass., but with the overprint so misplaced that only the three rules show on the stamp.

Frederic A. de Camp reports the current 4c stamp, precancelled "Minneapolis, Minn.," with the overprint inverted.

Lynn, Mass., 1c 1908, reading up in a square.
Minneapolis, Minn., 5c normal.
Philadelphia, Pa., $1 normal.

COLOMBIA.—S. B. Whitehead calls our attention to the fact that there is a third variety of the 5c. of the 1904 gold issue, not mentioned in either Scott or Gibbons. Mr. Whitehead shows us a number of specimens, single and in strips, which bring out the varieties very plainly. Both are on Gibbons Type I of Type 96. All have both hooks turned inwards. In the normal variety, the white line under the figure of value, and outlining the round body of the "5" is thin and of even width. The variety discovered by Mr. Whitehead has this line of uneven width, swelling out to a width of nearly 1 mm. in the centre of the lower part. In the widest part is a very distinct but irregular line, constant in all the specimens of this variety submitted. These stamps are better printed than the others, and are in a paler shade of blue, while the perfora-tations are regular and cleaner cut, the count being 12. The other type, which is that illustrated by Stanley Gibbons, is that illustrated by Stanley Gibbons, has the line under the five, as described above as the normal variety, is of a dark muddy blue, and is perforated 12 horizontally and 11½ vertically, the latter being rough. Mr. Whitehead says that in a large lot of these stamps, the variety with the wide white line appeared to be the most common, the pro-appeared to be the most common, the proportion being as about 4 to 1.

of stamps for Portugal, with portrait of King Manuel. We are not informed as to the date of issue, but presumably it was around Jan. 1. There are 14 values in the set of adhesives, as announced in No. 979, the values being given there correctly, though some of the colors must be modified. There are two designs, though the portrait is the same in both. The 500r and 1000r are printed in two colors, all the others being in a single color, though the 100r, 200r and 300r stamps are on paper with a colored surface. All the stamps are on coated or surfaced paper. The values from 2½r to 75r have the portrait in a circle below the centre line of the stamp, with "Portugal Correios" in a broad tablet around the top. The National Arms appear in a pointed shield in the centre of the top, with laurel and oak leaves at each side. The figures of value are printed in colored letters in irregular tablets in the lower corners, with "Reis" in white letters on a colored tablet between. Conventional ornaments fill the space above the figures of value. On the higher values, the figures of value and the word "Reis" are similarly arranged, though at the top of the stamp, the portrait circle being nearer the top, and the arms arranged on either side below the figures of value. The laurel and oak branches are arranged below the portrait, and are crossed by a broad ribbon containing the words "Portugal Correios." Below each stamp, in the centre just outside the frame, appears the name "A. Rego," but whether this is the designer, engraver or printer we are unable to say. The perforations vary, being 14¾ horizontally and 14¾ vertically.

We are also indebted to Q. A. Castro, the J. M. Bartels Co., and the New England Stamp Co. for specimens of the new stamps.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 75th regular meeting was held January 25, at the rooms of the club, President Mason in the chair. Twenty-one members and four visitors were present. The minutes of the 74th meeting were read and approved. Mr. P. M. Thomson was elected to active membership.

Committee on annual dinner made its final report and was discharged with a vote of thanks. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Geo. W. Linn and W. M. Linn & Sons for the very handsome menu card which was furnished the club with their compliments.

The Auditing Committee reported that they had examined the books of the Treasurer and Secretary and found same correct.

Mr. H. S. Adair presented the library with a complete file of The Philatelic Free-Lance, published a number of years ago at Bellaire, Ohio, and a number of auction catalogues, for which he received the thanks of the club.

In regard to the Detroit Philatelic Society Branch No. 25, American Philatelic Society: The society again assembled in October and proceeded to elect the following officers: President, General C. A. Coolidge; Vice-President, Dr. W. L. Babcock; Secretary and Treasurer, C. F. Heyerman; Sales Superintendent, Don R. Bennett. A business and a social meeting are held each month. The local convention committees all report progress and many pleasant surprises can be expected by the American Philatelic Society members attending the convention. The keynote being "Give the American Philatelic Society a good time in a philatelic way," and we trust therefore there will be as little legal business to transact as is possible. Lively auction sales are held at each of the social meetings, which adds much to the interest. Some very fine collections have been exhibited. Any collector visiting Detroit on a second or fourth Friday, upon communicating with the Secretary, will be cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Yours truly,

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays at Club Room 506 Kast Bdg., 730 P. M.

BOSTON, MASS., Jan. 18, 1910.

The 218th (regular) and annual meeting was held at the club room at 8 o'clock this evening with 45 members and friends present. The session opened with Pres. Green in the chair.

After the reading of minutes of the previous meeting, the President read his address, and the reports of the various officers and committees were presented.

Most of these will appear in the WEEKLY in due course. The election of officers was then in order. Mr. Nevin withdrew his name, and Mr. Wylie's nomination was made unanimous by rising vote. The Secretary cast one ballot, electing Mr. Wylie as President, and he was escorted to the chair by Mr. Batchelder. After a short speech of acceptance business was resumed, the remaining officers, Governing Board and Library Committee were elected by one ballot, cast by Mr. Green, as follows:

Vice President, Frederick S. Cook; Secretary, C. A. Howes; Int. Secretary, J. M. Bartels; Treasurer, J. B. B. Smith; Supt. Sales, P. C. Kimball; Supt. Auctions, J. H. Lyons; Supt. Bourse, I. W. The resignations of Nos. 426, 476, 493 and 502 were accepted.

The following were admitted to membership:

No. 513. Thomas Todd, Jr., Concord, Mass.

No. 514. Oscar B. McElhiney, Winchester, Mass.

No. 515. H. B. Seagrave, Cambridge, Mass.

No. 516. J. Harper Blaisdell, Winchester, Mass.

The Library Committee submitted the following:

Monthly Report for December.

There has been added to the Library by Purchase: British New Guinea, by F. J. Melville; Philatelic Record, Vols. III-XIII; Senf's Catalog of Entires for 1910.

Donation: Drew's 204-7-8-9 Sales. Priced Catalogs from A. P. Brown; Scott Stamp & Coin Co.'s 165th Sale Catalog from New England Stamp Co.; Yvert & Tellier's Catalog for 1908, from C. A. Howes; Hawaiian Numerals, by Henry J. Crocker, from the author, and the current numbers of the following magazines, generously contributed by the publishers: Gibbons' Weekly, Mekeel's Weekly, The Stamp Journal, Scott Stamp & Coin Co. Circular, Berliner Briefmarken-Zeitung, Collectors' Journal, Hartford Philatelist, Carter's Messenger, The Postage Stamp, Redfield's Weekly and the Attleboro Philatelist.

A card catalog of the membership of the society has been placed in the box on the side of the bookcase by the Library Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES K. B. NEVIN.

C. A. HOWES.

Lib. Com.

The amendment to the Statutes to reduce the dues of non-residents caused considerable discussion. Pres. Wylie called the Vice President to the chair and addressed the meeting on a communication from the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Co. concerning the P. O. Dept.'s new regulations in regard to official journals, and how it would affect the payment of subscriptions and dues. After further discussion it was voted to refer the whole question of charges in dues and official organ to the Governing Board in connection with the Committee on Membership and the representative of the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Co.

The following were dropped for non-payment of dues: Nos. 285, 411, 444, 488, 489 and 509.

The President appointed Messrs. Bartels, Howes and Rothfuchs as the Expert Committee.

Mr. Woolley announced that the Annual Jollification in February would be held in the club room; that Postmaster Mansfield of Boston would address us as well as Mr. C. H. Fowle ("Undooley"); and that Mr. Pack's famous collection of Canada would be exhibited. The hour set for the meeting is 7 p. m.

The exhibit for the evening was Mr. Pack's specialized collection of Uruguay. Like others of this gentleman's collections that we have seen, there is so much to say—that we can say but little. The "Diligencias," the "Montevideos," even in sheets, a wonderful tete-beche of the 120c blue of 1857, the inverted center 25c of 1895, and shades, varieties, blocks, sheets, original covers, were there in profusion. The evening was not a tenth long enough for examining the books. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the courteous exhibitor for the treat given us.

The meeting adjourned at 10.10 p. m.

GOOD STAMPS AT LOW PRICES!

WILL BE FOUND IN MY

Approval Selections at Net Prices

My stamps are the kind that sell, and are marked at prices that sell them. One customer has already purchased over $150.00 worth from general selections since Dec. 1st. Sales from several books circulated in the B. P. S. exchange dept. were over 50%.

My stock mostly comes from old collections purchased and contains very few of the remainders and other stamps obtainable in almost unlimited quantities at wholesale.

General Collectors with from 1000 to 10,000

vars. who will purchase $2.00 or more at a time if suited, can find many hard-to-get stamps, in my selections. Have thousands of old issues, Austria, Netherlands, Norway, Barbadoes, Canada, Ceylon, Mauritius, Portugal, etc.

State size of collection and what priced stamps desired.

General selections only.

Satisfactory references must be given.

SPECIAL, FREE OFFER!

Scott's 1910 Catalogue (price by mail 60c) or 4 blocks of imperfs. 2c 1909, Lincoln, A. Y. and H. F., your choice of either, with first purchase of $5.00 from approvals or lists.

BOSTON COLLECTORS!

I have 10,000 vars. of 13th Century issues on sale at my office, 23 Bromfield St. (street floor), one of the most complete stocks of the lower priced stamps in the city.

Will the membership please notice that there are seven resignations on the list this week. Will the membership also please notice that it is their duty to write these members and urge them to stay with us. Don't say, "Let George Do It," but get a move on yourself. Do something worthy of membership at least. The officials of the society are few in number and it is up to the membership to help them retain these members that will drop out if not urged by you to remain with us. Try it once.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

tires, proofs and essays and revenues. The Second, or "Champion Class," is devoted to collections of any country which have been awarded gold medals at any previously held international exhibition.

The Third Class is for Europe and is divided in three sections. The Fourth Class, in 5 sections is devoted to Colonies. The Fifth Class, in 3 sections, includes the Foreign Countries and Section B in this class is for collections of the stamps of the United States of America. The other classes are as follows:

Class VI.—Rarities of any Country (Postage stamps, Entires). Section A, 25 to 30 rarities exhibited by a collector. Section B, 25 to 30 rarities exhibited by a dealer.

Class VII.—General collections. Section A, general collections of postage stamps containing at least 20,000 specimens. Section B, general collections of postage stamps containing at least 10,000 specimens. Section C, general collections of postage stamps containing less than 10,000 specimens. Section D, general collections of the postage stamps of Europe. Section E, general collections of postage stamps, containing at least 4000 specimens exhibited by collectors under 18 years of age.

Class VIII.—Entires. Section A, general collections of entires of all countries. Section B, collections of entires of one country or a group of countries—with the exception of Switzerland.

Class IX.—Proofs. Collections of official proofs and essays of one country or a group of countries—with the exception of Switzerland.

Class X.—Postmarks. Collections of the postmarks of one country or a group of countries, with the exception of Switzerland.

Class XI.—Forgeries, Curiosities, etc. Collections of philatelic or postal curiosities, forgeries (with study) or of any objects of postal or philatelic interest, not to be found in the previous classes.

Class XII.—Literature and Philatelic Accessories. Section A, philatelic works and handbooks published since 1905, exhibited by the author; catalogues and journals published in 1909-1910. Section B, printed albums. Section C, blank albums and philatelic accessories.

The Exhibition Committee will furnish the judges with two Grand Prizes, one for the finest collection of Switzerland, the other for the finest collection of any other country, also Gold, Silver-gilt, Silver and Bronze medals and Diplomas. It will be seen that the scope of the program is very wide and nobody, possessing a representative collection of any kind within philatelic lines, needs to feel barred. The charges for space are 8 francs pr. square meter for the first 5 sq. meters and 5 francs for each additional square meter. The insurance fee, payable by the exhibitor, will be 2 francs pr. 1,000 francs. It is announced that the jury will take specially into consideration the condition of the specimens, and their arrangement and scientific classification. Philatelic study and research will also be given liberal consideration. All communications in regard to exhibits should be addressed to: Secretary of the International Philatelic Exhibition, 39 Neuen-gasse, Berne, Switzerland. Any general inquiries will gladly be attended to by the International Secretary of the American Philatelic Society.

INCREASE IN ADVERTISING RATES.

As announced last week there will be a slight increase in our advertising rates March 1. On and after that date our transient rate will be 25c per line and our flat rate 15c per line. Prior to that time we shall write contracts at the old rates on a basis of proportional space, said contracts to expire Sept. 1. We shall of course fill any contracts that mature later than Sept. 1 but few of these are now in force.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

SOCIETY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Our contracts with four societies, the Texas Philatelic Assn., New York Stamp Society, Washington Philatelic Society and American Envelope Society expired Jan. 1 and we shall discontinue all subscriptions at once.

If you are a member of any one of these societies and desire your subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY continued, please remit to the society secretary your dues for 1910 and 50c additional for subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

It is probable that contracts with all these societies will be renewed, but in the future the payment for subscription to the official journal must be separate and distinct from the annual dues.

The above is in compliance with the recent postal ruling requiring discontinuance of the practice of receipt of society subscriptions in a lump form.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—“We only recently formed the Seattle Philatelic Club, but have started the new year in rather peculiar way. At our last meeting, we found ourselves minus our treasurer, B. Katcher, an empty treasury, and a few unpaid bills. But we are not discouraged, and can assure our ex-treasurer a warm welcome upon his return.—C. J. UTERMARK.

—The suffragists are to have a neatly printed label with which to carry on their “indirect plea” campaign. From clipping sent us by Cleveland Bundlie we learn that this label will be a little larger than the regular 2c stamp and printed in various shades of blue. In the four corners will be stars representing the four states where women are allowed to vote. Beneath a scale of justice are the words “Taxation without representation is tyranny.”

—Ralph H. Graham sends us a lengthy clipping from the Manitoba Free Press of Winnipeg, “Hints on Stamp Collecting.” In closing the article the Free Press states that it will be pleased to answer any inquiries concerning postage stamps and their collecting.

—From a clipping sent us by Henry A. Wahlborg we glean that government internal revenue department is considering a change in the present style of cigar stamps. The new stamp which is proposed would be 3½ inches by 2 9-16 inches. This stamp could be fixed to the upper portion of the box, extending over the front angle so that it would be broken when the box is opened. The government thinks this would be a neater stamp and allow the manufacturers to get up a more attractive box, as well as result in a saving and inconvenience over handling of the the present stamps.

—The Michigan Farmer for Jan. 1 has “The Romance of Penny Postage,” by Chas. E. Jenney. It is an article of more than ordinary merit, illustrated with reproductions of the Mulready envelope and a Wells Fargo & Co. “Pony Express” stamp.

—Some boys in Auburn, Maine, have formed the Laurel Avenue Philatelic Society. The secretary, Harold Cooper, informs us that it has its own official journal and proposes to do a good work amongst the stamp collectors of Auburn.

—A philatelist who is well informed and well able to correct the error made in the WEEKLY announces that the number of the 4c 1901 invert destroyed was 194 and not 234 as stated. This would allow of 206, including the Museum copy, as the total number in issue.

—F. J. Martin, Saginaw, Mich., sends us a picture of the stamp exhibit held in the local Auditorium last October, by the Saginaw Stamp Club. We regret that the demands upon our space will not allow of the use of a half-tone.

—Clarence V. Webb, Perry, Ohio, chairman of the S. P. A. recruiting committee, would be pleased to receive inquiries concerning the work of the association. This society is now in a very prosperous condition.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from G. G. Heinemann, W. W. Jewett, R. V. Burt, Walter J. Ossege, Dr. A. R. Butler and Edward Howard.

POSTAGE STAMPS IN ROLLS.

Milton P. Lyons, Jr., favors us with a circular issued by the Schermack Co. advertising what is called a “Natural Method Stamp Affixer.”

This device has been manufactured to create a demand and use for postage stamps in rolls, the firm claiming that great speed can be secured in the affixing of stamps.

These stamps come in rolls of 500 or 1000 of either the 1c or 2c value, perforated and joined sidewise. The company offers the suggestion that ordinary strips can be used, though the rolls are much more convenient.

The attention given the matter of supplying postage stamps in rolls by the third assistant postmaster general would seem to indicate that we are but just entering in upon a new form of supplying stamps that will ultimately become very popular.

NEW POSTAL CARD.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS.

The Department will issue a new 1c postal card, known as the No. 4 card, described as follows:

“Size, 3¼ by 5½ inches (the same as the present ‘McKinley’ card.) The paper is of a light-blue tint, printed in bronze-blue ink. The stamp on the card is an ellipse on end. It contains a profile portrait of William McKinley looking to the left, with a background of horizontal lines and a border bearing the following words: ‘U. S. Postal Card. One Cent. McKinley,’ and on either side of the portrait, within the border, the numeral ‘1.’ The legend ‘This side of card is for the address only’ appears in outline Gothic type, within a horizontal panel of double lines, above the middle of the card, on a line with the bottom of the stamp.”

The new card will be issued in sheets of 16 when so desired for printing purposes. The sheet cards will be furnished in boxes of 10,000 only. Purchasers of cards in sheets should be advised that to be valid for postage they must be cut to regulation size—3¼ by 5½ inches.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

We shall discontinue the listing of auction catalogs, price lists, etc., such as have been previously included under this heading. As we have made it a practise to refer to such only when sent us by advertisers using WEEKLY space it will be readily seen that no injustice will be done any of our patrons. On the other hand, we shall free ourselves from justifiable criticism upon the part of those who do not press us for complimentary mention.

TERMS

Over fifteen hundred bidders know my “selling-to” terms, but comparatively few of them know my “selling-for” terms.

I have two scales of terms depending on whether you or I make up the lots. They are:

20% commission when I do all the work of cataloguing and dividing into lots.

10% commission (minimum charge 35c per lot) when you mount the lots on slips which I furnish free for that purpose.

My catalogues are written with the utmost care for the interests of both buyer and seller; my mailing list contains over fifteen hundred selected names; the sale is conducted by a state-licensed auctioneer; in short, everything is done that can be done to make success certain.

If you have GOOD stamps to sell, WRITE ME.

OUR GREECE SPECIAL.

We thank our friends one and all for the kind words spoken concerning our Greece special. We do not know when we have issued a special number that has met with so warm a welcome.

Our next effort will appear Feb. 26, our "one thousandth" issue, and elaborate preparations are being made that it shall have permanent value. It will have our prize cover design, very appropriate and very pretty, while the literary matter will be of a high order.

All in all these are lively days in the office of the WEEKLY and if we neglect to notice any fraternal courtesies its because we are too busy.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Awards—We have made the following awards in our contest for cover design for our one thousandth number, to be issued Feb. 26: First prize, Mr. B. W. Bradshaw, Cleveland, O.; second, Mr. F. Prescott, St. Louis, Mo.; and third, Mr. Geo. W. Unger, Columbus, Indiana. In making these selections, we find it necessary to fortify our position by citing some of the conditions under which the contest was held. We said that the prizes were to be conferred according to the judgment of the publishers and that practicability and adaptability would be consulted in making the choice; and that first prize would be given to the person whose idea or sketch was used even though it might not be so finished a production as some of the other entries. The idea to be presented by the design was to be the union of philately and the millennial number of the WEEKLY. From the artistic view-point, Mr. Prescott's work is the strongest but as Mr. Bradshaw's design was chosen for the cover, it is he who is named first of all. We congratulate the three gentlemen and the fact that we intend to use all three designs in the course of time proves our belief in the merit of the drawings. We have been surprised at the number of clever and impressive ideas that have been submitted by our readers, as when we announced the contest, it was not thought that it would attract the generous attention and inspire the intelligent effort that it has. We think that all our readers will commend the convincing and unconventional treatment of his theme by Mr. Bradshaw. To all those who entered the artistic competition, we return our heartiest thanks.

Play Stamps—In 1865, there was a suggestion made that a necessity existed in connection with the various stamps then in use in this country for "teaching to our youth their use and application to banks, custom-houses, railroads, post-offices, pawnbrokers, and, in fact, as stamp tax to every trade, business, and department of government." The idea was not unnoticed by several of the commercial colleges and actual stamp departments were established in them, "and mock-banks, custom-houses, steam-boat-offices, post-offices, etc., are fitted up for the purpose of familiarizing youth with the use of stamps in the various mercantile and governmental departments of the country." Usually, these stamps approximated the design of the regular stamps and in due time, the use of anything of the kind was denied by the authorities.

Stock Story—For almost the hundredth time, we read of a dress made wholly of postage stamps worn at a masquerade or fancy dress ball by a young lady who is the cynosure of all admiring eyes. Sometimes the costume is worn at an occasion in this country; then again, Paris is the scene, and Bermuda is often selected as the locale of the ball; in fact, according to the newspapers, the stamp dresses have been worn in nearly every habitable portion of the globe. The idea of a dress made of postage stamps as a costume for use at a masquerade or ball was first adopted in Chicago about the year 1889, when P. H. Dilg, well known as a philatelist in those days, suggested the novelty's use to a young female relative, who won much applause by her philatelic impersonation. At the time, P. M. Wolsieffer referred to the success of the young lady, in a philatelic publication and since then, many references have been made to ball dresses of stamps in the newspaper press; the subject seems to strike a responsive chord in the managerial breast and almost at any time, there is a newspaper clipping at hand for the use of the philatelic editor, if he finds it necessary to fill in.

Original Tale—Now that we have placed the responsibility for the modern stamp dress story on P. M. Wolsieffer and consequently have made him a marked man to be shunned by his fellows, we shall go back to another era and tell of the prototype of the story of to-day. The first story had a great popularity for a number of years and many a chuckle was caused by it during the depressing days of the civil war. Here is the story as related in 1864: "By the Sonora, a few days since, says a Californian correspondent, some two hundred of Uncle Sam's orphans arrived, and were distributed around. Some were sent to Fort Alcastra, some to the barracks at the Presidio, and the remainder were quartered at Benicia barracks, preparatory to being assigned to the different companies of the regiments in this department. They will soon be scattered from Oregon to that most delightful post, Fort Yuma, in Arizona,—a place where they have to put rocks on the roofs to keep the ends of the boards from curling over like little dogs' tails. They have a little fun even in that awful place sometimes, and an officer was telling me the other day of how he lost his postage stamps. He had sent up here for twenty dollars' worth, and had left them on his table. Now, the habits, manners and customs thereabouts are considerably on the free-and-easy style, and the Indians are allowed to roam around the garrison ad libitum, if they behave themselves and do not steal. On this occasion, a young squaw, who had the run of the quarters, and was very much at home anywhere and everywhere, happened to stray into my friend's room, and, seeing the postage stamps, began to examine them with great curiosity. She discovered that they would stick if wet, and forthwith a happy idea struck her. Now the fashionable dress of the ladies of her class in that warm climate is of the briefest description. She was ambitious to dress up and excite the envy of the other Pocahontases. So she went in on the postal currency, and, much to the astonishment of the garrison, made her appearance presently on the parade-ground, entirely covered over with postage stamps. She was stuck all over with Benjamin Franklin and the Father of his Country was plastered all over her ladyship's glossy skin indiscriminately, regardless of dignity and design. The 'roar' that greeted her, from the commanding officer down to the drummer-boys, was loud enough to be heard nearly at head-quarters in San Francisco; but, Indian-like, she preserved her equanimity, and did not seem at all disconcerted, but sailed off with the air and tread of a genuine princess,

Want Lists

The bulk of my mail business is by "Want Lists." You will find it a very satisfactory way of filling up with stamps you want, provided you can get them at satisfactory prices.

Some collectors have an idea that they have to pay more if stamps are asked for on a want list, than if bought from approval lots. Perhaps so with some dealers.

The opposite rule applies with me, as I should ask more for stamps if I made up a general lot for approval, the chances of a fair sized sale being smaller than if only stamps wanted were sent.

I send the stamps on approval if in stock to A. P. S. members and others giving satisfactory reference, and if price or condition not satisfactory you have only to return.

I do not solicit want lists limited to stamps cat. under 10c but can usually supply some on lists of stamps cat. 2c to $1.00 or higher of any country, particularly 19th Century at attractive prices.

Another—In addition to the "Cushing & Bailey's Adhesive Envelope" tress, mentioned in this column last week, there is "Lipman's Adhesive Despatch Envelope" tress, which when cut from the flap of the envelope is more likely to be mistaken for "a hitherto undiscovered Local" than the one first named. These envelopes were used about 1850, when the new convenience for letter enclosure was a novelty; a year or two later, envelopes were used almost by everybody in this country.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Herman W. Boers reports having seen a private mailing card, sent out by a Detroit firm, having the regular form of paid permit, No. 132, 1c.

We have been shown by the Hussman Stamp Co. a piece of cover bearing the circular shaped inscription "Pittsfield Mass" in capital letters with "5 cents" in the centre, all in red. In addition there appears on this marking in black what seems to be "J. H. P." and the letters "P. M." though the letters are not plainly decipherable. Any information will be welcome.

A. F. Van Order sends us a paid permit, New York No. 520 which was originally printed 1c, and has been overprinted a large "2" in green ink.

E. W. Murray sends us a cover having one of the current 1c stamps which was mailed at Argenta, Arkansas, having been precancelled with an ordinary dating stamp, apparently one of the receiving stamps formerly in use. Mr. Murray also sends a St. Louis 1c precancel, which shows something in the nature of a double strike.

E. W. Murray corrects Mr. Post's statement that the National stock yards are at Chicago. They are situated at East St. Louis.

Cecil W. King reports having the current 1c St. Louis precancel, with overprint misplaced so that part of the letters are missing.

J. B. Schuette sends us a copy of the current 1c, precancelled "Longmont, Colo.", between two lines, reading up.

Frederic A. de Camp reports having seen the following precancels:

St. Paul, Minn., 4c, 1908, reading up. Minneapolis, Minn., 4c, 1908, inverted.

A. C. Roessler reports having found

IMPORTANT!

We have prepared a few sets of Filled Approval Books which are of the greatest value to all first class dealers. The books are highly attractive and contain about 160 stamps each, with blank space to insert your name and address. There are from 6 to 8 books in each lot ranging in value up to $7.00 or $8.00 for a single book and often more. They comprise a large variety. Each lot catalogues over $26.00. PRICE $4.00.

No book contains duplicates. Not over 5 of the same stamp in one set of books. All stamps priced according to 1909 catalogue.

You can give 50%, 60% or even 75% and still double your money.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42 St., N. Y. For the next two weeks we will give you three of these lots for $10.00. You may remit $4.00 for one lot and we will hold the two other lots until you remit $6.00, provided inside of 30 days. One lot for $4.00 with the privilege of two more lots at $3.00. This is a Cinch.

a mint block of 10 stamps of the 10c Jefferson, showing the secret marks on eight stamps, and lacking it on two stamps, said to be the first time such a freak has been discovered.

William C. Rhodes shows us a block of the current 15c stamps on the experimental paper. Mr. Rhodes says: "I have positive knowledge that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing issued and distributed these stamps prior to Oct. 1, 1909. Undoubtedly most of them have been used for postage."

N. Cobe has shown us the new printings of the Special Delivery stamps. The plate numbers thus far seen are 5240, 5243, 5244 and 5245. All have the date thus, "5240-09." Former printings had no date. The new printing is on thinner paper, and there is a material change in the shade of the ink, the latest issue being a more pronounced ultramarine.

N. Cobe calls our attention to the fact that the current 5c has been seen on a thin paper of a slight bluish cast. This is distinct from the so-called "experimental" paper.

E. F. Roy sends us a freak in the shape of a "Prov., R. I." 1c precancel, with the overprint misplaced so that "I" "R" appear in the upper corners, the double line below being continuous and extending across the stamp.

C. J. Utermarck reports finding the dot in the white circle, reported in No. 993 by Mr. Flick, on Plate Nos. 5128, 5147, 5148. This peculiarity occurs on the five outer vertical rows of the lower left panes.

A. Strauss reports the following precancels: St. Louis, 4c, 10c and 13c, 1908. The 13c appears to be on experimental paper.

BELGIUM.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the complete set of King Leopold stamps, 10c to 2fr, from a recent importation, all the colors and shades being slightly changed. The 10c is a brighter red; the 20c a lighter shade of olive, almost olive bistre; the 25c is a paler blue; the 35c is nearer mauve than

TRADE COLUMN.

RATE—15c per line, cash in advance. Exchange, want and for sale notices and business announcements inserted without display. Seven words to the line including address.

SPECIAL OFFER.—50 lines for $6, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

We shall use every possible endeavor to protect our subscribers; but we cannot undertake to be responsible for unsatisfactory trade relations. Advertisers against whom complaints are proven will be debarred the further use of these columns.

Advertisers sending out approval selections must take precautions to secure satisfactory references. We cannot undertake to settle all the petty disputes arising from the wide-spread scattering of approval selections.

March 1 the new trade rate will be 20c per line. Prior to that time 50 lines may be secured for $6.00 and used at will. This is a good chance, too good to lose. Why not take 100 lines?

purple brown; the 50c is a darker shade of gray; the 1fr is a paler shade of yellow, while the 2fr is nearer mauve than violet. There is nothing to indicate a new series of stamps in these new shades, but rather a new printing of the old issue.

Mr. Schachne reports changes in the current cards as follows: The headlines on the 5c now measure 48-25½ and 72 against former measures of 47-25 and 70. The footnote is now 99½ against 98. The most noticeable change on the 10+10c is the headlines—there are now three instead of five and these three are the 1st, 2nd and 5th on the previous card—both message and reply. This makes it a local instead of U. P. U.

BERMUDA.—Scott catalogues the 4d multiple under 1906, as brown orange and blue, but adds a question mark to indicate some doubt. The query seems to have been entirely justifiable, as the New England Stamp Co. has now shown us the stamp and we find the frame to be of an entirely different color from that stated above. It is printed on ordinary multiple paper.

Adhesive.

4d violet brown and pale blue.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—Mr. Schachne informs us that the card, Senf No. 6, was issued about a month ago on white instead of buff. This is rather noticeable as it has the Queen's head stamp as formerly.

FRANK P. BROWN COMPANY,
339 Washington St., BOSTON, MASS.

CONGO.—A new set of stamps is now appearing, four of the lower values having been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. The general design is the same as the previous issue. The principal changes consist of the addition of the Flemish words, "Belgisch-Congo," to each of the stamps, and the changes thereby made necessary in the arrangements of the value. For instance, on the 5c, the Flemish words take the place of "5 Centimes" at the bottom, the displaced inscription being arranged on curved tablets at each end of the centre opening. In the 10c value, the Flemish words appear at the bottom, the principal other change being the substitution of "10" for "DIX" at the ends, thus doing away with the celebrated "DIN" error. In the 15c, the Flemish words take the place at the bottom formerly occupied by the value. The word "Centimes" being worked into very small curved tablets below each circle containing the figures of value. The 25c value has the French name of the country in the curved line at the top, in the place formerly occupied by the value, while the Flemish words are printed at the bottom. The value, "25 Centimes" is placed at each end of the stamp in the space formerly occupied by conventional ornaments, and in the new form act as supporting pillars to the main arch. The central pictures are the same as before and are all printed in black.

Adhesives.

5c yellow green and black.
10c carmine and black.
15c ochre yellow and black.
25c blue and black.

We have received from Mr. Schachne a variety of the overprint on the cards of a year ago, these last being very roughly printed—probably handstamped—instead of press work. Same letter, size and location as formerly.

He also sends the first of the new issue which are very similar to the former in every way except the name is changed to "Congo Belge" both in the headlines and upper section of the stamp.

Post Cards.

10c red on buff; var. of surch.
15c orange on pale buff; var. of surch.
10c red on buff; new.
15c orange on pale buff; new.

CUBA.—The long promised series of stamps has at last appeared, the complete set having been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. The list of portraits was correctly given in No. 989, but none of the advance announcements gave the colors correctly, with one or two exceptions. The stamps were engraved and printed by the American Bank Note Co., and are in the later style of that house, suggesting the work done for Peru and Panama. The 50c of 1905 appears in new colors, but without change in design, but the others are all new. All of the stamps, except the 50c, have "Republica de Cuba" and "Correos" at the top, with the figures of value in the lower corners and the value in words between. The 1c also has the figures of value repeated in small shields near the top. There are as many designs as stamps, and the effect is excellent. The special delivery stamp is also printed in two colors, the small circle containing the boy on bicycle being moved to the left, to allow room for a similar circle containing the portrait of Gen. J. B. Zayas. The figures of value appear at the ends, "Republica de Cuba" being printed at the top, and "Diez Centavos" below the vignettes, while a long tablet runs across the lower part of the stamp, with the words, "Entrega Inmediata." All the stamps are printed on unwatermarked paper, and perforated 12.

Adhesives.

1c dark green and purple; Bartolome Maso.
2c dark red and gray green; Maximo Gomez.
3c purple and blue; Julio Sanguily.
5c blue and green; Ignacio Arramonte.
8c dark olive green and violet; Calixto Garcia.
10c black brown and dark blue; Mayia.
50c purple and black; Antonio Maceo.
1p blue black and black; Carlos Roloff.

Special Delivery Adhesive.

10c orange and blue; bicyclist and J. B. Zayas.

INDIA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 25r stamp, announced some time since.

Adhesive.

25r blue and orange brown.

PAPUA.—Philip Wolff has shown us the current 1d on Crown A paper, with the watermark sideways. This is the first value reported thus. The paper and gum of this 1d stamp are both whiter than the 2d, and the paper is a little thinner.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 30c stamp in new colors, the design being Type A14.

Adhesive.

30c violet and orange.

ANOTHER SPECIAL OFFERING

Canal Zone No. 31, offset of surcharge on back, *o.g..... 35c each

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT,

PHILADELPHIA, PA

1204 CHESTNUT STREET,

II. Errors of Making

- Errors of printing by inversion (inverted centres and têtes-beches).
- Errors of colour by intercalation.
- Errors of value erased.
- Errors of no value expressed.

III. Errors of Manipulation

- Errors of colour by substitution of a wrong ink.
- Errors of printed at back.
- Errors of double printings.
- Errors of watermark.
- Errors of colour of paper.

IV. Errors of Surcharge

- Inverted surcharge.
- Double surcharge.
- Errors of omitted surcharge.
- Errors of separated surcharge.
- Errors of wrong surcharge.
- Surcharge in wrong colour.
- Surcharge in wrong type.

Besides the above list of errors there are several minor inconsistencies which, however, cannot be classed under the heading of errors, as their existence is in no way due to any oversight on the part of the acting officials.

The four chief classes of error given here could be collected separately by the less wealthy philatelists—an excellent means of forming a limited collection. The advantages of going in for "errors of composition," etc., as compared with only a single subdivision (such as inverted centres), are manifold. By taking one of the four primary classes of errors one is able to form a varied collection, as the subdivisions are numerous. On the other hand, to collect only a special type of subdivisional error is apt to become rather monotonous, whilst the expenditure is not less than it would be in making a collection of several kinds of errors—if careful choice is made.

All errors being more or less rare, it is not surprising that the forger occupies much of his time in putting counterfeit errors on the stamp market, many of which, fortunately, are not good enough to deceive any one "in the know." With "errors of surcharge," however, the tables are turned, and it is not infrequently that the collector falls a victim to the forger's wiles. To obtain a genuine stamp and put on a forged surcharge are the simplest things in the stamp faker's trade, whilst if that faker is at all skilled and clever—beware! The surcharge specialist should always be very careful in dealing with rare errors, whilst a reliable stamp firm's name is not only desirable, but necessary as a guarantee.

The first class of errors to deal with are—

1. ERRORS OF COMPOSITION OR MANUFACTURE.

This class of error is caused by inaccuracies and defects in the actual stamp, such as—

- Errors of design.
- Errors of inscription.
- Errors of figures of value.

Such errors as the above three may almost be looked upon as being the basis from which stamp errors have sprung, as surely no other classes of errors could be placed before these three? An error of design, for instance, is absolutely the first type of error that could have occurred, for it is difficult to conceive the printer making any earlier mistake in the production of the adhesive than to print the wrong design. It could of course be argued that errors of paper and watermark are also early states of mistakes, but then they are so different in every way that a comparison between them and an error of design is odious.

Engraving Errors.—This type of error occurs both in stamps engraved en creux and in relief. The commonest mistakes by far consist of inserting wrong letters either in the name of the country, the value, or the inscription. In modern days it would be impossible for such errors to crop up in engraved stamps, as the engraver now engraves one matrix die, from which any number of exactly identical plates can be made. In olden times, however, it was quite different; the design being often engraved in duplicate direct on to the plate, with the result that every stamp differed in some minute detail from its neighbour. This explains the errors which crop up on a large plate.

Lithographic Errors.—In this class of error spelling mistakes are even much more common than is the case among engraved stamps; but, on the other hand, errors of design are scarcely ever to be seen. The plate being made by transfers, it is unlikely that the design could alter or change; but sometimes it happens that the figures of value or the inscription letters are very small, then it is that the transfer paper may not do its duty overwell.

Typographical Errors.—Once more all the chief errors are printer's mistakes in composing the name or money of the country. Stamps printed by this process are produced in exactly the same way as newspapers and journals. All lines in the die are made to appear in relief, many replicas are then taken on soft lead or gutta-percha to make the plate of required size. The moulds are then arranged in a forme, an electro cast being taken of the whole.

It must not be thought, however, that inscription errors end the typographical inaccuracies, as such is not the case. There are many bicoloured stamps produced by typography, the frame and central portion of the design being printed in two separate processes—the origin of inverted centre errors, which type of error will be described in due course.

I will make it a rule having described any certain types to give few examples of the errors mentioned, so as to illustrate them more forcibly.

Some examples of errors of composition.

ENGRAVING.

Belgium. 1869-80. Here we find some varieties of spelling in the 1c green. For "Belgique" we have "Belgigue" and "Beigique," whilst "centime" is found spelt "centimf."

Mauritius. 1848. "Post Paid." 2d blue. "Pence" in error is spelt "Penoe."

New South Wales. Among the "Sydney Views" of this interesting colony there are many interesting errors (although these are of minor importance), and are in reality rather varieties than errors. April, 1850, 2d blue, "crevit" omitted. December, 1851, "Wales" reading "Wale," whilst in May, 1852, we have another variety which reads "Walls."

Bhopal. 1877. Some curious spellings for "Begam" read "Becan," "Began," "Eecam"; also "Nwab" for "Nawab."

Dominican Republic. 1880. 1c dull green; "cen-avo" for "centavo."

Lubeck. 1859. 2 (2 1/2) sch. brown; error "zwei ein halb" on "zwei" sch.

Oldenburg. 1859. 3gr black on yellow;

1861. 1/2gr green, and 3gr yellow;

"Oldeiburg" for "Oldenburg."

TYPOGRAPHY.

Dominican Republic. 1867. "Un real" spelt as one word. Another variety of the same stamp is to be found without inscription at top or bottom.

Guadeloupe. 1891. "Guadeloupe" is known in five different spellings: "Gnadeloupe," "Guadelouep," "Guadelonpe," "Guadbloupe," "uadeloupe."

Modena. 1852. Here we are confronted by an amazing variety of errors of spelling of the word "cent," such as, "cnet," "eent," "ceft," "cene," "cezt," "cetn," "cest," etc. This is indeed a paradise for the error collector!

SOCIETY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

We are pleased to state that the P. O. Department has shown us the utmost possible consideration in connection with society subscriptions, and we are given until next September to complete arrangements. This will enable us to fill out our contract with the A. P. S. without embarrassment.

In this connection we wish to state that all society subscriptions will be promptly discontinued upon expiration. This will include the A. P. S. If you are a member of that society and have occasion to write this office, please enclose subscription renewal for which you will receive credit dating from Sept. 1.

Whatever contract the WEEKLY may make with the A. P. S. will be contingent upon a 50c subscription rate, but the paper cannot be sent for an indefinite period while the secretary is collecting membership dues.

We hope and believe that the WEEKLY will again be chosen as the official journal of our national society. In any event, the 50c rate will be maintained and under the new postal regulation all renewals would better be made direct to this office.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Versatile Mr. Mudge—Two articles, each occupying nearly a page, by H. N. Mudge, president of the American Philatelic Society have been featured by the Chicago Sunday Examiner in two recent issues. One describes Panama, and the other Central America. The articles which are profusely illustrated are of engrossing interest and while not philatelic in any sense, they yet make supplementary reading worth while for the stamp collector. Mr. Mudge deserves the newspaper's tribute: He "is a close observer of men and things and his articles will be found accurate and interesting, dealing as they do with features not hitherto touched upon."

OUR NEXT AUCTION

Will Be Held Saturday, MARCH 19, 1910

Choice line of scarce and fine single stamps, combination lots; a few wholesale lots. Catalog will be ready for mailing early in March, 1910.

April Sale will be held Saturday, April 23rd. We solicit one or two good collections for our April sale.

Our first Auction was a decided success, and we hope to mail very interesting Auction Catalogues during the next ten months. Shall be pleased to put your name on our mailing list. [01

A Difference—H. L. Finney, Sharon, Vermont, has shown us a copy of the 1½ pence, Great Britain, current type, that evidently was printed from a cliché on which one of the lines has been broadened noticeably. Ordinarily, the two lines, extended diagonally upward from a point just below the center of the tablet containing the value, are, one (the upper) thin and the lower one quite thicker. In the specimen shown by Mr. Finney, both of these lines are of the same thickness as the lower one on the left side of the tablet; and it is unlikely that the broadening of the line is to be accounted for by reason of a mechanical variation in printing.

In Demand—Some years ago, we called attention to the increasing demand for philatelic literature, particularly that of the earliest days of philately; and the prediction was made that it would be but a short time before keen competition on the part of those of antiquarian bent would elevate prices to a high and rightful notch. Developments have amply proved the truth of the view expressed and the literature of the infancy of philately, if any class is to be specified, is receiving a due meed of attention. In a recent Wolsieffer sale, the high prices astounded many who had not read recent signs; and prices in isolated cases are such as to impress the collector who knew only of the apathetic demand that existed in the past. We learn that later in the year, the philatelic library of Henry L. Calman will be disposed of at auction by the Scott Stamp & Coin Company; and opportunity will be offered by the sale that literature collectors will welcome as the library contains only works published up to 1901, when Mr. Calman discontinued his active connection with the Scott Stamp & Coin Company. As, up to 1901, the Calman library is one of the most complete in this country, if not in the world, it follows that it includes many rare old prints in English and in other languages. The sale will be an event for the philatelic literature enthusiasts.

Testimony at the Time—From John C. Allen, Beverly, New Jersey, we have received some interesting references to the very early days of stamps; he submits the following extracts from a letter mailed at Birmingham, England, in May, 1841, to Philadelphia: "The penny postage makes such a difference in the number of letters written but like everything else, it is abused. They find that the red marks which were put on the black stamps could be effaced and then used again, so that now red stamps are used marked with black." "How convenient the penny postage is. A few weeks ago a friend who is stopping at Leamington wrote to grandfather to say that he was going to take a run over here to see some of the manufactories. They accordingly came and dined with us. The next morning a very handsome tortoise shell comb was found and grandfather enclosed it and sent it by post, it costing only two pence. Flowers are often sent in tin boxes and I have heard of an inflated bladder being sent from one end of the kingdom to the other."

a more prominent factor in the general press than many would have predicted it would some years ago. It is patent to the casual, hurrying reader of the press that in a wide variety of ways, philately is given publicity. Whenever we refer to the increasing prestige of the pursuit in the eyes of the astute managing editors in this country, it becomes a duty to attribute a great share of the credit for the elevation of philately to the work of the educational committee of the American Philatelic Society and the Burrough's articles. During the past week, we have seen items in the newspapers, referring to prices realized at the sale of the Leslie Carter collection in New York; descriptions of the new Cuban stamps, etc., and these subjects were handled as news items. The purpose of this note is to call attention to the following advertisement that has been seen in an English newspaper, under the head, New Stamps: "To celebrate the coronation of the Chinese Emperor Hsuan Tung a handsome set of postage stamps has been issued in the Celestial Empire. They are printed in two colors, the central design being a picture of the famous Temple of Heaven at Peking. A supply of these interesting and valuable stamps has been received by the Dr. Williams' Company, who are offering an excellent opportunity to stamp experts to enrich their collections. A set of three, unused, of face values seven, three and two cents, will be sent to any of our readers who mention 'Lloyd's News' and forward six pence in stamps (or P. O.), plus 1d for postage to Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, etc." The London address of the company follows. We suppose that dealers will not resent this incursion of the medicine company into the ranks of dealers; no doubt they will applaud the enterprise of the company, knowing that a notice of the kind will have a stimulating effect on philately in its broadest sense.

Story With a Moral—The following story is taken from the Chicago Journal: "There are tricks in many trades," remarked Thomas Jackson, whose hobby is stamp collecting, "but one of the neatest I've seen lately was put over through a Chicago newspaper. A fellow wrote to the editor that he wanted to aid poor people, and was therefore willing to buy certain old stamps, if anyone had them, at $5 to $10 each. To the non-collector the offer looked fine, but to those 'in on the know' it was pitiful to see the trap set for the unwary. The stamps the fellow was willing to pay $5 to $10 each for are really worth from $75 to $100 each. He undoubtedly hoped to catch the eye of some stamp-ignorant person who might have on old letters the specimens he sought, and get them for a song." In passing, notice the descriptive "stamp-ignorant"; it is worth incorporating into philatelic nomenclature. We do not need to say that many are the tricks that are resorted to by stamp collectors to obtain their coveted specimens. The subterfuges run the gamut from the "Please, dear Czar" letters to ingenious schemes that are not without their amusing sides. Let some stamp celebrity be spoken of in the newspaper press and the chances are that little Lillie Leebower, ostensibly a child of ten, but in reality a hardened old collector of male kind, will ask by letter for stamps, "you have so many," is alleged wistfully and with well-calculated innocence. Horatio Hecktick, who is sick, "O, so long" indites a note in trembling chirography to the great collector to say that a gift of stamps would aid convalescence and while away dull hours. Horatio may be a stalwart man with whiskers, whose appetite puts that of the hired man to shame. Even coy Claudia Condillion whose friends say that she "is not bad-looking" if her letter is to be given credence dotes on stamps but is too poor to buy any; "she would love dearly to receive some" from the gentleman, who is "noble and good," she knows. Claudia is easily metamorphosed into a sharp-featured man, and so on. The moral of it all must be that stamp collectors are not quite perfect.

A. P. S. HISTORICAL NOTES.

By H.A.DAVIS, Pres. Colo. Branch No.22

Year 1903, 18th Annual Convention.

In February, J. F. Johnson resigned from the Board of V. Pres. on account of removal. Edw. F. Sawyer of Mass. was appointed to fill the vacancy. The first expert committee of the association was appointed this year as provided for by the previous convention and consisted of the following members: John N. Luff, J. M. Andreini and J. C. Morgenthau, all of New York City. (Note: Two of these same members are serving on this same committee for 1909-10.) On May 26th President Holland issued the call for the 18th annual convention to be convened at Clayton, N. Y., Aug. 11th.

The following nominations for Board of Directors were made by the Chicago Branch: President, Alex. Holland, New York; V. Pres., F. H. Burt, Gordon Ireland, Willard O. Wylie, all of Mass.; Sec., E. R. Aldrich, Minn.; Treas. C. L. Annan, Mich.; Int. Sec., E. Doeblin, Pa.; Directors, F. W. Coning, N. J.; H. B. Phillips, Calif. The 18th annual convention was called to order in Red Men's Hall, Clayton, N. Y., Aug. 11th, with President Holland in the chair.

There were 23 members and 14 visitors present; 376 members were represented by proxy.

The Secretary's report showed a total membership of 560, a gain of 5 members for the fiscal year. The Treasurer's report showed receipts to be $698.40; expenditures, $633.28; Bal. Gen. Fund, $92.99; Bal. Stock Fund, $1827.00; Bal. Insurance Fund $1032.89. Stamps were sold in the Sales Dept. to the amount of $5437.59.

$25.00 were appropriated for the use of the Index Committee. $100.00 was voted for the use of the Membership Committee. A Counterfeit Detector was added to the list of officers, fees 5c per stamp with a minimum charge of 25c. Pittsburg, Pa., was selected as the seat

IMPORTANT!

We have prepared a few sets of Filled Approval Books which are of the greatest value to all first class dealers. The books are highly attractive and contain about 160 stamps each, with blank space to insert your name and address. There are from 6 to 8 books in each lot ranging in value up to $7.00 or $8.00 for a single book and often more. They comprise a large variety. Each lot catalogues over $26.00.

PRICE $4.00.

No book contains duplicates. Not over 5 of the same stamp in one set of books. All stamps priced according to 1909 catalogue. You can give 50%, 60% or even 75% and still double your money.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42 St., N. Y. For the next two weeks we will give three of these lots for $10.00. You may remit $4.00 for one lot and we will hold the two other lots until you remit $6.00, provided inside of 30 days. One lot for $4.00 with the privilege of two more lots at $3.00. This is a Cinch.

of the next convention by a vote of 261, against 87 for Minneapolis, 8 for St. Louis and 1 for Chicago. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was elected official journal. The Perforator and The Philatelic World were also candidates. Few changes, none of note were made in the by-laws.

The ticket as nominated by Chicago was elected with one exception. Messrs. D. T. Eaton and E. R. Aldrich each received the same number of votes, but as another member residing in the same state as Mr. Aldrich had received a larger number of votes, Mr. Eaton was not eligible as a director, Mr. Eaton was therefore elected. He was appointed Sec. of the board and association. With this and the following few changes and additions the officers of the association remain the same as the previous year. W. O. Wylie succeeded Edw. F. Sawyer on the Board of Vice Presidents. Among the appointive officers, W. O. Staab succeeded P. M. Wolsieffer as Auction Purchasing Agt. at Chicago; J. W. Prevost succeeded Robt. D. Maynard as Resident V. Pres. at Springfield, Mass. This office by the way covering western Mass., M. H. Lombard, Winchester, Mass., succeeded J. F. Johnson of Auburndale as Resident V. Pres. of eastern Mass. H. W. Wolseley was appointed Examiner of Sales Books (another new office) and J. M. Bartels appointed the first Counterfeit Detector. (Note: The same member holds the appointment for 1909-10.) The first appointment to this office was Geo. L. Toppan, but he declined to serve, whereupon Mr. Bartels was appointed.

THE SPECIAL DELIVERY REPRINTING.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS.

In the issue of this paper for Oct. 9th and under the same title I stated that I had been to see the Director of the Bureau and the Acting Asst. Postmaster General, Mr. Travers, in regard to having the blue special delivery plates marked in some way so that the re-issue could be told from the old issue printed before the green ones, that it had been directed by Mr. Travers that these old plates be marked with an "09" following the plate numbers and I gave the plate numbers as being from 5240 to 5252.

It has just been brought to my attention that the numbers of the Green Specials were 4916, 4917, 4920 and 4921, and that the blue specials above referred to being numbered in the 5200 series could not have been printed before the green specials.

This was considerable of a surprise to me for I had not taken the trouble to get the green special numbers when I sent the other article to be published and to make sure whether I was right or wrong I made another trip to the Bureau to get what information I could.

It now seems that Plates 1773, 1774, 1775 and 1776 were prepared in 1905 and were used continuously from April 20, 1905, to July 11, 1908, and were destroyed in January, 1909. The green special plates were put to press only twice, on Dec. 7th and 15th, 1908. New plates of the old blue specials were made and put to press for the first time on June 15th, 1909.

When I started out to get the "09" put on I was told that no blue specials had been printed since the withdrawal of the green ones as a goodly supply of the old ones were still on hand in the vaults and that I would have to get such permission from the Post Office Department. I then went to Mr. Travers about it and was later informed that our request would be granted. He gave orders to the Bureau that all old plates of the specials that were going to be used again should have this '09 put on and as the only plates they had to put it on were the new ones, it was put on them. Stamps printed from June 15th to Sept. 8th will not have the '09 on and those printed after that date will have it.

I very much regret that the information conveyed in my article of Oct. 9th was not authentic but as will be seen I am not wholly to blame unless it is held that I should have looked up the green special numbers. However, I humbly apologize for being mislead and misleading others.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

In competition with some of the largest dealers in America and Europe, we were the highest bidders. Inside of five days we paid Spot CASH and took possession. It will be several months before everything will be in shape but in the meantime we would be glad to receive want lists and will give them our careful attention.

TRADE COLUMN.

RATE—15c per line, cash in advance. Exchange, want and for sale notices and business announcements inserted without display. Seven words to the line including address.

SPECIAL OFFER—50 lines for $6, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

We shall use every possible endeavor to protect our subscribers, but we cannot undertake to be responsible for unsatisfactory trade relations. Advertisers against whom complaints are proven will be debarred the further use of these columns.

Advertisers sending out approval selections must take precautions to secure satisfactory references. We cannot undertake to settle all the petty disputes arising from the wide-spread scattering of approval selections.

March 1 the new trade rate will be 20c per line. Prior to that time 50 lines may be secured for $6.00 and used at will. This is a good chance, too good to lose. Why not take 100 lines?

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—The Frank P. Brown Co. has shown us specimens of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company's franks, which do not appear in the catalogue. First, the 1907 design illustrated by Scott, but printed in black on pink paper. The serial number is printed in pale red. The 1909 frank is in a new and somewhat more elaborate design, though the border is of plain rule. The name of the company is in larger colorless letters on a colored tablet with ornamental border, and the date is also in white on a colored tablet. The signature is Clarence H. Mackay, and the stamps appear in violet, brown and olive green on white. The number is printed in pale red, blue and black. Mr. Aldrich writes that these 1909 franks also come surcharged letters, "I. C." for Illinois Central, "C. G. W." for Chicago Great Western, "E. P." for El Paso of Texas, and "P. R. R." for Pennsylvania, being special permits.

Charles M. Breder sends us a private mailing card, with 1c paid permit, Brooklyn, N. Y., No. 74, thereby confirming Mr. Boers' note in No. 998.

Mr. Breder now sends us the envelope, mentioned in No. 986. Taken in connection with Mr. Newton's note in No. 988, it indicates that the use of officially sealed stamps is often omitted, and therefore not required by the department.

We are indebted to Harry C. Reddy, Charles A. Townsend, E. J. Post, H. T. Parker and Erwin G. Ward for the following precancels:

COLOMBIA.—The Frank P. Brown Co. and the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. have shown us the new departmental surcharges chronicled in No. 995. The overprints, for there are two, are set up in a horizontal strip of five, with a double rule border around the strip, and single lines of rule between the stamps. They are found not only normal on the stamps mentioned in No. 995, but also upon the 2c imperforate, and upon the 1/2c and 5c, with surcharge inverted. The 1/2c has been found with inverted surcharge in both Government and private prints.

CUBA.—Hermann Focke has shown us a complete used set of the new stamps, and we are also indebted to S. L. Israel for specimens.

SALVADOR.—The Scott Stamp & Coin Co., Hermann Focke and H. Wesley Legg have shown us specimens of two new provisionals from this country. The 13c brown and black and 26c yellow brown and black of 1907, the current set with arms have been surcharged with new value in red, thus: "2—Centavos—1909," in three lines.

Provisional Adhesives.

The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co., reports the following irregularities in the new Salvador, surcharged "1821—15th Septiembre—1909": A copy surcharged "1" with the "821" omitted; also one with the last four letters of Septiembre left out; another copy surcharged "821" instead of "1821," and "5th Septiembre 1909"; another surcharged 1821 and then come "ptiem" instead of Septiembre; another with the entire surcharge at top doubled. These four stamps are on the ordinary paper. Now comes the most interesting one of all on watermarked paper;—th "15th Septiembre" surcharge showing only on the first stamp in a strip of four, the other three being unsurcharged; margin of the sheet showing on both sides.

VENEZUELA.—A new value has been added to the current set.

Division of Stamps.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL,
WASHINGTON, February 4, 1910.

MR. HENRY S. ADAIR, Secretary,
American Philatelic Society,
Box 691, Columbus, Ohio.

Sir:—In answer to your letter of January 25, which the Postmaster General has referred to me, you are advised that the resolution of the American Philatelic Society favoring the use of numerals to express denomination on the current 1c and 2c stamps will receive due consideration.

Respectfully,

(Signed) A. M. TRAVERS,

Acting 3rd Asst. Postmaster General.

COLUMBUS BRANCH, No. 21.

The 76th regular meeting of the Columbus Collectors' Club was held Feb. 8, 1910, President Mason in the chair, with 13 members and one visitor, Mr. F. M. Kennedy of Washington C. H., Ohio, present. Minutes of the 75th meeting and report of Board of Directors were read and approved, the approval of the report of the Directors carrying with it the expulsion of six active members for non-payment of dues, also the appointment of Mr. Geo. W. Linn as Librarian with Messrs. Adair and Smith as assistants and the appointment of Mr. W. H. Field as Curator of the club's counterfeit collection.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, Mr. H. S. Adair, a member of the Columbus Collectors' Club and Secretary of the American Philatelic Society, has refused to become a candidate for a third term; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the Columbus Collectors' Club heartily endorses Mr. W. H. Barnum of Cleveland, Ohio, for the position on the Board of Directors of the American Philatelic Society to be made vacant by reason of Mr. Adair's declination."

The Secretary was empowered to solicit lots for an auction to be held for the benefit of the club's library, details to be decided by the President and Secretary.

The Secretary was instructed to advertise for new quarters for the club. President Mason exhibited his collections of Guatemala and British Guiana, the former being especially interesting in view of the proofs and essays displayed. After the usual drawings, meeting adjourned at ten o'clock.

W. A. JOHNSON, Pres.; F. B. WHEATON, V. Pres.; J. F. ENGLE, Sec.; R. WYSONG, Treas.; T. R. HUNGERFORD, Supt. Exchange; WM. SAHM, Supt. Auctions; C. R. MORRIS, Lib.; GAV. BOARD, Pres., Sec., and R. DASKAM, Maj. P. C. STEVENS, GEO. L. TOPPAN, and PROF. M. WHITNEY. Regular meetings 2nd Wednesday at 624 6th St., N. W.

The 49th regular meeting was held February 9, 1910. Sixteen members were present. The regular routine business was transacted. An amendment to the Statutes was proposed making the dues 65 cents per year and those members expressing a desire to subscribe to MEKEEL'S to pay 50 cents additional, which will be acted on at the next meeting.

At the annual meeting the officers as named above were elected for the ensuing year. The Treasurer reported balance in general fund of $19.99 and in Insurance fund of $11.48. J. H. Krentzlin has resigned and Thomas Mainwaring elected to membership. At the next meeting, March 9, an auction sale and an educational contest will be held.

NOTES FROM THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

By THEODORE SIDDALL.

Some years ago the Philippine Commission passed an act forbidding the exhibition of the insignia of the late Katipunan Society, and every once in a while someone runs foul of this act and gets into trouble. About a month ago a Spanish business man in this city was arrested for having in his possession a quantity of the stamps issued by the Philippine Republic (Aguinaldo stamps), which he was offering for sale. These stamps all bear the insignia of the Katipunan, with its initials, "K. K. K." This arrest caused some discussion among the collectors here, who were afraid they too might be arrested for having these stamps in possession, so a letter was addressed to the prosecuting attorney, inquiring whether the act covered the possession by collectors of these stamps, and the following opinion was rendered by the Attorney General:

"The stamps used during the late insurrection are no doubt emblems used during said insurrection within the meaning of Secs. 1 and 2 of Act 1696. What these sections punish, however, is the exposition by a person to public view, either on his own premises or elsewhere, of such emblems, or the display of them at any banquet, public entertainment, public meeting, or reunion, or any parade, procession or review; and none of these acts is committed by a collector of stamps who shows his album containing stamps used during the late insurrection to a person who wishes to buy them, or to a friend of said collector who visits his premises.—GREGORIO ARANETA, Attorney-General."

This ought to dispose of the contention, advanced by some ignorant or prejudiced "philatelists," that these stamps were not actually issued postage stamps.

If collectors will look on their maps for latitude 11½ north, and 120 east from Greenwich, they will find a little island named Culion, which is threatening an eruption of stamps. Culion is one of the Philippine Islands, and has an area of 117 square miles, and a population of 1 do not know exactly how many; but it is the leper colony for the islands and it is proposed to issue a special series of stamps for them, and also to provide special coins. Now, the question arises, will collectors take them? If they want specimens from the island itself, will they not be afraid of getting the microbes of leprosy and with the stamps. If not, and they get stamps guaranteed to not come from the islands, isn't this about going to the limit of absenteeism in philately? When dealers will have to guarantee that their stamps have not come from the country they represent,—what next?

So far only the 1 peso stamp has appeared in its new color, but no doubt the other values will appear in due time.

Our Branch Society is still alive, but it does not help us any to have seen no notice of the receipt of our application for the charter, which we forwarded to the Atlantic City convention. It is very hard to get together a meeting for any purpose in this country, but we are doing as well as we can. We would like to know what became of our application.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Clippings have been received with thanks from Mrs. A. A. Doolittle, Frederic A. de Camp, Geo. Kump (5), F. R. Fraprie, K. Woodward and H. S. Williams.

—A second edition of Melville's United States 1847-1869 has been issued, the reprinting being made necessary by the rapid exhaustion of the first edition. Some slight revisions have been made in the text and illustrations of die proofs of the 5c and 10c, 1847, have been added. The first of the new series, Great Britain Embossed Adhesive Stamps, is now on the press.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

We shall discontinue the listing of auction catalogs, price lists, etc., such as have been previously included under this heading. As we have made it a practise to refer to such only when sent us by advertisers using WEEKLY space it will be readily seen that no injustice will be done any of our patrons. On the other hand, we shall free ourselves from justifiable criticism upon the part of those who do not press us for complimentary mention.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

Detroit Convention, August 16th, 1910.

I appoint the following gentlemen a Committee of Arrangements for the twenty-fifth annual convention, A. P. S., to be held in the city of Detroit, Mich., for which the above has been selected by the Board of Directors as the opening date: Eugene Telfer, A. R. Fernald, Howard C. Beck, C. F. Heyeman, Dr. W. L. Babcock—all of Detroit. Headquarters, Hotel Cadillac (American and European). Convention Hall, Museum of Fine Arts.

The opening date of the convention is announced thus early that members may plan to be at Detroit on that occasion. A cordial reception is assured, and an elaborate programme for our entertainment is being perfected, details concerning which will be announced in due time by the committee.

H. N. MUDGE, President.

RARITIES IN THE COLLECTION OF MR. CHARLES LATHROP PACK.

A PLATE OF RARITIES.

We are pleased to illustrate upon this page some of the rarities from the great collection of Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood, N. J. They represent a few only of the splendid gems in his collection.

The triangular Cape of Good Hope stamps have a peculiar charm and fascination that appeals to practically every collector and here we have no less than eight pairs and a block of four all wood blocks.

In the 1d red is a pair unused and three other pairs in shades. The block of four is certainly a rarity. In the 4d blue, which color by the way makes the stamp very difficult for reproduction in a half-tone, are four fine shades in milky, dark and grayish blue. The pair especially worthy of mention and which shows specimen with the re-engraved end may be seen at the right just above the block of four of the 1d. The particular stamp is the upper one, the re-engraved end on the right being plainly noticeable.

Two Spanish gems are seen in the 1855 1r blue with cliche of the 2r inserted. The catalog prices this rarity at $80.00. A rarity unpriced by Scott is the 25m of Jan. 1867 issue with frame inverted. Its value must be approximately $500.00.

In the description of Mr. Pack's Uruguays will be found reference to the peculiar rarity illustrated upon this page. A block of eight of the 1857, 240c showing the place from which the celebrated error was removed. A perusal of Mr. Bartels' article will be found profitable in studying the thoroughness with which Mr. Pack collects the stamps of a country in which he becomes interested.

U. S. Proofs

We have many fine things now on hand, including sets of die proofs on large cards, also plate proofs on India paper and card board. A fine lot of essays.

If interested in any of these write us.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

In competition with some of the largest dealers in America and Europe, we were the highest bidders. Inside of five days we paid Spot CASH and took possession. It will be several months before everything will be in shape but in the meantime we would be glad to receive want lists and will give them our careful attention.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Clippings received with thanks from W. W. Jewett and Roger Batchelder.

—Vol. 1, No. 1, of Everybody's Philatelist has appeared from Astoria, Ore., with John Milton Holt, M. D., editor and publisher. It is a well edited, eight-page paper, and published at 25c per year. The new paper is a bright sheet and with Dr. Holt its mainstay it should prove a marked success.

—To succeed Henry S. Adair, who declines renomination as secretary of the A. P. S., two nominations have been made—Chas. R. Morris of the D. of C. Branch and W. H. Barnum by the Cleveland Branch.

memory, and the WEEKLY reigns supreme.

To show the position that this millennial celebration number holds in comparison with the issues of our contemporaries, and some that were contemporary, as well as a few of the best known "ancestors," we have prepared the following table of total number of issues, as accurately compiled as possible, but without allowing for the "double numbers" that some papers are guilty of occasionally. We trust it may prove interesting and instructive. We have placed the limit at 100 issues, and have calculated the number through this month of February, 1910, even if the issue has not yet been received. Those that have ceased publication have the number of years given (5, 14, etc.); those current have the year of publication in which the last number in February falls (4th, 16th, etc.), though the year perhaps may only have been entered upon.

DINNER TO W. W. RANDALL.

A delightful informal dinner was held at the Crawford House, Boston, last Saturday evening, Feb. 19, under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the Boston Philatelic Society, James C. Woolley chairman.

Mr. W. W. Randall, the well known envelope specialist, was the honored guest of the party of fourteen that was gathered at this famed hostelry at very short notice to meet him just prior to his departure for Providence.

The dinner was served in a private room. At each cover was laid a boutonniere of violets also a souvenir in the form of a card adorned with a new 1c Cuba through courtesy of the New England Stamp Co. This card was made a highly prized souvenir of the occasion by the further addition of Mr. Randall's autograph.

Seated at the head of the table was Pres. Wylie of the B. P. S. with Mr. Randall at his right and Mr. Barrett on his left. No speech-making was indulged in except a brief presentation of Mr. Randall followed with a response in similar vein.

To Mr. Woolley much credit is due for the very successful function and the Boston society is indeed fortunate in having so efficient a chairman of its entertainment committee.

THE ENGRAVER OF THE FIRST POSTAGE STAMP.

(B. T. K. Smith in his book "How to Collect Postage Stamps" credits Chas. Heath with being the engraver of the English 1p 1840 black. Writing to the Monthly Circular he expresses the conviction that the honor belongs to his son, Frederick Heath. We quote a portion of the article.—Ed.)

I find that there is a convincing oral tradition in favor of the attribution to Frederick Heath. Writing in 1884 to Notes and Queries, Mr. Algernon Graves described a series of proofs of the 1d black, formerly in his possession, and said that "the commission to engrave the first postage stamp was originally given to Charles Heath, but as he feared that his eye-sight was not good enough for such fine work, he handed it over to his son Frederick. About 20 years ago Mr. D. T. White presented me with six impressions printed direct from the copper plates (i.e., the original dies); these had been given him many years before by Frederick Heath. This David Thomas White was a fine-art publisher, of Maddox street, and died about 1868, and Mr. Graves personally confirmed to me in the strongest manner his recollection of White's distinct statement as to the authorship of the engraving, a statement made direct to Mr. White by Frederick Heath himself. Unless therefore we have further evidence to show that Charles Heath was the actual engraver, and not merely that he contracted and dealt with Perkins, Bacon & Co., as the ostensible engraver, I must believe that the work was that of his son.

It is a somewhat curious fact that while Charles Heath's output of engravings was large and his works widely published, Frederick's name as an engraver seems to be unknown to authorities on the subject and no biographical information about him is available.

It may be of interest to give a short account of the rejected and adopted dies of the first postage stamp, and this I propose to do next month, but I may say here it is quite possible that the rejected die was really the work of Charles Heath. It may not have been until he actually did some experimental work that he found the task too much for him.

A GOOD BEGINNING.

When the WEEKLY issued its 900th number, March 28, 1908, there appeared in the paper, a historical sketch of the publication from its inception; and this account we now repeat with such additions and alterations as are found advisable.

The first number of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was issued January 7th, 1891, by the C. H. Mekeel Stamp and Publishing Company, St. Louis, Mo., and from the very beginning was looked upon as a real necessity by every collector who possessed a spark of collecting enthusiasm. The investment that the paper represented soon grew to be a large one as the founders builded broadly and firmly. I. A. Mekeel was installed as editor and he served readers to their liking, making a decided success as literary provider. In 1897 business exigencies affected the affairs of the firm publishing the WEEKLY to such an extent that the paper, April 8, 1897, was leased to I. A. Mekeel, who shortly afterwards, became the owner, outright. Mr. Mekeel first attended to clearing up the subscription lists; this done, he started an active campaign for live readers. He recognized the advertising necessities of American dealers and started to make his publication their salesman. He began to issue special numbers; a successful Boston special was succeeded by a New York special that was a turning point in the fortunes of the new owner of the paper. The number, dated November 11th, 1897, dedicated to philately in the American metropolis was a pretentious one and represented a large outlay, in view of the fact that each recipient of the number was sent a personal letter soliciting active good-will. The number was profusely illustrated and covered its subject in an admirable way. Enterprise was rewarded and Mr. Mekeel found old and new subscribers flocking to his standard.

Mr. Mekeel's idea of making the WEEKLY the dealer's representative advertising medium so grew upon him as the subscription list expanded, that he began to cast about for assistance to accomplish his end; and after a protracted period of negotiation with C. E. Severn, Chicago, as befitting the importance of the transaction (as it seemed to the principals at the time) Mr. Severn became editor of the WEEKLY and owner of one-tenth interest in it. Mr. Severn had long been a regular contributor to the paper.

A product of Mr. Mekeel's energy was the great Brooklyn Institute number of which over one hundred thousand copies were printed and circulated. Advertising in this recruiting number, conceived in honor of the recognition of philately as a science by the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, cost seven times as much as that in ordinary issues, and the dealers patronized the columns liberally. This edition, easily the largest ever printed of a single number of a stamp paper, was mailed at an expense of $152.27, its weight having been 15,227 pounds. In 1899, Mr. Mekeel spent some months in Europe and while in London, he approached dealers on the proposition of a London special, to which they gave appreciative ear.

This large number appeared on January 4th, 1900, with forty pages and special cover, twenty-four of which were of advertising, chiefly of English dealers. The reading pages contained graphic descriptions of all phases of philatelic life in the metropolis of the world and the number was hailed with the warmest praise everywhere. In November, 1900, a Chinese special number with illuminated cover was a popular triumph; it was published at a time when the eyes of the world were on that country, and in the issue, the stamps of China and other Asiatic countries were treated exhaustively by experts. No other issue ever brought forth a heartier measure of commendation.

In 1901, Mr. Mekeel went to New York and the business office of the paper was removed there without a hitch, while the printing of the paper was done at Smethport, Pa. Subsequently, the printing was done at New York, the business office having been installed in the building in which the WEEKLY was printed, a property used by the corporation in which Mr. Mekeel had become interested upon going to New York. The Mekeel-Redfield-Severn Company was incorporated in this year with a capital of $50,000 the name being changed in 1907 to the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Co. Special issues of the paper were continued, a Pan-American special having been the most notable of those of that period. The record for special issues was continued in 1902 and in 1903, March, a "World-Wide" number was a crowning achievement that reflected the universality of philately.

By the beginning of 1904, Mr. Mekeel found it impossible to give adequate time to the direction of the business affairs of the WEEKLY. In fact, by reason of the lack of attention to the subscription list it lost some of its vitality, and this condition, which was wholly at odds with Mr. Mekeel's great interest in the paper could not be tolerated. Consequently it was decided that the business management of the paper should be reinvigorated, and a selection of the proper man who preferably combined the elements making for success both in an editorial and business sense was studied. Willard O. Wylie, Boston, had long been in close touch with the WEEKLY as contributor and advertiser. He had done telling work on special editions, and it was natural that he should be the logical choice of the proprietors for the place. Messrs. Mekeel and Severn bought the Weekly Philatelic Era, a popular publication conducted by W. W. Jewett, and transferred it from Portland, Maine, and placed it under the management of Mr. Wylie. Mr. Wylie made a success of his work, and in March, 1904, the Weekly Philatelic Era was merged into MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, whose publication began from its new headquarters in Boston. Mr. Wylie has justified the confidence that was felt in his ability, and has labored intelligently and indefatigably for the welfare of the paper. He thoroughly identified himself with the WEEKLY and soon acquired an interest, financially in it. He has attended to the multifarious duties of his position with almost uniform satisfaction, and there is no gainsaying his enthusiasm in his work. He is at once, aggressive, and progressive in his business methods, and in an editorial capacity he exercises good judgment and the proper journalistic instinct. He has been unremitting in his efforts to up-build the circulation of the paper and has been untiring in his endeavors to accent its superiority.

The frequent special issues of the paper are planned and brought to successful fruition by Mr. Wylie; they pay worthy tribute to his acumen and ability in his chosen field. Not alone does he concern himself with the more commanding affairs of his office for he has a complete mastery of the many details that enter into the publishing of a journal of this kind.

Mr. Mekeel's success in New York City has been impressive and he has achieved a position in trade paper circles that is eminent, indeed, and while unable to give much active attention to the paper, he cherishes it in no ordinary way. Mr. Severn attends to the financial end of the WEEKLY and shares the editorial work with Mr. Wylie; his interest in the paper is active but every detail of the editorial work does not repose on him now, as was the case formerly for many years.

The Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Company is a Massachusetts corporation, in which the president, I. A. Mekeel, owns the controlling interest, or 251 shares; Chas. E. Severn is treasurer, with 19 shares in his name; and Willard O. Wylie, clerk, has 50 shares.

A. P. S. HISTORICAL NOTES.

By H. A. DAVIS, Pres. Colo. Branch No. 22.

Year 1904, 19th Annual Convention.

Secretary Eaton mailed the Year Book about the middle of January.

In March, the Board of Vice Presidents who were instructed by the Clayton convention to pass on the legality of foreign proxies being voted without first being verified by a United States consul, made their report. The result was: "The Board finds and reports that the convention and its Committee on Credentials erred in rejecting the foreign proxies because of their non-authentication before a United States consul." This report went very deeply into the matter, quoting from various authorities and precedents.

On May 28th, President Holland announced the call for the 19th annual convention to be held at Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 9th. The following nominations were made by the Chicago Branch, and published July 2nd: President, H. E. Deats, New Jersey; Vice Presidents, F. H. Burt, Gordon Ireland and W. O. Wylie, all of Mass.; Secretary, D. T. Eaton, Iowa; Treasurer, C. L. Annan, Minn.; Int. Sec., E. Doebelin, Pa.; Directors, W. E. Loy, Calif., and J. S. Rich, New York.

On July 30th occurred the death of Geo. W. Rode of Pittsburg, Pa., an active member of the A. P. A. and chairman of the Committee on Credentials at the 19th annual convention, which was called to order by V. President Burt in the absence of President Holland, Aug. 9th. The sessions were held in the Carnegie Institute.

There were about 60 members present and 331 represented by proxy. The Secretary's report showed a membership of 608, a gain of 48 for the fiscal year. The Treasurer's report showed receipts to be $764.63, the expenses were $691.27; balance in Gen. Fund, $166.35; Stock Fund, $1936.00; Insurance Fund, $1024.26 and Exchange Fund, $8.75.

The Sales Supt. reported sales to the amount of $3551.12. Mr. Doebelin gave a reception to the visiting delegates at his home on Monday evening. A literary session was held at the Carnegie Institute on Tuesday evening. A banquet was tendered the delegates on Wednesday evening at Hotel Henry.

The Supt. of Sales was voted a salary of $25.00 besides his 10 per cent commission on sales. Minneapolis was voted the convention seat for 1905. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was voted as official organ.

Several sections in the by-laws relating to the Sales Dept. were changed and new ones added, such as compelling the owner of books to attach his name to the cover; that if a circuit was retained over three days a fine was attached, etc.

A new "order of business" was drawn up and incorporated in the by-laws. Several articles and sections were re-numbered to suit the revisions.

The ticket as nominated by the Chicago Branch was elected. W. O. Staab was appointed Sales Supt.

U. S. OFFICIAL SEALS.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

The only available information on these interesting labels, covering all issues up to 1891, is found in Mr. John N. Luff's standard work, "The Postage Stamps of the United States," and the chapter dealing with the subject mentioned was also printed in the American Journal of Philately, Vol. 13, No. 5, pages 172 to 178 inclusive. As these two sources of information may not be at hand to the greater number of collectors of the present day, I have been requested to write an article which will incorporate the most important of the data collected by Mr. Luff and also bring the subject up to the present date, as far as this is possible with the meagre information at hand.

From a strictly philatelic point of view, the "Official Seals" could hardly support a claim to space in a collection of postage stamps, although past and present collectors of U. S. issues have willingly granted them such space without much argument pro or con. It is naturally this interest on the part of American collectors in the labels concerned which caused them to be incorporated in the work referred to above as well as listed in our own Standard Catalogue, Kohl's large Catalogue and Handbook, and the official catalogue of the French society. Senf's catalogue also refers to them, but none lists and illustrates them as fully as the "Catalogue Officiel."

The official seals are adhesive labels of various designs, having no expressed value, their only relation to postage stamps being their use on mail matter by postal authorities. The first seal, intended for the sealing of the large envelopes in which registered letters were enclosed, was announced February 14th, 1872, but evidently appeared somewhat later because the first description of this label is found in the American Journal of Philately for June, 1872. This seal was engraved on steel and reproduced by typographic process. In the middle is a circle with the enclosed area consisting of radiating lines. Around the circle is a white band with the inscription "Stamp here date and place of mailing." At the left, in three curved lines, is the inscription "Post Office Department" and at the right, similarly arranged, "United States of America." The background consists of ruled horizontal lines with the word "Registered," in large, shaded capitals, running across the circular area as well as the inscriptions. In the corners are ornamentations surrounding little tablets which in the upper corners have a monogrammed "U S" and in the lower corners "POD" interlaced. A single frame line surrounds the entire design forming a horizontal rectangle 72x40 mm. The paper is white wove, the perforation 12, and the color runs in a number of shades from pale yellow green to dark green. The labels exist imperforate as well as imperforate at either top or bottom and are also found on pelure and horizontally laid paper. The plates were made by the National Bank Note Company and had neither imprint nor plate numbers. The use of this seal was discontinued in 1875. In 1880 it was reprinted, the reprints being distinguished by a whiter paper and a bluish green color.

The next class of seals are those inscribed and familiarly known as "officially sealed." They were designed to be used on letters opened in the Dead Letter office, or letters opened by mistake, or damaged in transit. The first of these seals appeared during the early part of 1877, probably in January, and was nicely engraved in taille douce on steel. The design shows a central oval medallion with a full face head of Liberty. On tablets at the left and right of this medallion are the words "officially" and "sealed," respectively, in capital letters. Above this, in a curved line, is the inscription "Post Office Department" in shaded block letters, and in two curved lines below are the words "United States of America" in "Old English" style. Each corner shows the letters "U. S." in monogram. The background consists of the words "Post obitum," numerously repeated, in very small Roman capitals. The design is surrounded by a rectangular frame with rounded corners which is composed of vertically ruled lines, and is so shaded, that it seems to stand out from the rest of the design. In the bottom part of the frame is found the imprint, "National Bank Note Company, New York." The plates had no plate number and consisted of one hundred stamps in ten rows of ten. The paper used for these labels was white wove, thin and hard. The perforation was 12 and the colors dark brown and dark red brown.

In a redrawn design, a second issue of this seal appeared in May, 1879. The words "Post obitum," with their jocular reference to the Dead Letter office, disappeared and a background consisting of a loop pattern was substituted. Two plates are known to have been made for this issue. The first provided for one hundred impressions in ten rows of ten. The second plate gave fifty impressions in ten rows of five. This plate had the imprint "American Bank Note Company, New York" in each of its four margins and the plate number "2" punched in the upper margin.

Seals of this issue are generally found on a thin, hard, semi-transparent, white wove paper but copies exist which are printed on a soft porous paper. The perforation is the regular 12 and the color varies from brown and yellow brown to dark red brown. The outside dimensions of the design are the same as on that of its predecessor, or 44x27½ mm.

These seals were of a rather pleasing appearance, but for the sake of economy the authorities decided to employ a cheaper method for the production. The result was a new issue, photo engraved and typographically printed, which appeared in June, 1888. The first lot turned out was anything but pleasing. Coarsely engraved and considerably blurred in the printing they contrasted strongly and unfavorably with previous issues. The only difference in the design was the disappearance of the imprint of the American Bank Note Company in the bottom part of the frame. The paper is thick and ordinarily soft and porous. The size is 44x27½ mm., according to Mr. Luff, but copies in the writer's possession measure 44x27 exactly. These seals are found imperforate, perforated 12, and imperforate vertically. In 1891 they appeared rouletted 5½. The color offers a great variety of shades in chocolate brown, and rose, bistre- and gray-brown. The later printings of this seal show a marked improvement in clearness of impressions. All the seals of this issue were printed by the Government Printing Office which is an establishment entirely separate from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The latter office never had, nor has it today anything to do with the manufacture of official seals.

February, 1889, brought forth a new result of a further attempt at governmental economizing in the form of type-set seals of the simplest design. The following quotation from Mr. Luff's work throws considerable light on the circumstances connected with this issue: "The Post Office Department appears, at one time, to have compelled postmasters to provide stationery and many office fixtures at their own expense. This was probably due to insufficient appropriations by Congress. In many volumes of the Postal Guide will be found the advertisements of firms who dealt in cancelling stamps, pads, inks, blank-books, etc., etc. I am told that, in at least one number of this publication, official seals, such as are about to be described, were offered for sale. Most of them are said to have been made by a firm of printers 'up in New York State,' and the advertisement referred to was probably theirs."

This seal consists of a rectangle, 47x29 mm., made up of border type in the form of scalloped lines. A little above the middle of the seal it is crossed horizontally by two heavy parallel lines enclosing the inscription "Officially Sealed," printed in large capitals and having a square period at the end. Above this inscription, and outside of the heavy lines, are the words "U. S. Post Office Department" and below is the inscription "Opened through mistake by." At the bottom is a dotted line intended for signature. The paper is a rose colored wove of medium thickness and soft in texture. The printing is in black ink and the labels are imperforate.

A second type of this seal has the border of a widely spaced Greek pattern and is larger in size or 50½x29 mm. It is on white wove paper and imperforate. Nothing is known as to the date of its appearance.

A third variety of type set seals was announced in the American Journal of Philately for August 15, 1890. The border on this seal is of a different Greek pattern, more compressed, and enclosed between dotted frame lines. The outside dimensions of this border are 50½x29. Across the center of the seal run two closely dotted lines, nearly 6 mm. apart, and between them is the inscription "Officially Sealed" in fancy capitals. In the upper field of the label are the words "U. S. Post Office Department" in a curved line with a little ornament below the word "Office." In the bottom field is the inscription "Opened through mistake by" with a dotted line for signature. There are two main varieties of this seal, depending on the existence or non-existence of a large round period between the words "Officially" and "Sealed." It is printed in black on white wove paper and the separating method used is rouletting in black, measuring in different cases 11½ and 16½; 11½ and 12½, and 12½. The variety having the period referred to above generally comes in vertical pairs, imperforate with the exception of a rouletted line between the labels. The seals without the period are generally found in blocks of four, with two labels placed tete beche to the other two, and rouletted both vertically and horizontally between the labels. There are several varieties, depending on the presence or absence of the period, the rouletting, the tete beche arrangement, or a combination of two or all three of these features.

In 1891 the typographed seal of the type of 1879 reappeared in brown color and measuring a scant 44 mm. by 27 mm. The paper is wove and varies in thickness. The perforation is 12. A re-issue of the same type undoubtedly took place during 1902-04, offering a number of shades of red brown, dark red brown, brown and dark brown. The paper is white wove of medium thickness. Besides being perforated 12 the seals of this issue are found imperforate either vertically or horizontally. The sheets as issued consist of 4 horizontal rows of 5 seals each. The outside dimensions of the design are 45x28 mm. and the spacing between the seals measures 3 mm.

In 1907 a seal of the same type as previous but of smaller size and with the color changed to blue made its appearance. As the design conforms so closely with that of the previous typographed issues one is apt to believe this blue seal to be a photographic reduction of the former. A minute examination will show that there are quite marked differences in the design. Looking for instance, at the left hand frame we find on the brown seals 9 fine vertical lines ruled between the outside frame line and the inside heavy line. On the blue seals we only find 7 such lines. The faces on the center medallions also indicate differences.

These blue seals are issued in sheets of 20, consisting of 4 horizontal rows of 5. They are delivered to the postmasters bound in books of 50 sheets. The paper is white wove, thin, hard and quite transparent. The design measures 38x23½ mm. and the spacing between the seals is 3½ mm. The perforation is 12. So far, the only shades observed have been a lighter and a darker blue. On a full sheet of these seals in the writer's collection the watermark "Rolle" was found along the two right hand stamps in the bottom row. This watermark is part of the name "Rolls-ton Mills" which thus, undoubtedly, furnish the paper used for these seals.

The writer has been in communication with the Third and Fourth Assistant Postmaster Generals who, in their turn, have had the matter taken up by the Chief Clerk of the P. O. Department and the Chief Clerk of the Division of Dead Letters, but no further data in regard to the later issues of seals could be obtained. The Fourth Assistant Postmaster General expressing his regret as to the scantiness of the information forwarded says: "An employee, Henry A. Kelly, Special Agent, Division of Classification, states informally that several years ago he prepared some data on this subject, which he is unable to furnish at this time."

SOCIETY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

If you are writing this office and are a member of the A. P. S. we suggest that you enclose 50c for subscription commencing Sept. 1. Your whole number will be made to show time of expiration in Sept. 1911.

It is advisable now not to claim an official journal subscription as an inducement for A. P. S. membership as all such subscriptions must expire Sept. 1, and in the future be paid for independent of society membership. We trust our services will again be called into use as official journal, but subscriptions to any official journal must needs be an individual matter.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Ten Hundred Times—For one thousand weeks this paper has been making its weekly visits with practically unbroken regularity. Its uninterrupted publication for so long a period of time first of all is a tribute to the permanency of philately. Years ago, it was a subject for some lamentation on the part of the writers of those days that philately, while exercising its sway over a multitude of collectors at any stated time, yet did not securely hold the interest of its followers for a desirable length of time. In some measure, the WEEKLY proves that the spell of collecting is not a transitory one as on its list of readers are the names of a considerable number who have subscribed for the paper from the first number to the one thousandth. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS now presents by its "Number 1000" tangible evidence of the substantiality of philately. With the years, the pursuit has become the more firmly established by reason of its amplified and developing attractions and the WEEKLY has shared in the favors that have been a result of this progress. Further, it may fairly be said that this paper is to be credited for encouraging the advance and that it, having played a leading part in the promotion of the cause to which it is dedicated, should participate in the returns that unwavering allegiance deserve.

Nearly Twenty Years—The thousand numbers of the paper tell the story of the hobby from the beginning of 1891 to the present day. They reflect the moderate, the popular and the human side of philately more faithfully than any other consecutive record; there is no other stamp paper that has published so many numbers; and the historian who undertakes a survey of the last twenty years must rely upon this paper as his chief resource for material. The one thousand weeks mark the passing of one generation and the entrance of another. Conditions have changed with the times and we believe that a steady improvement has resulted. Serious problems that have beset philately in the past were solved and their worst effect was to halt temporarily the onward march of the hobby; indeed, it is not likely that the future will reveal obstacles more difficult to overcome than some of those which have been surmounted. The WEEKLY has lived a long time and the twenty years of its life is almost one half of the age of philately. While there were many stamp papers of high quality and excellent stamp catalogues and also flourishing dealers, yet it was not until about 1870 that philately was an organized factor and attracted any serious attention.

Some Very Rare U. S. Stamps

By very rare stamps I mean stamps which no other dealer can supply, and which are missing in every collection in the United States as well as in every stamp collection in other countries, including the largest as well as the smaller collections. At least four of the following nine offered pieces can not be duplicated at $5000 per one piece, because only one of each of these four pieces are known to exist. Therefore if condition & rarity counts for anything, at my price each piece is a Bargain.

(1) A Sheet of ten $10.00 State Department Stamps	$1,000.00
(2) A block of eight 1866, 3c scarlet, with imprint and plate number	1,000.00
(3) Madison, Fla., 1861, "3 CENTS" gold on blue, used, very fine	1,000.00
(4) Messenkeope's Union Square Post Office, red, on original cover	500.00
(5) Horseman Carrier 1851, "ORE SENT" red, on original cover	300.00
(6) Horseman Carrier 1851, 1c black, a block showing the three varieties, unused	250.00
(7) Horizontal strip of five 1847, 10c, used, on cover, cancelled in red, fine	150.00
(8) 1873, 10c brown, unsevered horizontal pair, imperforate between, used	125.00
(9) Confederate States 1862, 10c rose, block of six used on original cover, very fine	125.00
U. S. 1861 "Premieres Gravures" 5c, 10c, 12c, 24c, 30c, 90c unused, some are very fine	2,250.00
A collection of all Foreign Stamps, 7000 var. of which more than 500 list from $1 to $15	1,250.00

Notes. (1) The whole sheet of ten $10.00 State Department stamps has the whole margin at four sides, and imprint and plate numbers on top and bottom margins of the sheet. Each stamp has one fine red ink line over "State". All are well centered and have full original gum.
(2) The block of eight 1866, 3c scarlet is in two horizontal rows of four. The lower row has the margin with imprint and plate number. Each stamp has full original gum, and four ink lines such as appear on nearly every undoubted genuine 3c scarlet postage stamp of 1866 issue. It is a very fine block and is worthy of the name: The Block of all Blocks.
(4) Messenkeope's Union Square Post Office 1850, cat. No. 2641, is the only known copy on red paper. It is on the original cover, the stamp is in very fine condition, it is not cancelled.
(5) Horseman Carrier "ORE SENT" is on original cover, stamp not cancelled, very fine.
(6) Horseman Carrier 1851, 1c black, unused o. g. A block of four and the upper half of two stamps below the lower pair. It shows the three listed varieties, Nos. 803, 803a and 803b.
(7) The horizontal strip of five 1847, 10c, is the Missing Link of the Seybold Collection.
(8) General Issue 1873, 10c brown, horizontal unsevered pair, imperforate between. Only two pair are known to exist. Both pair are used.
(9) Confederate States 1862, 10c rose, three horizontal unsevered pair in an unsevered block of six; all stamps are lightly cancelled, of bright color. It has been admired by dealers and collectors.

All of the Following Offered Rare Foreign Stamps Are in Fine Condition.

Survival of the Fittest—The longevity of the WEEKLY while due largely to the sustaining power of the hobby is to be attributed to several other reasons as well. During its career innumerable papers have come and gone. Daily, weekly and monthly publications have made their entrances and their exits on the philatelic stage. The WEEKLY survives and looks forward to many years of usefulness. It is something to know that the paper is a fixture and that it has proved that it does not succumb to adverse conditions that are the consequence of national depression; and that it is as much of a certainty as any human agency may well be. The success of the paper was greatly encouraged by the care and intelligence shown by its founders. The policy of the WEEKLY is one calculated to meet the popular idea. Through long experience, the publishers have gained an insight into the needs and inclinations of the average collector and the understanding of what is most acceptable to the representative philatelist comes with years of actual contact. The WEEKLY has the sincere conviction that it has grown to have the broadest and most intimate view of vital, living conditions as they exist in the philatelic world today. It knows when theory no matter in how appealing and attractive a guise should give way to the practical part and recognizes the different elements that enter into the philatelic whole; in its columns all of them are so treated as to harmonize all interests and to promote a geniality among all who acknowledge the sway of philately.

CHAS. E. LEWIS, Osterville, Mass.

Just Itself—One reason for the prominent position occupied by this paper is that it has no side-lines to exploit and no underlying interests to cultivate. It endeavors to spread the doctrine of philately by pleasant means and does not yield to the impulse unless a real necessity arises to emphasize the harsher aspects which may be found in philately but more uncommonly than in kindred pursuits. The man who collects stamps for recreation is a rather sensitive person and he does not relish the din of petty, purposeless strife. As a rule, it is stamps themselves that give him pleasure and he does not concern himself very closely with the associations of stamps. The aim of this paper is to base on a foundation of stamps a cheerful sense of suggestion. To care for the young collector; to cultivate the experienced collector and to cherish the veteran collector is our creed. We realize the wonderful possibility of the future of collecting and will continue to assist in the development of the pursuit by improvements in the WEEKLY that will soon be manifest.

Henry Schuhmacher, Roslindale, Mass.

Advertisers—The commercial side of philately is strongly accented in the advertising columns; and from the first, the paper has been recognized as an ideal salesman. The business man is fully alive to the fact that the publication which in itself is a success is the one which is most likely to make the advertising that it carries a success. In our trade columns enterprising dealers throughout the world vie with one another in soliciting the consideration of stamp buyers and many of our readers buy exclusively from the advertisers in their favorite paper. The improvement in commercial conditions as they affect the buyer, in particular, has been due to the competition engendered in our columns. The stamp business of today is on an advanced plane and is conducted generally on lines which are modern and enterprising and which compare favorably with those that obtain in any other business dependent for its welfare on the approval of an intelligent clientele.

Readers—It is a difficult task to frame a suitable tribute to the loyalty of our readers. Times without number, they have shown their good-will so strikingly as to confound the person who says that sentiment is a disappearing quality. Evidences of the regard of readers are so numerous that we cannot publicly exploit them. It is small wonder that a great pride is felt in our readers, many of whom seem never to tire of helping us in our endeavors and extending words of kindness and acts of courtesy. Though oftentimes acknowledgment is not made individually, we are strong in the faith that they have our heartfelt appreciation. Their unselfish devotion is truly an inspiration to strive for better things and to deserve their active, kindly interest.

MR. PACK'S URUGUAYS.

By J. MURRAY BARTELS.

Few collectors not connected with a philatelic society have any idea to what extent a specialized collection is carried by some of our noted collectors. It was indeed a treat to the Boston Philatelic Society on January 18th to have the privilege of a thorough inspection of Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack's wonderful collection of Uruguay. This has been recently remounted by a well-known philatelist, who has been spending several hours a day for several months, arranging and lettering this wonderful lot of Uruguay stamps, which now fill no less than seven albums, containing a total of about 420 pages. Collectors will ask: "How is it possible to fill so many with the stamps of one country?" But if they could see the Pack collection it would be plain to them at once. One of the features in this mounting is the giving of plenty of space to everything that warrants it. Every scarce stamp has a row to itself. There are five lines of stamps on a page and sometimes scarcely more than that many specimens, as all of them are rare and generally require some special remarks to indicate a variety or something else of interest. This most effective lettering is done by pen, in india ink. The letters are all one millimeter in height and consist of upright capitals, all of the simple block-letter type. Collectors have frequently looked carefully to see whether the inscriptions were really made by pen or printed, and it cannot be emphasized too strongly what a great gain it is to a collection to have it properly mounted and lettered.

Mr. Pack has been collecting Uruguay for a number of years and had a splendid lot of them. Last year he had the opportunity of buying the collection of an English specialist, also some superb early Uruguay stamps from the Tiffany Collection, while before and since then he has bought many others from dealers and at auctions, so that now his collection is certainly without a rival.

Let us run briefly through the various issues and point out the principal items of interest, including as they do varieties that have not been heretofore mentioned or listed.

1856. "The Diligencia Issue." 60c Blue—eleven copies in all, three shades of blue ranging from pale blue to a deep black blue. There is also the variety with the figures "6" and "0" one millimeter apart instead of close together. With one exception all are unused. The rare variety of this stamp with the side ornaments consisting of vertical lines instead of the Greek border is also represented. This stamp is listed by Gibbons, who states that "Unused copies have been found on old letters; it was therefore probably issued for postal use."

80c Green—twenty-seven copies including a splendid block of four, all unused. The shades range from a very pale to a dark green and also a very marked copy of dull blue green. There are quite a number of line varieties, especially showing double lines somewhere in the design. Variations in the spacing of the figures "8" and "0" as well as the letters, are quite numerous. The block of four is undoubtedly the only one in this country.

1r Vermilion—twenty-three copies, all unused. A wonderful arrangement of shades and numerous varieties of lines and spacings. Mr. Pack expects shortly to reconstruct the plate.

1857. This issue begins with a set of essays similar to the regular design, but with inscription "Diligencia" at top and ornaments at sides.

180c Green—shown in a block of four, and 240c Vermilion—seem to complete the set of two.

1857. The scarce 120c Blue stamp is represented by fourteen unused and four used copies which are described as pale blue, blue, deep blue and slate blue. Here we find not only the great rarity of the collection, but one of the greatest rarities in all the world—a tete beche pair of the 120c blue. This is the only copy known to philately, and valued approximately at $1500 to $2000. (See illustration.)

180c Green—A wonderful range of shades embracing twenty-five fine unused and four used copies, which vary in color from a very pale dull green to a deep dark shade. Some of them are worn impressions, while others are early printings.

240c Vermilion—These fill four pages and are divided into pale vermilion, vermilion, dull red, deep vermilion and brown red; of the latter, five fine copies. There is a very striking square block of eight stamps with a blank space in the center, showing the place where a cliché of the error 180 had been removed. Each plate of the 240c should have contained 204 stamps (12x17) but was actually composed of 197 stamps, owing to seven blank spaces as in this instance.

There is also a tete beche block of the essay or proof very similar in design, but the type of letters is slightly different. This block had been curiously folded in center and afterwards punched with two circular holes on each stamp.

1859. Thin Numerals. Numerous shades, pairs and blocks of four or more of all stamps; also a fine lot of used showing interesting cancellations, several of them on entire envelopes. This set takes in twenty pages. Of the 180c there is a pair on blue paper believed to be a proof; also an unofficially perforated copy of the same stamp. An entire sheet consisting of 204 stamps has been mounted in six sections, showing the make-up of the plate in repetitions of 20 varieties.

1860. Thick Numerals. 60c Lilac—Three pages of singles and pairs, also three blocks of four unused and a page of used copies. The shades are here described as dull purple, slate purple, brown purple, pale brown, purple brown, and gray purple. These must be seen to be appreciated. The other values of this set are similarly represented. Of the 180c there are several types show-

Auction

Our next Auction, March 19th, comprises between 2500 and 3000 lots. Catalogue will be ready for mailing early in March. If you do not get a copy by the 12th of March, please drop us a postal card. In this sale you will find many desirable scarce stamps like the $5.00 U. S. Proprietary, $20.00 Probate of Will, FINE copy; Guam, set postally cancelled; Cape of Good Hope, triangular, complete; also red 1d wood block; a fine line of U. S. general issues and Departments, including several 90c 1869, 90c Justice, 5c Periodical Blue Border, superb, 90c 1869 re-issue, superb copy, etc., etc., etc.

Among the Foreign a splendid line of British Colonies, old European, etc., etc.

Our first Auction Sale, held Feb. 12th, was a pleasant surprise to us, and we were heartily congratulated by our St. Louis friends on the splendid prices which were realized, although some of them claim they got away with some "bargains."

We wish to hear from parties having valuable lots of stamps to sell. We can handle a large collection in our April sale. We shall be pleased to figure with you if you have a really fine and large collection to sell. Our terms are as reasonable as any dealers, and we assure the owners that very good prices will be obtained! The priced Catalogue of our first sale will convince you that no stamps were slaughtered at our sale. We advance a fair proportion of the catalogue in cash on any collection entrusted to us to be sold at any of our auctions. Correspondence on this subject solicited.

ing numerals placed low in the label, others placed high, and some others showing various distances from frame line at left.

1864. 6c—There are fully as many shades in this stamp as any other of Uruguay; a row or two of each of the following colors, all unused: Pale red orange, red orange, pale rose, rose, dull rose red, deep rose, deep rose red and brick red. These are followed by a similar lot of used stamps. Attention is called to numerous varieties, the damaged "L" in Republica, the difference in width of the spacing in front of "06" which seems to vary from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ mm.; a variety with a flaw resembling a small "y" over "ri" of Oriental appears several times.

8c Green—There are many fine shades of this stamp. The tete beche is shown in a block of four. The 10c and 12c are splendidly represented by numerous shades, pairs, etc., unused and used and on original covers. Similar varieties of spacing as described in the 6c are found throughout this set.

1866. This issue occupies fourteen pages and is complete in the varieties which are generally listed. These include double and treble surcharges of the new values, tete beche pairs, several blocks of four and a complete pane of 56 of the 20 on 6c. The peculiarity in the tete beche pairs of the 10c is the printing of the surcharge to correspond with the inverted position of the stamp, so that the inverted surcharge is not found on the stamp which appears tete beche.

1866. Numeral Issue. No stamps of Uruguay are more prolific in varieties than this design which appears imperforate and perforated.

5c—Six shades each represented by several unused and several used copies which might be called the normal stamp. Each variety is then similarly depicted by a number of copies including shades. An interesting vertical pair shows numeral with white flag at top and the variety "Entesimos" on the bottom stamp. An unlisted variety is the "S" of Centesimos larger and apart from the "O". This appears on Nos. 4 and 14 in the tenth row. We find a page of the variety showing a dash instead of the "S" in Centesimos. The variety with no shading under the horse is listed by Gibbons; these are Nos. 1 and 11 in the tenth row. Another unlisted variety is the missing inner curved line of the numeral in center of stamp over the arms, Nos. 2 and 12 in sixth row. This same inner curved line is merged with the outer line on Nos. 2 and 12 in the tenth row. Nos. 8 and 18 in the 19th row show a short oblique line over the horse's head. The variety "I" for "T" in Centesimos in last line of background on left appears in Nos. 7 and 17 in fifth row.

10c—It is demonstrated that the colors of these stamps can be divided into pale green, pale yellow green, yellow green, green, deep green and blue green. All of them are well represented in the collection. Most of them include pairs, strips and a block. The commonly listed varieties all appear in several copies. Among those unlisted we find a missing "E" from background at right of castle. (Nos. 46, 56, 134, 146.) The short oblique line under the horse and letters missing under the horse appear on No. 2, while Nos. 4, 5 and 6 show a double line over Montevideo. Three instead of two lines under the horse appear many times on a plate. On Nos. 64, 74, 152, 163, 174 the dash after Centesimos in the "O" has been omitted. There is no shading under the serif of the large figure "1" in Nos. 9, 109, 119 and 120. Another marked variety is portrayed by two lines of inscription in the background under the numerals instead of one.

15c—This value like the 5c was printed in sheets of 190 (19x10). Six shades of yellow are noted in the collection.

20c—These are divided into pale rose, dull rose red, bright rose red, rose lake, dull rose, and dull lake. The principal varieties are: No dash in "O" below ox; no dashes in "O" either below ox or above castle; and "I" missing from background at right in next to bottom line.

1c Black—There are two pages showing shades of black and gray black, unused and used. An interesting card-board proof shows a small circle in the design to the left of mountain. This variety is listed as a stamp and would be worth finding. This issue is also shown in card-board proofs in the regular colors as well as the 5c and 10c in black.

1872. Large Numerals. Perforated. 5c—Nineteen pages of the 5c stamp begin this issue. First of all we have the Normal stamp divided by perforations into $11\frac{1}{2}$, 12, $12\frac{1}{2}$ and 13. Then we find the numeral with white head in four perforations. These are followed by the other varieties as listed in the catalogue, some of them appearing in blocks and pairs. Among the varieties not already mentioned under the imperforate stamp we find the "O" missing in lower line of background on right, Nos. 7 and 17 in 6th row. There is a small flat bottomed "S" a larger distance from the "O" in Nos. 4 and 14 in the 3rd row. The "S" is very small and far from the "O" in Nos. 2 and 12 in the 5th row. The "S" of Centesimos is entirely missing in Nos. 1 and 11 in the 7th row. There is an extra line of shading under the head and along the stem of the numeral in Nos. 8 and 18 in the 10th row. The outer line at the left of the scales is entirely omitted in Nos. 3 and 13 in the 3rd row. The inner line of shading under the numeral at the left of the horse is omitted in Nos. 2 and 12 in the 9th row. There is a line something like a flag pole extending diagonally to the right from the center of the castle group on Nos. 1 and 11 in the 2nd row.

The peculiarity about the 5c and 15c values is the rather odd number of 190 stamps to the sheet, being composed of ten horizontal rows of 19, while the 10c stamp was printed in sheets of 200 (20x10).

10c—Besides a complete sheet which has been divided into sections filling four pages we find six pages of the stamp in the collection. The colors are green, light green, deep green, pale yellow green, and deep yellow green. The perforations are noted as 10, 12, $12\frac{1}{2}$, 13 and $13\frac{1}{2}$. The principal varieties of this denomination are as follows, each of which are found several times on a sheet:

- a—No shading under the tip of large numeral 1;
- b—Half letters at bottom of background;
- c—Double line after Montevideo;
- d—Three lines under horse;
- e—"R" instead of "E" in Centesimos;
- f—"I" instead of "T" in Centesimos;
- g—"I" of Centesimos missing;
- h—"E" missing from background at right of castle;
- i—Broken panel in "O" under ox;
- j—Two lines of inscription in background over Montevideo;
- k—Oblique dash under ox;
- l—No dash after Centesimos;
- m—Double inner line at top;
- n—Half letters at top of background;
- o—Letters missing under horse;
- p—Horizontal line joining tops of large numerals;

15c—Here we find several shades ranging from pale yellow to orange yellow. The perforations are given as 9x10, $9\frac{1}{2}$, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$, $12\frac{1}{2}$ and 13.

20c Rose—The perforations are the same as before; the colors, deep rose, rose lake, pale rose, rose, bright rose, dull rose, dull rose red, deep rose red and dull lake. A variety appears several times showing no dashes in "O" above castle or below ox. Another one is the same variety but with the usual dash above the castle.

The 10c stamp is shown in several copies cut diagonally in halves and used as 5c, while a similar page shows the imperforate 10c stamp used the same way; also one-quarter of the 20c stamp and one-third of the 15c stamp, used for the same value. This set is followed by some interesting essays made by M. Welker of Montevideo in imitation of the 1864 issue of the German Empire.

1877 to 1879. A page of each denomination is shown including numerous shades, pairs, etc. Of the 10c there is a vertical pair, imperf. horizontally and of the 1p an imperf. horizontal pair.

Later Issues.—The issues from 1880 to date not including officials occupy over three volumes and are replete in shades, perforation varieties, pairs, blocks, and almost everything that might be imagined. There are quite a number of part perforate and imperforate pairs and others which are imperforate between, but perforated on all sides. It would lead too far to attempt a full list of these many interesting stamps, but we must not fail to mention the two fine used copies of the 25c red brown and black of 1895 with center inverted. These are very rare, and scarcely known in any American collection, not even the largest.

Official Stamps.—These form an extensive group and are being arranged in similar manner according to varieties of perforation, inverted and double surcharges, etc. These are not absolutely complete in all minor varieties according to Scott, but the gaps are not numerous.

It will be readily seen that scarcely any other Uruguay collection could be favorably compared with the one which has been described in this article. It is certainly a striking example of how far specialism can be carried along certain lines, and also how many new discoveries in a chosen direction can be made by a careful student of philately.

Even now more remains to be learned. Some questions are still unsolved. It is said that in England an attempt is being made to reconstruct original sheets of the Diligencia issue and as it progresses further a work is expected from the pen of Mr. Hugo Griebert who has been a specialist in studying the stamps of Uruguay, having himself formed a large collection.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. THE TIPPING OF THE SCALES.

By CHARLES E. JENNEY.

Commercialism is inevitably connected with philately and the fact is not to be lamented. It has put the fad on a stable basis not excelled by any other known fad; it has brought the collectors of the whole world in close touch; it has been the direct means of the preservation of thousands of scarce stamps by non-collectors, that would otherwise not grace our collections today; and it has facilitated the completion of collections both large and small. When all other means fail of bringing to light a desired scarce stamp, the golden messenger is most likely to trace it to its most secret lair.

Scott's catalogue in this country, and more largely, the standard catalogues of the world, represent a plain or level,—the moment's balance of the stamp market, but it is an ever-titillating balance, swaying at every breath. Like the stock market, events in the farthest corners of the planet influence it and it tips to regular laws, that however, seem like whims of chance to all except the student philatelist.

A treaty of peace between Japan and Russia affects certain land concessions; a bomb thrown by an anarchist in Portugal presages a new succession; the discovery of gold in a little African Colony draws fortune seekers in such numbers that the postal facilities are inadequate and a provisional issue appears;—An East Indian thug waylays a stray Tommy Atkins, and in the redress a native state is wiped out of our albums. Such are the many and various causes that tip the scales of philatelic interest and commercialism, now on one side, now on the other.

It was but a decade ago that England's hand most violently agitated the balances; today it is the United States. Down in the Isthmus of Panama, little regard had been held for Columbian Republic stamps; but the Canal having passed beyond the stages of doubtful completion, all the philatelic world concentrates attention on the little Canal Zone strip and the tipping of the scales shows heavier prices.

A revolution in Nicaragua, which in past years would only sicken collectors at the prospect of a flood of provisional trash, now by its contiguity to the Canal region and Uncle Sam's consequent solicitude, popularizes temporarily a tabooed, Seebeck-shadowed land. Surely the wedge that splits asunder two continents will compact the severed halves, especially near the jagged edges.

The Americanizing of the Philippines gave weight to the stamps of those islands, the sameness of whose design had in the past rather palled on the philatelic taste.

The same can be said of Porto Rico; and the temporary dominion of the United States over Cuba caused a preponderance of attention to its issues.

The absorption of Hawaii, bringing an always interesting country into the class of extinct stamp-issuing kingdoms, led to the withdrawal of current quotations on many of its stamps. Guam, Americanized, rose like a volcano out of the unsuspecting philatelic strata, and disappeared, and the short-lived issues of stamps tipped heavily on the scales.

Even the trip of our foremost citizen to Central Africa sheds a light upon dark spots of the Dark Continent, and collectors who have fought shy of certain Anglicized protectorates because of shrewd guesses at semi-official speculations (though no breath of suspicion had tainted the haughty air) begin to look tentatively at Ugandas and Bechuanalands. In the days of the cowry it may have been largely a shell game, but when Teddy hunts rhinos there it is safe to figure in dollars and cents.

We stop to think a moment of what all this means. When we began collecting, Great Britain and Colonies dominated the world of philately as of commerce. United States had no colonies nor dreamed of any. Now our flag flies in the Seven Seas (and at the North Pole),—not merely colonies but for the most part, parcels of our Republic, using our stamps. We are living to see, even in the short years of philatelic existence, a successor to the Rulers of the World. On the shoulders of the United States falls the mantle once worn by Greece in its glory; by the Roman Empire at its zenith; by England, Mistress of the Seas;—the mantle of World Supremacy, and the impression of our speech, customs and manners on all the world; and no one can realize it more fully than the receptive-minded philatelist.

Now I don't want to narrow this idea down to philatelic applications and standards; to suggest an edition of Scott's catalogue in two volumes, Volume I, United States and Colonies, Volume II, all the rest of the world; rather, I would keep the mind of the philatelist open to the broader thought,—the meaning of the engravings, dies, shades, emblems and portraits he studies so closely. These are his letters,—his alphabet. He studies them diligently, learns them by heart and carefully arranges them. Neatness in placing them is equivalent to plain legible writing. And at last he reads, first sentences on the wall, then chapters in the world's history; then the whole story and its meaning comes to him,—the tipping of the balance of power,—American preponderance.

ROME, ITALY, Feb. 5th, 1910.

Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

As a well-wisher of the A. P. S. and editor of its official organ, I think it is up to you to comment—and comment favorably—upon the Exchange organized and operated by Mr. I. C. Greene, of Leominster, Mass. The fact that this Exchange has not the official sanction of the A. P. S. is probably not due to Mr. Greene. A much more important series of facts are as follows:

(1) The Mutual Stamp Exchange can only be participated in by members of the A. P. S.
(2) The cost to members is nominal—viz., 2% (cash) of the value of books entered, and 10% (taken in stamps) of stamps sold.
(3) As this is an Exchange, credits and debits are paid in stamps (not cash).

A fact of interest to would-be exchangers is my own experience. Value of eight books (sent in by me between July 12th and Nov. 30th, 1909 and now retired) $60.61. Value of stamps taken from these books $52.10. How is that for an Exchange only 9 months old?

Besides being a successful Exchange it is a strong incentive towards membership in the A. P. S., and as such—if for no other reason—should be encouraged!
A. W. DUNNING.

—Marcel E. Taller sends us the following clipping from the N. Y. American of Feb. 20:—

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—Only a few months ago a new issue of postage stamps was put in circulation in Russia. Another new issue is now announced, and the stamps will commemorate the three-hundredth anniversary of the accession of the Romanoffs to the Russian throne in 1613.

Hitherto the ordinary Russian postage stamps have been rather small and of delicate workmanship; the forthcoming commemorative issue, however, will be of larger type, and they will bear the portraits of some of the leading eighteen members of the house of Romanoff, male and female.

Every collector in or around Boston should call at my office and look over my counter books.

Every stamp marked in plain figures just what I ask for it. I do not charge any higher price for want lists than for stamps off sheets because every stamp is marked at NET price, and that price is the same to all.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Forest A. Black reports finding the current 10c stamp, with a white dot exactly between Washington's nose and the oval line. Several of these were found in the stock of the Fitchburg, Mass.

Fillmore Millard reports having Scott's No. 282b, with a distinct break in the upper outer corner of the right hand triangle, the color of the stamp being more of a lilac than the usual printing.

L. C. Sharpe shows us a copy of the current 2c envelope, with a small white projection at the top of the left "2." Five of these were found in a bunch of letters coming from a little town in South Dakota.

Herman W. Boers sends us a copy of the Silver Standard which is sent out monthly by Rogers Bros., under a stamp precancelled "Meriden, Conn." The paper is a fac-simile of a paper issued in 1847. We note an item which says that some of the Boston papers are complaining that a military company paraded on Sunday at a funeral, according to custom, and asking for a law against the practice.

C. H. Williams reports having found the following varieties of the 2c Columbian envelopes: One with the third parallel north of equator in left hemisphere on line with top of head. This line runs outside towards the letter "D" until it touches line about 2 mm. beyond the hemisphere. One where the left hemisphere does not touch the line under "NI" of "United."

Mr. Williams also reports having Scott's Nos. 1549, 1568, used, with broken "G" in postage. The top part of the G is missing.

Herman W. Boers reports the new McKinley post card, the first reported to us. The new cards are entirely different from the present issue, being of a pale blue-gray color with a new stamp portrait of President McKinley, taken when he was a young man.

William C. Rhodes reports having the 5c on experimental paper.

Charles A. Townsend shows us the 1c 1908, precancelled Buffalo, N. Y., double.

BERMUDA.—The Frank P. Brown Co. has shown us the 2½d in solid color on multiple ordinary paper.

Adhesive.

2½d ultramarine.

CANAL ZONE.—Harry Leonard reports having found among a lot of used Canal Zone stamps, a pair of 1c Scott's No. 32, USED, one with Z of Zone missing. These are on part of the envelope and are postmarked from Pedro Miguel, showing that Postmaster Bliss evidently sold some of these before "getting wise."

CUBA.—Edwin W. Fuss reports having seen the 2c recently current imperforate.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—The Frank P. Brown Co. has shown us the 2c official similar to Scott's 01, on watermarked paper. This is the first of the official set to be thus reported. The new stamp appears to be lithographed. There are important changes in the design though the inscriptions and colors are the same.

PANAMA.—Harry Leonard reports having the 1c on 20c Panama, Scott's No. 181 (unsevered pair) from bottom of sheet, one with period between "c" and "t" thus "c.t", the letters being widely spaced. They were purchased from the Panama post office, when first placed on sale, but were not detected until recently.

PAPUA.—Though chronicled some time ago, and included in Scott's list the 2sh 6d of the permanent set has just appeared and has been shown us by the New England Stamp Co.

PHILIPPINES.—J. C. Piper reports having found the 2c of 1898, with surcharge inverted.

SALVADOR.—Oscar G. Johnson reports the new provisionals, surcharged "1821—15 Septiembre—1909" on both watermarked and unwatermarked as chronicled some time since.

TURKEY.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 2½ pi and 5pi with signature of the new Sultan, and printed in new shades.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY

The recommendations were taken up seriatim and approved, and then the report accepted as a whole.

A recess was then taken in which we listened to a very interesting address on the United States Postal Service by Edward C. Mansfield, Esq., Postmaster of Boston. He was most heartily received, and cordially reciprocated by extending the hand of fellowship to our members from that branch of our Government in which we are so intensely interested. A rising vote of thanks was given him at the close of his talk.

Business was resumed and the names of the following candidates were posted:

Mr. Edwin B. Hill.
Mr. Stephen G. Rich.
Mr. B. W. Allen.
Mr. John Alden.
Mr. Frederick W. Stiles.
Mr. Edward Gowing.

An invitation was read from the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland, O., for their 20th Anniversary celebration on March 19th. A vote of thanks for the invitation was passed. Mr. Nevin read a letter from Mr. Henry J. Crocker concerning his recent work on Hawaiian Numerals.

Old South Bldg., BOSTON, MASS.

Mr. Charles H. Fowle ("Undooly") next entertained us with a clever skit in his usual vein, forgetting very few in the bouquets that he handed around.

Mr. Howes followed with a short talk on Canadian stamps, as an introduction to the exhibit very kindly permitted the society of the magnificent specialized collection of this country belonging to Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood, N. J. This was awarded a gold medal at the International Exhibition, London, 1906, and has been considerably added to since that time. There seems to be nothing lacking from pairs of 12d, 1851, down to wondrous arrays of shades of the commonest values of recent years. Used are as well represented as unused, and if one wanted to see anything he desired in this country, all he had to do was to make the want known and it could be satisfied. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Pack.

Mr. William C. Stone had come from Springfield with a most interesting exhibition of the "side lines" for which the collectors there are famous. Lock seals, tax paid, tin-foils, etc., made an exhibit which few of us often see.

After passing a vote of greeting and congratulation for the President to carry to the Rhode Island Philatelic Society on the occasion of their 25th anniversary, Feb. 16th, the meeting adjourned at 9.15 o'clock to discuss the following catalogue provided by Caterer Seiler: Escalloped oysters, chicken salad, potato salad, cream fritters, croquettes, ice cream, sherbet, frozen pudding and coffee.

The Jollification was most successful in every particular, and those who could not be present have missed considerable that would not soon be forgotten. MORAL: Don't stay away from the B. P. S. meetings! They need you and you need them!

COMPLIMENTARY MENTION.

In the past the WEEKLY has made perfectly free in its references to matters of individual interest to its advertisers. As a result many news gleanings have appeared in our columns that in themselves were harmless yet have proved offensive to those patrons who have not pressed us for complimentary mention. In the future we must be guided solely by the element of "news" that these items furnish and whether our subscribers will really consider them as being of general interest. This places all our advertisers on exactly the same basis.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

CHARLES R. MORRIS.

By GEORGE L. TOPPAN.

Charles Robert Morris, the subject of this sketch, was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, some thirty-five years ago and, like so many other collectors, fell a victim to the charms of the goddess Philatelia at about the tender age of ten years. It was not, however, until about twelve years ago that he became a serious collector and, as is generally the case with a relapse, his second attack of the fever has proved much more serious and chronic than was the first. In fact, who those know him best say that he is now a hopeless monomaniac on the subject of the fascinating issues of our own country, to which he devotes all of his attention.

Coming to Washington in 1897, Mr.

ner, the necessary contact was made; the light began to glow, feebly at first, but becoming stronger day by day, until now we, of Washington, know that he has about passed through the incandescent stage and is approaching the next step; that of the arc light.

To most of my readers Mr. Morris is undoubtedly best known through his contributions to the columns of the WEEKLY (as most of us old-timers still call MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS) upon matters of general interest pertaining to United States stamps. His exhaustive researches into the records and workings of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing and of the Post Office Department have been productive of much Morris entered the Government service as a clerk in the Auditing division of the Treasury Department, where he is still employed.

The training in systematic detail and minutiae which such work involves has but served to sharpen his naturally clear and quick powers of observation and to render him one of the most systematic of men in all that he undertakes.

Add to this his powers of concentration and application and the result is an almost ideal temperament for a philatelist, though Mr. Morris, himself, though a most pronounced optimist, is by no means an idealist.

That which he undertakes he will perform, or, in the event of unforeseen circumstances rendering such performance impossible, he will step aside in favor of some more fortunately situated mortal who can carry the task to its completion.

Up to two years ago, or thereabouts, Mr. Morris was content to hide his light under the proverbial "bushel basket"; but, at last, in some unknown manner and valuable information which has aided in settling many a mooted question.

Those who were present at the last convention of the American Philatelic Society, at Atlantic City, will need no introduction to Mr. Morris; but, for the sake of those who have yet to meet him, I will say that he is a modest, unassuming gentleman whose affable and cordial personality is an open sesame to the friendship of those who know him.

At the last meeting of the District of Columbia branch of the American Philatelic Society, which was organized through the efforts of Mr. Morris and whose President he is, he was unanimously nominated for the next Secretary of the parent organization and, as a friend both of the society and of the candidate, I can but hope that the members will accord him their suffrage and elect him to an office which he will fill with dignity and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

THE C. E. HUSSMAN STAMP CO., 211 N. Garrison Ave., ST. LOUIS, MO.

RHODE ISLAND PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Organized Feb. 2, 1885.

W. A. MOWRY, Pres.; B. A. WEBBER, Vice Pres.; GEO. C. ARNOLD, Sec., 124 Washington St., Prov., R. I.; W. IRVING COX, Treas.; JEROME FLEISCHER, Exch. Mgr.; F. M. MASON, Lib. and Chairman Auction Com.

Meetings held every third Wednesday at Room 4, 63 Washington St., Prov., R. I., at 8 P. M. Address all communications to the Secretary.

PROV. R. I., Feb. 16, 1910.

The 205th regular monthly meeting and 25th Annual Banquet was held at the Elysium, No. 183 Weybosset St., at 6.30 p. m. After cordial greetings among the members and welcoming the invited guests, all sat down at 7 p. m. to an elaborate banquet served by Lyman.

After the thirty-six philatelists had partaken of the good things, cigars were lighted and Pres. Mowry addressed the gathering:—

"Tonight we have assembled to celebrate our 25th anniversary. Organized Feb. 2nd, 1885, the R. I. P. S. is the oldest organization of its kind in continuous existence in the United States, and I am proud to state that we have with us this evening three of the ten original charter members, Mr. Chas. F. Rothfuchs now of Boston, Mr. Wm. G. Nightingale and Mr. W. Irving Cox, Treas. of the society.

I should not pass without mentioning the loss which fell upon this society in the early autumn by the death of Alfred Dawson, one of the society's founders. Until failing health prevented, he was a most active member, and more than any other, is due the continued existence of our society."

W. Irving Cox, Treas. of the society, was then introduced, his remarks being of a historical nature. His method of collecting stamps and incidentally annual dues (laughter) were quite unique.

Pres. W. O. Wylie of the Boston Philatelic Society extended the congratulations of his organization to the local society on its Silver Anniversary, expressing pleasure at the success that has attended its career during the past 25 years.

Chas. F. Rothfuchs of Boston also spoke, referring to the late Mr. Dawson as a successful canvasser for new members, by distributing freely duplicate stamps.

Edwin F. Sawyer of Boston, Pres. of the United States Envelope Society made a few remarks prior to exhibiting his specialized collection of Gambia which is the finest in the United States. Specialization in collecting is a feature among many collectors which produces most effective results, and all took a lively interest in the collection which was explained by Mr. Sawyer in detail.

After the pictures of the members were taken in a body, Pres. Mowry called the meeting to order, 30 members and 6 guests being present. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. Wm. G. Nightingale was unanimously elected a member. Resignation of G. W. Pepper was received and accepted.

The Secretary's report showed a total membership of 50 in good standing; 8

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

MONTHLY INTERIM REPORT OF THE SALES DEPARTMENT.

Feb. 1st, 1910.

We take pleasure in submitting the following interim report for the month of January, 1910:

2612 books in circulation Jan. 1st, priced at $52,429.63

203 books received in January, priced at 4,086.35

2815 books, priced at $56,515.98

321 books retired in January (sales $1,496.42), priced at 5,995.81

2494 books in circulation February 1st, priced at $50,520.17

The sales for the month were $777.89, which is considerably better than any one of the four past months. We are glad to state that in response to our recent request, newly filled books have been coming in very steadily, so that during the month of January 203 were received, priced net at $4,086.85. The grade of stamps seem to be better, and the condition has been improved. We may state that excellent sales are being made from books of this character, and if members having duplicates will write for blank sales books immediately, results are sure to be very satisfactory. The sales during February are even better than those in January, and it is probably if the quality of the books continue to improve, we shall reach record results in February, March, April and May.

It will be noted that sales amounting to $1,496.42 were made from the 321 books retired in January. These books were priced net $5,995.81. Thus it will be seen that the sales amounted to almost exactly 25% of the total.

The branch managers have been continuing their good work, and we take pleasure in appending a list of results secured up to February 1st, as follows:

(1) J. W. Haseltine, Philadelphia, Pa., $782.24
(2) Don R. Bennett, Detroit, Mich., 341.10
(3) Chas. R. Morris, Washington, D. C., 312.47
(4) L. A. Van Toor, Milwaukee, Wis., 246.71
(5) John F. Rust, Cleveland, O., 175.62
(6) W. C. Emery, Springfield, Mass., 86.02
(7) Ross O'Shaughnessy, San Francisco, Calif., 66.45(8) George W. Linn, Columbus, O., 64.84
(9) A. W. Dunning, Newton, Mass., 57.77
(10) T. C. Mann, St. Louis, Mo., 47.39
(11) A. H. Weber, Berkeley, Calif., 42.15

The 282nd regular meeting of the Chicago Branch No. 1 of the American Philatelic Society was held in the club rooms of the Chicago Philatelic Society on the evening of February 9th, 1910. President Whitaker, called the meeting to order with the following members present: Baldwin, Bloss, Bowker, Clark, Cornwall, Dahl, Farnham, Green, Lindquist, Mizera, Mudge, Rogers, Roterberg, Severn, Whitaker, Wolsieffer. Messrs. F. L. Baker of Minneapolis and Oscar Sevon of Chicago attended as visitors.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. A communication was received from Mr. Chas. R. Morris announcing his candidacy for nomination for the secretaryship of the parent organization and requesting the endorsement of the branch. After much discussion it was voted that the branch take no political stand of any kind at the present time. The secretary was instructed to answer Mr. Morris to this effect. The treasurer's report was read showing a balance of $9.28 on hand February 8, 1910.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Lindquist for the announcements which he printed for the branch without charge. In the absence of Mr. Fowler, the entertainment manager, Mr. Severn announced the entertainment to be the exhibition of Mr. F. R. Cornwall's prize winning collection of the stamps of Cape of Good Hope. Mr. Cornwall explained the collection as it was being shown. A vote of thanks was tendered him for the exhibition. Meeting adjourned at 10.15 p. m. Next meeting on March 9th.

BOSTON, MASS., Feb. 15, 1910.

The 220th (regular) meeting and Annual Jollification was held at the club room this evening at 7 o'clock. Previous to the meeting some twenty members who remained in town met at the Crawford Café, as announced in the secretary's call, for an informal supper together. This proved a happy innovation which will become a regular feature, it is hoped.

President Wylie took the chair and opened the meeting with 60 members and friends present. The reading of minutes was dispensed with, and the following library report presented:

Library Report for Feb. 1910.

There has been received by the committee since the last report:

By donation—Scott Stamp & Coin Co., 166th Sale from New England Stamp Co.; Drew's 210th and 211th Sales from A. P. Brown; 91 unpriced foreign auction catalogs from New England Stamp Co.; Annual Report of Bureau Engraving and Printing, 1908, from C. K. B. NEVIN.

And the current numbers of the following magazines, generously contributed by the publishers: Gibbons' Weekly, Mekeel's Weekly, Stamp Journal, Berliner Briefmarken-Zeitung, Stamp Collector, Carter's Messenger, Postage Stamp, Redfield's Weekly, Attleboro Philatelist, Philatelic Journal of Great Britain.

Respectfully submitted,

C. K. B. NEVIN,
C. A. HOWES.

The report of the Governing Board was then presented, as follows:

Boston, Feb. 12, 1910.

To the Members of the Boston Philatelic Society,

Gentlemen:—At the meeting of Jan. 18th an amendment to the statutes was proposed, reducing the dues of non-resident members from $2 to $1; also a communication from the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Co. presenting the new requirements of the Post Office Dept., whereby a collective subscription to an official journal is prohibited and individual subscriptions are required. As the society furnishes its official journal free to members, this would necessitate a rearrangement of our statement of annual dues, and as the Committee on Membership stated they had some changes to suggest in order to attract new members, it was voted to refer the whole matter to the Governing Board in conjunction with the Committee on Membership and the representative of the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Co.

We have had three meetings and have carefully considered the subject from all points of view, and beg to present the following recommendations for your consideration.

First. Because the yearly dues must hereafter be so arranged as to show the amount paid on account of any subscription to an official journal, which would necessitate considerable book-keeping, we deem it of advantage and recommend:—

That we do not renew the subscription contract with the official journal, but urge the membership to continue their subscriptions to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY as individuals; and that the publication of our official matter be arranged for with the publishers.

Second. Because of the state of the finances of the society, it seems entirely unwise to reduce at present the resident membership fee, but that the withdrawal of the official journal from the benefits to non-resident members merits consideration, and we therefore recommend:—

That the proposed amendment to Art. XIII, Sec. 1, be made to change the dues for non-resident members from "two dollars" to "one dollar and a half."

Third. Because of the large amount of time often taken up in discussions at our regular meetings, thus deferring the entertainment provided to an hour so late that many cannot remain, we recommend:—

That most of the ordinary business coming before the society be referred to the Governing Board, as is already provided by Art. XI.

Fourth. In order to expedite the balloting on candidates for membership we recommend:—

That a collective ballot be taken for all candidates to be voted upon, unless 5 black balls appear, when individual ballots shall be taken as usual.

Fifth. In order to give those who cannot remain long at a meeting an opportunity to examine such exhibits as may be scheduled, we recommend:—

That exhibits be placed on view at 7 o'clock on regular meeting nights and remain until the meeting is called to order.

Sixth. In order to further the interest in and understanding of the exhibits displayed,

SEYBOLD SALE, Part I, March 15 & 16, 1910

In a previous number we specified a few of the fine things in the 1st Session of this remarkable Sale. Below will be found notices of same in the 2nd Session, March 16.

Hawaiian Islands on Covers

1853 thick paper 5c blue, 2 covers. 13c red, no less than 5 covers with this rare stamp in combination with U. S. Stamps. 5c ON 13c RED, 3 remarkable covers with this great rarity. NUMERALS, 8 covers including Nos. 11, 13, 16, 21 and 22. 1893 Provisionals, including the rare 12c violet.

British North America on Covers

BRITISH COLUMBIA, 5c rose, imperf.; 1861, 2½p; 1865, 5c; 1868, 5c.

CANADA. The finest possible lot including 2 of the 12 pence, that standard rarity. 1851, 6p, both papers, all shades and several pairs. 1855, 10p blue, including thick paper and pairs. 1857, 7½p green, no less than 7 covers, including one with a pair. The rare 6p perforated is represented by 3 covers, one a pair. 1859, 10c black brown—and others.

NEW BRUNSWICK, 3p, 6p, 1sh, in singles, pairs and strips, and a wonderful lot of the rare splits, including that great rarity, One Quarter of 1sh used as 3p. 1860 Cents Issue, fine lot of these stamps including several of the rare 17c black.

NEWFOUNDLAND, 4p, 6½p scarlet vermilion, 4p orange and 2 covers with the rare half of 8p used as 4p.

NOVA SCOTIA, 1p, 3p, 6p both shades, 1sh, all represented in a fine lot of covers, including pairs and strips and bisects of the 3p and 6p. 1860-64, Cents Issue, fine lot including bisect of 10c.

South America on Covers

BOLIVIA 1867, 10c (4), 50c (8). AUTOFAGASTA, CHIMBA, rare Provisional Envelopes.

BRAZIL 280r (39), 1866 perf. 430r yellow, 600r black; 1891, 100 blue, inverted.

BUENOS AYRES 1858, 1p, 2p, 4r brown pair; 1860, 4r pair.

PERU 1858, ½p rose, error. Uruguay 1857, 180c (5), 240c (6).

In addition to the covers, there is a fine lot of stamps of the above groups that are not on covers and constitute a fine collection in themselves, these include some remarkable pairs, strips and blocks, to which we cannot do justice in an advertisement, and must refer interested parties to the Catalogue in which they are fully described.

Part II, March 29, 1910. EUROPE, a wonderful lot, especially old Germans, Italians, Switzerland and Spain.

Part III, April 14 & 15, 1910. BRITISH COLONIALS, including fine lot of BRITISH GUIANA, CAPE OF GOOD HOPE, CEYLON, MAURITIUS and AUSTRALIANS.

The Catalogues for all 3 Parts are ready and will be mailed on request. We have prepared a separate part containing illustrations of 38 of the covers of this collection, and this will be mailed on receipt of 25c.

J. C. MORGENTHAU & CO., 87 Nassau St., New York City

when such would be of advantage, we recommend:—

That the Exhibition Committee arrange to have suitable explanatory talks given in connection with special exhibits.

Seventh. In order to induce more to frequent the meetings and to provide companionship for those remaining in town for such meetings, we recommend:—

That the secretary announce before each meeting a place of rendezvous, where members remaining in town will find congenial spirits gathered for supper at 6 o'clock on the meeting night—everything informal and anyone welcome.

Eighth. As prominent philatelists often come to Boston, and as it is the custom in many places to entertain distinguished visitors, and as a precedent was set by the society on the visit of Mr. Melville, we recommend:—

That provision be made by the society for the entertainment of visiting philatelists of note.

Ninth. As matter is at hand whereby the Committee on Handbooks can probably produce a suitable work and provide most of the funds from advertising, we recommend:—

That the Handbook Committee be authorized to proceed with the proposed work if it can be produced with little or no expense to the society.

Tenth. In view of the fact that current expenses, subscriptions, binding, new works, etc., must be kept up by the Library Committee, we recommend:—

That $25 be placed at the disposal of the Library Committee as usual.

Eleventh. This is the most important recommendation, which we have left to the last. There has always been more or less of a feeling in the society against the location of the present club room. While excellent in itself for our purposes, it is not as handy for the use of members as might be, and is being used less and less outside of regular meetings. A more central location for our business members in a more desirable building has been the thought of many for some time. The Committee on Membership has considered this in connection with its duties, and has laid the results before the Governing Board. The opportunity which is now before us seems exceptional in many ways and has met with our unanimous approval. We have to recommend:—

That the society give up its present quarters and accept a smaller room in the Tremont Building for headquarters, with the privilege of using the large assembly room adjoining for our meetings.

This may seem a radical proposition, but the advantages are many. The room is on the third floor, about one-third the size of the present, and will accommodate the library, desk, table and large chairs. A door opens into the large assembly room which can be had for the asking at any time for our meetings. The room is well lighted and carries the privilege of a box in the vault. The locality is of the best, is generally handy and, if taken, the room and its connections will give the society without doubt the best club room of any philatelic society in the country. The building is always open and has elevator service until 11 p. m.

Your Board has felt that the advantages are so manifest that it was wholly unwise to let the opportunity slip by through delay, and have therefore spoken for the room with the proviso that it depend upon ratification by the society at the next meeting. We have also given a month's notice to the owners of the East Building, with the same proviso.

We submit the above propositions for your action, believing that all, and especially the last one, are for the best interests of the society. A better room in a better location, with increased facilities and advantages, is not lightly to be cast aside, when it will undoubtedly add to our prestige and also to our membership list, which is the bulwark of our strength.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

AUCTION!!

Our first Auction, held on February 12th, was a decided success, and an agreeable surprise to us. We really had not expected to receive so many bids, and at such exceptionally good prices, owing to the fact that the auction field at the present time is rather crowded. It seems to substantiate once more the truth of the old saying that "there is always room for one more", and also that "there is plenty of room at the top."

Our Auction Department will be a very important feature of our business hereafter. We shall hold auctions monthly. We have secured enough collections and choice lots of rare stamps to hold four substantial sales, and new material is coming in constantly. We shall certainly be pleased to hear from collectors and dealers who are in the habit of buying stamps at auction, and shall be pleased to put their names on our mailing list.

Our next sale will be held MARCH 19, 1910, and will comprise somewhere between 2500 and 3000 lots.

If you are not in receipt of our catalogue by the 12th of MARCH, please drop us a postal card!

This auction comprises a very fine line of scarce single stamps, a great many combination lots for dealers, speculators and bargain hunters, and some wholesale and odd lots for dealers.

We should like to hear from someone having a fine and valuable collection for sale. We guarantee results at our auctions and will advance money to owner!

COMPLIMENTARY MENTION.

In the past the WEEKLY has made perfectly free in its references to matters of individual interest to its advertisers. As a result many news gleanings have appeared in our columns that in themselves were harmless yet have proved offensive to those patrons who have not pressed us for complimentary mention. In the future we must be guided solely by the element of "news" that these items furnish and whether our subscribers will really consider them as being of general interest. This places all our advertisers on exactly the same basis.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Work That Counts—From the Educational Committee of the American Philatelic Society, we have received an envelope containing samples, the examination of which aroused our enthusiasm. Verily, the Educational Committee is fulfilling its duties in a way to command admiration, and in the discharge of them, it displays a refreshing intelligence. The enclosures of the envelope are such as to prove that a campaign of philatelic education has been launched under business conduct of the most approved and modern kind. The application of advanced treatment to the work of the committee is a step of enterprise; and the committee may know that its acumen in so nicely systematizing the affairs of office is not lost on those who follow the affairs of the American Philatelic Society closely. First of all, in the envelope is a folder along whose margin in five ruled spaces arranged vertically for their reception are five different stamps from the Philippine Islands, from 1886 to date, showing five different portraits, as follows: Alfonso XII; King Alfonso, as the baby king; King Alfonso, as on the issue of 1898; Franklin on the U. S., one-cent, 1902, surcharged Philippines; and McKinley as on the present four centavos. Just opposite each stamp is a paragraph giving in condensed form, particulars of the stamp and its face suggestions. A well-proportioned history of the Philippine Islands is presented; also, a table of the coinages under Spain and the United States. On the flap of the folder are the remarks, which show the manner in which the educational work is undertaken: "This set of stamps is presented to you with the compliments of the Educational Committee of the American Philatelic Society, whose membership includes stamp collectors all over the world. In about thirty days we will have ready a beautiful set of stamps from the island continent of the antipodes, Australia. It will be sent to you free upon receipt of three one cent stamps to partially pay the cost of handling and mailing. The Educational Committee has nothing to sell, and profits in no way from the distribution of these sets of stamps. We ask that you show the contents of this envelope to your parents or to some grown-up member of the family. Should any of your boy or girl friends desire to share in this distribution we will be glad to forward stamps upon receipt of names and addresses and three one cent stamps for each set. Educational Committee, American Philatelic Society, P. O. Box 20, Chicago, Ill." A second folder is "A Little Talk with the Boys and Girls," by President Mudge; it is brightly written and is attuned to appeal to its chosen audience. A third item is a card for the index of the committee which the recipient of the stamps is to return with his name and address and whether he has a stamp collection and if so, how many stamps. The method of the committee is to insert an advertisement in carefully selected mediums offering the set of five Philippine stamps free; the applicants receive the enclosures that have been described. The follow-up system is employed in all its perfection, as the index card indicates. We are told that returns are coming in good number; and thereby a practical vindication has been made of the wisdom of the committee in putting the plan into operation. Philatelic seeds are being sown whose growth will soon be noticed by all the philatelic observers.

Soaring—Perhaps it is not generally realized that United States stamps in fine condition have greatly appreciated in value within a comparatively short time. If this classification is restricted to the older adhesives in perfect condition, the development has an almost startling significance. For some time at least a few who study philatelic conditions have been devoting attention to the old United States in perfect state and have had the realization brought vividly to mind that such stamps are remarkably scarce. Stamps such as the ten-cent, 1869, when centered and with full perforations, bright color and moderate cancellation and showing no noticeable disturbance of the fiber of the paper on the back are few and far between. Many of these stamps must be examined before a specimen fulfilling all these exacting is found. While the ten-cent 1869 in perfection used state has been cited by different authorities as the star scarcity, yet to some degree, the same parallels apply to all the stamps of the 1869 issue. The grilled issue of the 1861 type is notoriously hard to get in fittest condition, while the 1861 issue with all the virtues of perfect condition are scarce, indeed. The perforated stamps of 1855-60 present their difficulties, particularly in some of the denominations. As for the 1851 issue, we notice that in a recent auction sale of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company, the one-cent, type I brought $25.50 and type III of the same stamp, $10.70, or over catalogue in each case. Some of the early United States envelopes are experiencing an uplift, too. The collector who wants his used United States in a condition of absolute perfection will have a chase that will be felt in his purse, if he has to pay what such stamps really are worth.

School of Philately—From the New England Stamp Company, we have received an unpretentious "sample stamp lesson" which is described as the introductory number of a series of similar lessons intended to show "in a clear, concise and simple manner," what a host of valuable information there is to be found in a collection of postage stamps. In our estimation the plan adopted is one that is entitled to the warmest commendation of all who work for the spread of the gospel of philately and naturally, while the innovation is advanced in the interests of the firm employing it, let it be said that it will have a beneficial influence on philately generally. The circular showing the "sample stamp lesson" is illustrated with the cuts of six stamps of striking and popular design and each picture is the subject of a question. For instance, the following questions and answers flank the cut of the Egyptian stamp. "What two great wonders of the world are located in Egypt and what is the Egyptian coin?" Answer: "The two great wonders of the world that are located in Egypt are the Sphinx and the Great Pyramids, and the Egyptian coin is a millieme." "How do we know from this stamp that a millieme is the Egyptian coin, and that the Sphinx and the Great Pyramids are located in Egypt?" Answer: "Because we find the words Postes Egyptiennes, which tells us that it is an Egyptian postage stamp. The Sphinx and Pyramid are pictured in the center of the stamp and we find the coin, millieme, on the left of the stamp." The circular well fortifies the claim that philately is an excellent aid for the young in the study of history and geography and a source of entertainment and even instruction for the folks at home.

Ignores Us—The latest number of Success Magazine contains the following dissertation on "Postage Stamps" in its department of "pleasantry" where all accepted manuscript is paid for at the rate of ten cents a word. We congratulate the writer for getting nearly twenty dollars for a contribution for which the philatelic editor would have offered perhaps twenty cents. The essay may be deemed remarkable in that it says so much about postage stamps without referring once to philately: "Postage stamps constitute one of our national products which refuse to yield to civilizing influences.

They have several bad habits of which they ought to be cured. In the first place, they do not rise in price with that airy ebullency for which our national products have become justly famous. They don't even fluctuate. Almost any professor of political economy will admit that this is a gross error. There ought to be seasons of the year when postage stamps fluctuate violently, so that the poor men could not afford them at all. In that way postage stamps would now and then provide an outlet for some ambitious soul to make his name forever revered by securing a corner in them, to say nothing of the smaller fry who could make handsome livings year in and year out by buying and selling stamps on margin.

Another difficulty is that one knows exactly what one is buying, for they can not be adulterated. Anything that is properly civilized ought to lend itself readily to adulteration.

Furthermore, the price of postage stamps does not yield readily to car shortages, strikes, tariffs, free coinage of silver, big sticks, political oratory, investigating committees, sectional jealousies or yellow journalism.

Our postage stamps have been altogether too conservative, and our leniency with them has almost reached the breaking point.—ELLIS O. JONES.

Who is this man so large and round?
Who's frequently at auctions found?
The answer is quite plain to you!
Who could it be but * * * * *

Tho' a trifle hard of hearing,
His smile is most endearing!
And if you'll pay your money down
You can get most stamps from * * * * *

He loves to catch the wily trout!
Also the prickly-nosed hornpout!
And if my hieroglyphs you probe
You'll find his name is * * * * *

He pins his very dearest hopes
On finding some new envelopes!
His knowledge of these the tyro startles,
From this you'll know his name is * * * * *

"I think that was a 'body-blow'!"
Or "I am sorry, but you're slow!"
We've often heard on the auction floor
In * * * * *s cheerful roar!

In stamp lore he's a vet.
And a "good fellow well met!"
If unknown to you, hunt him up I beg,
And you'll find his name is * * * * *

He often comes to Boston city!
He sells Seychelles which are so pretty!
He's pleasant when he's understood,
And his name (of course) is * * * * *

STAMPS ON EXPERIMENTAL PAPER.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS.

A short time ago I called upon the acting third assistant postmaster general with the purpose of securing information in connection with the stamps printed on experimental paper. Mr. Travers informed me that a statement would no doubt be made public and I am now able to give to the WEEKLY a copy of said statement.

Not only are the steps shown by which the issue of these stamps was arrived at, but as well the attitude of the Department is stated in its reply to a correspondent who urged a further issue of these stamps on blue paper in order to defeat speculation. The letter will be of interest to philatelists generally:

"Your letter of February 9, in regard to the postage stamps printed upon bluish experimental paper, is received.

In reply you are advised that no irregularity exists in connection with this issue. One year ago the Bureau of Engraving and Printing secured a quantity of paper containing about 30% of rags instead of being made entirely from wood pulp. This paper was made specially, in the hope that it would show less expansion and contraction from dampening than the regular stock, and thus minimize a waste of about 9% which resulted from the cutting of perforations into the stamp designs.

The experimental paper happened to be of a slightly bluish tinge, which many considered preferable to the white of the regular paper. With a view to considering the advisability of adopting the bluish tint for all the stamps, the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was asked to print each denomination then in press upon the special paper. These denominations were 3c to 15c inclusive. For the purpose of insuring perfect specimens, several sheets of each were printed. The

IMPORTANT!

We have prepared a few sets of Filled Approval Books which are of the greatest value to all first class dealers. The books are highly attractive and contain about 160 stamps each, with blank space to insert your name and address. There are from 6 to 8 books in each lot ranging in value up to $7.00 or $8.00 for a single book and often more. They comprise a large variety. Each lot catalogs over $26.00.

PRICE $4.00.

No book contains duplicates. Not over 5 of the same stamp in one set of books. All stamps priced according to 1909 catalogue.

You can give 50%, 60% or even 75% and still double your money.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42 St., N. Y.
For the next two weeks we will give you three of these lots for $10.00. You may remit $4.00 for one lot and we will hold the two other lots until you remit $6.00, provided, inside of 30 days. One lot for $4.00 with the privilege of two more lots at $3.00. This is a Cinch.

best of these were delivered to the Post Office Department, where they are still held. The Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing issued instructions to destroy the remaining sheets, but inadvertently they were mingled with other stamps in process of production and placed in stock.

The stamps printed, were as follows, one sheet of each having been delivered to this Department:

Denominations.	Sheets.	Stamps.
3c	10	4,000
4c	11	4,400
5c	10	4,000
6c	13	5,200
8c	10	4,000
10c	10	4,000
13c	10	4,000
15c	10	4,000

It was wholly impracticable to locate these stamps after they had been merged into the immense stock carried at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. In fact, the stamps being good for postage, no reason exists, from the standpoint of the postal service, for withdrawing them. Because of the merging of the stamps into regular stock, no record has been kept of the postoffices to which they have been issued. It is impossible to say, in fact, whether all of them have yet been issued.

The very fact of the wide distribution which you indicate, shows the absence of any irregularity in the issuance of the stamps. Collusion such as you suggest is manifestly improbable under such conditions.

No mention was made of the experimental 3c to 15c stamps in the annual report of the Third Assistant Postmaster General for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, because consideration of changes in the colors of postage stamp paper has not progressed sufficiently, at the time the report was prepared, to warrant discussion of the subject; and the fact that the stamps had been issued had not then developed. The matter will doubtless be discussed in the next

Auction

Our next Auction, March 19th, comprises between 2500 and 3000 lots. Catalogue will be ready for mailing early in March. If you do not get a copy by the 12th of March, please drop us a postal card. In this sale you will find many desirable scarce stamps like the $5.00 U. S. Proprietary, $20.00 Probate of Will, FINE copy; Guam, set postally cancelled; Cape of Good Hope, triangular, complete; also red 1d wood block; a fine line of U. S. general issues and Departments, including several 90c 1869, 90c Justice, 5c Periodical Blue Border, superb, 90c 1869 re-issue, superb copy, etc., etc.

Among the Foreign a splendid line of British Colonies, old European, etc., etc.

Our first Auction Sale, held Feb. 12th, was a pleasant surprise to us, and we were heartily congratulated by our St. Louis friends on the splendid prices which were realized, although some of them claim they got away with some "bargains."

We wish to hear from parties having valuable lots of stamps to sell. We can handle a large collection in our April sale. We shall be pleased to figure with you if you have a really fine and large collection to sell. Our terms are as reasonable as any dealers, and we assure the owners that very good prices will be obtained! The priced Catalogue of our first sale will convince you that no stamps were slaughtered at our sale. We advance a fair proportion of the catalogue in cash on any collection entrusted to us to be sold at any of our auctions. Correspondence on this subject solicited.

annual report of the Third Assistant Postmaster General.

The speculation of which you complain is a matter over which the Department has no control. In the issuance of its stamps the Department considers their postage purpose solely. It does not take into account the question of whether the issues will or will not possess a philatelic value. This is believed to be the correct attitude, and one which is actually for the best interests of stamp collectors. To print a new supply of the stamps on the bluish paper primarily for sale to collectors would be a departure from this principle. Furthermore, it would establish a precedent for demands for reproduction of all issues which happen to have acquired philatelic value. As a stamp collector you are in position to judge the effect this would have upon philately.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS AT A. P. S. MEETING.

As the hotel accommodations at Detroit during the convention season are somewhat restricted on account of the rush of visitors, the Hotel Committee of the D. P. S. advise members of the A. P. S. who desire specific accommodations to secure early bookings as soon as they are definitely certain of attending the convention, either addressing the manager of the hotel or Mr. C. F. Heyerman, Secretary Detroit Philatelic Society, McGraw Bldg., Detroit.

The following schedule of prices have been obtained: Hotel Cadillac, A. P. S. Hdqrs, American Plan; room with bath, $4 to $5 per diem; room without bath, $3.50 per diem. European Plan, room, $2 to $6.00 per day. Hotel Pontchartrain, European Plan only, room for one person, $2 per diem; room with toilet, $2.50 per diem and upwards. Hotel Teller, European Plan, room with bath between connecting rooms, $2 per diem and upward.

CHARLES A. COOLIDGE.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

Beginning Oct. 16, 1909, we have advertised each week some twenty rarities, usually in groups, taken from the Paul Collection, we have by no means exhausted the list, we could keep it up six months longer without a break, we have not even touched some of the most important groups such as the Australians (one of the strongest sections in the entire collection), German States, Italians, South Americas, etc., but we think we have continued this line of advertising long enough to demonstrate our claim to the Largest and Best Stock of Stamps in the United States. Any stock of stamps containing practically all the Great Rarities would be likely to contain all or nearly all of the stamps of lesser value, and this is not only true of our stock, but for several years we have laid great stress upon the sending of Want Lists, something which no dealer could continue to do if they could not deliver the goods. Our stock today is the best and most complete in our history.

For the past six months we have been devoting all the time possible to making up books by Countries. These books contain from a few hundred to several thousand dollars worth of stamps of each country, used and unused being made up separately. They are intended for Collectors who are fairly well advanced and will be sent to anyone known to us or who can furnish satisfactory references.

horizontal line, and merely perforated horizontally.

Fred Timaens sends us one of the current 1c stamps, which has a defect caused by a piece of paper falling on the plate while printing, which presents the appearance of a couple of leaves falling out of the wreath and concealing a part of Franklin's forehead. Even under the glass the leaves appear to be perfectly formed.

Charles A. Townsend reports the 2c and 4c precancelled Ashland, Ohio, both inverted.

John A. Solomon reports the following precancels: Cincinnati, 2c Lincoln; down.

AFGHANISTAN.—Maury's Collectionneur says that the 2 rupee stamp, announced in No. 993, was a mistake, the value being a 6 chahis instead.

Adhesive.

6ch orange.

ARGENTINE.—The peso value of the San Martin set has now appeared, and shows important modifications in the design. Instead of being in an oval the portrait appears in a circle, the stamp being larger than the low values. In the lower right corner there is a sitting female figure, personifying the Republic, the value being in the opposite lower figure.

Adhesive.

1p blue and rose.

BELGIUM.—The Belgian papers say that the portrait of King Albert will not appear on the stamps before the middle of next year.

BRAZIL.—Recent changes in the postal tariff of this country will likely cause important changes in the denominations of the various stamps, regular, official and postage due. For instance, the 400 and 700 reis of the regular set will be suppressed and new stamps of 600 and 10,000 reis created; the 10, 300, 400 and 700 reis official stamps will be suppressed and stamps of 600, 20,000, 50,000, 100,000, 500,000 and 1,000,000 reis will be added; the postage due stamps of 300, 500 and 700 reis will be omitted hereafter and 600 and 5,000 reis added.

A stamp of 1,000,000 reis sounds very large, but the actual value will be about $546. The changes in the postal tariffs provide that letters for the interior will be carried for 100 reis hereafter instead of 200 reis; and that foreign letters will require 200 reis instead of 300 reis. The new official stamps will have the portrait of Dr. Nilo, the new President of the Republic.

CANADA.—A. A. Kelson reports having seen several hundred sheets of the current 2c Canadian stamp, plate numbers 73 and 74, with the following inscription at the bottom of the sheet inverted: "Top—Ottawa 73," and "Top—Ottawa 74."

CANAL ZONE.—Hermann Focke shows us specimens of the new 2c stamps with both the new small type overprint reading up and the older large type overprint reading down. Mr. Focke says he has seen the small type surcharge only on the 2c, but has seen the other on the entire set of 1909. On the other hand Robert J. Wagner reports having seen the 10c of 1909, with the surcharge reading up. We are unable to say which is the permanent type, though when first seen it was supposed that the small surcharge, reading up, was to be used hereafter.

CHILE.—The Postage Stamp gives the following particulars of two new series of postage stamps, which are to be issued in Chili during the present year. The first, comprising fourteen values, is intended to replace the present permanent issue, whilst the second, of thirteen stamps, will commemorate the Centenary of Chilean Independence.

It is considered improbable that either will be ready for issue before the summer, when the Centenary falls. The following are the designs, colors, and values of these impending issues:

General Issue. Centres in black for all above 5c.

1c green (Columbus).
2c red (Valdivia).
3c brown (Toro Zambrano).
5c blue (O'Higgins).
10c grey (Friere).
12c carmine (F. A. Pinto).
15c purple (J. Prieto).
20c light blue (Manuel Montt).
30c senna (J. J. Perez).
50c dark green (F. Errazuriz Z.).
$1 emerald green (A. Pinto).
$2 vermilion (D. Santa Maria).
$5 bronze (J. M. Balmaceda).
$10 golden (F. Errazuriz E.).

Commemorative Issue. Centres in black.

1c green (Oath of Independence).
2c rose (Battle of Chacabuco).
5c blue (Battle of Maipo).
10c senna (Sea fight between the "Lantaro" and "Esmeralda").
12c carmine (Capture of the "Maria Isabella").
20c orange (Abdication of O'Higgins).
25c light blue (First Congress).
30c lilac (O'Higgins' Monument).
50c bronze green (Carrera's Monument).
$1 yellow (San Martin's Monument).
$2 vermilion (General Balnes).
$5 green (General Zenteno).
$10 dark violet (Admiral Cochrane).

COLOMBIA.—S. B. Whitehead sends us a couple of perforation freaks from this country, including a horizontal pair of the current 2c stamps, with double perforations between, and a horizontal pair of the current stamps with extra perforation across both stamps, about one-third of the way from the bottom.

CONGO BELGE.—A new series, with portrait of King Albert is reported to be in preparation.

CRETE.—Lemaire's Journal reports that regular postage and postage due sets are being prepared and will shortly be issued. The regular set will include 10, 20, 25 and 50 lepta and 1, 3 and 5 drachmas. The postage due set will include 1, 5, 10, 20, 40 and 50 lepta and 1 and 2 drachmas. The design is said to represent allegorically, Greece, which is likely to bring out a protest from the Porte.

GABON.—We are indebted to the New England Stamp Co. for specimens of the low values of a new set for Gabon, Congo Francais, which is certainly the worst of the many monstrosities issued for the various French Colonies. The design is a large upright 20x35 mm., and printed on white paper, in two colors. The leading feature is a Congo warrior, in full war array, feathers, spears, and all.

W. F. GREGORY,
110 Nassau St., NEW YORK.

The head is arranged on a colorless background, with “R F” and the value in the upper right corner. At the bottom there is a peculiar shaped frame, bearing “Postes—Congo Français—Gabon” in three lines with colorless letters. The designer's name appears outside the frame, which is a plain rule, reads “L. Colmet—Daage.” The 1c, 2c and 5c values have “c” after the value, but there is none after the “10.”

Adhesives.

10c carmine and red.

GUATEMALA.—Hermann Focke sends us another “Centenario” stamp from Latin America, Guatemala being the latest country to be afflicted with the commemoration fever. Whether this stamp is the forerunner of a complete set of similar design, or whether a series with different portraits is in process of issue, Mr. Focke is unable to inform us, as he had no intimation that Guatemala contemplated a new issue. There seems to be no doubt, however, that the year 1910 will bring out a good crop of these commemorative issues.

The stamp which Mr. Focke sends us is of large size, about 21x26 mm., an upright oblong, printed in two colors on white paper, and perforated 14. The portrait is small, and arranged in a small oval below the centre line of the stamp, but the inscriptions are so numerous as to crowd the stamp. The value is printed in small circles in each of the lower corners, small figures surrounded by “Centavos” in slightly larger circles. The inscriptions read “Centenario—de—Miguel Garcia Granados—22 de Septiembre” above the portrait, and “Republic de Guatemala—America Central.” All the lines are curved, except “America Central,” and all inscriptions are in colorless letters. The dates “1809” and “1909” appear in small tablets at either side of the portrait.

Adhesive.

6c yellow brown and dark blue.

INDIA.—The 3a orange brown King's Head stamp has been overprinted “On H. M. S.” for official use.

NEW ZEALAND.—We omitted to say that the ½d and 1d of the new set were surface printed, the others being line engraved. The ½d stamps are printed in sheets of 240, 10 rows of 24, the others in sheets of 120, 10 rows of 12 stamps.

PAPUA.—Hermann Focke writes thus entertainingly regarding Papuan stamps, and sends specimens of the new ½d and 2sh 6d to illustrate his letter:

“I am just in receipt of news from Port Moresby, Papua, that will be interesting to the collectors of the stamps of this colony. In addition to the 1d carmine on paper with watermark Crown A sideways, reported in No. 998, I have received ½d, 2d, 4d, 6d and 2sh 6d with the same watermark. Only the 2½d and 1sh now remain in stock on paper with wmk. upright or inverted. The watermark sideways appear on all values running to right and left.

“The ½d appears now with the frame retouched, in other words the type of the frame is now the same as that of the other values with “Papua” smaller, excepting the 2sh 6d, just issued, which again has the frame with large “Papua” like the first issue of the ½d stamp. The perforations still come in the 2 varieties, the ½d and 2d values being perforated 12½ while the 1d, 4d, 6d and 2sh 6d are perforated 11.

“The six values have also been perforated with letters “O S” for official use. I have also received the 2½d and 1sh old issue, perforated 12½ with “O S” perforation, the first I have seen perforated 12½, all others in any collection being perforated 11.

“The paper on which the stamps are now printed is thinner, whiter and of a finer texture than that of the 1908 issue. The gum is also white instead of yellow. Now then, let us start for the hunt of another 64 varieties.”

PARAGUAY.—Gibbons Weekly notes another value, the 20c green, dated “1904,” and surcharged “1909” in black.

PHILIPPINES.—Theodore Siddall sends us the current 4c stamp in a new shade, which appeared about Jan. 15. This is the second of the series to appear in the new color.

Adhesive.

4c carmine lake.

RUSSIA.—The 35k has been issued on white unwatermarked paper with varnish lines like the current low value.

RUSSIA.—Post Offices in China.—The 50k violet and green, on unwatermarked paper has been overprinted “Ketai” in blue for use in China.

SALVADOR.—We are indebted to Hermann Focke and the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. for specimens of the first value of the long promised series of stamps from this country. The portrait is that of General Fernando Figueroa, President of the Republic, arranged in an irregular shaped opening, with an elaborate frame composed of lathe work. At the top is “U. P. U.” and “Correos de Salvador” with the figures of value in small tablets at the sides of the portrait, and “Centavo” at the bottom. The stamp is in two colors, on paper watermarked honey comb, and perforated 11½. It was issued Feb. 7.

Adhesive.

1d dark brown and black.

The C. E. Hussman Co. has shown us the 1c on watermarked paper, surcharged in red “1821—15 Septiembre—1909,” with the surcharge inverted.

SPANISH MOROCCO.—William Ward sends us the new 2c stamp of Spain, surcharged “Correo Espanol—Marruecos,” as previously noted.

NEW YORK STAMP SOCIETY.

Business meetings 1st Thursdays, exchange meetings 3rd Thursdays, each month, at Victoria Hall, 641 Lexington Av., 8 P. M. Initiation fee $1. Dues $1 half yearly. Visitors welcome. All communications are to be addressed to the Secretary.

FRANK J. WILFORD, Pres.; GEORGE W. KETCH, Vice Pres.; HENRY JOHN DICKE, Sec. 536 E. 89 St., N. Y. City; BALDWIN SCHLESINGER, Treas.; HARRY M. LEWY, Lib.; MAX ISENSTEIN, CHAS. LEHMAN, THEODORE STEINWAY, Trustees.

New York, Feb. 17, 1910.

Meeting called to order at 8.30 with President Wilford in the chair and 32 members present. Practically all business was suspended until next meeting. This meeting should long be remembered as the occasion when, for the first time in its history, the society was honored with a visit of another philatelic body. The visiting society, “The Richmond County Philatelic Association,” was most ably and strongly represented and was received with the most hearty welcome and enthusiasm. Their members made a magnificent showing in the exhibition of Cuba, the prize going to Mr. Isenstein of the home society, with honorable mention for Mr. Ward, one of the visitors. The evening was devoted entirely to the exhibition and exchange of stamps. Refreshments were of course part of the program. Do not forget the next meeting, March 3.

The regular monthly meeting of the N. E. P. A. was held Feb. 8th, 1910, at 28 School St., Room 1. In the absence of the President and Vice President, Mr. Charles H. Stone was elected chairman pro tem. Minutes of the January meeting read and approved. Treasurer's report read and approved. Communication from the official organ read and suitable action taken thereon. Messrs. L. L. Green of Medford and P. C. Kimball of No. Scituate elected to membership. The names of Messrs C. F. Rothfuchs, H. B. Seagrave and B. L. Drew proposed for membership. Laid over until March meeting. After an informal talk on stamp matters generally meeting adjourned at 10 p. m.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

DETROIT BRANCH No. 25.

At the meeting of the Detroit Branch, A. P. S., 11th of February, 1910.

General C. A. Coolidge, President, called the meeting to order with fourteen members present and five visitors. Letters were read in regard to nominations for A. P. S. offices at the convention, but the Detroit society voted to be non-partisan as to indorsing any candidates as a body, owing to our position as host at the convention.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer for his complimentary priced catalogue.

A donation auction sale of seventy-five lots was held for the benefit of the local society's convention fund. A pair of U. S. 1847, 5c dark-brown, severed pair on cover, brought $2.10. U. S. encased postal currency—1c Ayres Pills, $2.00; U. S. same 3c Ayres Sarsaparilla, $2.00; U. S. same, 5c Brown's Bronchial Troches, $3.10; U. S. same, 10c Drakes Plantation Bitters, $3.00.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY.

The members of the society are advised that our contract with MEKEEL'S WEEKLY expired March 1, but the publishers will continue the paper four weeks in order that members may pay their dues and make an additional remittance of 50c for this paper. If desired, the subscription may be sent direct to the office of the paper.

This notice will reach every member of the society and immediate action is requested. Ample time is being allowed for the renewal of subscription and the discontinuance of the paper April 1 will not take place unless you yourself neglect to meet the requirements of this notice.

tion differs from the same gauge of previous years in the size of the holes, which are smaller, showing more paper between them, and in their regular alignment.

The seven novtchiya is known with several of these perforations. The violet shade of the first issue is known with the 10½ irregular perforation. I have not seen this shade with any other perforation, though Gibbons catalogues it with gauge 11.

In the 12 gauge there are known the blue lilac, which I have seen in no other perforation, lilac, and red-lilac. The 12½ perforation is found in the red-lilac and pale rose shades, and the 13 is found in the red-lilac. The only compound perforation I have seen in this value is 12½x12 in pale rose.

11,004 VARIETIES FOR SALE

We offer for sale a very fine collection of 19th Century stamps, 11,004 varieties. Nothing added since 1897. Five volumes. Collection is general. Catalogue value is around $5500.00, rather more than less. Will sell cheap. Terms spot cash. Price and particulars on application. Address

THE C. E. HUSSMAN STAMP CO., 211 N. Garrison Ave., ST. LOUIS, MO.

The 11 perforation is found in the rose shade of 1881. The 10½ gauge of 1893 is known in rose and the 11½ in rose, claret and pale claret.

In 1893 the current stamps were surcharged to celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the introduction of printing into Montenegro. The surcharge consisted of the date "1493" at the left of the stamp, "1893" at the right, "Proslava" at the top and "Shtam-parije" at the bottom. Although almost all of the surcharged stamps are perforated 10½ or 11½, just enough exceptions have been found to indicate that a few sheets bearing the old perforations were on hand when the surcharging was done and were sent to the printer's with the rest.

The seven novtchiya perforated 10½ is known in rose and pale claret, and the 11½ perforation is found in rose, claret, and pale claret. The rose stamp perforated 11 is known with this surcharge, as are also the claret and lilac shades perforated 12 and the red-lilac shade perforated 12½.

A number of errors exist in the surcharge but it is only necessary to mention here those occurring in connection with this value. These are a double surcharge on the pale rose; an inverted surcharge on the pale rose perforated 10½, the lilac and the claret perforated 12; the date 1495 instead of 1493 on the pale rose perforated 10½, and on the rose perforated 11; and the "9" dropped from "1493" on the pale rose.

There were at least two settings of this surcharge and it is believed that the above errors occurred in the first setting.

The second setting was set up to cover a quarter of a sheet or twenty-five stamps, and most of these show peculiarities by which they can be readily recognized. It is unnecessary to enumerate them in this place. The seven novtchiya is known with this setting of the surcharge in the rose color perforated 10½ and 11½. The sheets were separated into panes of twenty-five stamps before the surcharge was applied and it is therefore impossible to obtain a full sheet showing it.

The last issue of the seven novtchiya was in 1898 when it appeared in gray-lilac perforated 10½ and 11½.

From these notes it will be seen that this is a particularly interesting stamp to study and especially to trace through its various shades and perforations. Verily there are many things left out of the catalogues and it adds much to the pleasure of the pursuit of philately to try to find out by studying the stamps what these things are.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

The Stamps of Finland—While many countries have celebrated with commemorative issues historical events which have led to liberty and independence, there is one country whose postal issues during later years have marked the gradual crushing of the aspirations which are dearest to the human heart. I refer to Finland, a country, which during a union with Sweden lasting for centuries, attained a culture which is far in advance of that of its present master. The oaths and constitution subscribed to and confirmed by the Romanoff emperors ever since 1809, when Finland, bleeding and devastated, was torn from the little sister nation which understood and shared its hopes and sorrows, have been set aside by the present incumbent of the Russian throne. The assaults on the constitutional rights of the Finnish people have been made in the insidious and underhanded way which is so characteristic of Russian diplomacy.

Early Issues.—The following data will undoubtedly prove of interest to the collector who studies his stamps and their historical relations. Up to 1889 the Post Department of Finland had entire control of its own postage issues and every stamp design included the coat of arms of the country and the later issues up to that time had its name in Swedish and Finnish. In 1889 the first blow was dealt when the heretofore independent, postal administration received orders from St. Petersburg to place Russian inscriptions on the stamps. Referring to type A5 in the Standard catalogue we find, to the left, the name of the country in Swedish "FINLAND". To the right we have the name in Finnish "SUOMI". At the top is the value in Finnish and at the bottom in Swedish. Now turn to type A6 which shows the modification made necessary by the imperial order. To the left is the name in Swedish, at the top in Finnish and to the right in Russian. In the bottom corners the value is expressed in Finnish and Russian abbreviations.

Russification.—August 14, 1891, a second and still more important blow fell when the postage stamps of Finland were declared invalid for international use. This necessitated a new issue which closely followed the designs used for the postage stamps of Russia and in the stamps of 1891 we find the little circular ornamentations which were reluctantly granted the Finlanders as the only dis-tion separating the postage issues of Russia and the grand duchy of Finland. The five values issued in 1901-02 were deprived of these circular marks but still retained the expression of value in Finnish as well as in Russian. The last and final blow fell recently when an order was issued from St. Petersburg to the effect that after the 1st of January of the present year Russian stamps only will be sold at the post offices throughout Finland. The present Finnish issue will be accepted for postage until May 14, 1910. Thus, by a stroke of a tyrant's pen, Finland's account is closed in catalogues and albums, and its issues, now all obsolete, will tell to the stamp lover their sad tale of a lost struggle for liberty and national independence.

New Russian Locals.—The Berliner Briefm. Zeitung announces a commemorative issue of postage stamps by the District of Poltawa, Russia. Like the Russian Levant issue they have appeared rather post festum as the date for the commemoration was June 27, 1909. On that date, in the year 1709, the Russians under Peter the Great, defeated at Poltawa the invading army of the Swedes led by their brave but eccentric King Charles XII, frequently referred to as the "madman of the North." This, the latest of commemorative issues, has seven values, 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 10 and 15 copeks, with a rather pleasing design in purely Russian style. The central portions of the stamps are devoted to subjects connected with the commemoration. Thus we find a half figure portrait of Peter the Great on the highest value. One value shows the monument erected on the battlefield in memory of the Russians killed. Another has a picture of the monument dedicated by Sweden to the many of its sons who fell and were buried on the same field. As nothing is said to the contrary I take for granted that this issue is purely local and not available for international postage.

Value of Commemoratives.—Notwithstanding the strong agitation against commemorative and unnecessary issues set in motion by our fellow collectors in England, I am inclined to believe that new commemorative issues will appear from time to time for many years to come. This for the reason that there is no department through which the Government gets into so close contact with the people as the Post Office Department. At the time of a national celebration it is desirable to attract the attention of an entire nation and this can not be done more cheaply or more effectively than through a tastefully designed and inexpensive token, such as a postage stamp, circulated through the people's postal service to every village and hamlet in the land. And as far as stamp collecting is concerned, it has been proven beyond the slightest doubt, that every new issue of stamps, especially the commemorative, attract the young minds and gain more recruits for our hobby than any missionary work that we collectors can do. I recommend to my English friends the following passage from the last annual report of our Third Assistant Postmaster General. He says under the heading "Philatelic Demand for Postage Stamps": "The collecting of stamps seems to be considerably on the increase. . . . The issuance of the new stamps of the series of 1908, the Lincoln, Alaska-Yukon-Pacific, and Hudson-Fulton commemorative issues, as well as of the various unperforated stamps, has apparently contributed in no small degree to the increased interest in philately, judging from the increasing inquiries and orders received from collectors and dealers."

I must confess that it was the U. S. Columbian issue which made me a captive to the charms of philately and ever since I have found it impossible to overcome my kindly feelings for that and similar issues. Philately has meant so much to me as my only rest and recreation that I bless the means by which I was led to its fold.

Issues to be Taboed.—The coming congress of British societies will undoubtedly take further steps to carry out a policy which so far has met with scant encouragement at the hands of the powers that be. In connection with this I think it would be wise to consider whether we should boycott, suppress or discourage any kind of stamp issue which serves to attract the non-collector, which will stimulate the interest of the young collector and which will advertise our hobby as nothing else will. Unnecessary and sometimes inexcusable surcharges and overprints, commemorative or otherwise, should meet with our united and unstinted condemnation. Issues, on the other hand, tastefully designed and skillfully executed, which form part of national celebrations of the great events in a nation's life have undeniable claims on philately on account of the educational and historical features with which they are associated.

Swiss Paper Prospers.—The Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung, which heretofore has appeared as a little rather modest 8-page sheet, has blossomed out in its 23d year to a 36-page magazine of unusually attractive appearance. This great change in the life of our always well edited Swiss contemporary has been brought about through the consolidation of the interests of the 17 Swiss philatelic societies. The editors are Messrs. F. Reinhard of Berne, Leo Bündgens of Zürich, and Baron A. de Reuterskiöld of Lausanne. The first number just to hand has a tastefully designed front cover in two colors, 24 pages of solid philatelic reading matter and 11 pages of advertising. If the S. B. Z. maintains the standard set by its No. 1, it can be counted as one of the very best, if not the best, of European philatelic publications. As heretofore, part of the text is in German and part in French.

NEW PHILIPPINE WATERMARK.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS.

Orders have been issued for the preparation of a dandy roll for use in watermarking the paper to be used hereafter in printing stamps for the Philippine Islands. Instead of the familiar U S P S there will appear the letters P I P S. The letters also will be different, instead of a double line letter such as is now used, the new letter will be single line and smaller. None of the new paper with this watermark has as yet been made up.

HEARTY CONGRATULATIONS.

We have received from many sources words of hearty congratulation upon the typographical and literary excellence of the special number issued February 26. We assure our readers they are heartily appreciated, and they only serve to spur us on to higher endeavor. The two special numbers that we have planned for this month and April will furnish a feast of good things and will tend to strengthen the bond of friendship between the WEEKLY and its subscribers.

Our issue of March 26 will be a "Cleveland Special" and all copy for that number should be received by March 19. A very pretty cover will be added, and the contents of the issue will be eulogistic of the activity of Cleveland as a philatelic center.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

From the Canal Zone—Several months ago, the Hon. Thos M. Cook, Director of Posts of the Canal Zone, spoke before the Nebraska Association of Postmasters and his remarks while of great general interest to those affiliated with the postal service of the United States will prove a revelation to philatelists. We are grateful that through the instrumentality of a friend we have been presented with a copy of the speech. Not alone have the words of Mr. Cook their official aspect but they are singularly readable as well. Before describing the postal conditions in the Canal Zone, Mr. Cook paid a tribute to the celerity of the mail messengers in establishing post-offices in the field of military operations or in new colonies when occasion arose some years ago. He says: "I remember eleven years ago on the island of Puerto Rico, with our troops still there and the Spanish armies encamped in the hills, of seeing a R. P. messenger dash across the road with a wagon load of mail, jump out at the first opportunity, make a canvas table, dumping his mail out on the ground, fix up a soap box divided into pigeon-holes and start a post-office in fifteen minutes. There is no mail messenger on earth but an American messenger who could have done it. Therefore, I was not surprised that within two or three weeks after my arrival on the Canal Zone, General Davis said to me that there was necessity for a post-office."

* * *

First Issue—Mr. Cook went to the Canal Zone with the purpose of taking charge of the customs department. When he received the new honor of postal chief, he had some misgivings as to how to wear it. About the time the order was issued, Mr. Cook confesses that he did not know where to mail his own letters and he realized the propriety of installing the postal service. Mr. Cook at once began the organization of his department. He said: "The order was all right. It was well written; but I walked out of the room pondering where on earth I was going to find postmasters. We, however, went over to the Panamanian government and bought a thousand dollars' worth of stamps. We had an old Greek down there make a rubber stamp to mark those stamps 'Canal Zone,' and we staid up all one night surcharging those stamps 'Canal Zone.' Those were our original issue of stamps and I understand that they are very valuable now. I have none of them myself. We then took an engine and box car and ran across the isthmus on the railway there, stopping at every station and crediting the agent a postmaster, leaving him a number of those stamps. We also had some old coin sacks and some sealing wax; and we would leave a bale or two of those sacks and some sealing wax with him. Those were our mail equipments; and our first mail to reach New York was sent in coin sacks, sealed with sealing wax; and it was real sure-enough postal system. It was handled by Americans and that was all the government wanted." Mr. Cook mentioned the fact that while on its own basis as an independent establishment, the postal system of the Canal Zone was fortunate in having the sponsorship of the United States Post Office Department; and Mr. Cook took public opportunity "to say that no parent has ever been kinder to its child" than our great institution was to its little ward.

Later Issues—We shall have to omit some of the interesting details related by Mr. Cook and shall proceed to his reference to the first surcharged issue on the United States stamps: "Two months after the preliminary stamp issue, we received from the United States Government nine million stamps—ones, twos, fives, eights and tens—United States issue surcharged 'Canal Zone.' We used them until December 12, 1904, at which time, under agreement with them, we purchased our stamps—postage stamps—from the Government of Panama and surcharged them 'Canal Zone.' That is, stamped 'Canal Zone' on them, and they then became our postage stamps. We pay for those stamps forty per cent. of their face value. So those of you who know what the cost of postage stamps is to the general government will know what they cost me down there when I tell you that I pay forty per cent. to the Government of Panama; and still the Post Office Department of the Canal Zone is a paying institution and declares an annual dividend." Mr. Cook told of the manner in which the United States settled money order balances in the Canal Zone's relation with other countries and it was made clear that the influential patronage of the department of the United States is a most helpful factor in the operations of the Canal Zone's postal administration.

Ringling Words—Mr. Cook after dwelling upon the growth of the Canal Zone department and sketching its present flourishing condition, said: "At present we are using the postal laws and regulations of the United States postal department. They were embodied in the laws of the Canal Zone where they were applicable. We have to carry everything in the mails down there except the mules. I do not doubt but that they will be shipping them as soon as I got away. I have carried a repair part for a steam shovel, weighing 175 pounds, and I have carried a coffin containing the body of an American citizen, by mail; glad to do both of them—glad to facilitate the work down there. We are simply an adjunct to the building of the canal, and wherever the chairman of the commission wants a post office, if it is twelve miles up the Chagres River, we will put it there, and we will pull the mail up there in a kiuka. We will get it there because we have got a lot of bright-faced young American postal clerks who are perfectly willing to do their work, and have done it for four years without a breath of scandal or the removal of an employee." Mr. Cook's graphic portrayal of the postal history of the Canal Zone is a welcome supplement to the recorded information on the subject, heretofore, and it is a privilege to publish it, through the kindness of Mr. Herzstock and the Postal Clerk.

The First One Here—In Mr. Howes' enlightening article in our 1000th number, there was a reference to the first stamp paper published in this country, S. Allen Taylor's Stamp Collector's Record, established in 1864. That a paper devoted to "the strange mania" of collecting postage stamps could attract support enough to justify its existence was widely commented upon in general publications of that time and many curious and not always courteous comments were excited by its appearance. For instance in a book of the day, we find: "There is a small paper published in Albany, New York, entitled the Stamp Collectors' Record. It is entirely devoted to the cause of stamps and their collectors. It furnishes also considerable information upon the subject in connection with foreign stamps." This SPECIAL DELIVERY VARIETY.

A. A. Kelson, Virgil, Ont., Canada, has submitted samples of the blue special delivery with letter describing a variety. We quote from his communication as follows:—

"Upon closely examining some of the late blue Special Delivery stamps of the United States, series 1902, plate 1774, I find upon a few that the bottom white line running horizontally across the stamp under the words 'Ten cents,' is broken directly beneath the letter N of cents.

"Am I the first to report this variety? Perhaps some of your readers would enlighten me as to whether more than one stamp on a sheet from plate 1774, shows this variation.

"I should also be glad to know the exact location on the sheet, of any other stamp showing this difference."

Upon receipt of the above information from Mr. Kelson we forwarded the letter to Mr. Morris of Washington who we felt sure could give exact information on the subject and he now reports to us as follows:—

"On plate 1774 the imperfection first makes its appearance on the sixth row from the top, that is the row just under the horizontal guide line. The next three rows each show it a little more distinct and the bottom row shows it very distinct as reported by Mr. Kelson and as shown by the sample submitted by him.

"The top four rows of plate 1776 show the imperfection very slightly. Both these plates were made with the same transfer roll, so it is presumed that whatever caused the mark was on that roll and kept getting a little worse, as it was used.

"It will therefore be seen that 50 out of the 100 on plate 1774 and 40 out of 100 on plate 1776 will be found with the mark referred to in varying degrees of intensity."

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete, beginning with this number we shall for a few weeks advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

IMPORTANT!

We have prepared a few sets of Filled Approval Books
which are of the greatest value to all first class dealers. The books are highly attractive and contain about 160 stamps each, with blank space to insert your name and address. There are from 6 to 8 books in each lot ranging in value up to $7.00 or $8.00 for a single book and often more. They comprise a large variety. Each lot catalogues over $26.00.
PRICE $4.00.

No book contains duplicates. Not over 5 of the same stamp in one set of books. All stamps priced according to 1909 catalogue.

You can give 50%, 60% or even 75% and still double your money.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42 St., N. Y.
For the next two weeks we will give you three of these lots for $10.00. You may remit $4.00 for one lot and we will hold the two other lots until you remit $6.00, provided inside of 30 days. One lot for $4.00 with the privilege of two more lots at $3.00. This is a Cinch.

OHIO VALLEY STAMPS.

(We have received from Chas. E. Drake information that the directors of the Ohio Valley Exposition held a meeting March 1 at which it was voted to ask the P. O. Dept. for a commemorative set of stamps. Harry Smith sends us a clipping from the Cincinnati Inquirer from which we make the below extract. F. D. Goodhue has also favored us with a clipping.—Ed.)

Uncle Sam, or rather the Postoffice Department, will be asked by the Directors of the Ohio Valley Exposition to issue a series of postage stamps commemorative of the great exposition in exploitation of the Ohio Valley and its products. It was decided at the meeting of the Board of Directors, held March 1, to take the matter up with the Postoffice Department at once, and it is believed that no trouble will be met in securing the concession.

C. P. S. ANNUAL DINNER.

The annual banquet of the Chicago Philatelic Society was held on the evening of February 26th in the White Room of the Boston Oyster House and though the weather was unfavorable, sixty-two persons were present at the festivities. The feature of the evening was the presence of some of the oldest officers and members of the society, as guests of Mr. Wolsieffer. The names of A. L. Holman, Samuel Leland, W. H. McDonald, L. H. Drury and Geo. Nelson will be remembered, particularly by those who were active in philately, twenty or more years ago. Each of these veterans in a philatelic sense entertained the assembly with recollections that were eagerly attended to by the members of this generation. The remarks of these past-masters of philately touched a responsive chord and all were glad to do honor to the five guests who had so faithfully served the society in its infancy and so intelligently shaped its career.

The program for the evening was a long one and at twelve o'clock when the guests dispersed it had not been com-

Auction

Our next Auction, March 19th, comprises between 2500 and 3000 lots. Catalogue will be ready for mailing early in March. If you do not get a copy by the 12th of March, please drop us a postal card. In this sale you will find many desirable scarce stamps like the $5.00 U. S. Proprietary, $20.00 Probate of Will, FINE copy; Guam, set postally cancelled; Cape of Good Hope, triangular, complete; also red 1d wood block; a fine line of U. S. general issues and Departments, including several 90c 1869, 90c Justice, 5c Periodical Blue Border, superb, 90c 1869 re-issue, superb copy, etc., etc., etc.

Among the Foreign a splendid line of British Colonies, old European, etc., etc.

Our first Auction Sale, held Feb. 12th, was a pleasant surprise to us, and we were heartily congratulated by our St. Louis friends on the splendid prices which were realized, although some of them claim they got away with some "bargains."

We wish to hear from parties having valuable lots of stamps to sell. We can handle a large collection in our April sale. We shall be pleased to figure with you if you have a really fine and large collection to sell. Our terms are as reasonable as any dealers, and we assure the owners that very good prices will be obtained! The priced Catalogue of our first sale will convince you that no stamps were slaughtered at our sale. We advance a fair proportion of the catalogue in cash on any collection entrusted to us to be sold at any of our auctions. Correspondence on this subject solicited.

pleted; many of the local leaders in society work contributed to the pleasure of their hearers with remarks appropriate to the occasion and special forms of entertainment were provided by a few whose abilities had been well proved. Dr. S. J. Caswell, Rockford, Ill., and V. E. Sisson, recently of St. Louis, were particularly happy in their responses. The printed program took the form of a booklet which was enclosed in an albino U. S. envelope of recent issue; and on the face of the albino, the menu was printed. The envelope was attached to a cover in the C. P. S. color, the combination making a striking souvenir. C. T. Rogers, chairman of the committee on banquet particularly emphasized the assistance tendered by H. L. Lindquist in making the evening an enjoyable one. The following is the menu:

MORRIS ENDORSED BY BUFFALO.

Warren C. Tudbury, secretary of the Buffalo Collectors' Club informs us that at a meeting of the club held Thursday evening, March 3, Charles R. Morris was endorsed for the secretaryship of the American Philatelic Society. A copy of the resolutions adopted has been submitted for publication, but we do not publish the same in view of their probable appearance in Secretary Adair's official department.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Mrs. Laura A. Pickett reports having "a 2c carmine of the 1895-99 variety that must be called a shifted die. It has two impressions—the first shows the impression of a part of two stamps with the perforations between; then it was printed over that and evenly centered. The first printing shows very plainly on the back of the stamps."

William F. Palmer sends us a 2c envelope of the current series, in which the left "2" has a white line like a brace between the upper and lower parts of the figure.

Mrs. Laura A. Pickett reports having seen the 1c of 1902, precancelled "Askland," instead of Ashland, Ohio, the surcharge reading down.

We are indebted to Charles A. Townsend, H. W. Boers, Mrs. Laura A. Pickett for the following new precancels:

Ashland, Ohio, 1c and 5c, inverted.
Warren, Pa., 4c and 5c, normal.
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, 4c, normal and inverted.
Akron, Ohio, 2c, 3c and 5c, normal.
New York, N. Y., 1c, normal; new type.
Cleveland, Ohio, 1c, normal.

Charles A. Townsend writes regarding the Cuyahoga Falls precancels:

"Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, is a town of 2500 people, just six miles north of Akron.

The Silver Lake Park Co. is responsible for these as they send out an enormous lot of advertising matter and I have often wondered why they did not use either a permit or precancelled stamps.

This lake is quite a summer resort, owned exclusively by one family. There are probably 800 acres in the grounds and they can care for a crowd of 20,000 to 25,000 people.

As far as I can learn, it is the only summer amusement park in the country not open on Sundays and does not allow intoxicants on the grounds.

For 25 years the owners have bred and raised one, two or three litters of bears every year.

This is so unusual that the government sent agents there for a week's stay to study conditions, method of feeding and care and published quite an interesting report of it."

Herman B. Joseph sends us a copy of the current 1c post card, in which the right hand point of the triangle in the upper left corner of the stamp is covered by a black spot, evidently an imperfection in the printing.

E. H. Banks writes regarding the so-called secret mark on the current 2c stamp:

"I have a block of 20 (4x5) in which the dot shows on alternate stamps first

TWO POUNDS MISSIONARIES! POST PAID FOR $1.00

A very good Mixture. A 2 pound lot contains between 12,000 and 14,000 stamps, average price about 7½¢ per 1000 stamps.

Mr. J. L. Howe, Lexington, Va., writes:  Mr. Chapin told me that having tried quite a number of firms for these Missionaries, he finds your Mixture by far the best.

We have a great many testimonials like this, and of course also have a few from unfortunate persons who claim they did not make a very great find. At any rate, these stamps are certainly cheap at the average price of 7½¢ per thousand, postpaid.

Send $1.00 and we will send you a two pound lot, guaranteed unpicked, just as imported.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 7.30 P. M.

Boston, Mass., March 12, 1910.

The 222nd (regular) meeting of the society will be held at the New Club Room, 322 Tremont Building, corner of Tremont and Beacon Streets, Boston, on Tuesday evening, March 15th, at 7.30 o'clock.

There will be two exhibitions for this evening, (a) A competitive exhibition of fifty (50) or more stamps (major varieties) of any country that is not a colony or dependency. This eliminates the over-popular British Colonies, and gives a chance to the man who hasn't forgotten that there are other countries which may not be so much in style, but are nevertheless well worth following up. Bring in your collection of that out-of-the-way land that still stands in its own shoes, and for which you have always had an unchangeable liking!

The prizes will be novel—a box of cigars and a box of Huyler's confectionery. In the reckoning, completeness will count 60%, condition 30%, and arrangement 10%.

The other exhibition (b) will be the collection of 20th Century stamps that Mr. E. M. Carpenter has made a specialty. It lacks very little of the multitude of new issues that have appeared in the past decade, and unless you have made a specialty of these stamps yourself you will be surprised at the showing. It is a collection of which one may well be proud.

The feature inaugurated a month ago, of having those remaining in town for the meeting gather together for an informal supper, has proved so successful on both the regular and informal meeting nights that its continuance is assured, and we are to be favored with a private room for our accommodation. Over twenty have gathered previously; come and swell the number!

REMEMBER:—Crawford Café, 13 Brattle St., 6 p. m. Club Room, 322 Tremont Bldg., 7.30 p. m.

Come and see our new quarters and give your opinion on the change!

The Exhibits will be on view at 7 o'clock.

C. A. HOWES, Secretary.

FOREIGN NOTES AND NEWS.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

Death of Anders Neander.—The Philatelic Society of Sweden has again suffered from the loss of one of its foremost members, Anders Neander, Doctor of Divinity, and member of the Royal Order of the North Star, a distinction conferred on him by the King of Sweden. He had also reached the highest degree of Swedish Freemasonry. Doctor Neander was a member of the Swedish Society since 1900 and President of its Branch at Norrköping. He was widely known as an expert on minor varieties and could in most cases, state the genuineness of a stamp without the slightest hesitation. Shortly before his death, which took place Jan. 29, at the age of 65, he had to discontinue his services as editor of the literary review of the Philatelic Journal of Sweden, which work he undertook as a successor to the late Mr. Krasemann. Always deeply interested in the active work of the society, he rarely missed one of its meetings.

First German Stamps.—November 1st, 1909, the German philatelists could celebrate the 60th anniversary of the introduction of postage stamps in the German postal service. In connection with this the Philatelisten-Zeitung furnishes some interesting data on the manufacture of the first German postage stamps. The Kingdom of Bavaria holds the honor of being the first of the German states which adopted the new method of providing for the prepayment of postage. A royal decree of June 5, 1849 announced that after November 1 the payment of postage on letters addressed to places within the Kingdom of Bavaria could only be paid by means of postage stamps, but that these stamps would not be accepted on correspondence addressed to foreign countries. It was also stated that the two higher values of the series, the 3 and 6 kreuzer, would have a red silk thread running vertically through the paper as a means of recognizing their genuineness. In October, 1849, the preparations for the manufacture of the new stamps had been completed. Contrary to the methods employed by contemporary stamp issuing countries, the typographic process was adopted and the printing was done on half sheets with American printing presses. The daily capacity of one press was 300 half sheets of 180 stamps, or 324,000 stamps per week. The force employed on the work consisted of 2 printers, 1 gummer, 1 book-binder and 2 helpers. The weekly pay-roll for this force totalled the magnificent sum of 25 florins, about $10.00. The cost of the 18,000 half sheets of paper used in a week was 18 florins and 45 kreuzer. The total cost of manufacture for one million postage stamps amounted to 289 florins and 21kr, but this does not include the cost of the plates. The engraver of the 3 dies was paid 40 gulden, about $16.00, for each. The compound used for the gumming of the stamps consisted of 6 pounds pure gum arabic and 1 pound of sugar dissolved in 12 measures of water. The solution was used lukewarm and was spread over the stamp sheets with 6 inch long and 2 in. wide goat hair brushes. After the gumming, the sheets were stretched on wooden frames to dry.

Reprints of Thurn and Taxis.—Exciting rumors of a forthcoming issue of reprints of the old stamp series of Thurn and Taxis, led the International Postage Stamp Dealers' Union to address a communication on the subject to his Highness Prince Albert of Thurn and Taxis. The reply to this communication is printed in the Philatelisten-Zeitung and I relate such facts from same as may prove of general interest. In the archives of the House of Thurn and Taxis no full sheets of the postage stamps issued under its authority, had been preserved, and the lack of such was particularly felt at an exhibition which the princely house arranged in Mailand in 1906. In order to avoid a repetition of this embarrassment in the future, the present Prince ordered official reprints to be made from the well preserved original plates, and at a district exhibition, to be held at Oberpfalz early this year, full sheets of these reprints of the 54 Thurn and Taxis varieties, together with the remainders of the later issues, will be placed on exhibition in the court house. In response to an urgent demand from philatelic sources, a very limited number of entire sheets of the reprints will be made available to the collecting fraternity after the close of the exhibition. It is pointed out that this reprinting is only in line with similar procedures by past and present postal administrations, and is not intended as a business or to encroach in any way on the dealing in stamps. In order to prevent the reprints from being put to fraudulent use it is intended to make them so that they may be easily recognized by anyone, and afterwards the plates will be kept in the Thurn and Taxis archives, inaccessible to anyone desiring further "issues." The communication closes as follows:

"The great interest with which the planning of our intentionally very limited issue of official reprints has been received both here and in foreign countries, seems to indicate that the objections raised by you are not shared in by the great majority of dealers and collectors. All further information in regard to the reprints will appear at the proper time in the daily press."

Activity in Spain.—Philately in Spain has experienced an awakening during the last two or three years. A very successful philatelic convention was recently held at Valencia, followed by an exhibition. From the reports of the latter found in the European press I am inclined to consider the awakening a little rude, or else there must be a great lack of intelligent judges. It is only necessary to relate that the highest prize, the King's prize, was awarded to a lady who had reproduced the coat of arms of Valencia by pasting together 12,000 postage stamps having the picture of Alphonso XIII. The next prizes were given to philatelists. In one of the groups, Mr. Bela Szekula received a bronze medal for his "Briefmarken-Verkehr." When it is taken into consideration that the gentleman mentioned Demonetizing of Early French.—According to Le Postillon, the French minister of Posts is seriously considering the advisability of demonetizing all French issues from 1848 to 1875. Up to date France has been the only country which has accepted all its stamps in payment of postage, regardless of date of issue, and it is not likely that the new order, if promulgated, will work any hardship on anybody. Philatelists would be glad to absorb anything the public has to offer in these issues, in mint condition, at prices far exceeding face value.

EDITORIAL.

Speaking Further—The remarks made on the subject of condition of early United States stamps in the issue of two weeks ago have inspired several of our readers to take their pens in hand and address us approvingly. The difficulty in finding perfection in used copies particularly of the perforated issues, 1857 to 1869, inclusive, was admitted by each of the correspondents. One was skeptical; he said he never saw perfection in used United States stamps of some of the issues and did not believe that this ideal state existed. Another said that he was fortunate in picking up specimens that would come under a classification that would suit the most fastidious but thought that he had been favored by chance. While it is to be argued that the question of condition is a relative one yet it must be affirmed that absolute perfection in used stamps of the issues of the United States under notice means much. Here is an analysis: Take for instance, the twenty-four cent red lilac of 1861. No perforations must touch the design and in this stamp, this is equivalent to saying perfect centering. The color is to be strong and typical and unblemished by stain or gum spot. The fiber of the paper must not be noticeably disturbed, either front or back, and what seems almost too much to ask, the single perforation at or nearest each corner must be intact and unrounded; the other perforations must be full and free, of course. The cancellation must not be disfiguring; and while there is some latitude allowed in this regard, the marking must be clean and in accord with the suggestions of the stamp. A specimen of this kind is one of a hundred and is beyond all catalogue price; and no doubt, those who have to do with the creating of quotations in the large lists would be the first to confirm this observation. Many of the stamps that were in old collections show fiber disturbance of the paper on the backs of the stamps. Specimens exposed to light will fade. The corner perforation is frail and fragile and is easily lost in handling. Even-centering is the exception and cancellations were applied in a liberal way. Yet, the perfect used copy of the most intractable U. S. stamp does exist and any owner has good reason to felicitate himself upon its possession.

Is It New?—An interesting cover has been examined that proves the existence of the regulation "Patent Lines" on envelopes that are not governmentally stamped. At least a few of the envelopes, it is fair to argue from the existence of the cover under notice, were sold by the envelope makers to the public. This unstamped envelope with patent lines is the knife 5, full letter size 3. The diagonally laid paper is the same as that of the government stamped envelope but the watermark is missing. The words: "Pat. Nov. 20, 1855." and the three heavy ruled lines that showed through the face of the envelope to serve as a guide in writing the name and address are on the left flap as on the regular government stamped envelopes. It was thought that the government monopolized the patent-line innovation in the form that has just been specified and that the contractors, Nesbitt & Co., of the first four issues, 1853 to 1870, were enjoined from using the patented lines on any envelopes save those intended for the government in stamped condition. If the patented envelope without stamped impression bore the regulation watermark, the explanation would be that the envelope was one that escaped stamping. The envelope was used in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and bears a pair of local print, small five-cent Confederate, 1862, and is postmarked Jan. 12 (1863?); it may be unnecessary to add that care was taken to see that the two adhesive stamps did not cover any stamped envelope impression. It is possible that the patent line unstamped envelope such as has been described is known to others, though new to us; we can find no recorded information on the subject.

Lucky Thirteen—The statistics relative to the number of sheets of the higher values of the current issue on experimental paper have made a lasting impression on the mind of John E. Lord of Chicago for he has discovered the thirteen-cent on the much-discussed special paper. While traveling about the country on his accustomed business, Mr. Lord has been buying supplies of the current type thirteen-cent stamp, with no thought of looking for the experimental paper variety. At one office he got a quantity of the ordinary stamps and as he was leaving, he saw a "shade" and hurriedly tore off ten of the stamps from the sheet, with the clerk's permission. Some time later, when Mr. Lord examined the ten stamps, which were in two horizontal rows of five each, he found that they were on experimental paper. Mr. Lord was not slow in making a second trip to the scene of his good fortune but after due inquiry, it was discovered that the remaining stamps on the sheet had all been sold and parceled out over the counter, singly as a rule. Mr. Lord's friends rejoice with him; and we say that it is preferable that collectors be the favored children of philately. They put money into it and it is rightful that they get something out of it. At present it is idle to speculate upon the value of this thirteen but Mr. Lord was induced to sell one block of four of the stamps at a good price; he will retain the six stamps left, he says.

Says He—The following simile was used by one of the managers of the Milinery Show, held recently at Chicago, in explaining why he discouraged the admission of children to the exhibition: "There are a lot of kids who go to these shows and collect advertising pamphlets on all subjects just as other kids collect postage stamps. They use up half the supply and the exhibitor gets absolutely no results from it." Thus does the public knowledge of philately increase until the pursuit furnishes a subject for simile or the means of polishing off a parable.

Many, Many Thanks—It is a pleasant duty to acknowledge the receipt of congratulations from readers and from many of our contemporaries upon the issue of our one thousandth number. Not alone did cheering and cordial words come from friends in this country but from other countries as well, there was no dearth of congratulatory messages. It is no small privilege to be the recipient of such attention even though it may be granted only once each thousand weeks. Of all the words of courtesy or commendation that have been recorded none have been more generous or genial than the notice of our amiable rival, Redfield's, and in particular, our hearty thanks are tendered to the paper named.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Wm. C. Stone submits the following clipping from the N. Y. Tribune of Mar. 8, informing us of the death of an old-time subscriber to the WEEKLY: "Dr. Mathias Cook, one of the oldest practicing physicians in Utica, N. Y., was found dead in his bed yesterday. Dr. Cook was a surgeon in the Civil War, and also served in the same capacity in the Franco-Prussian War. He was formerly a well known collector of stamps, and his collection had frequently been exhibited in large cities. It was sold a few years ago to a resident of New York City."

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Edw. Lifka reports having found the current 2c due stamp, precancelled "Buffalo, N. Y."

Robert G. Staede reports having seen the current 2c due stamp precancelled "Minneapolis, Minn.," with the surcharge inverted.

Cecil W. King reports finding the 2c Lincoln with inverted watermarks. Mr. King also calls attention to the fact that the watermarks are more easily found in the stamps now being issued by the Post Office Department than was formerly the case.

Harold Golden reports the current 2c and 4c stamps, precancelled "Vancouver, Wash.," both normal.

C. H. Williams reports having found the special delivery stamp, No. 895, which measures 35x21 1/4 mm., the usual size being 36x36x20 3/4 mm.

Leroy H. Brooks reports having seen the current 10c stamp precancelled "Norwich, N. Y.," in an octagon frame, on a cover, with a 5c of 1902, with the same precancellation.

Cleveland Bundlie reports having found the current 2c stamp, with a break in the white circle around Washington's head, the break being to the left, opposite the mouth.

Charles M. Breder sends us a part of a cover, two one cent stamps having been used to cover the legend on the envelope, which plainly said "Pay no postage," in a heavy black frame.

ARGENTINE.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 24c and 1p values of the current series, which had been previously chronicled on the authority of our foreign contemporaries.

IMPORTANT!
Filled Approval Books

We have prepared a few sets of which are of the greatest value to all first class dealers. The books are highly attractive and contain about 160 stamps each, with blank space to insert your name and address. There are from 6 to 8 books in each lot ranging in value up to $7.00 or $8.00 for a single book and often more. They comprise a large variety. Each lot catalogues over $26.00. PRICE $4.00.

No book contains duplicates. Not over 5 of the same stamp in one set of books. All stamps priced according to 1909 catalogue.

You can give 50%, 60% or even 75% and still double your money.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42 St., N. Y.
For the next two weeks we will give you three of these lots for $10.00. You may remit $4.00 for one lot and we will hold the two other lots until you remit $6.00, provided inside of 30 days. One lot for $4.00 with the privilege of two more lots at $3.00. This is a Cinch.

CANADA.—J. S. Robertson informs us that the 7c in the new dark shade is from Plate No. 2. They were used several months ago on letters mailed at London and Chatham, Ontario.

CANAL ZONE.—William Evans writes: "In No. 1001, Mr. Focke reports the new 2c with both local and New York surcharges and Mr. Wagner says the 10c exists with New York surcharge. The 2c, 5c, 8c and 10c of this set were issued in the early part of 1909 with local surcharge reading down.

"On Nov. 8, the 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c were issued with New York surcharge; i. e., small type reading up, and I am sure these have been mentioned in WEEKLY. The 8c has not as yet been put on sale, nor has the 13c which is a new value.

"Reliable information from the Zone states that a two years' supply of all values with New York surcharge is on hand, so that is probably to be regarded as the permanent one. It is probable that the supply of the local surcharge on hand will be used up in the regular course of business.

"It is certain that the 1c and 5c of the New York surcharge have been issued and are being sold as I have them both on cover and in blocks."

Cecil W. King reports having the 10c, with surcharge reading down.

DUTCH INDIES.—The 10c surcharged "Java," is reported to have been found with an error, the final "A" having been omitted.

GERMANY.—Offices in the Levant.—The German card with only the stamp and "Postkarte" on the front side is reported by Mr. Schachne with the current overprint for the Levant.

Post Card.

ENGLISH COLONIES.—The Colonial Office Journal says that, in view of the fact that a number of Colonies whose stamps are produced from line-engraved plates have decided to adopt the Crown Agents color scheme, a supplementary table of colors specially applicable to line-engraved stamps has been formulated of which particulars are given below. The employment of two color printing entering largely into the former schedule it was of course impossible for it to be followed out in stamps printed by the copper-plate process on account of its involving the dampening of the paper.

The following is the color standard which has been adopted in this instance:

Value.	Color of Ink.	Color of Paper.
3d	Brown.	Yellow.
4d	Red.	Yellow.
4 1/2d	Orange.	White.
5d	Sage-green.	White.
2sh	Purple.	Blue.
2sh 6d	Red.	Blue.
3sh	Violet	White.
7sh	Green.	Yellow.
10sh	Red.	Green.
£ 1	Black.	Red.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete.

Now, for a few weeks, we shall advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

DEATH REPORTED.

167. Lazarus, Paul, Brooklyn, N. Y. Reported by C. Witt.

CORRECTION.

It was a hard matter for the Secretary to identify many of the individuals in the Convention group and at least one error has occurred. Mrs. Geo. L. Toppan was not in the picture, the lady labeled as Mrs. Toppan being Mrs. John T. Hazeltine of Philadelphia. Should there be any further corrections the Secretary would be glad to receive them.

In the text of the Convention report there is a correction to be made. Immediately following the result of the proxy vote on official organ the speech of Mr. Chas. E. Severn should read as follows:

Mr. Severn—I wish to express my appreciation of the courteous action of Mr. Quackenbush and I hope the mistakes of the past will be remedied. I assure you we have learned a lesson, and in the name of the WEEKLY I thank you very heartily. (Applause.)

This mistake in the transcript was the fault of the stenographer and was not any desire to curb the publicity given to the WEEKLY.

The Quarterly is now out and I trust that it has reached every member safely. The delay has been great, and the first number will be followed immediately by the second number. It is only fair that the Secretary take upon his shoulders the entire blame for this delay and absolve from censure such other officials as may have come within the radius of suspicion in that regard. Most of this was due to his enforced removal to the South, and his early return to this city, throwing his personal as well as society affairs into confusion. Sicknes has in a measure contributed to the general disorder coupled with that of complications in the office of issue. Throughout it all there has been a tendency on the part of many to rush in, with no doubt deserved admonition and sarcasm as to the official conduct of the Secretary's office, but at the same time without a true understanding of the obstacles necessary to be overcome. The Secretary does not take umbrage at this for he realizes that there have no doubt been many bitter disappointments to some of the members during the last few months in justice to those members he must feel that they had a right, and a good one for their action in the matter. In justice to himself, let it be said, that if the Secretary could have transferred this office to some person competent to fulfill the duties, without causing added confusion and complications, it would have gladly been done for he has the welfare of the society at heart and could not wish to jeopardise the future of our grand old society. The causes for these delays being now removed the Secretary is intent upon getting the work back to its normal place and is using every endeavor to accomplish that end. It is hoped that everything will be in normal running order very shortly and that there will be no further criticism without further sufficient knowledge of circumstances. There is one matter that will require a little patience on the part of the new members. Our supply of stock certificates have become exhausted and while a new supply is being manufactured (it takes about 30 days) the Secretary asks that patience be used as he will see that every member receives his just dues to which he is entitled. In closing this brief statement of past conditions, the Secretary desires to thank those members that have endeavored to be of assistance to him in his time of need, and to call the attention of others to the fact that sometimes there exists conditions over which we have no ultimate control. From now on the Secretary is on the job.

MONTHLY INTERIM REPORT SALES DEPT.

March 1, 1910.

We beg to submit the following interim report for the month of February, 1910:

2494 books in circulation Feb. 1, 1910, priced at	$50,520.17
315 books received in Feb., priced at	5,088.12

2809 books in circulation Mar. 1, priced at	$55,608.29
---	-------------

The sales for the month were $825.25, which is quite an increase over the previous month. In response to our request for newly filled books, we are glad to state that 315, priced at $5,088.12, came in during February. The character of the stamps and the arrangement of same in the books have been better, and the sales are therefore much more satisfactory.

Branch managers are continuing their activity, and thus far during our fiscal year results have been as follows:

(1) J. W. Haseltine, Philadelphia, Pa.,	$840.85
(2) Chas. R. Morris, Washington, D.C.,	421.89

Address, South Park Terrace, Longmeadow, Mass.

COLUMBUS BRANCH No. 21.

The 78th meeting, held March 8th, at the rooms of the club, was called to order at 8 p. m. by President Mason. Fifteen members and two visitors were present. The minutes of the 77th meeting were read and approved. Bills for expressage on A. P. S. circuits, amounting to $1.10, were approved and ordered paid.

The nominations for directors of the American Philatelic Society made by Cleveland Branch, No. 30, were unanimously endorsed.

The usual prize drawings were held and a number of desirable stamps awarded as prizes. Mr. Henry Maetzel displayed a fine collection of Spanish stamps and also a part of his general collection of 19th Century stamps. The collection was particularly strong in the stamps of the German states, Portugal and Colonies and Uruguay and the display was thoroughly enjoyed.

Next meeting, March 22nd.

BUFFALO COLLECTORS' CLUB, BRANCH No. 37.

The third regular meeting was held February 17th at 550 Ellicott Sq. Mr. Edgar Nelson lectured on "Original Covers" and exhibited his collection of covers. Nine members and five visitors were present. The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, March 3rd.

WARREN C. TUDBURY, Sec.

BUFFALO COLLECTORS' CLUB, BRANCH No. 37.

The fourth regular meeting of the Buffalo Collectors' Club was held on Thursday evening, March 3rd at 550 Ellicott Square with seven members and four visitors present. President Griffith called the meeting to order at 8.30 p. m. Mr. E. D. Ingraham was elected a member of the club.

Mr. George B. Graham then presented the following resolution:
"Whereas, H. S. Adair, the present Secretary of the American Philatelic Society, has determined not to a candidate for re-election.

"Whereas, Charles R. Morris of Washington, D. C., has been mentioned as a possible candidate for that office, and "Whereas, said Charles R. Morris is well and favorably known to the members of the Buffalo Collectors' Club, Branch No. 37, through his writings and business dealings, be it,

"Resolved that it is the sense of the Buffalo Collectors' Club, No. 37, that he be endorsed for the office of Secretary of the American Philatelic Society."

Motion was made and seconded that the resolution be adopted and that a copy of it be sent to the editor of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS and another to Mr. Morris. A ballot was taken and the resolution as read was unanimously approved. Motion was also made and carried that another Auction Sale be held at the next meeting of the Branch and that Mr. Irving F. Buckminster act as auctioneer. Meeting adjourned at 11.30 p. m.

The next meeting will be held Thursday evening, March 17, at 550 Ellicott Sq.

The 34th regular meeting was held at 813 Old South Bldg., on Wed., Mar. 9, 1910; 7 members present. Meeting called to order at 8.45 p. m., Pres. E. F. Sawyer presiding. C. K. B. Nevin, Sales Supt., reported a good number of stamps and env. being sold and one circuit retired. Several communications read and acted upon, and one relative to the "official journal" was discussed and finally laid on the table till next meeting. Report of the loss of two members, No. 37 and No. 42, by death. The resignation of four members, Nos. 29, 33, 45, 61, by letter, was read and accepted with regrets. Mr. Fowle and C. H. Stone entertained the members present with their usual interesting remarks relative to "stamp collections" and "envelopes" that were bought by them "and others" for a song.

Meeting adjourned at 10.30 p. m.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

TWO POUNDS MISSIONARIES POST PAID FOR $1.00

A very good Mixture. A 2 pound lot contains between 12,000 and 14,000 stamps, average price about 7½c per 1000 stamps.

Mr. J. L. Howe, Lexington, Va., writes:  Mr. Chapin told me that having tried quite a number of firms for these Missionaries, he finds your Mixture by far the best.

We have a great many testimonials like this, and of course also have a few from unfortunate persons who claim they did not make a very great find. At any rate, these stamps are certainly cheap at the average price of 7½c per thousand, postpaid.

Send $1.00 and we will send you a two pound lot, guaranteed unpicked, just as imported. THE C. E. HUSSMAN STAMP COMPANY, 211 N. Garrison Ave., ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEWS

Geo. Wm. Unger.

THE AMERICAN SPECIALIST — CHARLES LATHROP PACK.

On the Executive Committee of National Conservation Association, Charles Lathrop Pack of Cleveland brings to this service the prestige of a career of many years standing, distinguished not only by the success in business and civic progress in Cleveland and elsewhere, but a technical knowledge of the Forestry branch of the subject.

He was almost the first business man in this country to appreciate the Forestry situation, and once realizing it, profoundly to investigate its science. A considerable study of the German Forestry System more than twenty-five years ago, and a prolonged sojourn in the Black Forests of South Germany gave Mr. Pack the nucleus of his information on the subject, and subsequent years of close observation have made him an expert and recognized authority.

Born in Michigan, part of his early boyhood was spent in the splendid forests of white pine, for which the State was famous. He attended school at St. Catharines, Ontario, and was the youngest member of the company of Boy Cadets called to help to defend the town and guard the Welland Canal at the time of the Fort Erie fight, when the Fenians crossed into Canada. Later in life his large acquaintance in Canada and with things Canadian caused him to extensively explore its Forest Resources.

In 1880-1883 he first investigated the great resources in pine timber of Louisiana and other Southern states, and early called attention to the small fire loss in forests of long leaf pine, when fire breaks over the forest floor. For this forestry information he was paid a liberal fee by the late Jay Gould—one of our earliest instances of the payment of money for professional forestry service.

Mr. Pack was for years a member of the first State Troop of Ohio. As President of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, as a factor in the Indianapolis Sound Money Movement, as a member of the White House Conference called by President Roosevelt, and later a member of the National Conservation Commission, Mr. Pack has shown his capacity for both work and leadership. Mr. Pack has been one of the leaders and staunchest supporters of the Conservation Movement from the first, and his personal and financial support has been keenly appreciated by all those interested in the work. Mr. Pack has written and spoken on various subjects relating to Forestry and Conservation. In January he addressed the National Civic Association at the Washington convention on the subject of "Forest Conservation and Taxation."

It was while at school in Canada that Mr. Pack started this famous collection of the stamps of Canada, New Zealand and Victoria. Quite fortunately he there made the acquaintance of a family, all interested in stamps, who had friends in Australia. Some of the stamps of his boyhood are now in his specialized collections made during the past twelve years along scientific lines. Mr. Pack's collection of Cape "wood blocks" is little known. It includes three copies of the blue error and five copies of the red error in shades, unused pairs of both the 1 penny red and the 4 pence blue and an unused copy of the very dark blue 4 pence.

Just as we go to press we learn that Mr. Pack was able to exhibit not only his early Victorias but also his Cape wood blocks just referred to. They have been remounted and take thirty pages of an Oriel album. There are just 187 copies.

The one penny blue error is the only copy known except one in the Tapling Collection. His four pence dark blue, unused, is the only copy known except the one in Mr. Duveen's collection.

SIX SUPERB WORTHINGTON ENTIERES.

It is indeed a great privilege for us to be able to present our readers with a glimpse of the six entieres shown in the above group. Could the history of each cover be written it would make an interesting story.

The great rarity is of course the pair of Mauritius one penny "Post office", probably the rarest cover in existence.

The Hawaiian cover is of exceeding interest and value, showing as it does the rate of postage from one of the small islands to Honolulu, thence to San Francisco and from there to the eastern states.

The Baltimore is a cover of great rarity, while the Alexandria has at a very recent date been duly exploited in our columns.

At least a passing word should be given the United States City Despatch Post. A large "2" will be noted, though rather indistinct, over-printed upon the stamp, the value expressed in the word "three" being barred out. It is said that this provisional was due to the fact that March 3, 1845, Congress changed the rate for drop letters from 3c to 2c and carriers were allowed to charge the same amount. No other copy of this local is known to exist.

The block of four Cape of Good Hope is of particular interest in that a cliché of the four pence is responsible for a very valuable error.

All of these entieres are of great value and deserving of careful study.

R. H. BEATTY.

R. H. Beatty, the secretary of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, collected stamps as a boy but gave up the pursuit in 1895. His present collection and interest in stamps dates from April, 1908. He joined the club the following month and immediately proceeded to take a most active interest in its affairs. The esteem in which he is held is shown by the fact that Mr. Beatty was chosen secretary and treasurer after only eight months' membership, and to this office he was recently re-elected.

Under his administration the club has shown a remarkable increase in membership, attendance and general interest. His collection of stamps has also gone ahead in a similar manner. He collects U. S. only and has already distanced many of the older U. S. specialists in Cleveland. He has the 10c and 24c August, 1861, the rarest lot of essays in Cleveland and many odd things. Mr. Beatty is a very ardent A. P. S. member and represents Cleveland on the recruiting committee.

THE STAMP MARKET.

By SENAX:

Dealers in current issues find it an advantage to have a correspondent on or near the spot, some reliable good fellow who is simply a gatherer of stamps for the purpose of exchanging them for others outside the sweep of his own net. As likely as not he will pick up many an out-of-the-way stamp and send it along where he possesses it in duplicate.

A hundred 4c Nicaragua, 1907, is a good item, luckily secured before the quotation was withdrawn, which it speedily was. 4c and 6c values of this neighborhood are usually good things to have.

New Zealand Officials above the 1d value are an interesting quest, though apt to be not too fruitful in results.

The 10c and 20c Peru, 1907, seem too dear to venture upon in any quantity as yet, and one has to be content with stray copies.

Philippines, 1906, with the exception of the 2c, 4c and 10c, should be worth getting and perhaps keeping.

The new issue for Portugal has led to a search among old correspondence for addresses of neglected exchange correspondents in that country, and one hopes some of them may prove to be still in evidence. Still, the cheaper sorts will put in an appearance in other quarters in due time.

A plan that usually pays is to fix upon some denomination of any new set that is likely to be scarce, and get correspondents to use that value in superabundance on all their letters, thus providing oneself with a supply of that particular stamp from the outset.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

NOT MEANT TO BE MEAN.

By FRANK BROWN.

The cataloguer of an auction sale is often forced to stressful effort in his search for descriptive terms of delicate suggestiveness. He frequently displays much ingenuity, and a bit of fine art, perhaps, in the choice of language that mildly censures but condemns not. He honestly and conscientiously tells us of minor imperfections in his wares, but he does it kindly and unobtrusively. He is considerate, and he aims to nourish and feed the ardor of our desire, rather than to dampen or chill it. And, therefore, in the bright lexicon of the auction cataloguer there is no such word as "damaged." It really is an unnecessary word to him, for he has invented a host of terms which cleverly point to grades of imperfection, modestly and with judicious emphasis, it is true, but nevertheless point to them.

It would be cruel, and also poor business, to rasp the artistic sensibilities of the particular collector with the plebeian word "damaged," when one can as well ease the harpoon into him with the well modulated substitute "infinitesimal defect." And why stampered prospective bidders with plain English when one has at command such soothing words as "small nick" and "has lost a speck" to lull them into stickin' around?

With the desire to have and to hold burning brightly within us, a "minute tear" is minute beyond cavil, a "trifling thin spot," the veriest of trifling trifles, a "gum crease," the mere suggestion of a crease, and the "gum crack" is no crack at all. Ah, the seductiveness of language! Wise men of the ages have confessed they were undone by it; why, then, should the present writer hesitate to record that he has been "done" by it? The siren song is sweet to appreciative ears, and there is an Achilles heel hidden somewhere in the physical or mental makeup of every son of Eve.

To get back on the main track: Isn't "scarcely visible cancellation" enticing? And is a "thin pen" cancellation to be sneezed at, even by him who snorts derisively at the plump, roly-poly kind? I near the end, dear reader; not of the cataloguer's hypnotic terms, but of this little diversion. But before we pass on, let us consider "imperceptible tear." It is honest and rings true. No carping critic can find fault with it, for given the right distance no doubt the tear would be imperceptible, and, enlarging on this hypothesis, at a greater distance the stamp itself would become so.

And by way of finale, we mention the tried and trusted saving clause, "but otherwise fine." It's the goods, so it is, and, outside of that and a few other things, the auction cataloguer is, too. More power to him.

A COLLECTION OF NOTE.

By W. WARD.

As promised I now give a few details of the Munn collection of U. S. to be shortly disposed of "your way." I approached Mr. William W. Munn, a well known collector in England, to get a parting sight of his American gems before they went the way of many another treasure. Of course Mr. Munn collects other countries besides U. S. Now he thinks he has been long enough, and dredged thoroughly, the philatelic knowledge to be gained from U. S. stamps outside the "Postmasters."

We all know that pretty little story told by Mr. Tiffany many, many years ago, about "Josh Billings" father, Mr. Henry Shaw, going into Postmaster Johnson's office on the 5th of August, 1847, and buying the first 5c and 10c stamps as soon as they were issued, or rather just as they were received from the printer's hands, before issue. One or two generations of philatelists have accepted that as being the birth certificate of those famous and beautiful P. O. stamps, and religiously has the date of issue been copied into albums, into articles, into books, as August 5th, 1847. All this will have to be altered, because Mr. Munn has in his collection an entire letter, as in those far off days envelopes were yet to come into general use. This letter was posted in New York on July 30th, 1847, and received in Liverpool on August 14th, 1847. Not only postmarks on the cover testify to this but the name of ship, date of sailing, and date of receipt are all there. And then the stamps might have been issued a few days earlier. The stamp used is the 5c Franklin—but of course no use for international postage—a post tax having to be paid on this side by the receiver—as the issue was only recognized in the States.

The great variety and range of different colors of the 5c as set out by Mr. Munn, makes one of the opinion that our catalogues should really be revised. The divers shades are not changelings as the duplicate used and unused copies prove. Then the 10c value. Some years ago Mr. Munn was told by a very eminent U. S. authority that the 10c on white paper did not properly exist. I have closely examined this white paper copy, and I must pass my verdict as it being O. K. Mr. Munn has shown me where another authority has stated that the 12c of 1851 does not happen with the engraver's name on the margin. But he has shown me a copy with this variety! Let it suffice for me to say that a full description of the collection under notice is beyond the limits of a weekly journal, much less a monthly, so that the few things that I shall describe, are what I have picked out at sight, as being of special interest.

Among the glorious set-out of 1851, is a very fine strip of three 12c cancelled not with red, blue, black or any other ink, but red paint. It was used from Mobile.

In a stamp collection bought twenty years ago there is hinged a lot of fine

Passing on of course we see not only the mustard plot, but patches of almost canary, of the most popular stamps to a U. S. specialist. Mr. Munn shows a 1c light blue imperforate, of the last type—though with large margins its owner doubts if it was issued in that state. Mr. Munn, who has never attempted to lay out huge sums, however he owns the fact that so few of the rarer Premier Gravures, and none of the inverted centers ever came his way—thus his collection has a better show than most of us. Few of the former and none of the latter. However everybody knows that they exist, whereas in other issues Mr. Munn shows things that are not generally known.

The war issue presents a fine appearance, especially that of the 24c value with its shades of delicate lilac, to heliotrope, to grayish lilac, gray, and steel.

From Mr. Munn's 30c values I was able to learn a few things about a little point I have been trying to solve for a long time.

The '67 issues are there in all their grills with many varieties of size, which the cancellation proves their legitimate issue. Mr. Munn tells of many an interesting story of this and the 1869 issues. How he got grills of the former and "no grills" of the latter at ordinary prices of well known dealers at the price of the commoner varieties.

Passing rapidly—the eccentric, or rather unskilled printings of the Government in 1894 catch my eye. The 1c value will be found a very pearl-blue almost touching the current 1c of Luxemburg, or at least the lavender sea of the 2c 1898 Xmas stamp of Canada.

A very curious variety of the $1.00 no watermark is shown with a long vertical clear white line up the right, 4 1/4 mm. in length—what one would term an American edition of the British "Hair-line."

A most interesting piece in the Munn collection is the P. O. official 6c embossed envelope bearing a 3c and half of a 6c adhesive stamp, to pay 12c postage. This was used from Niagara Falls, N. Y. Altogether I spent a very pleasant evening viewing the Munn collection.

EDITORIAL.

Cleveland, the Clean.—In the estimation of the philatelic public, Cleveland is one of the most classic of philatelic centers and this reputation is amply deserved. Its fame is not obtrusive but is of that quiet quality that arises from unmistakable strength and purity of purpose. Cleveland's prestige is secured by the presence within its precincts of some of the greatest collectors of the day and of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club; and it would be difficult to conceive of a combination that more fully satisfies philatelic ideals. As the knowledge of philatelic conditions in Cleveland grows more intimate, the assurance follows that it is one of the most creditable representatives that philately may claim. It is a center whose radiations warm the interest of collectors throughout the country towards it; and its collectors and its club are much in the minds of the philatelic public. Philatelists outside of Cleveland are always pleased to attend to any chronicles of philatelic Cleveland and if we are not sadly mistaken, they will heartily welcome this number of the WEEKLY that is devoted to Cleveland and its club.

* * *

The Start.—That Cleveland's philatelic standing is permanently established and is not a transitory creation may be known by the fact that twenty years ago, there were philatelists in Cleveland possessing collections of national celebrity and that the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club was formed in 1890. In the annals of the American Philatelic Society, we find that on July 1, 1890, this club was admitted to branch membership in the national organization, as it had fulfilled the necessary requirements for recognition by the national body. The following ten members of the American Philatelic Society stood sponsor for the new society: George J. Bailey, President; W. W. McLaren, Secretary; W. H. Schneider, Vice President; C. A.

Brebit, Treasurer; J. V. Painter; George H. Worthington, O. L. Hart, R. G. Dodge, Irwin A. Brown and C. N. Stockwell. This roster tells its own romance of philately and the names that are on the scroll of honor bear their own testimonials. The promise held out by them has been fuller in realization than expectation; and this is laudation indeed.

* * *

Proves Itself.—In 1890, it is seen, Cleveland attained a position in philately in a nationally public sense, never to be relinquished, but on the contrary, one that becomes the more eminent with the years; and the organizers of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club must be praised for building their temple of philately so solidly. The stamp club that has lived for twenty years necessarily has passed through vicissitudes that shake the majority of philatelic organizations into dissolution. The survival of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club proves that even during the lean periods that confronted the club in the past, the blight was counteracted by the inherent philatelic vitality of the city; while the local interest may have strained, it did not snap. The good accomplished by the club in its long career by practice and by precept is living with it and resolves itself into a certificate of merit. The pleasant philatelic tone struck as the keynote of the organization has done much to make it a popular and human force. The utility of the club has been proved; its moral influence has been manifest; and it has sought to do its work through a sense of conviction and not from self-seeking impulse, we believe.

* * *

Strength.—From the first, the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, happily named as honoring two of the great Ohioans, born or adopted, portrayed on postage stamps, attracted the co-operation of the strongest element in Cleveland and the charter roll names Mr. Painter and Mr. Worthington, not to mention others. Mr. Painter, now dead, is remembered by some of the readers as an admirable philatelist whose love for and faith in stamps were shown at every opportunity. Mr. Painter, one of the greatest collectors of his time, was instrumental in starting Mr. Worthington, so famous a philatelist today, on his glorious course as a master. These two names are sufficient to signalize the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club; and the knowledge that Mr. Painter was and Mr. Worthington is deeply regardful of the welfare of the club must be a pleasing reflection to the members. The Garfield-Perry Stamp Club has pursued its ideal so that it has almost overtaken it; and its well-spent youthhood now receives its reward in its present glorious endowment.

Great Doings.—To celebrate its twentieth anniversary, the club has invited collectors from sister cities to join in the festivities at Cleveland on March 19, 1910. The members of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club wish to share their satisfaction with friendly collectors and so invitations to attend the exercises have gone forth to neighboring cities. There will be a good number of visitors present to partake of the hospitality of the club but personal par-

Particulars are not available at this time. Suffice it to say that from the information now at hand the entertainment is of a more pretentious character than anticipated and that it has been so well planned that there is small likelihood of any obstacle presenting itself to mar a week-end of philatelic pleasure. The preparations that have been made by Cleveland for the comfort of its guests are on a scale that well reflects the unselfish sentiments of the members of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club.

* * *

A Treat.—The privilege of inspecting the collection of George H. Worthington will be one that will be eagerly embraced. It is safe to say that much of Cleveland's philatelic prestige is due to the fact that it is the home of Mr. Worthington's stamps. Needless to add, Mr. Worthington is one of the really great stamp collectors of the day, and throughout the world, he is regarded perhaps as America's premier philatelist. That his wonderful collection will be a revelation to those who examine it is a certainty; and the occasion that allows of the leisurely examination of even a part of it will remain a memorable one. It is gratifying that the owner of so remarkable a collection is not so exclusive in a philatelic sense as to lose touch of the everyday conditions of philately; and it is to Cleveland's renown that such is the case.

* * *

A Wish.—May Cleveland continue on its philatelic course, conserving its rich traditions and adding to its laurels by acts so unselfishly undertaken and so successfully accomplished as to have a beneficial influence on all philately.

ENGLISH LETTER.

By W. WARD.

British Variety.—Real O. K. errors on the stamps of Great Britain are few and far between, and when they do occur are of great interest. I have in my possession at the time of writing a semi-albino, or half-printed copy of the current 1/2p King's Head. It is from the extreme top right hand corner of the sheet with margins two sides—but only the lower portion is printed—the top half being quite blank. The stamp or sheet has not been turned over at all—for there is no suspicion of a crease. It was purchased not far from where I live in the north of England. Such an error of course would have condemned the sheet to be destroyed had it been noticed. I might add that such a misprint is much scarcer in every way than the so-called "double prints" of the English stamps. These are really "pull-offs" caused by the sheet of stamps flapping back on the inked plate.

New China Issue.—This set promised and spoken of not long ago, should shortly make its appearance. "The Emperor of China has just approved the regulations submitted for the providing of a new issue," reads the news report. When one remembers that the Emperor of China is not yet four years of age—one is interested to know the exclamations the Emperor made when he was shown the essays for the issue.

Anyway I hear from a good Eastern source that the new issue for China will commemorate one great postal event—that of the closing of all the foreign post offices in China with the exception of about four belonging to Hong Kong. The matter has been settled by the U. P. U. authorities, otherwise one would think that the "kick-out" would cause the envy of France, Japan and Germany—not to mention United States, Russia and Portugal, by allowing Great Britain to have a single office.

Machine Perfs. have at last caught on in Europe. Of course the U. S. imperfs. have been extremely popular—that solid popularity that is unanimous, as against the divided opinion in regard to Caymans or Levants. On the other hand the machine issued stamps were looked at askance—probably because they were not fully understood. An article on these in a well-known English paper by a well known American philatelist has created much enthusiasm for them.

HENRY CLARK CROWELL.

Upon the first page of our cover is a picture of Henry Clark Crowell, the president of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Crowell is thirty-five years of age and is well and favorably known by many of our subscribers through his former activity as a dealer.

Mr. Crowell has collected since 1887 and since retiring as a dealer has specialized in match and medicine stamps. He studied law and practised for several years, but gave it up to enter commercial lines. He is an active member of the A. P. S.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Great Britain.—Embossed Adhesive Stamps, by Fred J. Melville, being No. 1 of the second series of the Melville Stamp Books, 47 Strand, London, Eng. This little book is devoted to but three stamps, 1847 1sh green, 1848 10p red brown and 1854 6p dull lilac. Shades of all three stamps are listed, the 6d being most prolific, showing violet, lilac, mauve and purple. In this latter value can be found sufficient color study to satisfy the most fastidious. The publication is identical in form and makeup with the books of the first set. A number of full page illustrations are shown, including pictures of William Wyon, John Dickinson and Ormond Hill. There is also an illustration of a complete post office sheet of the 10 pence. Price 12c.

Gold Coast, by B. W. H. Poole, published by D. Field, 4-5 Royal Arcade, London, Eng., price 12c. A popular hand book consisting of matter reprinted from the West End Philatelist but including important revisions. Each issue is written up in such a manner as to make the book popular with both advanced and ordinary collectors.

EXTRA CHARGE FOR COILED STAMPS.

WASHINGTON, March '22. The Post-office department will hereafter charge a nominal sum in addition to the face value for coiled stamps used in stamp vending machines, to cover the cost of coiling.

The demand for such stamps has become so heavy that the expense of coiling has grown into a considerable item.

The additional cost will be 6 cents for coils containing 500 stamps, and 11 cents for coils containing 1,000.

THE ARGENTINE EXHIBITION.

"The Argentine Government gives $5000 towards the expenses of the Stamp Exhibition." This good news is quite authentic; the Government has made a grant as above towards the expenses of the Centennial Stamp Exhibition, and it will be an undoubted success. This grant is equal to about £435.

In addition to this useful grant, I am able to state that a new and very fine central Post Office is about to be built in Buenos Ayres, and the postal authorities intend to form an Official Collection, and vote several thousand dollars a year to keep it up.—CHAS. J. PHILLIPS in Gibbons Weekly.

ABOUT U. S. REVENUES.

By JOHN W. PREVOST.

Our subscribers are invited to send in any items of interest in connection with U. S. revenue stamps of any kind. Specimens submitted for consideration will be gladly examined but should be accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope. Address, Mr. Prevost, 963 Sumner Ave., Springfield, Mass.

All general U. S. Revenue collectors are, of course, expecting to see the deluge of new stamps which must come into use when the new internal revenue laws, passed by Congress in 1909, go into effect July 1st, 1910.

In view of the fact that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will have nearly a year in which to prepare for this issue, there should be few, if any provisionals issued. If there are any surcharges at all, it seems to the writer that economy can be the only excuse. It would be done because an abnormally large stock of some issue was on hand, so large that the department would not feel like destroying it and would resort to surcharging to save it. This is all guess work, however, and we will not know till next July.

According to the Payne Tariff Law, Section 3362, "All smoking tobacco, snuff, fine cut, chewing tobacco, etc., etc., shall be put up in packages of the following description and in no other manner.

"Packages containing one-half ounce, three-fourths of an ounce, and further packages with a difference between each package and the one next smaller of one-fourth of an ounce up to and including four ounces, and packages of six ounces, seven ounces, eight ounces, ten ounces, twelve ounces, fourteen ounces, and sixteen ounces."

Section 3368 says: "Upon tobacco and snuff manufactured and sold there shall be levied a tax of eight cents per pound."

This is an increase of 33 1/3% above the old rate, which was six cents, and consequently an entire new issue of

IMPORTANT!

We have prepared a few sets of Filled Approval Books which are of the greatest value to all first class dealers. The books are highly attractive and contain about 160 stamps each, with blank space to insert your name and address. There are from 6 to 8 books in each lot ranging in value up to $7.00 or $8.00 for a single book and often more. They comprise a large variety. Each lot catalogues over $26.00.

PRICE $4.00.

No book contains duplicates. Not over 5 of the same stamp in one set of books. All stamps priced according to 1909 catalogue.

You can give 50%, 60% or even 75% and still double your money.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42 St., N. Y.
For the next two weeks we will give you three of these lots for $10.00. You may remit $4.00 for one lot and we will hold the two other lots until you remit $6.00, provided inside of 30 days. One lot for $4.00 with the privilege of two more lots at $3.00. This is a Cinch.

stamps is necessary. From Section 3392 is taken the following: "All cigars weighing more than 3 lbs. per thousand shall be packed in boxes, not before used for that purpose, containing respectively, five, ten, twelve, thirteen, twenty-five, fifty, one hundred, two hundred, two hundred and fifty and five hundred cigars each."

From the same section, the following: "Every manufacturer of cigarettes shall put up all the cigarettes that he manufactures, or has manufactured for him, in packages or parcels containing five, eight, ten, fifteen, twenty, fifty or one hundred cigarettes each."

The tax, also taken from this section, is as follows:

On cigars weighing more than three pounds per thousand, $3.00 per thousand.

On cigars weighing not more than three pounds per thousand, seventy-five cents per thousand.

On cigarettes weighing more than three pounds per thousand, $3.60 per thousand.

On cigarettes weighing not more than three pounds per thousand, $1.25 per thousand.

Collectors who are at all familiar with the current internal revenue stamps will readily understand, by reading these extracts that, what with new rates and new denominations provided by the Payne tariff, there should be "something doing" in U. S. Revenues next fall.

The editor has not yet had time to go through the new tariff, with care, but so far he has been unable to find any change in the rate of tax levied on fermented liquors (in ordinary English "Beer"). Therefore imagine his surprise, the other day, while walking in the Springfield streets to see a wagon load of 1/4 bbls. of beer with a new stamp on each keg.

On writing of this to a revenue enthusiast in Connecticut, who has exceptional facilities for securing these "hard to get" items, he was informed that the 1/4 bbl. and 1/2 bbl. stamps were in use in Connecticut and a day or two later, the mails brought a specimen of the 1/2 bbl.

This stamp is a radical departure from the long established custom of the Internal Revenue Department. Since 1871 all beer stamps have been printed in two colors, i. e. the medallion in black and the frame in color, on either white or colored paper. The new stamp is printed entirely in black on the regular light blue paper with U. S. I. R. watermark. The size 2 3/4 inches by 2 3/4 inches remains the same. In the center in place of the medallion head, which has adorned the stamps for so long, is an irregular five lobed ornament with engine turned background in center of which is the fraction 1/2. Above the center ornament are the words "Half Barrel," below "Fifty Cents," and beneath the words "Fifty Cents" in very small letters "Series of 1909." Around center is a frame with circular top and a scroll across bottom. From frame to outer line is filled with engine turned design. In upper left corner the word "Beer," upper right corner "Stamp." At bottom at each side in ovals the fraction "1/2." Between ovals are the words "U. S. Internal Revenue."

Altogether the effect is pleasing. Nevertheless it is a cheapening of the process of production and compares poorly with the issue it supercedes, and should be much easier to counterfeit than the old design printed in two colors.

It seems strange that the Department should have done this, as it has heretofore used every precaution against counterfeiting, even going to the trouble and expense of having the beer stamps printed in two different cities. For instance in the series of 1871 beer stamps, the frame was printed by the Continental Bank Note Co. and the medallion by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Items have appeared in several newspapers and have been copied in one or two stamp papers, anent a proposed change in the form of the cigar stamps for the new issue. It is proposed that the values from twelve to two hundred, instead of being in ribbon form as at present, be in the form of an oval seal, and are to be pasted down on the nail that holds the cover in place.

That indefatigable digger, J. Delano Bartlett, has just unearthed three new tin foils, series of 1902. They are Allen & Dunning Co.'s "Home Rule" and "Magnolia" and Warwick Brown & Co.'s "Premium."

The "Home Rule" is dated Jan. 2, 1904, and up to the present time has escaped discovery.

The editor hopes in his next notes to tell of another find which to him is very interesting, but of which he is not at liberty to write now.

NOTE. Revenue collectors and especially members of the U. S. R. S. are requested to submit to the editor anything new, odd, or interesting, about U. S. Revenues, that the same may be brought before the wide circle of the WEEKLY readers. Proper credit will be given and specimens submitted will be promptly returned.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Wm. G. Nightingale sends us a photograph of a cover bearing a hitherto uncatalogued local stamp. The original cover was sent by Wasson & Jacobs of 141 Pearl Street, New York City, to George C. Nightingale, Esq., Providence, R. I., and contained a circular date March 15, 1849. There is no regular postage stamp on the cover as photographed, though a pencilled address shows that some difficulty was experienced in finding Mr. Nightingale. The local stamp, which appears to have been added in Providence, is placed near the left upper corner, but it is not cancelled. The stamp is type set, 8x15 mm., the border being very much like Mason's New Orleans City Express stamp, though with slightly different corner pieces. The inscription reads "Providence—Despatch," in two lines of plain Roman type of small size, the stamp being printed in black on white paper.

Herman W. Boers sends us a part of a cover having five copies of the current 6c stamp, precancelled "Racine, Wis.," in two lines reading down, with a heavy line between. In addition, the cover bears a two cent stamp which has been cancelled with the regular package cancellation, which laps over on to the precancelled stamps.

Oscar T. Olson reports having 1092 3c, precancelled "Boston, Mass.," inverted.

After April 1 we shall omit any further chronicling of pre-cancelled stamps, this being due to the lack of interest taken in them. Then again, we find that correspondents very frequently send in news items containing matter used months previous. We shall be glad to use an occasional article giving data of value to specialists in these stamps and believe that this will be the very BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—Champion's Bulletin notes the issue of three high value stamps in the current design.

Adhesives.

2sh violet on blue.
2sh 6d red on blue.
5sh blue on yellow.

CHINA.—Champion's Bulletin chronicles an officially sealed stamp, which is quite an ambitious design, with the usual array of dragons, etc. The inscriptions read "Chinese Imperial Post," above and "Officially Sealed" below, with Chinese inscriptions in the centre. No value is expressed of course, the color of the printing being yellow green on white.

CUBA.—The new stamps, chronicled in No. 998 were accompanied by a complete set of telegraph stamps, seven in number. They are all two-color stamps, and bear the portraits of Cuban worthies, including Bernabe Boza, Jose Lacret, Flor Clombret, Andres Moreno sw de la Torre, Oscar Primelles, J. M. Aguirre and Narcisco Lopez.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Champion's Bulletin reports that the 4c Postage Due stamp has at last been issued on watermarked paper.

GABON.—Lemaire's Journal says that the words "Congo Francais" which appear on the new stamps noted in No. 1001, will be shortly replaced by the general term "Afrique Equatoriale Francaise," under which head will be grouped all the French Colonies in that part of Africa, similar to "l'Afrique Occidentale" on the West Coast. A uniform series of stamps will be issued, with the names of the different Colonies inserted.

ITALY.—Offices in Tripoli.—Lemaire's Journal reports the two Express Letter stamps have also been overprinted for use in Tripoli. The same paper notes that the surcharge has been seen on the regular 15c stamp in violet, all the others being in black.

NEW HEBRIDES.—Some interesting statistics of the latest consignments of Fiji stamps surcharged "New Hebrides Condominium" are given by Ewen's Weekly, from which it appears that a third supply despatched May 10, 1909, contained the following quantities and values:—1/2d, 7,200 (including 1,920 with the single watermark); 2d, 7,200 (second shade); 5d, 7,200 (second shade); 6d, 7,200 (second shade); 1s, 7,200 (multiple watermark); while the fourth consignment on August 27, 1909, was composed of 12,000 each of the 1d and 2d, and 6,000 of the 6d and 1s values. In the face of the information given in a recent issue, it would appear that a fifth supply has been prepared. The same journal prints the following extract from a letter written by the Resident Commissioner under date of November 10, 1909: "It is intended to replace the present provisional issue by a permanent one of joint Anglo-French design, which is at NORWAY.—Gibbons Weekly gives a description of a change in the current 1k stamp, with portrait of King Haakon; which is now being printed from a plate prepared from the new die already used for the 2k.

Supplementing the information there given it may be well to note the following principal points of difference between the two dies:

Die I.—Design measures 20x15 1/2 mm. There are eight lines of shading across the forehead. There is a single line of shading on the button. Pillars supporting arch have 3 lines of shading on the left and two on the right-hand side.

Die II.—Design measures 21 1/2 x 17 mm. There are ten lines of shading across the forehead. There are two lines of shading on the button. Pillars have only two lines of shading both on the right-hand side.

SALVADOR.—A second value of the new set has been shown us by the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co., the design and portrait being the same as the 1c value previously noted.

Adhesive.
5c purple and black.

SIAM.—Gibbons Weekly gives the following as the quantities of stamps surcharged with the new satang values:

2 satang on 1 att, yellow and green,	1,056,426
2 satang on 2 atts, green,	1,000,000
6 satang on 4 atts, rose and carmine,	557,761
6 satang on 5 atts, rose and carmine,	28,581
12 satang on 8 atts, olive and dull black,	919,197
14 satang on 9 atts, blue,	941,467
6 satang on 6 atts, carmine, profile,	160,752

All the above except the last were of the King's Head and Pagoda type, the last being the profile issue of 1904.

ST. VINCENT.—Ewen's Weekly says the 2 1/2d stamp was also printed without the period, and therefore should be added to the list given in No. 996.

FOREIGN POSTAL HUMOR.

A New Zealand postmaster, rendered sarcastic by his official worries, posted up the following notice:

"All postmasters are expert linguists, the addresses may be written in Chinese or Hebrew. Persons are not compelled to lick their own postage stamps and envelopes; the postmaster will do this for them. . . . When watches are sent through the post, the sender should put a notice on the outside; the postmaster will then wind them up and keep them in going order."

A member of the public, complaining that articles sent by him in parcels to Persia got lost, wrote: "The parcel post service was evidently established in Persia with the object of providing the officials of that country with food and clothing. The only articles which appear to reach their destination are the publications of the Religious Tract Society."—Westminster Gazette.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Our cover design was drawn by Geo. Wm. Unger, Columbus, Indiana, in our contest inaugurated two months ago. It is an exceedingly clever piece of work and will no doubt be appreciated. The portraits of Garfield and Perry make an appropriate ornamentation to the cover of a special number such as this.

—The world's grand total of new emissions for last year was 766, or, taking them in continents, 145 for Europe, 109 for Asia, 203 Africa, 265 America and 44 Oceania. The total for 1909 fell 50 short of that for 1908.

—M. A. Lesser sends us a clipping from the N. Y. Staatszeitung as follows: "At the Hotel Drouot in Paris one of the finest stamp collections in the world was sold under the hammer recently. It was the property of M. Schwabe, and the items sold amounted to about $19,300 in the aggregate."

—Clippings acknowledged with thanks from the Oxford Stamp Co., Herman W. Boers, Carl B. Stickley (2), A. A. Kelson, C. W. Gustafson, Max A. Lesser (4), L. F. Gow, Geo. C. Smith and Thos. F. Fletcher.

—Capt. A. P. S. Hyde has called our attention to an error in the item in regard to the new watermark for the Philippine Islands stamps. It was stated that the new watermark was to take the place of U. S. P. S. "now in use." What was meant to be said was that it was to be smaller sized with a single line letter reading P. I. P. S. instead of a large double line letter as in the past.

U. S. DESIGNS.

To return to the present day, the exception to the general decadence of designs is, of course, to be found in the stamps of the United States. A few modern issues, such as Barbados, Sudan, Liberia, are beautifully executed; but for a general level of artistic care, none can approach the American. For what reason? In the European and Colonial issues you are tempted to suppose that the gradual transition from extreme care in workmanship to ugly utility, is due to some reflected recognition of the hurry and press of modern life and the needlessness of devoting time to the designing of what is only a mixture of passport and receipt. You perhaps expect the keen business head of the American to carry himself along on similar lines, resulting in the production of equally ugly stamps. Perhaps this care in the production of American stamps is due to an effort to increase the revenue of the country. That will hardly do. More probably the answer is to be found in the fact that a busy nation, like a busy man, has more time than the idle to devote to apparent unimportant details. Doubtless the whole business of designing postage stamps cannot be called important; but the progress of designing is not without interest as a bypath in the study of national character.—Ferris Chilcott in Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 7.30 P. M.

Boston, Mass., Mar. 15, 1910.

The 222nd (regular) meeting of the society was called to order at the new Club Room, 322 Tremont Building, at 8.20 this evening. Previous to the business meeting the members gathered in the Assembly Room for a flashlight photograph. The attendance was 46, and as most of those present will be found in the picture, it will make an excellent souvenir of the first meeting in our new quarters, and what we hope will be the beginning of enhanced prosperity for the society.

Pres. Wylie took the chair for the business meeting, and the records of the last regular and the Governing Board meetings were read. Mr. Nevin presented the following:

Library Report for March, 1910.

By donation: 31 copies of magazines to fill out volumes, from Mr. W. C. Emery, Springfield Stamp Club; Drew's 212th Sale from A. P. Brown; Morgenthau's 25th Sale; Scott Stamp and Coin Co.'s 166th Sale; 42 unpriced auction catalogs and 58 copies of magazines from New England Stamp Co.

And the current numbers of the following magazines, generously contributed by the publishers:—Gibbons' Weekly, Mekeel's Weekly, Stamp Journal, Berliner Briefmarken-Zeitung, Collectors' Journal, Carter's Messenger, Postage Stamp, Redfield's Weekly, Attleboro Philatelist, and Philatelic Journal of Great Britain.

Respectfully submitted,
 CHARLES K. B. NEVIN,
 C. A. HOWES.

Mr. Risdon reported orally for the House Committee that the moving of the Club Room had been successfully accomplished, and for the rest the members must judge of the change by inspection.

The resignation of Nos. 273 and 415 were read and accepted. The Secretary stated that one member who had just resigned wished to withdraw the resignation, but he had no written request at hand. It was voted to reconsider the acceptance of the resignation and lay the matter on the table. The following applications were posted:

Joseph M. Livermore.
 Frank M. Mason.
 Theodore W. Barry.
 The following were elected to membership:

No. 517. Edwin B. Hill.
 No. 518. Stephen G. Rich.
 No. 519. B. W. Allen.
 No. 520. John Alden.
 No. 521. Frederic W. Stiles.
 No. 522. Edward Gowing.

It was voted that a framed copy of the photograph taken be presented to the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club at their 25th Anniversary celebration. It was voted to name Messrs. A. W. Batchelder and E. M. Carpenter as our delegates to represent the society at the aforesaid celebration and present the felicitations of this society with the photograph.

The International Secretary urged that our members interest themselves in the International Philatelic Exhibition at Berne next September, and send some exhibits, particularly as this society has been named on the Committee of Honor. It was voted to donate a silver medal to the exhibition.

Mr. Rothfuchs declined to serve as a Press Committee, and the nomination of a successor was left to the Governing Board.

The competitive exhibition brought out four collections, two of Norway and two of Netherlands. The winners claimed one of each, Mr. J. B. B. Smith taking the box of cigars offered on Netherlands and Mr. C. A. Howes the box of Huyler's candy on Norway.

Mr. Carpenter's exhibit of 20th Century stamps was greatly admired, as it is quite complete and all unused. The multitude of new issues brought forth in the past decade make a very attractive display.

The business meeting adjourned at 9 p. m.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

The Governing Board has made arrangements for a special auction at the next meeting, April 19th. At least 50 lots are desired, each to be of not less than $1 catalog. The only object is to hold a good sale and furnish an additional attraction at this meeting. Members are asked to put in some good lots, and all are urged to come and bid liberally. The society used to have some fine sales; let's have another! A list of lots will be published with the call for meeting. Look up your duplicates! The Committee is Messrs. J. B. B. Smith, Chmn., J. A PHILATELIST HONORED.

We are indebted to Mr. Wilmot Corfield for the information, which we have great pleasure in communicating to our readers, that Mr. Stewart-Wilson, the Director-General of the Post Office of India, has been appointed a member of the Viceroy's Council. We have known Mr. Stewart-Wilson as President of the Council of the Philatelic Society of India, as Postmaster-General of the Punjab, and more recently as Head of the Post Office Department of the Indian Empire, in all of which capacities we are assured that his services to the Post Office have been no less conspicuous than his services to philately. From the philatelic point of view he is a model of what a high official of his Department should be, ever ready to simplify the task of collectors (and, it may be said, at the same time that of his own officers) by discouraging in every way the issue of unnecessary varieties of stamps and of the overprints impressed upon them. No one has done more towards spreading the advantages of a regular postal system throughout India, by substituting Imperial Post Offices for those of the Native States, the list of States using special postage stamps having been reduced to a very large extent during recent years, to the great advantage both of the inhabitants of the States and of the collectors of the stamps.—Gibbons Weekly.

BOARD OF VICE PRESIDENTS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Mar. 1, 1910.
To the Officers and Members of the American Philatelic Society:

As a report of its work during the second quarter of the society's fiscal year, your Board of Vice-Presidents submits these statements:

It is pleasing to note that in the period covered by this report no objection has been received to the admission of any applicant for membership. On the other hand it is a fact to be deplored that serious charges have been lodged against several members, in addition to many complaints of a trivial nature, which later might have been adjusted in a friendly spirit, without reference to this Board.

A greater regard for the rights of others, a more wholesome respect for the primary laws of business, which underlie every stamp transaction, and a more noticeable display of a give and take spirit would promote the feeling of good fellowship, which should exist between all members, and increase the prestige of the society in consequence of such feeling, creating, as it will, an atmosphere of healthful ambition and co-operation.

In short, basing its conclusion upon the deluge of trifling matters, which have been referred to it, your Board would respectfully suggest that in those unfortunate differences of opinion, which must sometimes arise, that the interested parties use every effort to reach

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

TWO POUNDS MISSIONARIES POST PAID FOR $1.00

A very good Mixture. A 2 pound lot contains between 12,000 and 14,000 stamps, average price about 7½¢ per 1000 stamps.

Mr. J. L. Howe, Lexington, Va., writes:  Mr. Chapin told me that having tried quite a number of firms for these Missionaries, he finds your Mixture by far the best.

We have a great many testimonials like this, and of course also have a few from unfortunate persons who claim they did not make a very great find. At any rate, these stamps are certainly cheap at the average price of 7½¢ per thousand, postpaid.

Send $1.00 and we will send you a two pound lot, guaranteed unpicked, just as imported.

A. KRASSA,

71-73 Nassau St., NEW YORK, N. Y.

Cleveland was remarkably slow in taking its rightful place in the philatelic world, and, in fact, was really never heard of until the night of March 17, 1890, when several ardent collectors met and formed the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club. True, in earlier years, at very occasional intervals, a philatelic paper would suddenly appear bearing Cleveland as its birthplace only to disappear again just as suddenly. Also, in 1887 or 1888 Mr. O. S. Hart (now of Akron, O.) endeavored to mobilize the few known collectors scattered through the city into an organized body but, after making several attempts with but little success, gave it up as a bad job. Hence I feel justified in asserting, insofar as philately is concerned, that Cleveland's history properly dates from March 17th, 1890.

While, as a club, we were almost unheard of until recently, we can point to an unbroken record these twenty years. Never has a regularly scheduled meeting been omitted. This is true not only when prosperity was smiling upon us but when depressing times and lack of interest prevailed. Always were there enough of the faithful from which to gather the required quorum.

Never, as a club, have we brought out works of research and study, similar to those of the Boston and old New York societies, to which we might point with pride at this time. On the other hand, however, special exhibits held for the special edification of the members, both in number and quality, has hardly been excelled by any local organization in the United States. For this feature, we are of course largely indebted to our honorary members, Mr. Worthington and Mr. Pack, not to mention the late J. V. Painter. However, many of the rank and file have made specialized exhibits that have really been surprisingly complete and out of the ordinary for practically unknown collections. It is not my intention here to itemize these exhibits, but mention should be made of that held in November 1907, at which Mr. Chas. L. Pack showed his collection of Canada and British North America, which was awarded the gold medal at the London exhibition earlier in the year, for the reason that this particular evening inaugurated the present prosperous condition of the club. No less than fifty-eight members and friends being present on this occasion, Mr. Pack among the number.

The club has had lean years, several of them, but always has it come back just a little stronger than before until now, as we round our second decade, we can point to a membership lacking but a few of one hundred, an average attendance approximating thirty and an amount of enthusiasm that augers well for the future.

W. H. BARNUM.

By H. C. CROWELL.

W. H. Barnum, the subject of this sketch, was born in Cleveland in 1878, began collecting in 1890, and joined the A. P. S. in 1894, his number being 585. He was Secretary of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club for six years, and President of the same club in 1902. In 1895-6, when the Philatelic Sons of America was a most thriving and lively organization by our national society, and for this reason the Cleveland Branch felt itself called upon to offer him the nomination for Secretary of the American Philatelic Society.

Mr. Barnum has always taken a keen interest in the internal affairs of the society, and without doubt is as intimate with the customary procedure taken organization with over one thousand members. Mr. Barnum most ably filled the office of Secretary for sixteen months. Since he joined the A. P. S. he has attended nine conventions. During 1909 he secured nineteen new members for the society, which was the largest number secured by any member aside from the Chairman of the Recruiting Committee, and the Secretary of the organization. Such a record as this should be deserving of some recognition with the business routine of the society as any one member who has never served on the official board, and for this reason there would be no delay while he was familiarizing himself with the duties of the office.

Of a modest retiring nature, genial disposition, he is greatly esteemed by all who know him. He is not an office seeker in the slightest degree, and the thanks of the A. P. S. are due to the Cleveland Branch in prevailing upon Mr.

Barnum to accept the nomination of Secretary, as for a man of his business standing it means considerable sacrifice, but the members may be assured that if elected the office will be conducted able and energetically.

Mr. Barnum is prominently connected with the wholesale paper business in this city.

TO AMERICAN PHILATELISTS!

The following circular letter has come to hand from the Philatelic Society of Sweden:

STOCKHOLM, March, 1910.

A lot of imperforate Swedish postage stamps of the 5 and 20 öre values of the current issue, have recently appeared here and have been offered for sale. For this reason, the Philatelic Society of Sweden appointed a special Investigation Committee in order to establish the true status of these stamps.

From this investigation it was found that the stamps referred to were either valueless printers' waste, or else had been circulated without the authority of the Post Department, and, according to a statement issued by the latter, they will not be accepted for the payment of postage. On strength of this, we herewith issue a warning against these stamps, and trust that all philatelists will assist us in preventing high prices being paid for something that has no corresponding value.

The Investigation Committee of the Philatelic Society of Sweden, per L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT, the society's American representative.

Clarence V. Webb, Perry, Ohio supply a shortage caused by the non-arrival of this April requisition.

He had the plates used by Kalakaua taken apart and set for 2 cent stamps, although Irwin had stated no more would ever be printed. A lot of 1c stamps were printed at the same time after necessary changes in the clichés were made. The non-arrival of the April requisition forced Brickwood to resort to the plates again to supply 5c stamps, for the ones ordered by Kalakaua had become exhausted. This was the error "Interisland." The printer forgot to take out the words "Interisland" which had been placed there when the 2c and 1c stamps were printed.

Major Evans says it is difficult to account for these orders of numerals, if Brickwood had received a stock of 5c stamps from Boston. There has been no claim made that Brickwood received the Kalakaua stamps prior to these orders being placed, but when he did receive the stamps ordered by Kalakaua through Whitney, soon after he complained about the cost of carriage as the plates came with them and that he defaced the plates at the time.

The whole question is boiled down by Major Evans as to the time when this happened and whether Brickwood ever ordered any stamps from these plates.

He would have had to order them at this period for the stamps came with the plates, or he would have had to send the plates back to Boston to have reprints or reissues made.

We have the evidence of William M. Giffard, his son-in-law, that Brickwood had told him he never at any time ordered any stamps from these plates.

Giffard said if Brickwood had ordered any of these stamps the records would show, but as stated in his book they were regularly ordered prior to Brickwood's time, and he so classed them in his book. He mentions that when the plates were destroyed, the 5c and 13c original issue (see page 9) were laid away and a year or two later overprinted "specimen." He also refers to two original orders for 13c stamps. When comparing the color with the reprints see page 9, and he lists them on page 4 as

13c dark red.

That Whitney had to do with the order—that Brickwood had to pay for them, and that they were sold through the postoffice at face value both before and after being overprinted, are recognized facts; that they were not on sale during 1866 and 1867 is accounted for by a statement made in 1872 that they probably were laid away in bulk, and a statement made in 1893 coming direct from the Postmaster that they were laid away for several years.

Mr. Wm. G. Irwin made the statement referred to by Major Evans in the presence of three other persons beside myself.

At the banquet the speakers were Daniel Squire, Geo. H. Worthington, H. S. Adair, W. H. Barnum, C. E. Severn, A. W. Batchelder, E. M. Carpenter, Jos. S. Rich, A. C. Fernald, Henry Ades Fowler and P. M. Wolsieffer. Henry C. Crowell, president of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, was toastmaster and Alvin Good read regrets from prominent philatelists throughout the country who were unable to attend. Mr. Squire, one of the greatest attorneys in the nation, made an admirable address in which he admitted that while he knew little of philately, it was evident that it was a study worth while to attract and hold the interest of brainy men.

Mr. Worthington as he rose to his feet was greeted with long-continued applause which had its climax in hearty cheers for the great philatelic benefactor. Mr. Worthington pointed his interesting recital in which he paid a warm tribute to the reliability of our dealers with a story which was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Adair, secretary of the A. P. S., delivered a glowing appreciation of W. H. Barnum, a candidate for secretary of the national society and Mr. Barnum, who was tumultuously received, responded most wittingly to the expression of sentiment. Mr. Severn spoke of the evidences of permanence of philately afforded by the presence at the table of three of the ten founders of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club twenty years ago in the persons of Messrs. Worthington, Schneider and Hart; and also of the prestige gained by Cleveland as the home of the Worthington collection.

Mr. Batchelder was an able spokesman of the Boston Philatelic Society and extended greetings from that body. Mr. Carpenter then presented to the Cleveland club a handsome framed photograph of the members of the Boston Philatelic Society in session at their last meeting. In ringing words Mr.

Fernald told of the welcome that awaited the delegates to the A. P. S. convention at Detroit.

Mr. Fowler revealed a bit of inside history of the A. P. S. that claimed the attention of his hearers and Mr. Rich scored in remarks full of depth and not lacking in humor. In a characteristic speech, Mr. Wolsieffer struck a responsive chord and was cheered to the echo.

After the regular exercises of the evening the members and guests mingled informally. Mr. Worthington was kept busy autographing names and not a few raised their voices in glad song with the assistance of the orchestra.

At midnight, the banqueters departed elated over the triumph in which each one shared. The philatelic fullness of that Cleveland day and night has never been paralleled.

EDITORIAL.

Glad Surprise—Those who were guests at the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club's twentieth anniversary celebration at Cleveland recently realize more deeply the fullness of the hospitality and entertainment provided during the eventful days, now that a short space of time has intervened for serious reflection. The collectors who went to Cleveland with sanguine expectations certainly did not compass in anticipation the extent and the warmth of the favors showered upon all; and they are still extolling the glories of the ideal occasion. The Cleveland men planned a surprise that was carried out to perfection and they have established themselves in the affections of all who partook of their bounty. That the anniversary proved to be the philatelic event of the season is cheerfully testified to by those present who by experience are well able to discriminate. Observers such as Jos. S. Rich of New York; A. W. Batchelder of Boston and P. M. Wolsieffer of Chicago, say without reservation that the importance of the event cannot be emphasized too strongly. Cleveland may know that its efforts were appreciated in all their details.

Many Present—The immediate effect of Cleveland's philatelic festival was the creation of a fine philatelic sentiment while its many suggestions will flower in the future. The moral force generated by the auspicious occasion will have its influence. It must be said frankly that Mr. Worthington's co-operation in the celebration loaned it a significance in the public and newspaper mind whose value cannot be over-estimated. The fact that Mr. Worthington's stamps were to be shown inspired a degree of interest in outsiders that lead them to feel that the opportunity was one too alluring to be neglected. The meeting really acquired a national importance and while the attendance was gratifying, there were a number of philatelic celebrities who were unable to make the trip much to their disappointment. General C. A. Coolidge, U. S. A., Detroit, had made all preparations to attend but was incapacitated by illness, almost at the last moment. H. N. Mudge, Chicago, was called home from New Orleans by an alarming despatch, telling of his wife's illness, just about as he was to leave that city for Cleveland. As it was, Cleveland entertained practically a national convention of philatelists.

Exhibits—The exhibition in the afternoon was held in the spacious room, the meeting-place of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club. The United States albums containing Mr. Worthington's collection were on view; each book was on a small table in charge of an expert who described the stamps as the pages were turned by him. Mr. Worthington was present and was gratified to see with what keen interest his treasures were examined. The scene was one of animation and told its story of genuine enthusiasm eloquently. O. S. Hart's collection of New York five-cent stamps was on view and Mr. Carpenter exhibited Charles Lathrop Pack's specialized collection of the early issues of Victoria. Elsewhere, we are enabled to give fairly extended accounts of the collections that were the source of so much interest. The superb U. S. collection of W. G. Saxton, Canton, Ohio, was exhibited privately by its modest owner and it proved an acceptable addition to the rich philatelic entertainment of the eventful Cleveland sessions.

Nothing Too Good—It would be invidious to single out certain members of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club for especial mention when all worked so faithfully and effectively for the pleasure and comfort of guests. The banquet was an exceptional one and non-members of the club were given complimentary tickets. In many ways it was evident that no expense was spared to make everybody happy and while it may not be the height of delicacy to mention the fact, it cost the Cleveland men a pretty penny to so admirably and lavishly serve the visitors; in return they have been given a place in the affections of the visitors that could not be bought by any sordid consideration. Cleveland has established a pre-eminent reputation as an entertainer and it in truth will be advertised hereafter by its loving friends.

Regular Issue—Henry J. Crocker, San Francisco, has been working with good effect to establish the so-called re-issues, Hawaii five and thirteen-cent, 1864, ordinary white wove paper in their rightful classification, as regular issues. How Mr. Crocker succeeded in gaining for these stamps their rights is shown in another part of the paper. The American cataloguers at least hereafter will call these two stamps regular issues instead of re-issues as at present. Thus, may Mr. Crocker cut another notch on his gun which has already bagged so much vital information on the subject of Hawaiian stamps. It is proved that both the five and the thirteen-cent stamps were ordered before any succeeding five-cent stamp appeared. Further activities in Hawaiian philatelic research by Mr. Crocker will be recorded in coming numbers of the WEEKLY.

Moving Up—The impending removal of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company, New York, from the old twenty-third street store which has been occupied for twenty years to 127 Madison Avenue, while an item of news, is significant in one way. The philatelic geography of the metropolis will be changed and the tendency to follow the "up town" movement in the great city is recognized in the commercial circles of stamps. We understand also that the downtown store will be changed to the new address. We are pleased to see that philately will have creditable representation in the fashionable shopping district of New York.

Another—A. L. Schuyler, Clinton, Iowa, writes: "Referring to your editorial on the use of the Nesbitt patent lined envelope without embossed United States postage stamp, I take pleasure in adding information as to one in my collection. This answers the description contained in your editorial in every particular. The envelope is clearly one of Nesbitt production with patent lines, dated, cut with the standard full-letter knife, laid paper, exactly as the regular government issue, but without the government watermark. This cover bears the violet brown five-cent Nashville local in lower right hand corner and the stamp is canceled in blue, Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 11, 1861. The envelope bears another impression of the date stamp nearer the usual place for the same. The envelope is addressed to Jackson, Miss." It is somewhat curious that both of these patent-lined envelopes without stamp impression that have been mentioned bear Confederate stamps.

OLD FAVOURITES.

"Tis sixty years since" the first issue of New South Wales was produced, and there is recent convincing testimony that "age cannot wither nor custom stale its infinite variety." if their knowledge could be supplemented by the inspection of the collections of their fellow-members. With that object a meeting of the society was set apart on January 20th for a display by all members of their stamps of the first issue of New South Wales. Unfortunately, owing to the absence of one member who is abroad and of two others who were ill, three of the most important collections were not available, or the display would have been increased by many hundred specimens. Even with this drawback, however, the result may be taken as a record in the display of Sydney Views, of which no fewer than 2400 were exhibited in the room. We remember in quite olden days a friendly cynic who alluded to the then London Philatelic Society as having "plenty of science but no stamps"; but it is evident that this reproach, if ever justified (which we doubted at the time), is assuredly not so at the present time. We doubt if any philatelic society in the world could even approach such a magnificent display. There was not only quantity but quality. The stamps of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, Messrs. Harvey Clarke, L. L. R. Hausburg, and many others included unused specimens—of which probably there were in all two hundred shown. Beyond this general average of the specimens was magnificent as to the condition, and every Australian collector today knows the ease with which "rotten" specimens can be acquired and the corresponding difficulty in the acquisition of copies in immaculate condition. It was remarked that Sydneys ought to be cheap having regard to the quantity on view, but we are rather inclined to the opinion that, had one of the exhibitors been able to dispose of his stamps then and there, his comrades would have eagerly purchased them at record prices. The popularity and valuation of Sydney Views stands today higher than ever before, nor so long as philately exists are they likely to depreciate. Having regard to the vast number of copies extant, this is a remarkable assertion, but if we glance for a moment at the facts of the case it will not be difficult to vindicate their apparently anomalous popularity.

We will readily concede that we approach the subject with a strong partiality for the Sydney Views, having had a lifelong familiarity with them, but we venture to think that the reasons that have actuated in their favour in our own case will be largely apparent to many of our brother-collectors. In the first place the design of these stamps is absolutely unique, is redolent of the early history of the colony, and is a handsome and creditable exposition of the earliest colonial efforts in hand-engraving. Secondly, this issue has the saving merits of being—for stamps—of the respectable antiquity of sixty years of age, and there never has been nor can be any possibility of their reproduction owing to the destruction of the plates. Thirdly, the fact that every stamp having been separately engraved by hand the design of every one varies in its details, so that the advanced Philatelist has to acquire—in order to complete the eight plates and the two partially re-engraved lower rows of Plates I and II of the twopenny value—no less than 229 specimens. To acquire all these varieties in good condition is the task of a philatelic lifetime, and is obviously only within the reach of a few collectors. Fourthly, beyond this, the use of varying papers and pigments has evolved a large number of distinct varieties that almost every Philatelist—advanced or simple—is glad to acquire and reluctant to part with. In a list of the several papers employed and the marked shades of the different colours of the respective printings the writer has enumerated seventy-eight quite distinct varieties. Beyond this there are the notable variations on the plates—as hill unshaded, "CREVIT" omitted, no whip, etc., roughly speaking about a couple of dozen, and we have thus over one hundred varieties that are fairly desirable even by a "limited" specialist. It may indeed be stated that if a collector were to purchase haphazard, one by one, fifty Sydney Views, it is quite possible that he would not have two that were exactly alike in type, colour and paper. It is therefore abundantly clear that these stamps present so many points of interest as to invest them with a favour that is far higher than they apparently deserve in relation to the number of copies existing in relation to other stamps. Their popularity therefore rests upon solid ground, and we see nothing that can interfere with it in the future. Future generations of Philatelists may prefer the multiple watermarks of the present reign or the minute varieties of modern printings or of surcharges, but we have a shrewd suspicion that as long as stamp collecting continues to fascinate collectors, so long will early historic issues, such as the Sydneys and many others, hold first place in the affections of the Philatelist.—London Philatelist.

THE CLEVELAND EXHIBITION.

The following is a list of some of the most noteworthy items in the U. S. collection of Mr. Worthington but by no means is it to be assumed that it is a complete record of all the stamps deserving notice; still, it furnishes an idea of the range of richness afforded by the collection. It may be added that Mr. Worthington's collection of United States local stamps, one of the greatest known, was not on exhibition.

5c Baltimore. The only unsevered pair known; a single on white paper; a single on bluish paper—all on covers.

10c Baltimore, on cover.

8 Baltimore Envelopes.

2 Brattleboros; 1 nicely cancelled on cover. The Brattleboro postmark just touches the stamp at the bottom. The Paid cancellation extends onto the envelope.

1 Millbury.

1 original New Haven; also the different reprints.

A page of New Yorks, including the rare "R. H. M." initials.

Sheet of Providence.

St. Louis Postmasters. The display consists of 24-5c, 22-10c and 7-20c. This includes 6 reconstructed sheets, many of which cannot be duplicated. Many of the stamps are unused.

Of the Carrier stamps there are but few missing. Among the rarest might be mentioned:

Franklin Carriers, pair of unused, o. g.; a block of 16 black Horseman type unused; reconstructed sheet 10 red Horseman type.

Baltimore, 1c red on white paper, on cover.

Philadelphia, stamps and envelopes complete.

The General Issues are all represented by blocks and sheets. Many shades in blocks of even the higher priced stamps. There are single copies of the rare 1851 imperf., 24c, 30c, 90c and a 30c on cover nicely canceled; a block of 4 of the 5c brick red o. g.; a full set of the Premier Gravures; block of 16, 3c pink unused; block of 4, 3c scarlet; a 5c and 30c grided all over. Entire sheets of the 1c, 2c, 3c and 24c grided; and a block of 28, 15c grided. The 1869 issue are well represented by many blocks and shades, for instance you will see 4 blocks of 4 and 1 block of 9 of the 10c; 2 blocks of 9 and 1 of 4 of the 12c; of the 15c a block of 9, a block of 10 and a block of 20. Two blocks of the 90c. Of the inverts there is a used copy of each and an unused o. g. copy of the 15c and 30c. Many of the special printings are in blocks of 4. Some stamps are represented by a whole page of blocks of 4 in shades. There is a block of 10 of each of the Columbian stamps including the 4c Error. Since 1894 all stamps are in entire sheets, besides there are many pages of blocks of 4 all shades.

The collection contains the only sheet of the 2c Louisiana Purchase Imperf. horizontally. The Departments are all complete in blocks and many singles. There is a complete sheet of $20 State. There are also complete sets of the "Specimen" stamps, many of which contain the error "Sepcimen."

CHARLES LATHROP PACK'S EARLY VICTORIAS.

This wonderful collection is the amalgamation of the Henry Grey collection which was exhibited at a meeting of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, early last year and Mr. Pack's collection. All the various printings of the stamps of the first type were shown in scores and many of them are unused.

Of the large stamp second type, there were reconstructed sheets, lithographed and engraved. Among the great rarities were a block of four of the two pence 1854 unused; the three pence, deep blue, laid paper, unused and the four pence rose, 1861, unused, with watermark, "five shillings." An unused copy of the excessively rare stamp in that condition, the six pence orange, 1861, is a joy to the beholder. The minor varieties such as the earlier types showing plate flaws are very interesting while the cancellations have received full attention. It would be difficult to imagine a completer or more impressive collection of these stamps than the remarkable holding by Mr. Pack.

O. S. HART'S SPECIALIZED NEW YORKS.

We shall present merely statistics of Mr. Hart's grand display of a single type, allowing them to tell their own story; as the figures sink into the minds of readers, a realization of the scope of the superb collection will follow. Of the five cent black, New York, there are 154 single copies off cover and 14 on cover; 20 pairs off cover and 10 pairs on cover, including one cover holding two pairs, besides two covers with strips of four, or a grand total of 236 stamps. The stamps are all identified as to their position on the plate except sixty copies. Many of the later impressions do not show any distinguishing marks, probably because the plate had become worn. There is one copy of the stamp initialed "R. H. M." signed by the postmaster, R. H. Morris, himself; this is catalogue number 17d and is a very rare stamp. As Mr. Hart is interested chiefly in plating the stamps, he does not give particular attention to the different papers. He has all the plate numbers except 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 36 and 45, unless he has some of them among his unplaced copies. Mr. Hart says: "Mr. John N. Luff is particularly well informed on this stamp and I hope sometime, to see some notes from him concerning his investigations along that line. Mr. H. E. Deats has a very fine collection of New Yorks and Mr. Luff informs me that it lacks but six numbers of the complete plate. I should be glad to give any one interested the information I possess in regard to this interesting stamp and to identify copies sent me for inspection." It may be added that the original plate contained one hundred stamps, arranged in ten rows of ten stamps, showing minor varieties such as retouching and defective transfers. The double line variety is well known and occurs three times on the sheet.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete.

Now, for a few weeks, we shall advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Geo. S. Dates, Jr., shows us an interesting cover, with an unusual combination of split stamps. A letter was mailed in Brooklyn, N. Y., in December, 1895, for Swansea, England, with only a 2c stamp. This left 3c due, or with the penalty 6c. This has been placed on the cover, by cutting a 10c postage due stamp diagonally for five cents and a 2c postage due stamp horizontally for one cent, thus making up the required amount. The letter failed to find the party to whom it was addressed, and therefore was returned to writer, who undoubtedly was willing to pay the 6c to get the cover.

We are indebted to R. S. Swayze, William H. Coram, Herman W. Boers, Jas. Lewis Howe and others for information regarding precancels.

H. F. Metz reports having found a 2c claret wrapper of 1907, with 1894 watermark.

Bert R. Leer reports having found notable variations in the shape of the numerals on the current envelope, especially in the thickness of the figure where the upper point joins the horizontal part, and also in the shape and size of the letter.

CANAL ZONE.—Gerald D. Bliss and the New England Stamp Co. have shown us the new 8c, with the surcharge reading up, which completes the set, with this surcharge. Mr. Bliss says: "I do not quite understand the reference in No. 1001 regarding the two surcharges. I supposed it was a matter of record that the new issue of Panama stamps had been surcharged locally in the large type reading down on all excepting the 1c and the later supply with the N. Y. surcharge in small type reading up, being applied to all five denominations, the 8 as above stated being the last to appear and we have then the new issue, 2, 5, 8 and 10c with surcharge reading down and the 1, 2, 5, 8 and 10c with surcharge reading up, all of which were regular

20th Century

"I have repeatedly stated my stock of 20th Century was the best in America. IT IS!! To this stock I have added the superb collection of of Boston. Having recently disposed of his 19th Century he has now sold me his 20th. As Mr. Lombard has for a number of years subscribed to New Issue service of two English dealers, taking single up to 1c and blocks of 4 to 5sh from each, I hardly need say I am now prepared to furnish my customers with any British Colonial stamp issued within 9 years. Almost all, too, in blocks of 4.

issues. At this writing I believe some of each are in stock on the Isthmus. We have every reason to believe that the small surcharge reading up will be the permanent type."

Surcharge reading up.
8c violet and black.

ECUADOR.—Hermann Focke shows us a provisional, which has not hitherto been chronicled, though the stamp surcharged is the 25c violet Revenue stamp of "1907-1908." The overprint is similar to Scott's No. 155, type A44, the surcharge being in black, reading up.

Provisional Adhesive.

"Cinco Centa vos" on 25c violet.

JAMAICA.—The New England Stamp Co., Hermann Focke and Philip Wolff have shown us the new 3d stamp, printed according to the new color scheme. These were heralded some time since, but were not issued at Kingston until March 15. They are on ordinary multiple paper.

Adhesive.

3d violet on yellow.

VICTORIA.—Charles Lathrop Pack writes: "I have recently received from Victoria two interesting varieties that I have not seen mentioned or catalogued heretofore, the 1d on paper, watermark Crown and A, perf. 12 1/2 x 11. This would be No. 315, if put in Gibbons catalogue. The other stamp is the 2d on the same paper, perf. 11x12x12 1/2 x 12 1/2 and then reperf. 12. Both the stamps are used copies and are considered by my correspondent as recent discoveries."

ZANZIBAR.—Philip Wolf reports having received the 6c rose of the current issue, with the rosettes in the watermark vertical instead of horizontal, as hitherto. The stamp was issued Feb. 16 or earlier. All the current Zanzibar stamps now have the vertical watermark, with the exception of the 12c purple.

BOSTON, MASS., Apr. 2, 1910.

The 223rd (informal) meeting of the society will be held at the Club Room on Tuesday evening, April 5th, at 7.30 o'clock.

Besides the usual features, Mr. A. W. Batchelder has consented to tell us about the 25th anniversary celebration of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club at Cleveland, Ohio, at which he was present as our delegate; and Mr. Frank P. Brown has agreed to give us his impressions of the recent sale of the famous Seybold covers in New York. You will want to hear both of these talks.

Those remaining in town for the meeting will gather for supper as usual at the Crawford Café, 13 Brattle St., at 6 o'clock. Twenty members availed themselves of this opportunity on the last meeting night, and are ready to welcome twenty more. Come along!

FREDERICK GUTHRIE,

19 Waterloo St., Glasgow, Scotland [05]

17th, 1910, was called to order with Vice President Ketch in the chair. The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with. The Secretary reported the death of the President, Frank J. Wilford.

The death of our President is a severe loss not only to his fellow members, but to philately in general. A more earnest and conscientious worker could not be found. He forever strove to spread broadcast the lessons of stamp collecting from a scientific viewpoint; and continually struggled to put collecting on the highest ethical plane and purge therefrom all ideas and suggestions of duplicity.

Personally a lovable and genial man, but withal a strict parliamentarian, he was every man's friend. As a speaker he truly possessed a silver tongue, and invariably commanded the greatest admiration from all whose pleasure it was to listen to him.

Several members spoke in appreciation of Pres. Wilford's valuable services to the New York Stamp Society.

Vice Pres. Ketch refusing to qualify as Pres. Wilford's successor, the Board of Trustees, pursuant to the Constitution and By-Laws, appointed Geo. A. Skinner to fill out the unexpired term. This admirable selection met with the hearty approval of the members and ensures the continuance of a vigorous and progressive policy.

It being an exchange night no business was taken up and the meeting was adjourned.

TWO POUNDS MISSIONARIES POST PAID FOR $1.00

A very good Mixture. A 2 pound lot contains between 12,000 and 14,000 stamps, average price about 7 1/2c per 1000 stamps.

Mr. J. L. Howe, Lexington, Va., writes:  Mr. Chapin told me that having tried quite a number of firms for these Missionaries, he finds your Mixture by far the best.

We have a great many testimonials like this, and of course also have a few from unfortunate persons who claim they did not make a very great find. At any rate, these stamps are certainly cheap at the average price of 7 1/2c per thousand, postpaid.

Send $1.00 and we will send you a two pound lot, guaranteed unpicked, just as imported.

Regular meetings 2nd Wednesday, Room 210,

Corcoran Bldg., 533 15th St., N. W.

The 51st regular meeting was held

March 9. Fifteen members and one visitor were present. The amendment to the Statutes proposed at the February meeting was considered but a substitute was proposed and adopted. The first paragraph of Article XI, Section 1, now reads: "The entrance fee shall be 25 cents and the annual subscription $1, payable in advance; and, if a member desires to subscribe for MEKEEL'S

WEEKLY, 50 cents additional." On motion it was decided to change the meeting place to Room 210, Corcoran Building, 533-15th St., N. W.

After adjournment an Educational Contest was held which was followed by an Auction Sale.

The next meeting, April 13, will be "Exchange Night" and each member is urged to bring all his duplicates to the meeting. Let us make this the best meeting of the year by a large attendance. Notice change of meeting place.

Post Departments sheets of samples of their stamp printings without any overprints whatsoever.

The Specimen stamps mentioned above, with the exception of Italy, all originate with British Colonies, but the mother country, Great Britain, has made use of the Specimen overprint still earlier. The 1898 edition of Ewen's catalogue gives 1853 as the earliest date. Of the older issues the following items are known:

Great Britain—1847-54, 1sh green, with red, and black, horizontal, sharp overprint "Specimen," 3 mm. high and 20 mm. long. It is stated that 5000 copies were overprinted thus. Issue 1855-57, 4p rose, with vertical, sharp overprint "Specimen," 22 mm. long.

After this followed, according to the German author, two types of Specimen overprints used up to the issue of 1872-73. One is in heavy type, 16½ mm. long, and the other in very thin type and 18 mm. long. Both are in black and horizontal. Besides these there are the black or gray, sometimes heavier and sometimes thinner, horizontal overprints, 15 mm. long, found on the issues following as well as on the official stamps. On the 10sh 1r official of 1885 has been found a peculiar overprint in large thin type, 20 mm. long. There are without doubt other "Specimen" varieties from this period. As every post office, on the appearance of a new issue, receives one copy of each value, the number of "Specimens" must be quite considerable, but at the present day they appear to be very scarce. If the British overprints, here mentioned, all emanate from official sources, or if some were samples from the printing establishments, is a question which remains to be answered.

Canada—Issue of 1851, on India paper and cardboard, with straight or inclined Specimen overprints in yellow, red, green, and black, are undoubtedly proofs from Rawson, Wright, Edson, Hatch of New York, although some sources claim that they originate with Perkins, Bacon & Co.

Nova Scotia—Issue of 1860, with red, and green diagonal Specimen overprints, are undoubtedly proofs from the printing of Perkins, Bacon & Co.

India—The official stamps of 1867 have been found with a small, black, irregular overprint "Specimen," but it is a question if this overprint also exists on the regular postage stamps.

(It is possible to easily read between the lines of this clipping. It is from the daily press sent out from our National capital as a news despatch. Thanks to M. A. Lesser for submission of same.—W. O. W.)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The report of the American Commission to Liberia was transmitted to Congress today by President Taft, with a special message. After reviewing the internal dangers which threaten Liberia, as well as those which crowd upon her from the outside, the commission has made the following recommendations:

- (1.) That the United States extend its aid to Liberia in the prompt settlement of her boundary disputes.
- (2.) That the United States enable Liberia to refund her debt by assuming as a guarantee for the payment of obligations under such an arrangement, the control and collection of Liberian customs.
- (3.) That the United States lend its assistance to the reform of the internal finances.
- (4.) That this nation aid in organizing and drilling a competent constabulary or frontier police.
- (5.) That the United States establish and maintain a research station there.
- (6.) That the United States reopen the question of establishing a naval coaling station in Liberia.

For what it has been able to accomplish, the government of the little republic and those responsible for it, are commended highly by the commission. The Liberians have advanced in their civilization, and the native element has not had a retrograde influence. On the other hand, the civilization of the nation has done much toward advancing the tribes, the commission says.

Attention is called to the fact that the Liberians never have resorted to revolution, and the nation is not, as has been said, bankrupt. Liberia, while attempting to solve her internal problems, has become involved in external ones, which are very threatening to her integrity.

In summarizing the conditions there, the commission says, that help from the United States is demanded, as Great Britain and France are not in position to give disinterested assistance. Suggestions have also been made to the Liberian government by the commission, but the whole situation is summed up as very hopeless for the little nation, unless the United States steps in and helps out.

POSTAL ANOMALIES.

In connection with the Universal Postal Union, evolved by the treaty of Bern of October 9th, 1874, which on October 4th celebrated the 35th anniversary of its existence, it is not without interest to recall that while all countries of Europe form part of the Union, several of them enjoy no autonomous postal administration because they are too small to bear the expense of a suitable service.

There is first of all the principality of Liechtenstein, situated between Austria and Switzerland, which has but 9650 inhabitants spread over 159 square kilometres.

This country, whose prince and all of whose chief officials reside at Vienna, has but five post offices served by the Austrian post. It has no stamps of its own and utilizes those of Austria, a bizarre arrangement in view of the fact that they bear the effigy of a strange sovereign. [Translated from Petit Journal Philatélique by M. A. Lesser who notes (1) that Liechtenstein has issued, between 1879 and 1903, twenty-two varieties of fiscal stamps; (2) that the Republic of Andorra, located in the Pyrenees between France and Spain, with a population of 6000 and an area of 175 square miles, has no stamps of any kind whatsoever.]

LAST CALL FOR BIDS--24th AUCTION SALE

If you have not already sent your bids for our 24th auction sale, which takes place in Philadelphia April 15th and 16th, it would be to your interest to look up the catalogue, and send them today.

This two session sale comprises a splendid 20th Century collection, some nice stamps of the 19th Century, and over 500 superb lots of U. S. entire envelopes. There are also wholesale lots and several collections. The sale will be unusually interesting. If by any chance your catalogue has been mislaid, drop us a postal, and we will send you another immediately.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—H. M. Wichman, Springfield, Mass., writes us as follows:—"I have given your readers a true description of the genuine Salvador stamp surcharged '15 Septembre'. I stand ready to pass upon any of these stamps if submitted to me with postage to cover their return. Genuine used stamps should retail at $1.00 or more, while unused should come higher. I have never been able to secure the genuine article at a figure as low as quoted by a number of advertisers in the philatelic press."

—Clippings received with thanks from M. A. Lesser (3), C. C. Klumph and J. Rausch.

—The Philadelphia Stamp News is a Vol. 1, No. 1, with Percy M. Mann, the president of the Phila. Stamp Club, as editor, manager and publisher. The number before us is dated April 1, but we sincerely trust that the new paper is not published in honor of the day but will be a valuable asset to philatelic journalism. The initial number is an eight-paged, sixteen column publication and will be issued weekly from 1708 N. 18 St., Philadelphia, Pa. A sample copy will no doubt be forthcoming on request and we wish the new paper every form of success.

—"An editorial in last week's issue states, that our 'branch down-town store will be changed to the new address' giving the impression that we shall discontinue the down-town branch. This is an error, as our down-town branch is moving to a new down-town location of its own at 207 Broadway, diagonally opposite the present down-town location. We shall still continue to maintain both up-town and down-town locations."—SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO.

—After a connection with the Hibernia Bank of San Francisco, Cal., extending over a period of a quarter century, G. de Lachasse, an old subscriber to the WEEKLY, has on account of poor health retired from service. Mail may be addressed to him at Box 366, Oakland, Cal.

—A new philatelic monthly has just appeared from Tilton, N. H. It is known as The Collectors Advocate, "a monthly publication for a person with a hobby." The new publication consists of eight pages with cover, is neatly printed, and will, we hope, make good. A sample copy can doubtless be obtained on request.

COMMUNICATION.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

March 29, 1910.

Editor, MEKEEL'S WEEKLY:

May I ask you to kindly make room in your columns for the following statement in reply to the charges by Mr. Chas. A. Nast, on pages 114 and 115 of the Stamp Journal for March?

Had Mr. Nast been content to confine his statements and comments to facts I should have ignored the whole matter: as it is I merely wish to controvert his palpable mis-statements in such a manner as to bring them to the attention of the entire membership of the American Philatelic Society, which can only be done in this way, as yours is the only paper to reach all of the members:

1st. The paragraph quoted was in no way a part of the report of the Committee on Official Journal, which occupies less than five lines of type (vide American Philatelist, p. 57).

2nd. It was a part of my address in support of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS and, as such, a subject upon which any member had a perfect right to express himself.

3rd. It in no way criticizes Mr. Nast (either for adopting a nom de plume or otherwise) but is distinctly addressed to "the Editor of Redfield's."

4th. Mr. Nast is mistaken in his assertion "that the convention promptly voted to strike it all off the records." It is true that such a motion was made; I do not think that it was seconded, but I am not sure as to that. However, no such motion was passed. It did not even come to a vote and, upon these points, the Secretary's records will bear me out.

5th. If Mr. Nast thought my remarks unparliamentary he had his remedy in an appeal to the chair to rule me out of order. He did exercise this right, but, the chair not sustaining him, I continued my remarks.

6th. In response to urgent appeals from several of the officers and influential members present, said appeals being based solely upon the inexpediency of "washing our dirty linen in public," as would have been the result if my address had been printed, I agreed, after being assured that they in no way questioned the truth or accuracy of my statements, to withdraw, at the next session of the convention, all that portion of my address criticizing Mr. Nast's actions during the campaign over the Official Journal.

This I did in reply to an appeal made to me to do so, by one of the officers of the society, in open convention.

7th. I deeply regret having so withdrawn my remarks: I can now see that it would have been better had I insisted upon their standing and thus have forced the convention to have voted to expunge them had it not desired to endorse them. I had no fear of any such vote having been registered then, nor have I now.

8th. The opinion which Mr. Nast (or anyone else who seeks to accomplish his ends by the methods that he made use of at the time in question) may have of me is a matter of absolute indifference to me.

EDITORIAL.

He Likes Our Stamps—We have received the following letter from that keen student of United States issues, living in England, whose queries concerning guide-lines on the 1894-95 issues seemingly were to remain unsolved, until they were repeated, with the result that they were answered acceptably in 994 of this paper. He says: "I am astonished that collectors on your side give so little attention to the guide lines on U. S. issues. I think the stamps showing them make a most interesting collection, quite apart from the normal specimens. For instance:—In the original colours of the 1895 issue, from the plates prepared on or after Dec. 4th of that year, there is the possibility of finding no fewer than 8 varieties of each of the 13 values of the series. Think of it—104 varieties of the one issue, and if the 13 normal stamps be added, a total of 117; and then the colour change of 1898 as a further addition. By this mail I am sending another query addressed to the editor. Perhaps you will kindly let me know, quite candidly, whether such questions as I have sent you are fair requests, seeing that they perhaps do not admit of reply off-hand from common knowledge. Remember, that if you say 'Yes' then a further installment will be forwarded, for there are quite a number of things that I want to know about U. S. issues."

* * *

The Question—The question referred to by our correspondent is embraced in the following remarks from him and we trust that it will meet the notice of Mr. Morris in particular who so happily illuminated the darkness previously:

"If it were not for the fact that you admit that the replies are 'very valuable to all students of U. S. stamps' I should be diffident about sending further similar queries, as my attempts in this way appear to have necessitated a lot of research work, and this of course means the occupation of valuable time, but if, or when, my turn comes round again, I should be glad to have the following made clear.

1895 issue, plates prepared on or after Dec. 4th, 1895.

On plates with 200-on, there 'was a horizontal guide line dividing the panes of 100 into two parts.' Certified by reply 2, b, in M. W. S. N. No. 994.

On the plates with 400-on, there was no horizontal line through the panes. Certified by reply 1, a, in No. 994.

I want to know:—Why the horizontal 'guide' line through the panes was used in the former, and not in the latter case."

All Right—We feel complimented by the depth of interest displayed in our stamps by this English friend and we are anxious to meet all of his expectations of knowledge that unnaturally he assumes is possessed by at least a few of the U. S. students of the stamps he so much appreciates. So, say we, send on the questions, which we calmly shall refer publicly to that genius for research, Chas. R. Morris, Washington, and ask him to attend to them. He should expect to suffer in the interest of the cause, if needs be.

Over a Half Century Ago—In Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine for December 1856, in the course of an article, Our Indian Empire, we find the following account which has all the interest attaching to descriptions of early postal days or means and methods; moreover, it has a seasonable flavor in view of the elevation recently of that brilliant philatelist, Mr. Stewart-Wilson, the Director-General of the Post Office of India to membership in the Viceroy's Council: "Thanks to the Commission appointed by Lord Dalhousie, the postal system in India has been freed from the great defects which formerly adhered to it, and has been assimilated to the most approved systems existing in Europe. Over all India there now prevails a uniform single rate of postage of half an anna for letters, and of an anna for newspapers, irrespective of distance; and at the same time, the convenient system of postage stamps has been substituted for that of cash payments. Recently, too, the Home Government have consented to the adoption of a uniform rate of postage, payable in one sum, on letters between England and India,—the rate being sixpence per half-ounce. Regulations of the kind add so much to the happiness and convenience of the people that they are not to be tested solely by the principles of profit and loss; nevertheless we may state that since their adoption, the correspondence has increased upwards of twenty-five per cent., and the loss of revenue has been less than was expected. It is not easy to realise the extent of these postal reforms: Rowland Hill has been quite eclipsed in India. In England a single letter is conveyed to any part of the British Isles (at the utmost a distance of 700 miles) for a penny. But in India, a single letter is conveyed over distances immeasurably greater—from Peshawur on the borders of Afghanistan to the southernmost village of Cape Comorin, or from Debrooghur in Upper Assam to Kurrachee at the mouth of the Indus—distances of two thousand miles—for three farthings! Three years ago the postage chargeable on the same letter in India would have been a shilling or sixteen times the present charge. Again, since the uniform rate of postage has been established between England and India, the Scotch recruit, whose regiment happens to be established on our farthest frontier at Peshawur, may write to his mother at John O'Groat's House, and may send his epistle free to her for six-pence. Three years ago the same sum would not have carried his letter beyond Lahore!"

Help the Quarterly—H. S. Adair, secretary of the American Philatelic Society, believes that if the members of the American Philatelic Society fully realized how much depends upon their co-operation for the success of the Quarterly in a literary sense, they would not fail to meet the necessity. Mr. Adair as editor of the Quarterly of the American Philatelic Society wants contributions on stamps or their more intimate suggestions and on questions affecting or pertinent to the policy or welfare of the society. Now that the train of embarrassments attending the launching of the publication seems to be checked, the Quarterly should receive more attention from those whose influence and example would be helpful. There are many members on the list of the American Philatelic Society who are competent to entertain and instruct through the columns of the society's own magazine and the editor of the Quarterly hopes to stimulate them so that they will take a personal interest in the publication at a time when literary aid is most needed. We understand that Mr. Adair is making personal appeals to writers and students and we hope that they will be effective in results. Thus far, the response is not so hearty or encouraging as it should be, even though favorable indications are not lacking. Mr. Adair mentions with satisfaction that Major Evans has favored him with a manuscript, a kindly example that should inspire emulation by our writers. The Quarterly must be made a vehicle that will carry credit for the American Philatelic Society and a requirement is distinction in a literary sense of the contents; this end will be achieved only by the working interest of writers among the members, in the publication.

Stamps in the Papers—There is an abundance of matter of interest to philatelists just at present appearing in the newspapers. For instance, among the clippings at hand is one from the Chicago Tribune, ending with the words: "These colored labels soon began to attract the notice of the curious, and early in the '50s a few individuals here and there were forming stamp collections. But it was not until 1861 that the hobby attracted public attention, developing in the following year into a veritable craze." An account of the house of Thurn and Taxis with reference to its postal monopoly now restricted to Bavaria is given in a syndicate letter. A London newspaper tells of "human letter-boxes." Postmen stand beside letter-boxes that are being repaired and motion the bewildered people with letters to drop them into big bags opened by the postmen. And so on.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

United States Postage Stamps 1870-93—No. 2 of the second series of the Melville Stamp Books, 47 Strand, London, England. Price 12c. This book takes up with the stamps of the United States where the book in the first series ended, this second instalment carrying the reader up to the Columbian issue of 1893. The book before us is in harmony with the other books in the series, handsomely printed, and with descriptive matter capable of being appreciated by the collecting fraternity of both schools.

SWEDISH SOCIETY'S ANNUAL REPORT.

The annual report of the Secretary of the Philatelic Society of Sweden, for 1909, was read at the society's 418th meeting at Stockholm, Feb. 8. From this report we find that 135 new members were received during the year, 29 resigned, 8 died and 6 were dropped from the rolls for non-payment of dues. When it is taken into consideration that the total active membership at the close of the year was 954 the small number dropped (6) is truly remarkable and speaks well for the constant enthusiasm and activity which characterize the Swedish national society. Its membership list is still headed by the Crown Prince of Sweden and the Prince of Wales, a double distinction shared by no other philatelic society. The chief literary work of the year has been devoted to the new, highly specialized catalogue of the postage issues of Sweden, which is now drawing towards completion. In order to stimulate the general interest in stamp collecting, the society published in book form a Swedish translation of Mr. Fred J. Melville's little book "Postage Stamps worth Fortunes." The translation was made by L. H. Kjellstedt, the society's American representative, from a copy specially revised for the purpose by Mr. Melville. At the exhibition at Amsterdam, the Swedish society was awarded the highest prize in the literary section. The society's publication, The Philatelic Journal of Sweden, was issued in ten, 20 and 24 page numbers and under the able management of its editor-in-chief, Mr. Hilmer Djurling, F. R. P. S., it not only paid expenses but a surplus of nearly $100 was turned over to the society. The office, and the library and reading room of the society, are kept open every week day from 1 to 8 p. m. attended by a lady cashier and an amanuensis who are in the regular employ of the society. The current numbers of about 40 different philatelic periodicals are found on the reading tables. The Stockholm headquarters have a club license and lunches a la carte and refreshments are served to visiting members and their friends as well as after the regular meetings.

THE STAMP MARKET.

By SENAX

A study of the European stamp journals reveals the keen pursuit of Continental high values everywhere, and good prices prevail.

British colonials of course hold sway over a wide field, and in this realm it is always interesting to note what other people are doing. The special line of one dealer consists in buying and selling the shilling values of the colonies, and is probably not a bad line to take up.

Colonial King's Heads seem to be coming more prominently into notice each succeeding month; current Sierra Leones, for example, have the appearance of being a good selling item.

Stamps that have "had their day"—instances will readily occur to mind—may of course be badly wanted by the coming generation; such issues are occasionally enquired for, and should be stocked, if in moderation.

The sight of an advertiser taking up a whole column to advertise second quality stamps, is a novel incident, yet the stamps sell.

Looking through a year's numbers of an American journal, one is struck with the steady rise in price of many medium and better class stamps of that country, and not a few old familiar figures have been swamped by the rising tide.

Some of the Paraguay provisionals of 1908 are said to be "extremely rare." 5c seems an odd value for a parcel post stamp, and this denomination of the Tunis Parcel Post set does not seem to be often employed.

Recent issues of Crete are finding their way, used, across the Continent, and presently there may be more uniformity of prices. Some of the provisionals seem costly.

Recent pictorials of U. S. A. are obtainable now in quantity, but perfect copies are not too plentiful; I got only 22 out of an exchange lot of 150 submitted.

A favorable purchase enables us to offer fine sets of the above at prices below auction quotations. Of some of them less than 75 sets were ever sold. Specialists in U. S. should not omit these. India is a field where one may come across stamp gatherers who are able to send nice lots of Persia, Madagascar 1904-08, Zanzibar, some Maldives, etc. These sorts are worth hunting for.

The United States is a good market in which to sell better class stamps of that country; the local demand is great and good prices are given.

Salvador, 1906-08, are sets easily obtained in used condition, and experience proves that they sell freely.

Austrian Unpaid in dazzling red are in good demand since they make a brave show; the 10h is plentiful, but perhaps these are best purchased in sets.

The recent 30c Unpaid of Belgium provides one with another will-o'-the-wisp to be pursued, though he ought not to take much catching.

Ecuador triangulars of 1908 should have the same fascination as their similarly shaped confreres of Liberia, and some trans-Atlantic correspondent might be set to work to secure for us any that may come his way.

French correspondence is interesting just now on account of the bundles of postally used pictorial French Colonials that are often offered. French West African seem scarcer, but the other sorts are very acceptable.

The Levant, with all its offices, is a good field for study, research, and—acquisition.

Perfect copies of stamps, in the hands of a conscientious customer, stand a chance of selling very quickly, for if they prove to be better specimens than he already possesses, he will be likely to take them at sight.

Experience seems to show that the bad copy must be cheap, and then it will sell; the very fine copy may be dear, and it also will sell, for many a collector will take the fine copy on the sheet before him, sometimes apparently with an eagerness that leaves its price out of consideration for the moment, for fear the chance of possessing so perfect a specimen should not again quickly present itself.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

A GREAT SHOW OF SYDNEYS.

At a recent meeting of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, no fewer than 2,363 Sydney Views were on view. The occasion was one on which the members were all invited to bring their Sydney Views, and the aggregation must have been a wonderful sight, especially as the great proportion of the copies were fine. The 2,363 stamps were divided amongst fourteen exhibitors, some of whom being unable to attend the meeting sent their stamps for the inspection of their fellow members.

line across the value, in a different place on each of the three stamps. On one it touches the left edge of the "N" of "Cent"; the second divides the "E" of the same word, while the third crosses just to the left of the "C".

The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the current 1c wrapper with the double impression of the stamp.

We are indebted to S. L. Davis and others for information regarding precancelled stamps.

C. H. Williams shows us copies of the 50c Entry of Goods, first issue, perforated, with a peculiarity not previously mentioned, as far as we know. A thin colored line runs from the scrolls outside lower edge of the curved tablet, containing "Entry of Goods", runs across the tablet in a line with the right hand line of "N", and into the lathework above, terminating in the lower right hand part of the shading of the "5". This line is quite marked, as though caused by a defect in the plate, and not by any foreign substance which had accidentally fallen on the plate.

William F. Palmer reports having a block of eight stamps, in two rows of four, from the left hand upper corner of Plate No. 5394, the third and fourth stamps of the first row having the circle on the left hand "2".

BOLIVIA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 1c value of the new commemorative set, the portrait being that of Miguel Betanzos.

Adhesive.

1c pale red brown and black.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Mr. Schachne shows us the ¼d card correctly described in No. 927 and the 1d referred to in 986. Send endeavors to illustrate the ¼d but fails. His cut is about right for the 1d. The ¼d has an oval stamp and the 1d a rectangular one. Both are noticeable owing to the absence of the King's portrait. The headlines are a close copy of those found on the first issue of St. Christopher.

Post Cards.

¼d brown on pale buff; 114x89 mm. 1d carmine on pale buff; 140x89 mm.

GABON.—The New England Stamp Co. has now shown us the balance of the new series of stamps, the first of which was chronicled in No. 1001. Like the other French Colonial stamps there are three distinct designs. One of them has already been described, the four stamps being of this design, and also the 4c and 20c. The other centime values have an oblong design showing a view of some native scene framed by palm trees. This is a beautiful design, though spoiled by the colors in which most of the stamps are printed. The third design shows the portrait of a native princess, and forms a complement to the warrior on the lower values. In this last design the words "Congo Francais—Gabon" appear at the top of the stamps, while in all the others it is at the bottom.

All the stamps are printed in a series of ultra colors and shades, similar to late printings for other French Colonies. We give the whole set for convenience of reference.

Adhesives.

1c red orange and violet brown. 2c dark red brown and black. 4c dark blue and violet. 5c blue green and olive gray. 10c carmine and red. 20c black and brown. 25c dark blue and pale brown. 30c black and red. 35c black and pale green. 40c violet brown and pale blue. 45c red and violet. 50c blue and black. 75c orange red and violet. 1fr dark brown and brown. 2fr carmine and brown. 5fr dark blue and brown.

GERMANY.—Mr. Schachne has just received the 3x3pf card with space at left for correspondence, also a 3pf on 2pf, both having the rectangular watermark. The 2pf stamp is cancelled with the usual four heavy bars.

Post Cards.

3x3pf brown on blue; T. 3. 3pf brown on 2pf blue on blue.

INDIA.—Cochin.—Mr. Schachne shows us the current 2 pies red changed from buff to white paper. Send catalogs this as issue of 1900 but we feel sure that the date of issue is very much later than 1900.

ITALY.—The 10c carmine on pale buff and 5c green and 10c carmine on gray postal cards of the divided face variety are just at hand from Mr. Schachne with new date "09".

JAMAICA.—We are indebted to J. A. Galbraith for information regarding the new 3d stamp recently chronicled.

KIAUTSCHOU.—The 4c has now appeared on watermarked paper. The 10c is the only value now lacking in the watermarked set.

LORENZO MARQUES.—C. B. Bostwick reports having seen No. 44, on the lower half, with the surcharge incomplete, only the "o" of "Lorenzo" showing, though the other words are complete.

NEW HEBRIDES.—The French authorities have now issued stamps with the word "Condominium", in conformity with the agreement with the British Government. The values and the type are the same as the first issue, the stamps of New Caledonia being used, except that "Condominium" is printed at the bottom. The surcharge is in black on the 5c, 10c and 50c and in red on the others.

Adhesives.

5c pale green and black. 10c carmine and black. 25c blue and red on greenish. 50c carmine and black on orange. 1fr blue and red on yellow green.

QUEENSLAND.—The Postage Stamp reports that the 5d value has now appeared on Crown A paper, the current set with this watermark now comprising 15 values.

SALVADOR.—Hermann Focke also shows us the new 5c value, previously chronicled.

In regard to the 1908 issue of postage due stamps of Salvador, Mr. Focke writes:

"I beg to bring to the attention of the readers of the WEEKLY that for some time past a great number of rather poor counterfeits of the 1908 issues of postage due stamps of Salvador—surcharged 'Deficiencia de Franqueo' have been dumped on the stamp market by dealers all over the country, and I presume that not even the dealers themselves are aware of the fact that they are selling bogus stamps at comparatively high prices.

"Both issues, the one with the vertical, as also the one with the horizontal surcharge have been counterfeited, the most striking point being the fact that inadvertently (or perhaps intentionally) the surcharge has been applied on the watermarked stamps of 1909, which were issued about a year after the two postage due sets has been sold out.

"Furthermore the 3 centavos value with horizontal surcharge only exists on the Official stamp—with Franqueo Oficial under the centre with the National Palace—one sheet of the postage stamp of same value which had been surcharged 'by mistake' having been destroyed by the Salvador P. O. authorities.

"Now as to the surcharge itself, the counterfeits will easily be distinguished from the originals by the types of letters employed, and the way of printing which on the originals was done by machine, and by hand on the counterfeits. The 2nd issue, with horizontal surcharge, furthermore differs in the following points: The height of the letters is 1½ cm. on the counterfeits, as against 2 cm. on the originals, generally the words are curved, the "A" of Deficiencia and "O" of Franqueo being about ½cm. above the line, and the printing of both appears rather blurred as against the clear print of the originals.

"It will be easy for anybody to distinguish the spurious stamps from the originals with the above information, and although my warning will most likely come too late for a good many collectors, it certainly deserves publicity for others that may intend to purchase these stamps in the future."

Hermann Focke sends us a new value of the new series, the color being a very peculiar shade of orange red. The design is the same as those previously noted.

Mr. Focke also shows us a 1c envelope of the 1906 issue, surcharged "1910" in black, the 2c, 3c and 5c envelopes having received the same surcharge. Mr. Focke is also informed that the 3c and 5c envelopes of the same series, surcharged "1908", with additional surcharge of "1910".

Mr. Focke also reports having the 10c stamp of the 1907 issue on paper watermarked honeycomb. The 1c, 2c, 3c and 5c values have been previously noted on this paper.

URUGUAY.—The 5c value of the new printing, as announced in No. 924, has been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. The design is the same as Scott's No. 152, but the color is changed.

age, form of government and other items of general interest.

Included with each set is a folder entitled "Pleasant Lessons Learned from Stamps—A Little Talk with the Boys and Girls," by Henry N. Mudge, President, American Philatelic Society.

We also have in preparation similar sets of Australia and China.

These sets are being distributed free in places and manners which will do the most good for philately.

To carry on the work thus broadly outlined, requires money and lots of it, and it is the earnest request of this committee that each and every philatelist donate as liberally as he possibly can, as without further contributions the present plans will be cut short just on the point of attaining success.

Can we not depend on you for an increase to our working fund in order that the work we have in hand may be carried to successful fruition?

CHICAGO BRANCH REPORT.

March 9, 1910.

The 283rd regular meeting of Chicago Branch Number One, American Philatelic Society, was held in the club-rooms of the Chicago Philatelic Society on the evening of March 9, 1910. President Whitaker called the meeting to order with the following members present: Baldwin, Bloss, Bowker, Clark, Dahl, Fowler, Lindquist, Lord, Rogers, Roterberg, Severn, Whitaker, Wolsieffer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. A communication was received from the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club announcing the candidacy of Mr. W. H. Barnum for the office of secretary of the parent organization and requesting the endorsement of this branch. The Secretary was instructed to write that the branch desires to take no political stand of any kind at the present time. After much informal discussion of various topics including the work of the Educational Committee, the meeting adjourned at 10.00 p. m.

Next meeting April 13th, 1910.

HUGH M. CLARK.

PACIFIC BRANCH No. 3.

Jan. 19, 1910.

The regular meeting was held on this date at the Old Poodle Dog Restaurant, Bush St. A dinner preceded the usual business session.

Ten members and one visitor were present. An informal discussion concerning the coming exhibition was postponed for later deliberation.

The special feature of the evening was an exhibition of the stamps of Corea by Mr. William J. Gardner. His collection includes the stamps of that country from their adoption to the present. All types, denominations, colors, varieties of paper, perforations and surcharges were represented, together with numerous official freaks and vagaries that gladden the soul of the advanced collector and stimulate his competitors to renewed activity.

For the better elucidation of the collection, Mr. Gardner prepared and read a paper upon the Korean issues from their beginning in the early 80's. His essay was a masterly review of the subject, being historical as well as critical and descriptive, and leaves little of anything untouched upon the postal issues of the "Hermit Kingdom." Mr. Gardner's work is deserving of broader circulation than it can receive in San Francisco, and it is hoped that this latest addition to the literature of this society may receive the attention it greatly demands.

After reading the paper an informal discussion was held by the assembled members.

With a vote of thanks the meeting was adjourned.

ROBERT E. COWAN, Sec.

PHILADELPHIA BRANCH No. 18.

The regular meeting of Philadelphia Branch No. 18, A. P. S., was held on March 15th, 1910. President Hahman in the chair. After the routine business was transacted the Secretary read a letter from Cleveland Branch No. 30, requesting endorsement of Mr. W. H. Barnum for Secretary of the American Philatelic Society. A letter from Mr. Chas. R. Morris of Washington, D. C. also asking for endorsement for the same office was read. A motion was unanimously carried placing both letters on the table and resolving that Philadelphia Branch No. 18 make no endorsement of candidates this year. There being no further business proposed the meeting was adjourned.

A. F. HENKELS, Sec. & Treas.

COLORADO STATE BRANCH No. 22.

DENVER, COLO., March 14, 1910.

The regular meeting of the Colorado State Branch was held in their room in the Y. M. C. A. Building on the evening of March 12th, with a nearly full attendance of the Denver members and a number of visitors.

The various tickets proposed for the coming campaign were discussed and it was the sense of this meeting that it be left to each member to vote according to his own wishes. It was also the sense of this meeting that this branch is heartily in favor of Chicago for the convention in 1911.

The following resolution was also passed unanimously:

Resolved that it is the sense of this branch that there should be no official organ in the future; that the society should publish a monthly circular to be sent to each member gratis.

After an informal discussion of various topics, the meeting adjourned at 10.30 p. m.

 Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bdg., 7.30 P. M.

BOSTON, MASS., April 9, 1910.

The 224th (regular) meeting of the society will be held at the club room on WEDNESDAY evening, APRIL 20th, at 7.30 o'clock. This change in night is made advisable because of April 19th being a local holiday.

The entertainment will consist of an exhibition of counterfeits, proofs and essays, with an address by Mr. J. M. Bartels. The proofs and essays are the well known collection of Mr. E. H. Mason and are a most interesting, and beautiful exhibit. Mr. Bartels is the counterfeit detector of the American Philatelic Society, and will no doubt give many points out of his fund of information along this line.

There will also be the special auction sale, advertised last week, at which the bidding is open to all. Bring in your

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unse-lected selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice
up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail.
Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.Koslowski, Karl, 268 W. High St., De-

TWO POUNDS MISSIONARIES $1.00
POST PAID FORA very good Mixture. A 2 pound lot contains between 12,000 and 14,000 stamps, average price about 7½¢ per 1000 stamps.Mr. J. L. Howe, Lexington, Va., writes:  Mr. Chapin told me that having tried quite a number of firms for these Missionaries, he finds your Mixture by far the best.We have a great many testimonials like this, and of course also have a few from unfortunate persons who claim they did not make a very great find. At any rate, these stamps are certainly cheap at the average price of 7½¢ per thousand, postpaid.Send $1.00 and we will send you a two pound lot, guaranteed unpicked, just as imported.

The Governing Board of the Educational Committee has labored zealously ever since its appointment, but owing to certain unavoidable incidentalwith getting in touch with certain individuals and matters bearing on the work,past and present, a complete rounding out of a comprehensive campaign has been impossible until the present time.

We now take pleasure, however, in reporting as follows; showing that wehave succeeded in getting effective machinery in full operation, and callingattention to the fact that the continued running of the same all depends on our supply of fuel.

We are continuing the free distribution of stamp packets through the youths' paper called The American Boy.

The splendid articles by Mr. W.

Dwight Burroughs are being continued of which he is now writing two, one on African Big Game as shown on stamps and the other on Nicaragua and Yelaya.

These articles are to be syndicated and will appear in various newspapers and periodicals throughout the country.

The above are matters which have also been done by former committees,and they have done and are doing much good for the cause of philately. Inaddition, however, it has been realized that there is a wide field of endeavor inappealing more directly and strongly both to parents and children. To dothis we have issued a folder and set of the stamps of Philippine Islands. The setcontains five stamps nicely mounted on a folder. Opposite each of the fivestamps is printed a brief description of the interesting points usually noticed bya beginner, with date of issue and U. S. money equivalent of the face value.On the same folder is printed a short history of the country, the people, coin-

THE "SPECIMEN" STAMPS.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

Nicaragua.—Here we find the 2 and 5c of 1862 in exchanged colors, on India paper, overprinted with the word "Specimen" in yellow or red. These are undoubtedly proofs as well as the issue of 1890, the first of the Seebeck series, which is found with "Specimen" stamped on, diagonally and in blue ink, with a hand stamp. Other issues, as for instance that of 1893, have been seen with violet, very irregular handstamping. They were pasted on cards and given out by the post administration as New Year's gifts or souvenirs.

Barbados.—The 5sh dull rose of 1873 has been overprinted with the word "Specimen" in black but it is very likely that this was done later because the issue of 1875-78 is found similarly overprinted with the same type and the word 13 mm. long.

St. Helena.—The issue of 1863 was hand stamped "Specimen" in blue black ink with the word 23 mm. long.

Trinidad.—The 6 pence of 1863 and the 5sh of 1869 are found with "Specimen" printed in small, thin type. Length of word 11 mm.

France.—Here we have the issue of 1853 with black, large and widely spaced overprint "Specimen," 16 mm. long. The issue of 1862-70 occurs with black, small overprint, 11½ mm. of the issue of 1876-78 (Allegory) the author of the paper has only seen the 40c overprinted diagonally with the word "Specimen," 19 mm. long. As it differs from the previous overprints and has an accent over the first e, its genuineness may be doubted.

Moens only lists the 2 and 4c of the 1862-70 issue (laureated) with Specimen overprints.

Belgium.—The issue of 1863, perforated, and the imperforate issue of 1865 are found with quite primitive red or black overprints done by typeset hand stamp. They are very likely proofs from de la Rue. The 40c of 1865 is also to be found hand stamped in larger type.

Dutch-Indies.—The issues of 1870 and 1883 as well as the postage due stamps had the word "Specimen" printed in black, horizontally, in thin type, 14½ mm. long. They are also found hand stamped diagonally.

Austria.—The issue of 1858 was overprinted in black with the word Specimen.

This was done in the government printing office, and copies of these Specimen stamps are extremely scarce.

Roumania.—Issue of 1872 (Paris and Bukarest printings) with black, spaced, vertical "Specimen" 21 mm. long.

Japan.—Complete sets of the issues of 1871, 1872, 1873, 1874, 1875 and 1877 were overprinted with Japanese characters as specimens for the different post offices.

United States.—The author only mentions the official stamps with the word "Specimen," sold to collectors and dealers from 1875-1884, and refers his readers to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, 1909, No. 30. No mention is made of the stamps overprinted "Sample" and "Sample A" which were printed from dies used 1879-88.

Argentina.—A number of the older stamps of this country were overprinted diagonally with the word "MUESTRA" and used as illustrations in a work over the Argentine postal service which was published and distributed by the Minister of Posts.

The author states that the "Specimen" stamps heretofore enumerated are to be considered as pioneers. It remained for the Universal Postal Union to regulate and give the official character to the issuance of Specimen stamps. The first Congress at Berne, 1874, paid little attention to this feature but the Congress which met at Paris in 1878 adopted a regulation which compelled each stamp issuing country to furnish three copies of each stamp to each of the postal administrations of the world who were members of the Union. The distribution of these specimens should be handled by the international bureau at Berne. The Congress of Vienna, in 1891, raised the number of these specimens to 5 but the Congress of Rome, 1906, again reduced it to 3 copies. The wording of the regulation is found in Article xxxix: "The Union administrations have to forward to each other, through the International Bureau:

1. A collection of their postage stamps in 3 copies, in which, when such is necessary, the date is given from which postage stamps of earlier issues became obsolete."

There are so far no regulations as to the nature of these exchange copies.

JUST OUT!
OF THE UNITED STATES AND ITS COLONIES
The Most Complete One Issued. It is Yours for the Asking.
H. F. COLMAN,
GEO. L. TOPPAN, Manager,
723 ELEVENTH ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The majority of the administrations, who are members of the Union, furnish them without any overprinting. Only a few administrations, as for instance England and its colonies, provide exchange stamps overprinted "Specimen."
It is with these Specimen overprints that the article will deal hereafter. These are the Specimens which at present are circulating in the stamp market having been released by courtesy or given in exchange to dealers by postal administrations having no particular interest in retaining them.

The great German philatelist, Linden-berg, stated in a paper read on this subject that the overprint "Specimen" is never found on a reprint. The author refutes this statement by pointing out "Specimen" reprints issued by the Australian colonies, and point out the cases which have come under his observation:
New South Wales.—Of the issue of 1854-56 there is a reprint having the small crown watermark of the issue of 1871. The 1p orange and 2p blue of these reprints are found with black "Specimen" overprint. The 5p and 1sh with the regular watermark and in the color of the originals, have also been found with black, very sharp "Specimen," 23 mm. long. A reprint of the registration stamp of 1856, orange and blue, exists with black, ornamental Specimen overprint 13 mm. long. Originals of the issue of 1860 have been seen with diagonal "Specimen," 23 mm. Issue of 1862-67 with black, small, diagonal "Specimen," 18 mm. Issue of 1888 occurs overprinted same as previous issue. The issue of 1871-91, inclusive of registration and postage due stamps, came on the market in large numbers overprinted in blue or black with the words "Specimen" or "Reprint."

New Zealand.—Of the older issues the author has only seen that of 1874 (originals) with inclined blue violet overprint, 15 mm. long.

Queensland. The author doubts if all of the quite numerous Specimens of this country are originals and notes the following of which he is sure:
Issue of 1862-66 with blue, diagonal, spaced overprint, 20 mm. long. Issue of 1864-66 with black, and blue overprint of similar type. Registration stamp of 1861, 6p olive. Issue of 1879-81 with black overprint, 27 mm. long, running from lower right hand corner towards the upper left, and also placed otherwise. The issue of 1882, but only the high values with blue, diagonal overprint of same type as that of 1862-66. It appears as if the older issues were overprinted at the same time as the issue of 1881-1882.

South Australia.—Of the puzzling reprint material of this country, undoubtedly all of that of the issue of 1868-74 was overprinted "Reprint," but there are reprints of the older issues with the word "Specimen." The large size stamps of 1887-90 with Specimen overprint are said to be originals. If that is the case certainly more were overprinted than was needed for administration exchanges because they are quite frequently met with and have been offered by Senf Bros. at $18.00 for a set inclusive of the 20 pound value. Regular and official stamps of 1885 are found with black horizontally printed "Specimen," 16½ mm. long, and the issue of 1901-02 with black horizontal overprint 12 mm. long.

Tasmania.—The issue of 1871-76, and probably those following was overprinted horizontally in black with "Specimen" 18 mm. long.

CLARK SWALLOWS VOORHEES.
A change has been effected in Chicago's commercial circle that will occasion no little interest. On April 1st, Hugh M. Clark absorbed the business of B. L. Voorhees and while Mr. Voorhees is eliminated as a factor in the philatelic traders' ranks, Mr. Clark extends his business correspondingly, if not more; and so, the philatelic equation does not suffer.
Mr. Clark and Mr. Voorhees were friends before Mr. Clark became a dealer and their intimacy continued when Mr. Clark embarked in business, although they were keen rivals. The competition between the two as dealers was particularly sharp as they covered much the same field in their operations. Mr. Voorhees gave his attention wholly to auction sales and in retiring from his special field of endeavor Mr. Voorhees carries with him many warm wishes for his success. He bespeaks for Mr. Clark the same hearty support and cooperation from his customers that were so liberally granted to him. Mr. Clark takes over the Voorhees business in all its details. The extensive connections of Mr. Voorhees are acquired by Mr. Clark and the Voorhees list of buyers and sellers becomes the property of Mr. Clark. The auction sales held by B. L. Voorhees, hereafter will be conducted as Clark's Auction Sales; and thus will Mr. Clark's sales attain a greater celebrity than ever.
Mr. Clark's rise as a dealer has been remarkable; from a small beginning a few years ago, he has achieved a position of real importance, and he is now entitled to rank among the leading dealers.

SIX PENCE VICTORIA, 1854-61.
For a good many years I have been making attempts to classify the types, but the differences are so minute, at least they appear so at first, that for a long time the task seemed hopeless. A short time ago, after examining a large number of stamps, it seemed to me that there were two distinct types. In the one which I shall call the "L" type, as the left-hand half of the pane of fifty contains only this variety, you will see that there is a sort of apostrophe after the

"A" of "VICTORIA," and that the long pointed ornament to the right of the word "STA" consists of three vertical white lines. In the case of the other, which I shall call the "R" type, as most of the right-hand half of the pane are of this type—to be exact there are twenty-two out of twenty-five—this long pointed ornament consists of only two vertical white lines. There is usually another clearly marked difference; in the case of the "R" types some of the curved lines in the scroll-work under the "P" of "PENCE" take the form of something like a horizontal note of interrogation, while in the "L" types there are two slanting coloured lines in the same place.
It is difficult to assign a reason for these peculiarities. It is possible that all the engravings were the work of one man, and that for some reasons or other there was an interval between the time he finished the first part of his task, and began the second part; or it is possible that they were the work of two men. The latter is perhaps the more probable, as the peculiarities are so very marked.
At any rate, they are of the greatest assistance in plating; and in the majority of cases if one of these peculiarities is hidden by the postmark another is fairly certain to be visible.
As has already been mentioned the left-hand half of the pane of fifty contains only the "L" types, while the right-hand half contains twenty-two of the "R" type and three of the "L" type; these are the seventh, ninth and tenth from the left of the top row.—L. NICARAGUA
We have a fine stock of Nicaragua from 1901 to date, most of them postally used. Will send approval selections on which we will allow a discount of 75% from Scott's prices, and if the entire selection is retained, will allow 80% discount.
It is not often that this class of postally used Nicaragua are offered at such a large discount, and our stock of many of the scarcer varieties is very small.
We have approval selections of other Countries at similar discounts. Would like to hear from collectors who will buy liberally when they can buy cheap.

A NEW 2c ENVELOPE DIE?

BY CHARLES E. JENNEY.

Thought you would like to have early news of a new die of the current 2c envelope that is appearing, though probably others have noticed it and have reported already. It first attracted my attention by the word "Two" being very high, away out of centre. Further examination shows that the initial "S" of "States" has much longer ends; that the top stroke of each "T" in "States" is very much shorter and that the words "Two" and "Cents" are nearer to each other. Probably there are other differences, but these are first discernible. Are we to have the flood of varieties that the 1864 issue, the prototype of this issue, provided?

A BEER STAMP WITH INVERTED CENTRE.

BY J. W. PREVOST.

At last, the long search is ended and it has been found. The editor refers to a beer stamp with inverted center. W. D. Grout of Worcester, Mass., is the lucky finder. In a small collection of about 60 specimens bought from some dealer in New York were four or five specimens of the ¼ bbl. 1875 beer stamps. For nearly a week Mr. Grout had them in his possession before he noticed that one of them did not appear just right and on closer examination the startling discovery was made. The stamp is a beautiful specimen, lightly cancelled and with even margins, and to say that Mr. Grout is pleased with his find is putting it mildly. Well he may be for it seems to be a rarity of the first water.

Beer stamps have been printed with black medallions and colored borders since 1871. Now does it not seem strange that inverted medallions should not have been discovered before? Has this occurred only once in 39 years? You all know our beautiful 1869 set set of postage stamps was in use only one year, yet this error occurred on three values and the same is true of the Pan-American set. It would lead us to think that the Bureau of Engraving is much more careful in printing our revenue stamps than in printing the postage stamps.

Mr. Grout's luck did not end with this discovery. He also found a copy of the 1871 ½ bbl. brown beer stamp on white paper. This is a stamp that the compilers of "Philatelic Side Lines No. 1" had never seen, and it was their opinion that the ½ bbl. brown did not exist on white paper.

Now will some one dig up the ½ bbl. red on violet and green paper? This will make things interesting.

8c U. S. 1895 ON U. S. I. R. PAPER PRICE $50 USED

This postage stamp on U. S. I. R. paper is one of the most interesting errors recently brought to light. Its discovery is chronicled in E. B. Powers' book on United States stamps, published by Stanley Gibbons, and the stamp is therein stated to be worth at least $50 used. We were fortunate enough to secure four copies of this rarity, two of which have been sold at $50 each. We offer the other two, subject to prior sale, at $50 each.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT, PHILADELPHIA, PA.
1204 CHESTNUT STREET.

DEATH OF G. FRED H. GIBSON.

(The death of Mr. Gibson will be a severe blow to English philately. For thirteen years Honorary Secretary of the Manchester Philatelic Society and closely identified with every philatelic activity, his loss will be keenly felt. We take from the Postage Stamp the following brief story of his career.—Ed.)

Philately in Manchester sustains a great loss by the death on Sunday, March 20th of Mr. G. Fred H. Gibson, who has been the Honorary Secretary of the Manchester Philatelic Society since 1897. We had heard with much regret of his recent illness which was known at the last meeting of the Manchester society.

Mr. Gibson who had just entered his forty-ninth year was one of the best known, and the most popular of the circle of advanced collectors in Manchester. He retired from business a few years back to devote a great deal of his time to his honorary duties on the Manchester Corporation of which he was an esteemed member and to the philatelic society in which he was a most able secretary.

"Fred" Gibson, as he was affectionately called, began to collect stamps in his teens, but it was not until he came within the influence of the Manchester group of which Mr. Vernon Roberts and Mr. Dornier Beckton were the leaders that he developed to specialism. He early joined the Manchester Philatelic Society, founded in 1891, and a couple of years later became a member of the committee, succeeding Mr. A. H. Harrison as Honorary Secretary in 1897.

Mr. Gibson was among the very few advanced collectors who maintained an interest in the collecting of entire postcards. His chief specialised collection of adhesive stamps was probably the well-known one of Gibraltar and the Morocco Agencies which has been exhibited on several occasions. He was a fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society, and amongst other important efforts on behalf of philately he had the no light task of organising the highly successful International Philatelic Exhibition in Manchester in 1899.

He was keenly interested in the junior movement and was the first Manchester collector to discuss the formation of a local branch of the Junior Philatelic Society in that city, and his assistance in the foundation of the branch in 1905 contributed in no small measure to the success which was then achieved. He was the breeziest of speakers at a meeting or a banquet and the cheeriest of companions. Manchester will miss him in its public affairs, it will miss him socially. Philately will not miss him alone in Manchester, but wherever there are collectors who had the privilege of having been associated with him or his work.

Mr. Gibson had another hobby (possibly one of several), and that was the collecting of antique clocks. We always thought that this hobby of his was very characteristic of a man who was himself a model of precision. When at his charming home in Crumpsall, we doubt whether he ever failed to miss his nightly round of the numerous clocks; and certainly he was scrupulously prompt and methodical in his duties as Hon. Secretary of the Manchester Philatelic Society.

THE STAMP MARKET.

BY SENAX.

Items that are comparatively scarce may be occasionally met with in some wholesale lists, but where such lists are monthly ones these quotations do not "stand" for very long. One such list just to hand has a tempting array of used Portuguese Colonials up to the 100 reis value in some instances, and including a sprinkling of unpaids. These seem to be some of the sorts that a general collector would be glad of.

The 12c British East Africa, 1907, is priced per ten copies, a new quotation, although one knows of at least one English dealer who can probably supply these in quantity up to the 2 rupees.

The 5c and 7c Canada Quebecs are also here noticed per ten copies, but do not seem over cheap.

In view of the forthcoming new series for Chili it should be worth while investing in a hundred each of the 15c and 30c of the current issue.

Ecuador, 1909, are on sale in some quantity, also Costa Rica, 1908; these and similar postally used South American of a pictorial character will be found to have a market in certain directions.

A current Australian list quotes prices for some high value British, which seem very cheap; presumably these have found their way to that neighborhood on parcels.

The 4, 6 and 8 sen values of Japan are usually found to be good sellers.

High values of Mexico, 1899, are not difficult to light upon, and are good stock.

The 12 satangs, Siam, 1909, are on sale in one place per hundred at what seems to be a very moderate price.

The 10c U. S. A. Unpaid of 1895 is usually cheaper than either the 3c or the 5c.

It is possible that Luxemburg Service stamps may be met with by correspondence with Belgium.

The 35c French 1906, Type I, with thin figures, should be good to hold in quantity. A parcel of these, bought when prices were "down," is now worth at least double its cost.

The 35c Tunis Pictorial seems cheaper, and should be a good stamp for selling.

One is driven to the conclusion that there is possibly a certain degree of scarcity among used middle values of Pictorial French Colonials.

Hudson-Fultons will probably prove to be "better" stamps than the Alaskas. 1s 3d is asked in one place for the 2 rupees India, King's Head, O.H.M.S., used.

The 25c Panama 1906 should be a good stamp. Panama is collected almost universally, and thousands of people will be on the look-out for this denomination.

The 40c, 50c and 1 franc Monaco, per ten copies, are a new quotation; usually these are only picked up singly.

Ivory Coast Parcel Post will read as an unfamiliar item to many, but among French collectors these stamps have of course their devotees, and a long price has to be paid for most of the values. Surcharged Indo-China Unpaids are another somewhat out-of-the-way class. —Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Markings on U. S.—At the suggestion of a reader who is devoting attention to the markings of the earlier used United States stamps, we have been gathering some notes respecting the cancellations and postmarks as they may have been applied to the stamps. We have found that before 1859, there did not seem to be any attempt to force a regularity of use of the canceling stamp independently of the postmark and consequently, the stamps before that date are very often found on the envelope canceled by the postmark. The postal regulations for 1859 call attention to the proper use of the postmarking and canceling stamps, the first to be impressed on the letter and the second on the stamp; but it appears that they did not make the observance of this rule mandatory. A short time afterwards, "the use of the office-rating or postmarking stamp as a canceling instrument is positively prohibited, inasmuch as the postmark when impressed on the postage stamp is usually indistinct, and the cancellation effected thereby is imperfect. The postage stamp must, therefore, be effectually canceled with a separate instrument." Later, the following instructions appeared: "The cancellation or defacing must be effected by the use of black printing ink, wherever that material can be obtained; and where it cannot, the operation should be performed by making several heavy crosses or parallel lines upon each stamp, with

In connection with foregoing, it must be remembered that the department habitually called attention to the carelessness of postmasters in attending to the rules for postmarking and canceling. The violations were unceasing and stamps are to be found with all manner of cancellations.

Again—The success of the Seybold sales serves to illustrate the claim so often and so justly made that any collection much out of the ordinary by reason of its interesting and unusual quality will be likely to yield its seller a satisfactory return if all the avenues of competition are widely opened. We are quite prepared to believe the statement in Judge's recent editorial on "the coin and stamp collection fads" to the effect that "every year the value of rare stamps increases, too."

* * *

Great Institution—At a dinner in celebration of the 70th anniversary of the incorporation of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company held in London some time since, the chairman furnished the following historical information in the course of the evening. The company is the oldest Transatlantic carrier in the world and during its seventy years of existence, it has rendered service to the nation in times of war as well as of peace. Primarily, the company was established to connect Great Britain with the West Indian colonies but within a score of years from the date of its organization, the company has extended its connections to the South American countries, Australia, Mexico, Cuba and the United States; and later to Morocco, China and Japan. The first contract was entered into with the Commissioners acting for the Lord High Admiral and not with the Postmaster-General. The company now makes its ports in thirty foreign countries and twenty British colonies and is no longer subsidized by the British government. The issue of a single stamp by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company in 1875 identifies the company in the philatelic mind. The stamp was a local and was used to prepay mail matter between a few ports in the West Indies until about the year 1880, when the stamp was retired.

A Few Flights—In these days of aviation an investigator opportunely remarks that he has discovered that in the '40s an enterprising citizen proposed to carry mail by air-ship but the offer was declined by the earthly-minded officers of the postal department. The Associated Press dispatch says: "An employe rummaging through the files of the post-office department has found a letter written Oct. 21, 1845, proposing to carry the mails in a machine for 'traversing the air like a bird.' The offer was made by P. O. Davidson of Mobile, Ala. The government did not accept the offer." We can beat this, as in 1766, the third line of new stages for New York was established in Philadelphia and was called the "Flying Machine." The promoters of the "Flying Machine" contracted to make the distance between the two cities in two days, instead of the usual three day period, except in winter, when even the "Flying Machine" required the customary allowance of three days. The first line of stages between Philadelphia and New York was established in 1756.

First Stages—While on the subject of early stages which carried the mails, attention may be called to the following advertisement which appeared in the Weekly Mercury of Philadelphia, issue of March 8, 1759: "Philadelphia Stage Wagon and New York Stage Boat performs their stages twice a week. John Butler with his wagon, sets out on Monday from his house at the sign of the Death of the Fox in Strawberry Ally, and drives the same day to Trenton, Ferry, when Francis Holman meets him, and proceeds on Tuesday to Brunswick, and the passengers and goods being shifted into the wagon of Isaac Fitzrandolph, he takes them to the New Blazing Star to Jacob Fitzrandolph's the same day, where Ruben Fitzrandolph, with about well suted, will receive them and take them to New York that night. John Butler returning to Philadelphia on Tuesday with the passengers and goods delivered to him by Francis Holman, will again set out for Trenton Ferry on Thursday and Francis Holman &c. will carry his passengers and goods, with the same expedition as above to New York. March 8, 1759." Before the advent of stages, the mails were conveyed by "post horses."

Smarty—A collector who submitted for inspection, a halved two-cent of the current issue used provisionally as a one-cent stamp on a picture postal card was told that while his specimen was of some curious interest, it had no real philatelic value. He expressed disbelief of this opinion and says that our statement that recent provisionals are regarded with suspicion as being of philatelic and not of official origin and that at best they are the result of favor or carelessness may be open to argument. We now find that the postal laws and regulations approved March 3, 1879, interdict the use of such specimens and it is not unlikely that earlier than this, the same or similar prohibitory mention is made in the rules. At least the following quotation will show that any "provisional" after 1879 is irregular and unauthorized from the departmental view: "Fractional parts of postage-stamps and postage-due stamps cannot be recognized in prepayment of postage. For example, a letter or package to which one two-cent stamp and the half of another two-cent stamp are affixed cannot be considered as having been prepaid three cents, but only two cents; and a letter or package on which eighteen cents postage is chargeable cannot be prepaid in full by affixing a six-cent stamp and the half of a twenty-four cent stamp." The department called such mutilated varieties "improper stamps" and clearly indicated their invalidity.

TOLEDO MAIL ROBBERY.

The Quaker Stamp Co. has been put to serious loss and inconvenience by the theft of a package containing some three hundred letters from a local mail wagon. P. E. Rood, the manager, has sent out a notice referring to the loss and asking for a presentation of any information possible in connection with orders sent or approval selections returned.

The firm proposes to do everything in its power to adjust losses in such a way as to cause their customers as little annoyance as possible.

30,000 STAMPS

In six volumes, at half Cat. Collections bought. Stamp & Coin Exchange, 65 Nassau, N.Y. City

TO THE GARFIELD-PERRY STAMP CLUB.

(The following letter of regret in verse was sent Mr. Alvin Good, secretary of the club, in connection with the recent anniversary celebration, full particulars of which have been published in the WEEKLY. The author of the sentiments so well expressed is J. Murray Bartels of this city.—ED.)

Destined to shine through ages and ages,
A city, abounding in treasures galore,
Mecca to those the world will call sages
And all who cherish philately's lore,

You now celebrate a festive event
And rejoice at the great occasion,
You point to a record of twenty years spent,
And invite our friendly invasion.

But duties and work, kind friends in Ohio,
Absorbing completely our time, day by day,
Compel us, forsooth, ourselves to deny, oh!
This pleasure so festive, inviting and gay.

With Boston and Cleveland such distance apart,
And having been there quite recently too,
It really seems hard to make a new start,
So send these few rhymes, the best we can do.

May March nineteenth be a red letter day
In the Stamp Club's annals and history;
May the world see anew the wonderful sway
Of philately's charm and its mystery.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Gerald D. Bliss and A. F. Henkels.

—Gerald D. Bliss sends us a clipping from the Panama Star-Herald which states that a new issue of stamps has been ordered for Costa Rica, the step being taken because of forgeries in circulation. It is rumored that several officials high in authority may be brought up with a sharp turn.

—"When the green Specials for the U. S. were printed, the Bureau of Engraving also printed 130 sheets of the Philippine Islands Specials in the same color and put them away awaiting a requisition but before such a requisition was placed the color was changed back to blue again and now the green Philippines Specials are to be destroyed. The number of sheets being so small there would have been quite a rise in price in them if they had been allowed to go to the Islands but the fact that they were not sent only demonstrates more clearly that the Department does try to prevent speculative issues being put out."

A. P. S. HISTORICAL NOTES.

By H. A. DAVIS, Pres. Colo. Branch No. 22

Year 1906, 21st Annual Convention.

At the beginning of the year the total membership was 672. On Feb. 10th, President Stone announced the date of Aug. 14th for holding the 21st annual convention in Boston. Secretary Eaton mailed the Year Book in March. During the year the Board of Vice Presidents devoted much time and attention looking to ways and means for suppressing the sending of unsolicited approval selections, and from time to time reported through the official journal.

In June the Chicago Branch made the following nominations for Board of Directors: For President, W. C. Stone, Mass.; Bd. of V. Pres., H. N. Mudge, H. A. Fowler, F. Michael, all of Ill.; Secy., A. F. Henkels, Pa.; Treas., H. G. Smith, Minn.; Int. Secy., D. T. Eaton, Ia.; Directors, W. E. Loy, Calif.; J. S. Rich, N. Y.

On July 28th occurred the death of one of the directors of the association, W. E. Loy of Calif.

The 21st annual convention was called to order by Pres. Stone, Tuesday, Aug. 14th at 9.30 a. m. at the Bellevue Hotel, Boston. There were 87 members, 5 applicants and 63 guests present and 368 members represented by proxy.

The Secretary's report showed the total membership to be 826, a gain of 152 members for the fiscal year. There were 41 members dropped for non-payment of dues, 25 resignations, 7 deceased and one expelled. There were 18 reinstatements and 208 new stockholders added.

The Treasurer reported the receipts for the year to be $1,143.45, disbursements $1,030.39, bal. general fund, overdrawn, $30.26; stock account $2,315.00, exchange $26.50, total bal. $2,893.21.

In the sales department there were stamps sent in to the amount of $32,240.50 from which sales were made to the amount of $5,711.93. The secretary was authorized to issue duplicate stock certificates in place of those lost in the San Francisco fire. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was elected official journal.

A committee was appointed by the president consisting of Severn, Mudge, Rich and Deats to take into consideration the advisability and practicability of compiling and estimating the cost of an official catalog to be published by the association similar to the French official.

Denver was selected for the next convention seat with 334 votes against 37 for Jamestown and 31 for Put-in-Bay.

$150.00 was voted for use of the Recruiting Committee. It was voted "that the association at its own expense have a new die made to produce button badges of the association, the cost of the die to be distributed among the first 500 sold." (This resolution was ignored or forgotten by the Board of Directors. It is still in force, having never been rescinded by a convention.)

The following resolutions were adopted: Resigned members may be reinstated and given old number. The treasurer in his annual report shall present documentary evidence of possession of bal. reported in some form such as "certification." Insurance of sales department entries to be 1% instead of 1/2 of 1%. Supt. of Sales not required to report quarterly to the Board of Directors. Supt. of Sales may use his discretion as to circulation of books in foreign countries. In the matter of unsolicited selections it was voted that a standing notice be inserted in the official journal requesting applicants to report to the secretary names of dealers sending out such selections, hold such selections until registration fee sent for their return, and to return stamps without making any purchase.

It was voted that F. D. Goodhue be appointed chairman of a committee to report to the Board of Directors a plan for black-listing dishonest dealers and collectors.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete.

Now, for a few weeks, we shall advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Gen. C. A. Coolidge shows us a copy of the current 2c wrapper, with the white mark across the lower right corner of the stamp. We have also found the same defect in the wrappers sold at the Boston Post Office. It is apparently a defect in printing, the paper wrinkling a trifle and thus causing a white mark. We have also seen the same wrapper with an enlarged and defective "E" in "One", but this is not at all common.

E. H. Banks shows us the current 2c stamp on a soft grayish paper, similar to that noted some time since for the special delivery stamp.

CANADA.—The Hobbyist says that the current 1c stamp exists on thin, medium and thick paper, the thin paper being slightly ribbed.

COLOMBIA.—Medellin—A German contemporary reports having seen the small oblong 50c stamp chronicled in No. 986 in a new color.

Adhesive.

50c gray green.

CRETE.—Mr. Schachne has shown us the 10x10 card surcharged "Ellas," with a somewhat longer surcharge and not as well done as on the card already reported. This is said to be hand-stamped and the word measures over 12 mm. instead of former length of 11 mm.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Offices in the Levant.—The 2d has now been issued in the chalky paper, with overprint "Levant", the New England Stamp Co. having shown us a copy.

INDIA.—Jaipur—The 1 rupee stamp is now issued in lemon yellow instead of orange yellow.

Nabha.—The 2a 6p King's head has been issued with the usual overprint for this state. Ewen's Weekly says that the whole issue was bought up by local speculators, and as the Post Office authorities announce that no more are to be printed, collectors seem to be at the mercy of the Nabhan speculators.

Adhesive.

2a 6p ultramarine, surcharge black.

ITALY.—Offices in Crete.—Mr. Schachne sends us the Italian card—Senf 38—with "La Canea" under the stamp in the usual block type. The card is dated 09.

Post Card.

5c green and 10c carmine on gray.

MALAY STATES.—Ewen's Weekly reports a new printing of the 1c green, the stamp being now printed at one impression. There are small variations from that printed in two impressions, including a thinner line under "Malay".

NEW HEBRIDES.—Ewen's Weekly calls attention to the fact that on the new surcharged stamps, noted in No. 1006, the word "Condominium" is printed at a different operation from the rest of the surcharge and therefore the space between "Hebrides" and "Condominium" varies, while the "C" is sometimes under the "H" and sometimes much to the left of it.

NEW ZEALAND.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 2d and 4d stamps of the last issue in new shades.

Adhesives.

2d plum.
4d yellow brown and dark blue.

NYASSA.—Champion's Bulletin reports some new provisionals, the stamps of 1901 being overprinted with new value and "Provisorio".

Provisional Adhesives.

5r on 2 1/2r black and red brown.
50r on 100r black and brown bistre.

PAPUA.—E. H. Banks reports having seen the 2sh 6d stamp, with the bottom of the "U" in "Papua" broken.

PORTUGAL.—Mr. Schachne has received the new cards and letter cards with the new stamp—vignette of the young King facing left, new arms surmounted with a crown at upper left, two headlines "Bilhete Postal" (arched) "10 Reis". Divided face style, the lower half being like the previous issue. The letter cards have stamp as above at upper right and the headline is changed to "Bilhete—Carta". The size is larger 138x88. The singles are folded at bottom and perf. I, while the doubles are folded at top and perf. III.

FINEST CHILIAN COLLECTION IN THE WORLD.

While in Santiago Mr. Phillips saw a collection of Chilean stamps which he declares to be the finest of its kind in the world. He writes:

I can only give a very rough idea of this collection, which is composed entirely of stamps in perfect condition. In superb unused condition I noted as follows:

July, 1853. 10c, deep bright blue, 6
1854. 5c lithographed (5 colours), 16
Aug., 1854. 5c burnt sienna, 8
10c many colours about 30

In used stamps there were over 100 of the lithographed 5c, including nearly a dozen transfer varieties.

5c red, printed on both sides, with both small and large wmk., twelve copies.

10c deep blue error wmk., "20," two fine specimens.

This is one of the finest and best studied collections I have seen, and curiously enough it has been formed by a foreign gentleman, who has resided in Chili for less than twenty-three years.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

THE LONG STAMPS OF SO. AUSTRALIA.

By F. F. LAMB.

The first of the "long" stamps to be issued was the 9d lake in the same type as illustrated below, which duly appeared in October, 1902, to be followed by the 3d, 4d, 6d, 8d, 10d, 1sh, 2sh 6d and 5sh stamps before the end of the year. The two high values, the 10sh and £1, were not issued until some months later. These stamps were printed in sheets of 60—6 rows on half sheets of the ordinary paper watermarked with 240 "SA and Crowns" (4 panes of 60) and well perforated 11½. The old plate used for the "Postage & Revenue" stamps of 1887-95 was used to print these stamps, with the two words erased. A duty plate for each value, consisting of the word "Postage" for the blank space at the top and the value at the bottom was also made, with the result that the stamps were printed at two operations, leading to, as we frequently find, the word "Postage" or the value being printed out of alignment. For all the values, with the exception I believe of the four highest, more than one duty plate for the word "Postage" and the value was used, with the result that we find variations in the length of the words. This variation sometimes differs to the extent of at least 1 mm. The eightpenny value however shows a much greater variation, with the result that two varieties are catalogued.

On this value is found the very rare error "EIGNT" instead of "EIGHT"; it occurred once on every sheet, being the last stamp but one on the second row. This "error" was noticed before many sheets had been sold, with the result that it is estimated that not more than 50 copies were sold to the public. The following letter, contributed to the Australian Journal of Philately and which I reproduce from Ewen's Weekly Stamp News of Oct. 8th, 1904, throws a little light on the subject:

A. KRASSA,

71-73 Nassau St., NEW YORK, N. Y.

"Postmaster-General's Department, MELBOURNE, 2nd August, 1904.

"Sir:—With reference to your communication of the 28th June last, respecting an error in the lettering of one stamp in every sheet of eight-penny stamps issued by this department in South Australia recently, etc., I have the honour, by direction, to inform you that enquiry has been made into the matter, and the following is a copy of a report submitted by the Deputy Postmaster-General, Adelaide, in regard thereto:—"That the error "eight" for "eight" was made by the workmen of Messrs. Sands & McDougall, who prepared the stereotypes for this office.

"As soon as the error was discovered we discontinued selling any of the stamps on which the incorrect word was printed.

"The mistake was quite accidental, and is much regretted. The stamps withdrawn from sale are in a sealed envelope and will, as usual in such cases, be burnt in the presence of two responsible officers."

As already stated all these values were perforated by the machine which gave a gauge of 11½. Towards the end of 1903, a new machine however was brought into use for these stamps, which gauged a true 12. We have therefore the full set (3d to £1) perforated 11½; four values 3d, 4d, 6d and 9d, perforated 12 (a new plate came into use or the higher values have come out with the 12 gauge) and five values (possibly others exist) which give a gauge of 11½ by 12½.

In 1904, due partly perhaps to the fact that so many stamps with badly centred inscriptions were being printed, it was decided to print the long stamps from a new plate which had the word "Postage" engraved on it. This was done with the result that the current stamps of the "large Postage" set as they are called, appeared.

By this method of printing the "duty plate," which previously had the word "Postage" and the value inscribed on it, had to be altered as the "Postage" would now be superfluous.

All the values of the old set have already appeared in the thick Postage type, either on Crown and S. A. or Crown and A paper.

These "long" stamps of South Australia should prove an interesting study to collectors of new issues as many varieties, caused through careless printing, exist. For instance many of the values are to be found so carelessly printed that only half of the lettering which should be in the value tablet is there, the rest is either above or right off the stamp. These varieties, however, were nearly always noticed before the stamps were sold to the public with the result that the majority were used for franking official correspondence and were perforated with the initials "o.s." or "S. A."

Why these long labels have had such a long life I do not know as, writing from personal experience, I found they were not generally popular in South Australia, especially the 3d value, which, in conjunction with the 2d stamp is used largely for registered letters.—Phil. Journal of Gt. Britain.

LOS ANGELES AND SOUTHERN CAL. BRANCH.

After a lot of time elapsed we finally got together the other day and had our first business meeting of the Branch No. 35, L. A. & So. Cal. Resolved to try and get new A. P. S. members and thus increase our Branch. Elected Mr. Guy temporary Branch Circuit Manager. Resolved to wait until we got more members in Branch before we elected President, Vice President, etc. Treasury reported to be in healthy condition.

Fred Hoffman resigned from Branch as he works all night at G. P. O. and has to study up routes, etc., and has no time for stamps. E. W. Hendrick resigned. W. H. Bainbridge practically resigned as he has had some controversy with Mr. Tuttle of the Bogert & Durbin Co.

Mr. Kemper of Cincinnati was a visitor at meeting. Secretary proposed that the Branch donate $2.50 to the Educational Committee but was voted down as three members have quit, leaving us only seven as a working force. Secretary said he had subscribed $5.00 to the Educational Com. himself and would bring up the $2.50 donation again. Fine collection of Hawaii sent by H. J. Crocker (owned by Nassau Stamp Co.) was exhibited.

Meetings to be held at the Y. M. C. A. every Tuesday, afternoons and evenings alternating. Meeting closed after some exchanging and selling of stamps.

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

TWO POUNDS MISSIONARIES POST PAID FOR $1.00

A very good Mixture. A 2 pound lot contains between 12,000 and 14,000 stamps, average price about 7½c per 1000 stamps.

Mr. J. L. Howe, Lexington, Va., writes:  Mr. Chapin told me that having tried quite a number of firms for these Missionaries, he finds your Mixture by far the best.

We have a great many testimonials like this, and of course also have a few from unfortunate persons who claim they did not make a very great find. At any rate, these stamps are certainly cheap at the average price of 7½c per thousand, postpaid.

Send $1.00 and we will send you a two pound lot, guaranteed unpicked, just as imported.

The New Stock Certificates will soon be ready for distribution and we hope that the delay will not prove trying.

Will Secretaries of Branch Societies kindly remember that all reports of Branch meetings must be sent to the Secretary of the A. P. S., for publication in the Official Organ? The Secretary of the A. P. S. respectfully requests that the Secretaries of all Branch Societies send in for publication the minutes of every meeting held by that Branch.

There have been several complaints from different members that they have failed to receive numbers of the Quarterly just issued. Many of these members had failed to notify the Secretary of their change of address and there are no doubt many more that have not yet notified the Secretary. If you desire that your name and address be inserted properly in the next number of the Quarterly, to be issued right away, you should notify the Secretary at once if you have not already done so.

VARIATIONS IN INK AND PAPER.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS.

There was recently submitted to the Post Office Dept. a block of the present issue 10 cent stamps on a paper that had the thickness of the experimental paper but had a rather yellowish appearance. The collector who sent them was puzzled to know if it was some new paper that had not been chronicled before or whether it was the experimental paper that had gathered a yellow cast from the ink used in printing. The stamps were submitted to Mr. Ralph, the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, with the request that he would state all facts in regard to the paper that he could.

He replied to the inquiries as follows: "The block of four 10 cent ordinary stamps (orange) submitted, are printed on paper identical with that now in use (Coniferous wood pulp) and is of the same formation. The slight difference in color is due to the film of color left on the plate, technically known as "sly-wipe", and to the fact that the paper has aged somewhat. The higher denominations of stamps are more likely to accumulate in the vault at the Bureau and in the Post Offices, and owing to age may be darker in color.

"At the beginning of the present contract it was found that the normal thickness of the paper was not sufficient to withstand some of the mechanical operations and permission was given the contractor to increase it. This should also explain the two cent ordinary printed on heavier paper.

"Wood pulp paper is always subjected to great variations in the process of manufacture, as trees vary in their nature in different localities, and their susceptibility to the re-agents used to disintegrate them into pulp varies. The finished paper also changes very rapidly, turning yellow, both from oxydization of the cellulose and fading of the aniline dyes used to "blue" it. Very light tints of color are liable to occur at any time, but should have no significance, as they are invariably of coal-tar origin and are fugitive, even in the dark.

"The stock may vary from time to time, as the supply of wood available at the mill may require the substitution of other varieties, and might require a percentage of rag to bring it up to strength. Of course, a difference of this nature, would require some visual indication such as a decided but probably fugitive tint, as was the case with the special experimental paper issued some time ago, to make it perceptible without a microscopical examination by an expert.

"Slight changes in color of the ink may occur from time to time in spite of care taken to secure uniformity as atmospheric and mechanical differences may change many of the inks. This is particularly noticeable in the greens. This ink is composed of a heavy yellow (lead chromate) and a very light blue (prussian) and should the rate of drying be retarded by any reason, such as a humid atmosphere, the force of gravity will partially separate the two constituents, making the green decidedly bluer.

"While it is possible to produce stamps of absolute uniformity, the cost of such would greatly exceed their face value and it is doubtful if they would be any more exempt from counterfeiting than those now made on a commercial basis with slight, but easily accounted for variations.

"Collectors should be advised to confine themselves to well defined and authorized changes in colors, engraving and watermarking, as the minute differences recently observed are beyond the control of the Bureau and are likely to an extent to be repeated at any time. Furthermore, these differences may be readily simulated by a little skill and research, and then the genuineness can only be determined by an expert and at considerable expense and by the destruction of at least a part of the stamp."

There are a great many collectors who collect the most minute variations in shade in all stamps and who are always asking the dealers to submit all possible shades on approval which is both annoying and unprofitable to the majority of dealers. This official information from the man best able to give it should be considered very carefully by all collectors who are prone to make too much of these minor variations of paper and ink which it is impossible to eliminate.

OUR ENGLISH LETTER.

By W. WARD.

The Second British Congress.—To meet about the time this appears in print. The Secretary has sent me the list of events programmed out for the three days. They are:—

Wednesday, April 27th.—(1) Earl Crawford opens Congress, 4 P. M.; (2) Major Evans gives address; (3) "Manufacture of Stamps," paper by employee of Perkins, Bacon & Co.

Thursday, April 28th.—(1) "Advisability of Uniformity of Philatelic Terms," by W. D. Beckton; (2) "Unsolicited Approval Sheets," by Fred J. Melville; (3) "Guarantees of Authenticity," by W. Hadlow.

Friday, April 29th.—(1) "Prevention of Forgery," by E. B. Evans, Major; (2) "Prevention of Substitution from Exchange Sheets," by T. H. Hinton; (3) "Scheme to Found a Universal Philatelic Union," by W. Ward; (4) "Prevention of Speculative Issues," by M. P. Castle.

The Congress will be closed by Parliamentary Representative J. Henniker Heaton, the bringer-about of Empire Penny Postage. Forty different British philatelic societies will be represented by ninety delegates, together with prominent officials of the various societies, non-representative philatelists and collector friends. A goodly crowd of upwards of 200 are at least expected.

British Levant.—There is a variety of the figure 4 on the 1½ piastre value. They will, however, not be very scarce for there are about 20% of them on every sheet. It will be remembered that this peculiar method of localising Levant Offices was started many years ago by France, in the issues for Vathy, Port Lagos and other places. The French authorities soon dropped these and today only run issues to cover (1) Turkey, (2) Crete and (3) Egypt. I rather think that the French authorities cannot be accused of publishing these issues for collectors or why would they have ceased to produce? I think if collectors place the Russian and Italian Levants alongside the U. S. and Canadian precancels they will not be far out of the way.

Postmaster General and Philatelist.—The great Indian Empire is the first to recognize the worth of a philatelist as the man for the office of Postmaster General. All too often men who have no knowledge of postal affairs and postal ways and means are elevated to the great postal honors and responsibilities of their countries. Here in Great Britain we have had several instances of wrong men in such a position. This century we have had Austen Chamberlain, who paid so little attention to his real office in preference to his political affairs that he was soon compelled to give way to Lord Stanley (now Earl of Derby) who in turn was nearly the means of a strike of the whole of the Postal Service of Great Britain in 1905. Indeed in November of that year the British Postmen's Federation had prepared for a strike, which they held over for the general election, which resulted in the defeat of the government of the day, and of course a new Postmaster-General—Sidney Buxton—who soon restored peace to the service. India has found in her new Postmaster General, Mr. Stewart-Wilson, the President of the Philatelic Society of India, a man who thoroughly understands his work,—more so as already as he has been the Postmaster of Punjab. Of course, every philatelist does not possess the capabilities called for but there are collectors in every country who have carefully studied the postal arrangements of every country in the world, and must necessarily be of greater value to their country than the gentleman who only knows the tit-bits of the law, the up-keep of the poor or the successful working of municipal affairs. Here's to the following of the lead of India by every other responsible nation!

Well-Known Philatelist's Death.—I am sorry to have to record the death of G. F. H. Gibson, Hon. Secretary of the Manchester Philatelic Society, one of the oldest and greatest of our British Societies. He was a prime mover in the foundation of the 1st British Congress, an active philatelist, fellow of the Royal Society, and a Councillor of the City of Manchester, the second largest city in these islands. He was one of those few men who got on well with everybody. A good speaker, both serious and breezy, he was always in demand. Few men remain Honorary Secretary to any Society for 13 years,—the record of our late friend, who will be missed at the Congress this month.

Early Stamps Used as Postage Dues.—An English writer has just recently made a great deal of talk about his "discovery" (sic) that several early issues of certain countries were used both to prepay postage and as postage dues! Evidently it is not so widely known as I thought that most countries over 50 years ago used their prepaid franks as due stamps. Nearly all the West Indian colonies used them. It is not so great a time ago that I had a collection of covers. The U. S. and Canadian postal authorities often stuck adhesives on an insufficient or non-paid cover and cancelled it through with a pen stroke.

A TRANSVAAL VARIETY.

Lot No. 225 of Messrs. Ventom, Bull and Cooper's auction of Feb. 21 was described as "TRANSVAAL: 1877. 'V.R. TRANSVAAL', coarse soft paper, 1d brick-red, variety with wider spaced overprint, uncatalogued, used on piece . . ."

Although this stamp was not actually known to the Society at the date of the publication of Africa, Part III, its existence was foreshadowed in that work (see pages 494 et seq.). The variety "V.R. and TRANSVAAL, wider spaced," occurs only in the first setting of the overprint "All Capitals," being in fact No. 11 on the pane. In the Society's work it was shown that there were at least four different settings of the "All Capitals" overprint—the first, second and third, and probably the fourth of this type were settings of forty in ordinary printer's type—corresponding to the positions of the forty stamps on the panes of stamps. In some cases the stamps were printed from the two plates in pairs arranged horizontally, and, as a matter of fact, the overprint is found on panes printed from each plate.

The number of stamps overprinted with this first setting must have been very small; it comprised probably the whole of those overprinted in red, all of which are scarce. Further, a small number of sheets were overprinted in black from this setting—at least, the characteristic varieties of the first setting have long been known in connection with all the red impressions, and in black in connection with the One Penny on hard surface paper, and Six Pence and One Shilling on white coarse soft paper, but these last three stamps, together with the One Penny and the Three Pence on coarse soft paper, were overprinted to a much greater extent with the second setting of "V.R. TRANSVAAL," and possibly with the third setting. The One Penny on pelure paper was also to a very small extent overprinted with the second setting, but so far it is not known overprinted with any other setting.

It may be convenient to state that the chief peculiarities of the first setting are as follows—the notation being taken from Africa, Part III:—

Ab: occurring on No. 1 of the panes. No stop after "R" of "V.R."
Ac: occurring on No. 7 of the panes. No stop after "L" of "TRANSVAAL."
Ad 1: occurring on No. 5 of the pane. "L" of "TRANSVAAL" slightly raised.
Aa: occurring on No. 11. "V.R." and "TRANSVAAL" spaced widely (vertically).

It is true that a variety, no stop after "R" of "V.R.", occurs at least twice in the fourth setting, i.e. the setting employed for the Six Pence on rose-colored paper, but in these the letters are spaced and arranged differently from No. 1 of the first setting. Further varieties Ac, Ad 1, and Aa are not known in the fourth setting.

When the number and nature of the various settings was established, it became clear that these varieties did not occur once in every forty stamps having the overprint in black, because the bulk of the "All Capital" stamps overprinted "V.R. TRANSVAAL" in black ink, the One Penny on hard surfaced paper, the One Penny, Six Pence, and One Shilling on white coarse soft paper, belonged to the second setting. At the date of the publication of Africa, Part III, the One Penny on the coarse soft paper was known with the above varieties, Ab, Ad 1, and Ac. The two former, which belonged to the present writer, coincided with the similar varieties of the first setting in every respect, i.e. as regards alignment of the letters of the overprint and other details, and it was a fair inference that they belonged to the first setting, and therefore that the more striking variety, Aa, must also have existed.

The present writer has not actually seen the specimen sold at Messrs. Ventom, Bull and Cooper's auction, and by way of caution it must be remembered that the One Penny on white coarse soft paper exists without overprint, and therefore forgery of the overprint is admissible, but he is informed that the specimen in question was purchased by a gentleman who is well known as an expert in the issues of the Transvaal.

Some day perhaps there may come to light another variety which has hitherto not been recorded but whose probable existence was indicated in Africa, Part III, viz., the error "Transvral" with the overprint inverted.—London Philatelist.

THE "SPECIMEN" STAMPS.

From Berliner Briefm. Zeitung.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

Victoria has, as far as the author knows, no reprints overprinted with "Specimen," but on the other hand we find that this country has sent exchange copies overprinted "Reprint" to the other postal administrations. As "Specimen" stamps from this country we note Senf's No. 90, 8p brown, watermark "10," with a peculiarly twisted vertical overprint "Specimen." The issue of 1885 is found with black or blue, horizontal "Specimen" measuring 16 mm. and of a script type. The charity stamps of 1897, 1p blue and 2½p red brown appear with small, red overprint in italics, measuring 12 mm.

In general it is advisable to exercise great care with the "Specimen" stamps of the older issues of the Colonies mentioned as to their genuineness. The specimen stamps of the latest issues, on the other hand, can be accepted as genuine all through.

We have also to mention that a few series of the reprints of Portugal and its Colonies have been found overprinted Specimen, nor should the Hawaiian stamps of this nature be overlooked. In order to make the list of reprint "Specimens" as complete as possible, and turning to the native Indian states, we find that Mr. Kohl in his large catalogue and handbook states that all the Nabha reprints of 1885-91 as well as most of the 1887-90 reprints of the official stamps were overprinted "Specimen."

To list in a systematic order the official Specimen stamps which have appeared since the exchange through the Bureau at Berne was started is a very difficult undertaking. As previously referred to, it is only a part of the different administrations which overprint the stamps used for exchange purposes, but even those who do so are not strict in adhering to this method. Thus one issue may be sent to Berne without the overprint while the next appearing issue will have it. Great Britain and its Colonies have been the most regular in regard to the overprinting, although not free from omissions. In some cases Colonies have sent their new issues to Berne without the overprint or with only the high values overprinted. Hongkong, at one time, trimmed off the perforations along the sides of the stamps, and pasted them down solid.

The author states that the following list is more of an enumeration of things he has found than a real check list, but it should be taken into consideration, that, besides extensive personal researches, he has had access to the abundant stock and information which are in the hands of Mr. Philipp Kosack. Consequently his list, even if incomplete, can be accepted by collectors as the most serviceable which has been published up to the present time.

Argentina, besides the presentation copies previously referred to, the issue of 1891-1892 (portrait designs) with diagonal, sharp overprint "Muestra" 13 mm. long. Of the 1, 5 and 20 pesos not less than 2000 copies were overprinted, thus far in excess of the needs of the Bureau at Berne.

Bulgaria—The issues of 1881-1882, and 1886 with diagonal overprint "Specimen" in Russian characters. The issue of 1882 is also found marked Specimen by handwriting in black, blue or red ink. The marking consists of three letters taken from the Russian word which corresponds to "Specimen" and looks like a capital O, a figure 6 and a lower case p placed together, thus "O6p". The issue of 1889 is found overprinted Specimen in black. The word is 14 mm. long.

China.—Issue of 1898 with sharp, quite ornamental overprint "Specimen" 10 mm. long. This issue is also known pasted down on a printed form for presentation purposes.

Costa Rica.—The 1, 2, 5, 10 and 40c values with "Muestra" in red or black, and the issue of 1889 complete, probably with the exception of the 10 pesos, with black overprint "Specimen".

Cuba.—Issue 1896-97, Newspaper, with overprint "Muestra".

Curacao.—Issue of 1891 (small queen) with black, horizontal overprint "Specimen" in two types, similar to those used on the British Colonies. The overprint is 20 mm. long. All the postage due stamps, or probably all, are found similarly overprinted.

Germany strived in vain to get the other administrations to adopt a special recognition mark on the stamps sent to Bern, and it is first during the late years that the German administration began to overprint such of its own stamps which were sent to administrations which also adhered to the principle of overprinting. This "Specimen" overprint is black, horizontal, and 12½ mm. long. So far known are the issues of 1880 and 1900, and the Colonies, with the exception of Marianna Islands, Togo, Cameroons, and the obsolete values of Kiauchou, Morocco, China, Levant with "Reichspost," and the pesa values of East Africa.

Finland.—The 5 and 10 mark of the issue of 1898 with black overprint "Specimen".

Greece.—Single copies of the issue of 1876-1885 are known with black Specimen overprint but were perhaps overprinted at the same time as the issue of 1886-88. All issues after the last mentioned have been overprinted. Of the Postage Due stamps we find the 2, 5, 10, 40, 70, 80 and 90, and 1 and 2dr, but only with the wider perforation, and the 1, 20, 60, 100 and 200 of 1876 with the narrow perforation, all overprinted "Specimen" horizontally, in red, with the word 11 mm. long.

Honduras.—Beginning with at least the issue of 1890, its postage and official stamps have been overprinted Specimen in red with the word inclined and 16 mm. long. There is a period after Specimen on these overprints.

Columbia.—The registration stamps of 1889, 10c red on yellow, is most likely the only Columbian stamp which has been furnished with the overprint "Muestra".

Liberia.—The issue of 1896 and probably those following have a black, horizontal Specimen overprint 18 mm. long.

Mexico.—All issues after 1899 are found overprinted "Muestra" in black.

Netherlands.—The issue of 1891 with black, typographed, horizontal Specimen overprint 15 mm. long. The Postage Due stamps of 1881-87 have been similarly overprinted.

Dutch Indies.—The issues of 1887 and 1892-95 with black, horizontal "Specimen" 15 mm. long. The Postage Due stamps of 1888, at least the 30c, are found with black, horizontal "Specimen" stamped by hand. The issue of 1892-1909 has "Specimen" typographed horizontally in black.

Obock.—Of the issue of 1893 we find the 2 and 5 francs with vertical overprint "Specimen". On the 2fr it is printed in red, and in black on the 5fr.

Eastern Roumelia.—The 5, 10, 20p and 1 piastre of the issue of 1881, perf. 13½, have been marked in handwriting, in red or violet ink, with "Oóp." The 5 piastres, as well as the 10 and 20p of the issue 1884 have been overprinted similar to Bulgaria.

EDITORIAL.

Morris to the Rescue—Our item that appeared two weeks ago, embodying the question of an English reader on the subject of guide-lines on the sheets of the United States issues, 1894 designs, has been productive of an interesting explanation from Chas. R. Morris, Washington, to which we are pleased to give prominence elsewhere. Mr. Morris assures us that the inquiries that our correspondent may make further will have his attention and so we have a symposium that will be gainful indeed to the students who have concerned themselves with the guide-lines, in prospect. We tender our thanks to Mr. Morris for his work, actual and anticipatory.

Old Postage Term—An inquiry relative to the term "single letter" as used in connection with early rates of postage in the United States allows of the explanation that a single letter was composed of one piece of paper. A letter of two pieces of paper was charged double the rate for a single letter; of three pieces, with triple; and of four pieces with quadruple postage. However, so early as 1835, one or more pieces of paper, mailed as a letter, and weighing one ounce was charged with quadruple postage; and at the same rate for greater weight. Further, at that time, everything not coming under the denomination of newspapers or pamphlets was charged with letter postage.

Before the Pony Express—Before the advent of the Pony Express, the quickest time ever made across the continent was twenty-one days, the record having been held by the Butterfield stage line, a company whose schedule for mail from New York to San Francisco was twenty-three days. From the meagre data at hand it is gathered that the Butterfield line which was patronized with some liberality especially by the public in the terminal cities issued nothing in the way of franked envelopes, the ordinary governmental envelopes having been utilized. The company's charge for the transportation was collected by the agents, evidently, even though this method did not seem to afford the control or direct security that was a feature of the company franked stamped envelopes.

Franking Abuse—Before the department stamps were issued in 1873, there were many suggestions made as to the manner of curbing the franking privilege which was abused almost from the year of its authorization, 1782, but particularly so after the civil war. It was proposed that stamps be used but the issue of distinctive stamps, as the department sets, was a consequence of the fear that ordinary stamps would be used irregularly. From a record of the times we quote: "It has been suggested that in lieu of the franking privilege now allowed by law to members of Congress and others, they should be furnished with postage stamps, to be paid for out of the contingent fund of the House. If the privilege is to be extended in any shape, let it be under that of the franking system; for the moment stamps are substituted, that very moment a rush for 'cash representatives' will be most eagerly sought for, and the contingent fund, to use a modern phrase will 'be soon swallowed up.' There would, of course, be less franking of public documents by the use of stamps, but a far more extensive use of them for other purposes. This has been very clearly illustrated in some of our States where the stamps have been substituted for franking. If, however, the postage stamp system should be adopted, let the transmission of books, &c., be forwarded, under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House, by the ordinary mode of conveyance. This would be a check on those extravagant members who consider it a duty due their constituents to supply them with books enough to make a library. In one single instance, a member from Utah, in 1858, cost the government over seven thousand dollars by the transmission of books, &c."

Wanted Fac-similes—A curious phase of the franking question was developed in 1865 when certain members of Congress had asked permission from the post-office department to aid a cause which while not entirely within the pale of exemption from postage was of appealing merit, by an irregular use of their franks. The expectation was to frank documents relative to the treatment of northern soldiers in southern prisons by franks of members or by facsimile stamps. The intention was to have the postmaster at Boston respect the franks of members of either House or Senate at Boston while the members were at Washington, the seat of government. The first assistant postmaster-general would not sanction the plan and in his letter conveying his refusal quoted from the regulations that "no privileged person can leave his frank behind him to cover his correspondence in his absence," etc. As to fac-simile stamps, the officer said: "The use of a fac-simile stamp for franking letters or packets by Senators or members of Congress has never been authorized or approved by this department in any way; but, on the contrary, the postmaster-general has invariably decided against the use of such stamps whenever the question has been brought to his notice, for the reason, among others, that it affords an opportunity to perpetrate frauds upon the department and its revenues to an almost unlimited extent."

Great Gathering—The second Philatelic Congress of Great Britain will open in London on April 27th, 1910, and the exercises will extend over Thursday and Friday, the 28th and 29th, respectively. The programme is an admirable compilation of philatelic attractions diversified so as to embrace a wide range, even though it reflects philately in a most proper and dignified aspect. The congress is held under influential patronage and the names of those on the programme are a guarantee of merit. There will be forty societies represented by the ninety delegates. The good work accomplished at the Manchester congress in 1909 will have a worthy complement at London.

Have You One?—This graceful little tribute is taken from the editorial page of the Chicago News: "Says the head of that institution: 'There is a fixed stamp to the Vassar graduate.' And the design is as neat as any other in the philatelist's showcase."

Philatelic Statistics—Those who are in stamps in a professional way, so to say, must not neglect to give due regard to philately in their answers to certain of the questions on the census sheet.

DEATH OF THEODORE SHECKELS.

Chas. R. Morris informs us that Theodore Sheckels, the secretary of the D. of C. Branch of the A. P. S., died April 13, of pneumonia. We do not have at hand any facts that we can give in connection with Mr. Sheckels' philatelic career. He took a decided interest in the national society and was present at the Atlantic City convention last year.

A STRIKING TESTIMONIAL.

The value of the WEEKLY as an advertising medium could not have a heartier endorsement than the following from one of our largest patrons, the Hussman Stamp Co. We quote their letter in full:—

St. Louis, Mo., April 11, 1910.

Willard O. Wylie, Managing Editor,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Would you sell us a six inch space on the last page of the WEEKLY, upper right hand corner? If agreeable to you, we will take this FOR ONE YEAR, and furnish you with new copy for each issue; if we fail to send copy each week, you are supposed to run the preceding copy.

In case you wish to give us these six inches on the last page for the next fifty-two issues, you may use enclosed copy, and we will see to it that you get fresh copy each week, as we have so much new merchandise coming in now it will pay us to take this space.

Yours very truly,

C. E. Hussman Stamp Co.

The reply sent was "Certainly" and commencing this week the Hussman corner on page eight will become a permanent feature. And this too in the face of the fact that we are supposed to see shortly our annual vacation from stamps and stamp collecting. Evidently the Hussman company intends to compel our readers to do business right through the summer season.

GUIDE LINES ON U. S. STAMPS.

By CHARLES R. MORRIS

The inquiry of your English correspondent has been noted by me as you desire. I am always more than glad to afford such information as I have or can obtain for anyone who is interested.

The question asked was why the horizontal guide line appeared through the panes of 100 stamps when they were printed 200 subjects to the plate but did not appear through the panes when printed 400 subjects to the plate.

Possibly an explanation of the perforating machines will help to a better understanding of the answer. These machines consist of two large rollers, the upper one having the teeth and the lower one the holes for the teeth to fit into. Ordinarily the middle rollers are knives instead of perforating wheels. On the front side of the machine extends a feeding board on which is stretched a thread from the middle pair of wheels to the edge nearest the operator. Under this thread the operator slips the sheet of stamps to be perforated and gets the guide line directly under the thread. This "squares" the paper with the rollers and causes them to cut exactly straight if the paper has been laid as indicated.

When the sheets were made with but 200 stamps they were arranged 20 horizontally and 10 vertically. The first operation in the perforating room was to perforate vertically and cut the sheet into two panes of 100 each. These panes of 100 were then taken to another machine which had no knives in order that the whole sheet might be perforated horizontally and left in the full pane of 100 stamps but it was necessary to guide the sheet as before and so the line is put through the middle of the sheet for that purpose.

With the sheets of 400 stamps the operations are the same except that the first operation results in two sheets of 200 stamps and the second operation cuts those into the panes of 100 in which size they are always shipped to Postmasters.

The accompanying diagram will perhaps explain it better.

Fig. 1 represents a sheet of 400 and the guide lines AB and CD are cut dividing the sheet into four panes of 100 stamps. Fig 2 represents a sheet of 200. Guide line AB is cut but the line CD is perforated.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete.

Now, for a few weeks, we shall advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

ABOUT U. S. REVENUES.

By JOHN W. PREVOST.

Our subscribers are invited to send in any items of interest in connection with U. S. revenue stamps of any kind. Specimens submitted for consideration will be gladly examined but should be accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope. Address, Mr. Prevost, 963 Sumner Ave., Springfield, Mass.

E. L. Green of Philadelphia writes that he has found a copy of the 20 cigarette stamp, series of 1883, surcharged "Series of 1898". He did not say whether the surcharge was printed or rubber stamp. The editor hopes to have full details later.

N. M. Townley, Jr., writes that he recently found a copy of Scott's No. 272a, the 8c puce of 1895, showing the watermark R. This is one of the unpriced minor varieties and undoubtedly very rare. It stands in a peculiar position, in that it possesses interest for all collectors of U. S. stamps, whether they specialize in postage or revenue stamps. Mr. Townley wrote for information as to the value and rarity of his find, but the editor has to admit that he knows nothing about it, and any information will be gratefully received and acknowledged.

State revenues are booming. Now it is Tennessee that is in the limelight with a set of special revenues for feeds, grass, clover and cereal seeds. The entire series has not yet been seen, but the following values are in the possession of J. Delano Bartlett:—

FEED
½ mill,	5 lbs.,	rose.
1 " "	10 " "	red.
¼ cent,	25 " "	green.
¾ " "	50 " "	blue.
1 " "	100 " "	brown.
		black.

These stamps are 1x1¼ in. in size, lithographed, with ornamental borders, with "Tennessee" in upper ornament, and signed by John Thompson, Com. of Agriculture.

GRASSES AND CLOVERS.
2 cents,	¼ bushel,	green.
3 " "	½ " "	" "
5 " "	1 " "	" "
10 " "	2 " "	" "
12½ " "	2½ " "	" "
35 " "	7 " "	" "

CEREAL SEED.
1 cent,	¼ bushel,	red.
2 " "	1 " "	" "
5 " "	2½ " "	orange.
10 " "	5 " "	" "

The stamps of these two sets measure 5/8x2 in. They also have "Tennessee" in the upper ornament and are signed by the Commissioner of Agriculture. They are very ordinary looking stamps, but are out and out State revenues and should be collected by all revenue enthusiasts.

TRADE COLUMN.

1 1/4 piastre on 4d orange. The difference lies in the shape of the figure "4".

GUATEMALA.—Maury's Collectionneur says that the current 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c and 12c stamps having become exhausted, the 6c commemorative stamp recently issued is to be surcharged with new values pending the appearance of a new series.

ITALY.—It is proposed to issue a 5c stamp to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the liberation of Sicily. This stamp will bear the portrait of Garibaldi, and will be issued in connection with the celebration at Palermo.

JAIPUR.—Mr. Schachne has the 1/4 ana card for this Indian state and we find that the stamp is as illustrated in Senf's catalog but the color is lake, both stamp and headlines. At upper center is a sun with rays, between two flags—at left of this are two lines of Indian characters and at right is "Jaipur State—Post Card" in two lines of Roman capitals. Below all this is a third line of Indian 72 mm. long. The card is white and 137x88 size. Senf lists a card as olive-yellow on rose—last July Ewen's told us a 1/4d yellow had been issued. Can any one inform us if there is more than one card or were these early chroniclers in error.

Mr. Morse reports having an East India 1/4a card of 1879 with "Jeypore" within a single line rectangle 38x7 1/2 in black just below the headlines and wonders if it is a legitimate issue. Can any one inform him?

MEXICO.—Smith's Circular notes the 2c envelope in a new color.

Envelope.
2c green.

PERSIA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us seven values of a new set of stamps from this country, but we are not able to say whether it is the same set noted in No. 995, a mistake possibly having been made in the first chronicle. The stamps just shown us are in two colors and printed on a very soft silky white paper, the centre being in the same color on all values.

Adhesives.
1c orange and violet brown.
2c purple and violet brown.
3c green and violet brown.
6c vermilion and violet brown.
9c gray violet and violet brown.
10c violet and violet brown.
13c blue and violet brown.

RUSSIA.—Offices in the Levant.—As noted in No. 986, the current Levant stamps are appearing with the name of the Turkish Offices overprinted as well as the values in Turkish money. The New England Stamp Co. shows us the 35 and 70 piastres stamps, overprinted "Constantinople," the second "N" being replaced by a "U".

NEW CONFEDERATE ENVELOPES.

(The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. in their Circular announce some newly discovered Confederate envelopes. Two Thomasvilles illustrated show in the one instance "PAID 5" while the other has the same marking in a circular design with the additional wording "Thomasville, Ga." A. C. Roessler writing us states that three Thomasville locals seen by him were addressed to Milledgeville. We quote from the Circular the following interesting story.—Ed.)

Thomasville, Georgia, 5c black on white.
Thomasville, Georgia, 5c black (circular) on white.
Knoxville, Tenn., 10c red on white.
Knoxville, Tenn., 10c red on orange.

Delay in obtaining the cuts for illustrating has prevented the earlier chronicling of some newly discovered Confederate envelopes which we were fortunate in obtaining early in the present season. The first of the two Thomasvilles which we illustrate has been known for some years to exist in this type, but a single specimen has failed to show any evidence that it was sold as a stamped envelope by the postmaster, and thus worthy of recognition as a catalogue variety. There turned up, however, in some old correspondence, a series of these envelopes, showing not only the straight design "Paid 5", with the postmaster's dating stamp used as a control mark, (the date on all these being the same and evidently that on which the envelopes were prepared or sold,) and then cancelled with postmarks of later and varying dates. Following these envelopes, and bearing later postmarks, came the round design illustrated above, the postmaster evidently having found the demand for his envelopes large enough to pay him to secure a special hand-stamp for their preparation.

The entire series was submitted by us to the best experts whose opinion was such that we shall follow their verdict by cataloguing.

At the same time, we add two others to the list of known varieties of Confederate envelopes. Mr. H. W. Legg has turned up a Knoxville, 10c red, of the same design as the 5c blue, our type E1. His copy is on white paper, and Mr. John N. Luff, in the course of investigating the specimen succeeded in discovering a copy of the same stamp on orange. It is a long time since we have listed all at once four newly discovered Confederates.

BOGERT & DURBIN CO.,
722 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

July 6th, President Stone announced that the 22nd annual convention would be called to order in Denver, Tuesday, July 30th.

The 22nd annual convention was called to order by V. Pres. Mudge, Tuesday, July 30th, at 7.30 a. m., at the Albany Hotel Convention Hall. The meeting adjourned at 7.45 and was called to order on the summit of Pike's Peak, 14,447 ft. above sea level, at 3.30 p. m., where the result of the election was announced. The 3rd meeting of the first session was called to order at the Albany Hotel Hall at 9.30 p. m.

There were in attendance 59 members, 1 applicant and 52 guests; 786 were represented by proxy.

The secretary's report showed the membership to be 1175, a gain of 349 members for the fiscal year; 91 were dropped for non-payment of dues, 23 resigned, deceased 7, expelled 3, suspended for one year 1; 426 new stockholders were added and 48 were reinstated.

The treasurer's report showed receipts to be $1272.68, disbursements $1223.89, balance general fund $48.79, stock account $2683.00, Insurance $667.38, Exchange account $35.90.

Stamps to the amount of $59,458.29 were entered in the Sales Department. The sales amounted to $8809.14.

Columbus was selected as the next convention seat with a vote of 735 against 49 for Rockford, 8 for Atlantic City, 2 for Niagara Falls and 1 for Chicago.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was elected official journal.

The ticket nominated by the New England Branch was elected. It was voted to use the Australian ballot system in the future in voting for Directors. Proxy holders were limited to 50 votes.

$150.00 was voted for use of the Recruiting Committee.

It was voted that no charter or certificate of stock should be issued to any Branch society except on formal application to and acted upon at the regular annual convention.

The convention delegates and visitors were entertained by the Denver Stamp Club. A reception and display of collections was held Monday evening. Tuesday a trip was made to the summit of Pike's Peak, 93 miles distant. The afternoon of Wednesday was spent in "seeing Denver" by trolley.

A banquet was given the members at the Albany Hotel Wednesday evening. Thursday afternoon Elitch's Gardens were open to the visitors, as also the theatre in the evening.

At the end of the year the total membership was 1318.

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

WANTED

A LARGE COLLECTION

We are desirous of obtaining a rather large collection which we can handle in our June sale. Prices realized at our public auction sales compare more than favorably with those realized at Eastern auctions. We have obtained some record breaking prices for certain stamps in really fine condition. Our terms are very reasonable, service the best. Cash advance made on collections. Will also sell rare single stamps at our auctions.

Total membership April 23, 1910, 1901

On December 8, 1909, there was sent to the Secretary a check for $3.60, presumably for payment of dues for three persons, evidently in Chicago. The check is drawn on the Continental National Bank of Chicago and is not signed. Can anyone assist the Secretary in determining whose name should have been placed on the check.

Things in the Secretary's office are coming along nicely. The New Stock Exchange Certificates should be in very shortly and will be issued immediately upon receipt. Those members that have not yet received the first number of the American Philatelist should notify this office as it is desired that every member receive the same. Number two will be out in two weeks.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The Baltimore News of April 16 contained a Burroughs story sent out by the A. P. S. educational committee. It has a Roosevelt flavor, the article dealing with animal stamps, particularly those common to Africa. Will our subscribers let us know in what papers this story is printed?

—Elmer Rominger, Bloomfield, Iowa, would be glad to receive any duplicate foreign or U. S. stamps that our readers would like to bestow upon him. Mr. Rominger is an invalid, suffering from the effects of rheumatism, and compelled to lie in bed all the time. His delight is in stamp collecting and any favors rendered will be appreciated.

—Clippings received with thanks from A. A. Kelson and W. Dwight Burroughs.

FRANK P. BROWN CO.

Though the business of the above named firm is run under the name of the Frank P. Brown Co., it is essentially Frank P. Brown. In common with J. W. Scott, Mr. Brown is a firm believer in the principle that stamps is a one man business and that to do justice to one's customers a dealer must consider each one as a personal client, keeping in mind not only the stamps they want but the condition in which they want them.

The present business was begun in October 1894, though for the previous year Mr. Brown had been secretary of a local stamp company. His first sale was made to F. W. Ayer of Bangor, Me., who was then in the hey-day of his stamp collecting career. His first full month's sales were over $1000 and since that time the business has shown a steady increase, until at the present time he claims that not over four or five concerns in the United States have a larger gross overturn. Mr. Brown's most notable find was the discovery in 1895 of eight 3c 1880 envelopes, Die C, on blue, and strange as it may seem, none of these have since been found. This too in view of the fact that there must have been at least 500 of them printed.

A notable purchase was a block of seventy-five 1c Pan-American inverts. At the same time he refused to trade a 1c for a 2c invert, believing that the latter would become the more common of the two. No more 2c, however, came to light, while a month later three hundred more of the 1c turned up.

In 1902 Mr. Brown made a trip to the Danish West Indies, where he discovered the stamp now listed as No. 23 and also the No. 24b. His most recent achievement was the sale of the famous collection of the late John K. Tiffany. In its time the collection was one of the most famous.

He has a valuable assistant in the person of W. L. Aldrich, an active and interested member of the Boston Philatelic Society.

Mr. Brown has a wife and two children and resides in Malden, where he is pleasantly situated. He objects to having his picture published in the WEEKLY but imagines that he is as good looking as the general run of stamp dealers.

AMONG THE STAMP SHOPS.

There is no city in the country that can compare with Boston in the extent of its stamp business, unless New York should claim the honor. We have given extended mention in this issue to the firms using our columns regularly, but there are a number of other firms of which mention should be made.

On Tremont St., near Boylston, is the office of the Liberty Stamp Co., Geo. Flagg, manager. This company has been established for some years and does a good office trade.

is well known to WEEKLY readers. Formerly connected with the New England Stamp Co., he engaged in business for himself a few years ago and is now known on both sides of the Atlantic as an authority on high-class stamps. He is at 184 Boylston St.

W. E. Coburn of Everett, Mass., advertises with us occasionally, his two-column advertisement of last week giving the reader a fair idea of the stock he handles. He is a good patron of the auction sale and many a collector has profited by his skillful buying. Mr. Coburn has a Boston office on Bromfield St. where he will be glad to see visiting collectors.

The Hub Stamp Co., Nathan Cobe, manager, has a very pleasant office at 345A Washington St. He declares that the WEEKLY is all right for advertising purposes but claims that he has all the business he can personally handle and this satisfies him.

The Sterling Stamp Co. does a mail order business exclusively.

WILLARD O. WYLIE,	1910-

The Boston Philatelic Society may not be as old as some of the stamp societies now active, but it is at least one of the largest and most influential. It is now in its nineteenth year and gives every promise of living to a hale and hearty old age. Boston was somewhat behind the times, it must be admitted, in making a move to gather the philatelic interests of its vicinity into a working organization, but very few cities have been more successful in the final outcome of the society thus formed. A call circular was issued under date of Feb. 13, 1891, for a meeting of those interested, to be held on the evening of Feb. 18, at the office of F. W. Sprague, 2d, Room 25, 620 Atlantic Ave., and was signed by W. C. Van Derlip, Harlow E. Woodward, C. M. Bradbury and F. W. Sprague, 2d. Seventeen assembled at the appointed time and Mr. Van Derlip was appointed Chairman and Mr. Bradbury Secretary pro tem. The principal remarks were made by Mr. Sprague, whose motion "that a philatelic society be formed to further the interests of the stamp collectors of Boston and vicinity" was the announcement of the society's birth. The entrance fee of $1 and annual dues of $2 were adopted. The name of "Boston Philatelic Society" was unanimously adopted. Mr. Van Derlip offered his office at 3 Pemberton Sq. as a temporary place of meeting, which was accepted, and on Mar. 4, 1891, the first regular meeting of the society took place there.

The following officers were elected: Pres. W. C. Van Derlip; Vice-Pres., S. R. Sircom; Sec., C. M. Bradbury, and Treas., L. L. Green. The meetings were appointed for the second Wednesday of each month.

At the fifth meeting on May 13, the first auction sale was held, which realized $160. No meetings were held in July and August, and both the September and October meetings were nullified by lack of a quorum, only five being present at each.

Dec. 9, 1891 a new secretary was elected, for the ensuing year, C. W. H. Strongman being chosen, he in turn being succeeded at the following election, Dec. 14, 1892, by H. K. Sanderson.

Feb. 21, 1895 a notable auction sale was held at Elks' Hall, 66 being present. At the April meeting the Boston Stamp Book was chosen official journal. At the annual meeting in December, G. L. Toppan was elected secretary.

At the meeting held in January 1896 the design of the present membership card was adopted. At the June meeting a committee was appointed "to prepare a reference list of the documentary revenue stamps of the U. S.," this being the first work undertaken in accordance with the declared objects of the society along that line as expressed in the statutes.

June 18, 1897 $25.00 was subscribed to the Collectors' Club fund to help the defense in the famous periodical case brought by the U. S. government. At the December meeting it was voted to dispense with the annual February auction and to have a special program for the annual jollification, a practise which has been followed ever since.

In 1899 on account of the suspension of the Boston Stamp Book the Weekly Philatelic Era was selected as official journal. The Revenue Book in preparation for over three years was issued in November and has reflected a great deal of credit, not only on the authors but the society as well. At the November meeting it was voted to establish a philatelic library in co-operation with the Boston Public Library.

In November 1900 occurred the 100th regular meeting of the society with a special program including the exhibition of J. N. Luff's collection of United States.

The meeting held in January, 1901, was marked by the offer of a set of medals by the New England Stamp Co. for a series of competitive exhibits extending through the year. The committee appointed proved the pioneer of the entertainment committees that have done

A. BULLARD & CO.

One of the early Boston subscribers to the WEEKLY is A. W. Bullard, who is the head of the firm of A. Bullard & Co., stamp dealers and publishers. This house in 1886 began to emphasize the publishing branch of the business. While Messrs. A. Bullard & Co. conduct a general philatelic business they operate, in connection with this business, a complete printing plant, including three power presses and several other machines used in the manufacture of stamp albums, catalogues and various handbooks pertaining to philately.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from F. R. Albrecht, C. E. Thomas, Alvah G. Clark and Albert Gregg.

—“Have you ever had any bad news concerning one C. H. Arndt, 4453 Elm-bank Ave., St. Louis? He has stuck H. M. Clark besides myself. We are about to put the P. O. Dept. on his case. Put his name on the black list and protect other patrons of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. He mentioned your paper and gave four references, all of which were borrowed for the purpose of his own good.”—E. W. GILSON.

RARE UNUSED BRITISH COLUMBIANS

The above are all fine, but we gladly extend the privilege of returning them after inspection if unsatisfactory in any way.

If you need other rare stamps, let us hear from you. We shall be pleased to make special prices from 25% to 50% below catalogue on most goods.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT,

1204 CHESTNUT STREET.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THE J. M. BARTELS CO.

The J. M. Bartels Company was established in 1892 in Alexandria, Va. and consisted at the time of Messrs. Bartels and Thomas Semmes, whose interest in the business was later acquired by the late W. F. Lambert, but prior to the removal of the firm to Washington, D. C. in March 1896, J. M. Bartels had become sole owner. Within a few months Mr. W. W. Randall, now of New York, was taken into partnership which lasted about two years. It was through him that the firm published the first edition of Bartels' U. S. Envelope Catalogue, a work soon to appear in the fourth edition and generally known as the standard work in this line. Bartels' Catalogue of U. S. Plate Numbers made its appearance about the same time and was followed by three subsequent editions and several supplements. While in Washington Mr. Bartels became the local correspondent of several philatelic papers and through his writings became widely known throughout the country. His services were called upon by the Post Office Department to assist in the preparation of the stamp exhibits in Paris and Buffalo in 1900 and 1901.

Constantly increasing business, however, seemed to demand a wider field and the J. M. Bartels Company removed their business to Boston, July 4, 1901. This resulted in a great increase and additional assistants were soon necessary. The department of U. S. Envelopes was placed in the able hands of Dr. V. M. Berthold who soon rewrote the catalogue and distinguished himself through an exhaustive study of the Nesbitt series, the result of which was published in the American Journal of Philately and later in book form by the Scott Stamp & Coin Company. He has recently again rewritten Bartels' Envelope Catalogue to be published in a few months. This will be entirely a new work and contain many pleasant surprises to the numerous collectors in this line of philately. The complicated 1907 issue has of course received special attention.

In 1903 J. M. Bartels was appointed by the Postmaster General to serve his department as expert in preparing the government exhibit for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, necessitating trips to that city and Washington.

In a business way the firm has distinguished itself through the acquisition of several notable collections, among which might be mentioned the E. H. Mason, W. H. Randall, W. C. Curtis and sections of the large F. C. Foster collection. They also hold the record for paying the highest price paid in America for a single lot ever sold at an auction sale. This was $2,501.00 for the set of eight (8) United States stamps issued in August 1861, the so-called first type, sold with the Scholle collection in New York in 1906.

Other important works published by the J. M. Bartels Company and largely written by J. M. Bartels are:

“The Postage Stamps of the Philippines,” a volume of 150 pages, fully illustrated;

“Check List of Canal Zone Stamps” (two editions); and “Check List of the Stamps of Panama.”

J. M. BARTELS.

Mr. Bartels has been “Counterfeit Detector” for the American Philatelic Society for a number of years as well as International Secretary and a member of the Governing Board of the Boston Philatelic Society. He is a licensed auctioneer and his firm has held many successful auction sales.

He began stamp collecting in his native State, Virginia, at the age of seven but never joined the ranks of those who gave it up again, even for a short time. He has made numerous trips to Europe, spending several years in Germany and England. A material factor in his success proved to be a special study of languages, giving him a working knowledge also of French, Spanish, Italian, Dutch and Latin. He recently received a diploma of honor from the International Philatelic Society, Dresden, after a membership of twenty years. Besides he is a member of numerous other philatelic societies, holding honorary membership in the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland.

The J. M. Bartels Company have taken an active part in foreign philatelic exhibits and were awarded two silver medals at Amsterdam last June; at the Berlin exposition they received a bronze medal for an exhibit and a diploma of honor for distinguished philatelic services.

The firm recently acquired the ser-

EDITORIAL.

Our City—Boston, the home of the WEEKLY, is made the subject of a special number and the innate modesty of the paper in refraining from exploiting its own city until now will be appreciated by our readers whose delicate perceptions have so often and so happily been proved. Further, we shall not enlarge upon the philatelic virtues so abundantly possessed by Boston; nor descend upon its shining record of past achievement, its present activity of its future probabilities so loudly as merit deserves. In fact, not alone does a natural diffidence suggest this course but likewise a realization of the impossibility of doing justice to Boston's claims in the space at our disposal here confirms its wisdom.

Its Prestige—Boston from the earliest days of philately has been an important center. It had its great collectors, its dealers and its philatelic literature in the '60s; and it vied with New York for precedence in those days. There was bitter rivalry between the leading dealers of each of these cities, evidence of which is to be found on the pages of the American Stamp Mercury, Boston, and the American Journal of Philately, New York. F. Trifet, a pioneer Boston dealer claimed to be the first one to issue complete catalogues in this country, and the first to quote stamps at both wholesale and retail. The commercial supremacy while endangered occasionally in the past has endured to this day and a glance at the advertising columns of this and other papers will show the enviable position of the city in this regard at present.

In Front—As a city, always renowned for its culture and its wealth, Boston has been hospitable to philately. It has inscribed famous names of collectors and of writers on philatelic subjects on the pages of the history of our pursuit.

Celebrities by the score have enriched philately by their example and by their works. Today, Boston is triumphantly to the fore. Its society is almost ideal; its collectors are amazing in number, their holdings are proportionately valuable and all in all, Boston fills the requirements of leadership in a philatelic sense.

Early Stamp Speculation—In his book on United States stamps, John N. Luff lists both the 10 and the 12-cent, 1851, used provisionally for five and six cents, respectively, with the San Francisco postmark of 1856. These split stamps were instances of the employment genuinely of emergency stamps caused by conditions wholly unconcerned with philately. In this connection we have uncovered information that is in the nature of commentary reading on the subject of these stamps. In 1855, an officer once attached to the post-office department said: "On the Pacific coast, in California, Oregon and Washington Territories—I speak from direct knowledge obtained in the mail service in that region—a great deal of the letter carrying is done by express companies and runners, and they usually charge from a dime to a dollar a letter. By the operation of this law the express men will not only do a large share of the business, but they will tax the community very heavily for their services. The direct consequence of this law has been that in many parts of California and Oregon and doubtless other regions, speculators have bought up stamps and sell them at a high price, because none can be had of the Postmaster. One man, a passenger, went in the mail steamer with me between Oregon and San Francisco, with the avowed purpose, as he told me, of purchasing several hundred dollars' worth of postage stamps, to carry up into the mines of California and Oregon and sell them to the miners at a large profit. True, Congress inserted a clause in the law making it a felony or a misdemeanor for any one to sell postage stamps at a higher price than the face of them; but who is to carry on a prosecution to punish a man off in the woods of California, and that too because he does the people a service? Besides, they can at once evade the law, and it is done, constantly, by sticking a postage stamp on a common envelope, and then selling the two together, the stamp for three cents and the envelope for two shillings! Stamps are sold every day in this way, in the very building occupied by the Post Office at San Francisco, and the Postmaster has no power to prevent it. If a Postmaster is instructed not to sell more than five dollars' worth of stamps to one individual, and he has two hundred dollars' worth on hand, how long will it take any shrewd speculator to send forty persons to him and buy out all his stock?"

Times Have Changed—It has been shown how much difficulty attended the securing of the needed stamps at times and by inference it follows that the resorting to cutting as a method for the multiplying of certain stamps was a logical proceeding. It must be remembered that the prepayment of postage was compulsory dating from 1855 and stamps were a necessity to forward letters. This is the law that the writer attacks as unjustifiable and a hardship. He points out its fallibility with arguments that while sound at the time have been disproved by time's lapse as in all fairness to the postal authorities it must be said that stamp famines have been few and far between; in this regard the record of the post-office folks has been an admirable one. "On our far western frontier; in the wilds of Texas, the mountains of California, the woods of Oregon, and the plains of Utah and New Mexico, there are hundreds if not thousands of Post Offices where it will be an actual impossibility to keep a constant supply of stamps. It will take from two to four months to send to Washington and get a return, and so long as there are no stamps to be had, the mails must stop. One half—yes all—of the offices throughout the United States are liable to get out of stamps and then the mails are blocked, letters cannot be sent, and the public are at the mercy of speculators and express companies. At small offices the Postmasters only give bonds in small sums; the Department cannot and will not trust them to a large amount, their offices pay them but little, and they must be continually getting out of stamps. With a capital of a hundred millions invested in stamps, no department could keep 24,000 offices constantly supplied, and if it were attempted, there would be numerous de-falcations."

Good Enough—The Meriden Britannia Company in its advertising, wishes to make the date, 1847, distinctive, with the idea of impressing the trade-mark "1847 Rogers Bros." on the minds of readers. It was in 1847 that Rogers Brothers began electroplating silverware. In a page advertisement before us, there is displayed in a lower corner: "In 1847 U. S. postage stamps were first used."

Over a Half Century Ago—In the first few issues of our stamps the engravers' imprint attracted much attention from the press for so unimportant a detail. The imprimatur was condemned as an advertising dodge and ridiculed as a needless prerogative. About this time, the New York Quarterly Review said: "Perhaps, if Dr. ———, or a celebrated showman, had been applied to they would have given the government a fair sum for two or three lines around the edge of the sheet, and very likely an additional sum for an increase in the Absorbed—Announcements of changes and removals in the commercial circles of philately have been noticeable in the philatelic press latterly. Activity in this regard is a favorable condition as the changes are for the better, of course, in the estimation of those making them. The stock of the Western Stamp Company, Chicago, has been acquired by E. C. Dodd, LaGrange, Illinois, whose stamp holdings are now such as to make him a decided factor in the business.

—The Fiscal Stamps of the U. S., by L. W. Crouch. It was a happy thought of the Junior Philatelic Society to reprint from the Stamp Lover this booklet which appeared a short time ago as an article in this popular English monthly, and to present the same to every United States member of the society. The booklet is beautifully illustrated and will appeal to every lover of U. S. stamps. As a frontispiece we notice a fine imperforate pair of the $200 first issue. The book is edited by Mr. Melville but no stated price is given. For information write the publisher, H. F. Johnson, 44 Fleet St., London, England.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Fred Doughty was the first to show us the new postal card, though they are now on sale at the Boston Postoffice. The card is light blue, with the stamp and inscription in dark blue. The stamp is an upright oval, with a three-quarters view of McKinley facing to the left. The inscriptions, which are all in colorless letters on a colored ground, read "U. S. Postal Card" above the portrait, and "One Cent" below, with large figures of value at each side. The oval is outlined by slender laurel wreaths, broken at the bottom by a curved tablet with "McKinley" in small letters. Outside the stamp the only inscription on the card is the legend, "This side of card is for address only", printed in double-lined letters arranged on a tablet outlined by double-lined rule. This tablet is arranged to the left and on level with the bottom of the stamp, thus dividing the card horizontally into two nearly equal parts.

Post Card.

1c dark blue on pale blue.

Rudolph Janicke has shown us a curiosity in the shape of one of the Jefferson cards of 1894, which has a partial double impression. Evidently the sheet slipped in printing, and the press still running, the right hand part of the inscription laps back upon the first part about 3/4 of an inch, the break coming just after the "E" of "Cent" in the top line. The word "America" shows the defect the plainest, appearing something like "Africa" in the completed card.

Cecil W. King reports finding on letters mailed in Chicago the current 2c stamp imperforate on three sides, with two large slot machine perforations on the fourth, this being on the left side of the stamp. These slot perforations are exactly in the centre of the margin.

C. M. Breder shows us a copy of the current 2c stamp, with the lines of perforation so badly placed that nearly an eighth of the stamp to the right is included.

Jos. N. Wheatley sends us a part of a cover from a package sent from New Haven, Conn., to Gratitude, Md., the postage on the package being prepaid by two 5c 1898 documentary stamps and one 10c special delivery stamp of the current issue.

John S. Barnholt sends us a collection of freaks in the way of imperfectly printed United States stamps, including:

a. Block of four Hudson-Fulton imperforates, with a colored ring covering the top of the "6" in "1609". This occurs

e. The 8c stamp of 1902 with Martha Washington minus part of the nose, an irregular white spot appearing instead.

f. A block of eight of the same stamp, arranged two horizontally by four vertically, the lower four being much higher in shade than the upper four.

AZORES.—It was recently announced that the stamps for the Portuguese Colonies, with portrait of the new King would not be ready until next year, but this is not true as far as the Azores are concerned, as the full set of stamps is already at hand. Specimens have been shown us by Q. A. Castro, and the full set by the New England Stamp Co. The design is quite different from the mother country, though the portrait is the same, and in the same sized circle. The portrait is placed near the top of the stamp, with the figures of value in the upper corners, with "Reis" arranged in the spaces above the circles. "Portugal" is placed at the left reading down, and "Correios" at the right reading up, while "Azores" runs across the bottom in a broad band. All inscriptions are in colorless letters on colored ground. Below the portrait is a frigate bird, with wings outspread across the stamp, a sun with rays filling the balance of the space. The colors are practically the same as the

WANTED

A LARGE COLLECTION

We are desirous of obtaining a rather large collection which we can handle in our June sale. Prices realized at our public auction sales compare more than favorably with those realized at Eastern auctions. We have obtained some record breaking prices for certain stamps in really fine condition. Our terms are very reasonable, service the best. Cash advance made on collections. Will also sell rare single stamps at our auctions.

SALVADOR.—Hermann Focke writes thus regarding the new postal issues of Salvador:

a. Postage Stamps—All with centre in black: 1c dark brown, 2c green, 3c yellow, 4c red, 5c violet, 6c scarlet-vermilion, 10c mauve, 12c dark blue, 17c violet-brown, 19c scarlet, 29c light yellow brown, 50c yellow, 100c turquoise.

b. Official Stamps—Same values, colors and designs, with "Franqueo Oficial" inserted in frame.

c. Postage Due Stamps—Same designs, with "Franqueo Deficiente" inserted in frame and the following values: 1c dark brown, 2c green, 3c lemon, 4c red, 5c dark violet, 12c dark blue, 24c scarlet.

d. Post Cards—1c light green, 4c rose, 5c blue; reply-cards (double) same values and colors.

e. Envelopes.—Nothing has been decided as yet as to the values and colors of stamped envelopes, there being a large stock on hand of the 1906 issue, surcharged "1910".

Mr. Focke sends a copy of the new postcard, which has a very elaborate border, the stamp and frame being all in blue on white. He also includes a copy of the 5c envelope of 1906 surcharged "1908" at the bottom, and "1910" just over the face of the portrait. This is not an error, but shows a definite purpose to use up all the old stock of envelopes.

Mr. Focke sends us the above details of the new issues on the authority of a friend in Salvador connected with the Postoffice. There may possibly be a change in the color of one or more of the stamps before the actual issue. So far only the 1c, 5c and 6c of the postage set have been issued.

P. G. BEALS.

P. G. Beals, 56 Pearl St., Boston, Mass., one of the oldest stamp firms in the country, started a regular business 25 years ago when a boy 12 years old in Brookline, Mass., and built up a fine trade which made him open up an office on Pearl St., near the Post Office, where he has been located for the past 15 years. Was the first retail dealer to import stamps by the "Ton" and his "Ton Lot Mixture" has made him famous. He does a large mail order and approval sheet business, but on account of location, being way down town, does not pretend to do much counter trade.

NEW ISSUES At 10% Over Face

The collector who does not avail himself of an efficient New Issue Service misses those opportunities that are frequently occurring of acquiring the provisional or short-lived stamps that every now and then make their appearance.

For instance, how many collectors who depend upon casual purchases for their supplies, were offered the recent Levant provisional stamp at moderate rates?

The 1 piastre 30 on 4d green and brown, the 1 piastre 10 on 3d yellow, 1 piastre 30 on 4d orange, and the 2 piastre 20 on 6d lilac, were all supplied by me at 10% over face value, and at the time of issue, even though the first named was actually commanding a large premium at the time it was sent out, while the three other values have in a few weeks risen to 15 and 20 times face.

Nothing could illustrate in a more striking manner the advantages of a regular supply.

My New Issue Service customers have nothing to lose and much to gain.

Most mint stamps maintain more than face value in the Philatelic market, and are always worth the 10 per cent additional charge to cover cost of importation, etc.

Some New Issues are destined to advance rapidly in value, and the Levants are only examples out of many in recent years. My customers get everything I import. There is no holding back for a rise. If I get the stamps, my clients get them at the ten per cent rate.

Full explanatory circular will be sent free on application.

THE AVERY COLLECTION

This wonderful collection which I recently acquired for the cash price of $122,500.00 is now ready in sections for sending on approval to clients.

It contains an unique assemblage of rare items in nearly every country, and specialists should not delay sending in their requests to see such portions of the collection as are likely to interest them.

TWO NEW MELVILLE BOOKS ON "U. S."

United States Postage Stamps 1870-1893, price 15 cents post free, is now ready. It contains numerous illustrations and enlargements, making the complications of the printings an easy matter for every collector to follow.

United States Postage Stamps 1894-1910, price 15 cents post free, now ready. This is a book which should be the companion of every student of United States stamps. It shows views of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing from specially taken photographs, and deals with all the imperfect, part perf., automatic machine, and experimental paper varieties. The whole story of the Bureau's postage stamps is told and the book is of a handy pocket size.

The Melville Stamp Books. The two books above mentioned form Nos. 10 and 11 of this series, and subscribers can have the second series of eight books, Nos. 9 to 16, delivered post free as published for $1.00. Books 9, 10 and 11 are already published. No. 12 will deal with Jamaica.

A note from Mr. Lombard, accompanying his donation, was read and a unanimous vote of thanks and appreciation was passed to the donor.

The following applications were posted: Alpheus B. Slater.

Thomas W. Doster.

The Secretary read a letter from Mr. John B. Howe, executor of the estate of the late John F. Seybold, in which he announced that the library which had been offered to our society was ready for delivery. The Library Committee offered the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, in May of 1909, the Boston Philatelic Society was informed through its Secretary of the expressed intention of the late John F. Seybold of Syracuse, N. Y., to bequeath to it the extensive philatelic library which he had formed, and did at that time pass suitable expression of its thanks and appreciation of the generous offer; and

Whereas, the hand of Divine Providence has since stilled the activities of our friend and well-wisher before he had legally formulated these intentions; and

Whereas, it has pleased Mr. Jacob Seybold, his Father and sole heir, to remember his son's desire and to comply with his intentions by again offering this Library to our Society through his representative, Mr. John B. Howe; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Boston Philatelic Society most cheerfully accepts the conditions which require that the Library be kept intact and assigned a special place in our Club Room, and that it shall be known as the "John F. Seybold Library" and be suitably marked by a prominent inscription and by a suitable book-plate. And be it further Resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the records and that a copy be transmitted to Mr. Jacob Seybold.

Mr. Bartels read a letter urging that an interest be taken in the coming philatelic exhibition at Berne and that some exhibits be sent.

The Secretary proposed that Mr. Batchelder be added to the Library Committee in view of the increased labors that are coming to us. President Wylie pointed out that the Statutes stood in the way of this increase. Mr. Nevin therefore offered the following amendment to be acted upon at the next meeting:

Amend Art. III, Sec. 3, to read:— There shall also be elected at the annual meeting a Library Committee to consist of three members.

The following were elected to membership:

No. 523. Joseph M. Livermore.

No. 524. Frank M. Mason.

No. 525. Theodore W. Barry.

The resignation of Mr. Vincent H. La Forme was withdrawn.

The Secretary called attention to the necessity of all members who use the Club Room locking the door when leaving, as it is not a spring lock.

Mr. Batchelder proposed a Committee of Seven, including the Chair, to report in eight weeks upon a plan for celebrating the 20th anniversary of the society in February, 1911.

The question of holding auctions at the regular meetings was brought up and it was voted not to do so, except by vote of the society.

The auction sale advertised for the evening was held during an intermission and realized $47.10.

Mr. Bartels gave a very entertaining and instructive talk on counterfeits, proofs and essays, illustrating the counterfeits from his own collection and exhibiting four volumes of the fine collection of United States essays belonging to Mr. E. H. Mason. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Bartels for his talk, and to Mr. Mason for the loan of his collection.

THE NEW ENGLAND STAMP CO.

Wherever the word philately is known, there also is the name of the New England Stamp Co. known. Though younger in years than some others, it bows to none of the world's famous stamp houses in its standing, in the extent of its business, and in the clientele which it serves. Backed by ample capital, possessed of one of the finest stocks in the world, under able and energetic management, and believing in generous advertising, there is no reason why such a firm should not stand in the very fore-front of the trade.

It was in 1893 that the firm began business, and it almost immediately directed its effort toward the best lines of the trade—the handling of rarities fers, while the well-known collection of Mr. Olney of Providence drew some $30,000 more not long after. Two other large collections followed in the next few years, that of Mr. Hawkins of New York and Mr. E. B. Todd of Calais, Me., each reaching well into the thousands of dollars.

But in 1904 all records were beaten by the acquisition of the wonderful collection made by F. W. Ayer of Bangor, Maine. For some ten years or more Mr. Ayer had had the pick of everything good that was in sight, and the result was one of the finest and most valuable collections in existence. It was a great feather in the New England's cap, and though the purchase price was local office business, extended by their travelling representative, and the mail business largely confined to filling want lists or answers to advertisements, they found the demand from the great number of medium-class collectors warranted the establishment of an approval and mail order department, which was instituted in 1900. This feature of the business has steadily grown and occupies a large part of the present quarters of the concern.

The company also enters the auction field at times, and has conducted a number of high-class sales, such being the only ones with which it cares to bother. The lots in such sales are always well advertised and shown in the principal cities of the country, and the results have been very satisfactory.

of collectors, and the directors' room where it is located being by itself there is quiet and freedom from disturbance. The appreciation of the privilege thus accorded collectors is evident from their frequent use of it.

But we must say a few words about those whose activities make the concern what it is, and whose countenances will be recognized by very many who see this page. Mr. A. W. Batchelder, in the trade for more than 30 years and since the beginning the business manager and therefore moving spirit of the firm, hardly needs an introduction, so well known is he to the fraternity. Always active, alert, and with an eye out for opportunity, he readily exemplifies the firm's motto "Progress," and through his travels as its representative has made and the better grades of stamps for which there is always a demand, and which therefore furnish the best investment. Live collectors, from the amateur to the specialist, soon awoke to the character of the new company's business and very quickly gave it a list of customers which has increased by leaps and bounds. And if to the fact that what a purchaser could not find elsewhere he stood a good chance of locating in the New England's stock is added their unvarying prompt and courteous treatment of customers, the reason for their immediate and increasing success is apparent.

Another contributing factor has been the practice of sending a representative on extensive trips with a selection from the company's stock that would prove its resources. This was not only a good advertisement, but brought the firm into closer touch with many of its patrons in the chief centers, and gave advanced collectors an opportunity to personally inspect numbers of the rarities that are continually passing through the firm's hands. Almost every year a representative has made the trip to Europe in order to keep in touch with the trade "across the pond," and at least eight trips have been made in this country to the Pacific coast, while trips of lesser length are of frequent occurrence.

With such a business and reputation to care for, the supply has naturally to be constantly thought of. Without taking into account the smaller stocks and collections, and the importations of new issues which are continually coming to hand, the company is always in the market for large transactions, such as the purchase of great collections; and in this line it has exceeded the combined acquisitions of probably all the other stamp concerns in the United States. The first great purchase was in 1896, when the famous Nash collection was bought for a price that had not been exceeded up to that time. Three years later another famous collection, that of Wm. Thorne of New York, took $45,000 spot cash from the firm's confidential it is stated to have closely approached the six figure class.

In 1905—mark the date, for the impression has been abroad that it was recently sold to other parties—the famous specialized collection of France made by M. H. Lombard of Boston was purchased and broken up. This was par excellence the collection of France having won gold medals in Paris and London, etc.

About the same time the New England acquired the famous specialized Hawaiian collection of Mr. F. M. Crehore. For each of these was probably paid more than had ever been paid for Another venture that is about to be made is in the publishing line. While the company carries a stock of all the principal publications in the line of albums, catalogues, handbooks, etc., it has not entered this field itself to any extent. For some time past, however, the services of the well-known philatelic author, Mr. C. A. Howes, have been engaged on a "History of Canadian Stamps," which is about ready for the press and will appear in due course. The firm intend this to be the "last word on Canada" and will spare no expense to make the volume all that it should be, and a notable addition to the names "New England" and "Batchelder" synonymous, and made his impress in our pursuit widely felt.

Mr. E. M. Carpenter has for fifteen years been the treasurer, and the guardian of the home office while the manager was away, though he has served as the firm's representative in travel both here and abroad as well. Mr. J. H. Lyons, the veteran in business, who looks back over thirty years' active service in philately's interest, has been for ten years in charge of the counter trade. Mr. W. S. Barker, who has recently entered the employment of the firm, is a Boston collector of long standing and is now manager of the approval and mail order department.

Last, but not least, by any means, the firm is pleased to present a part of its attractions—a "line of beauty," without whose faithful services it could not accomplish the mass of detail office work which is now so expeditiously and satisfactorily done. The young ladies will be found in the picture as follows: Miss Cora M. Morrison, in the center, has been at the head of the mailing department for some eight or nine years; Miss Sadie L. Stearns, at the left, has presided for almost as long at the retail counter; Miss Sadie A. Gilman, at the right, has for an equal length of time been in charge of the approval sheets. Miss Gertrude M. Cobb, at the extreme right, has been the cashier for about nine years, while the extreme left of the line is "Graced" by Miss Sizer, who has more recently been employed as the stenographer. Can one wonder that the firm's business is flourishing?

The offices of the company are located on the seventh floor of the Washington Building, Boston, with entrances at 12 Bromfield St. and 387 Washington St. They are in the northwest corner, with an abundance of the light which is so essential to work with stamps, and form one of the best locations for the business that can be found in the country. If you don't believe it, call and see for yourself!

WELL DESCRIBED—A "LINE OF BEAUTY."

a specialized collection of a single country in America.

During the past year, also, just to show they are still in the market, the great collection of the late J. W. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia, has been purchased for $57,000 spot cash, in competition with European and American dealers, and is now in process of sale.

But the above record is not the only line of activity in which the company is engaged. While at first their trade was philatelic literature.

In the firm's offices will also be found one of the finest philatelic libraries in this section. All the best American and foreign current periodicals are kept on file, and the back files of both present and past periodicals are very fully represented. In monographs, handbooks, catalogs, etc., the library is very rich and is being constantly added to. Through the courtesy of the firm this valuable collection is open to the use

AUCTION!!

Our Auction Department will be a very important feature of our business hereafter. We shall hold auctions monthly. We have secured enough collections and choice lots of rare stamps to hold four substantial sales, and new material is coming in constantly. We shall certainly be pleased to hear from collectors and dealers who are in the habit of buying stamps at auction, and shall be pleased to put their names on our mailing list.

We should like to hear from someone having a fine and valuable collection for sale. We guarantee results at our auctions and will advance money to owner!

Do you contemplate disposing of your collection?

If so, kindly write us for our terms before making final arrangements elsewhere.

Our terms are as low as is consistent with good service and include all expenses.

HAWAII.

THE 1889 ISSUE OF THE 5c AND 13c 1853 TYPE.

By HENRY J. CROCKER, F. R. P. S.

These stamps were printed from newly engraved plates made for the Hawaiian Postoffice in 1889 by order of Postmaster General Hill. The original plates were engraved in Boston by order of Postmaster H. M. Whitney in 1853, and the stamps he ordered came on thick white paper.

Postmaster Jackson ordered some of the 5 cent stamps in 1857, and Postmaster Clark ordered a lot in 1860.

Postmaster Kalakaua ordered both the 5c and 13c in 1864 and they were issued on ordinary white wove paper. This last lot were in 1900 classed as Reissues, but their being a regular issue is now proved beyond a doubt, and all catalogues will so recognize them from now on.

The original plates were shipped from Boston with this last order, arriving some time in 1865, and were defaced by Postmaster Brickwood, who had succeeded Kalakaua between the dates the stamps were ordered and the time of their arrival at Honolulu.

The full history of the above stamps are set forth in "Hawaiian Numerals," also in Gibbons Weekly of January 22nd, 1910, and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY of April 10th, 1910.

The original plates were practically destroyed in 1865 with the statement issued that there was no further use for them, and yet in 1889, twenty-five years later, one could go to the Hawaiian Postoffice purchase the 5c blue and the 13c red put them on letters and mail them to the United States, Europe and throughout the Islands. I make the claim, therefore, that these hitherto much neglected stamps are a regular issue of Hawaii. They are extremely rare in used condition; quite rare in unused condition, and better known with the word "reprint" across the face of the stamps. Only 10,000 of each value were printed, and I place them in my specialized collection as being a regular issue, for careful investigation proves this order by the Postmaster General, their receipt, payment and issuance by the postoffice, and their acceptance by local and foreign postoffices on letters as prepayment of postage.

I will proceed to give their history as I find it, and would be pleased to hear from anyone who possesses any data bearing on the subject.

The original plates as I stated were defaced by Brickwood in 1865, but having been left in the postoffice were discovered in 1887 by Mr. Wunderberg, a clerk, who reported the find. The Postmaster General sent the two plates to the American Bank Note Co. to be restored, as there had arisen a large demand for specimens of the old issues. Failing in their efforts to restore the plates the American Bank Company engraved an entirely new plate for each stamp, and on January 14th 1889, received an order from Postmaster General Hill to print 10,000 of each 5c and 13c. The stamps were not delivered until September 16th, 1889, but they remained in use in the postoffice at Honolulu from that date until August 19th, 1892, when the remaining lot, together with the reissued 2c of 1862 type which had appeared about the same time, were ordered surcharged with the word "Reprint" and thereafter they were sold through the postoffice at their face value until exhausted. To substantiate the above we have the testimony of Walter N. Giffard in his Descriptive Catalogue of the postage stamps of Hawaii.—The records of the American Bank Note Company, and the following statement made recently by W. D. Westervelt, a prominent resident of Honolulu and President of the Historical Society. Mr. Westervelt says:

"In the later part of 1889 or early in 1890 Hiram Bingham (now professor in Yale) William Whitney (now Judge of the Circuit Court in Honolulu) and myself purchased at the Honolulu postoffice copies of these stamps (2c, 5c and 13c so-called reprints). I, personally, and I am sure both my friends, placed copies of these stamps on letters addressed to the United States, and to other postoffices on the Islands. I remember that some of the letters posted at Honolulu reached their destination with the stamps removed having been abstracted evidently on the way. The above stamps were sold to me by the postoffice at the face value and were accepted by the postoffice for postage without question.

I had a letter from Postmaster C. H. Dickey of Hoiku Baldwin Plantation who noticed I was using the 2c (1861 type which reappeared about the same time as the 5c and 13c) as a common stamp calling my attention to their rarity. I wrote him in reply that the postoffice at Honolulu had just received a consignment and that they were selling them at face value.

There was a good demand for these stamps and the impression was at the time that they were from the original plate. I think it was the discovery by Giffard that they were from a new plate that caused Postmaster Hill to have them marked 'Reprint' after they had been in regular circulation for two years.

We know the stamps are not reprints as they were printed from original plates, although they were the result of an attempt to copy the early type.

They are not in the same class as the U. S. 1847 type where the plates were remade to furnish stamps to make up the full set for the Centennial, for these latter were not used for postage.

They are much rarer than most collectors estimate. Very few collectors have them, especially without the word "reprint," and as they fulfilled every point required of a regular issued stamp, I fail to see why they should not be catalogued as such. They always have been confused with the 1869 issue which led to their neglect by collectors.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

ITEMS FROM THE ENGLISH PRESS.

By CHAS. E. JENNEY.

In the March Stamp Lover appears a continued article on the stamps of Sarawak, in which is given, along with other matters of interest, a list of the post-offices of Sarawak, 24 in number.

In the same magazine the Cayman Islands are being treated in an exhaustive manner and this issue is plentifully illustrated with the king's head provisionals.

Egotism or self-advertising is a common human failing. It crops up in the "fine arts" as well as elsewhere. Witness the "Connell" stamp, and the designer's initials on the withdrawn Lincoln cent. The foregoing is suggested by a discovery, as we learn from Alfred Smith & Son's Monthly Circular, of a part of a sheet of the French 10 centimes "Semeuse" type, showing a watermark of the name of the firm supplying the administration with paper for its stamps.

In the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly we are informed of what is said to be probably the oldest stamp in existence, —an embossed deed stamp dated July 5, 1694, —issued just after the passing of the Stamp Act in the reign of William and Mary and located at present in the collection of Mr. W. Denison Roebuck. Another record breaker mentioned in the same collection is a revenue of the face value of 11,250 pounds or in round American figures, $56,000.

The above magazine has an article by Hubert Armstrong on the stamps of France, in which, speaking of the Bordeaux issue he says, "These stamps were issued imperforate, but quite a few were perforated unofficially before use, and many more have been perforated for collectors since." Which so well described the condition of affairs in the Confederate States of America stamps that I am impelled to remark on it.

When a new issue has good cause for existence on account of some necessity of change of design, it is well to preserve it in philatelic annals, for it means history. In the S. C. F. article on France mentioned above appears the best raison d'être I have heard for the change from the Liberty head design to that of Peace and Commerce. He says: "In 1875 the Republic had pretty well settled down, but there was still a large Royalist section of the public whom it was thought well to conciliate. Consequently it was universally considered that the head of Liberty under whatever alias she might lurk upon the stamps, was of too controversial a character, and steps were taken to substitute a design which should have no political significance." The long used "Peace and Commerce" type was the result of the new selection.

A carefully prepared list of the postmark numbers of the towns and cities of Great Britain is being continued in Gibbons Stamp Weekly. It makes one wish that a similar methodical system had been employed in this country, each town or city being assigned a number and using it in its obliterating stamp as well as the postmark.

Mr. Charles J. Phillips of Stanley Gibbons, Limited, who has been making a South American trip, tells in the Weekly of April 2nd of his Brazilian researches and announces the purchase of a quarter of a million Brazilian stamps. From his study of local collections, he finds it necessary to rewrite and revise Brazilian prices for the next edition of their catalogue.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

A. P. S. HISTORICAL NOTES.

By H. A. DAVIS, Pres. Col. Branch No. 22.

Year 1908, 23rd Annual Convention.

On February 1st the secretary dropped 81 members for non-payment of dues. Secretary Davis mailed the Year Book in February. President Luff announced the call for the 23rd annual convention, May 16th, to be held in Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday, July 21st.

In May the following nominations were made by the Columbus Collectors' Club and endorsed by the Colorado, Scranton and New England branches: President, John N. Luff, N. Y.; Bd. V. Pres., E. de Z. Kelley, C. A. Howes, L. L. Green, all of Mass.; Sec., H. S. Adair, Ohio; Int. Sec., L. H. Kjellstedt, Pa.; Treasurer, H. G. Smith, Minn.; Directors, H. J. Crocker, Calif., F. R. Cornwall, Mo.

This ticket was elected and is the same as the previous year with the exception of office of Secretary, H. A. Davis who declined a renomination.

The 23rd annual convention was called to order by Secretary H. A. Davis in the absence of President J. N. Luff in the convention Hall of the Southern Hotel, Columbus, O., Tuesday, July 21st.

Henry N. Mudge was unanimously chosen as Chairman of the convention. There were present 88 members, 2 applicants and 32 visitors. 682 members were represented by proxy.

The Secretary's report showed a membership of 1514, a gain of 339 members for the fiscal year. There were 81 dropped for non-payment of dues, 34 resignations, 10 deceased and 3 expelled. 448 new stockholders were added and 19 reinstated.

The Treasurer's report showed receipts to be $1,953.53 and disbursements $1,910.07. Balance General Fund $43.46; Stock Account $3,135.00; Insurance Fund $1,007.90; Exchange Account $43.50.

There was entered in the Sales Department, stamps to the value of $62,779.71 from which sales were made to the amount of $6,920.83.

Atlantic City was selected as the next convention seat by a vote of 420 against 272 for Rockford, 22 for Baltimore, 2 for Chattanooga, one each for Niagara Falls, Detroit and Put-in-Bay.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was voted official journal.

It was voted to increase the Sales Superintendent's commission from 10% to 12½%. Insurance to be ½ of 1% instead of 1%.

The following was adopted: To publish popular hand books on philatelic subjects. $200.00 appropriated for Secretary's clerical expenses. The Year Book to be issued in two parts, part 1 in November, part 2 in January (this legislation was ignored). Numerical list of members to be published in Year Book. Funds of the association to be reinvested at an increased per cent. Branch societies to be chartered by Board of Directors instead of annual convention (a repeal of the enactment the previous year). Branch societies must be stockholders. $150.00 appropriated for use of the Recruiting Committee, Association name changed from American Philatelic Association to American Philatelic Society, by a vote of 527 to 177.

The work of the National Stamp Committee to be taken over by the association, the Secretary to do the work for both. $50.00 appropriated for use of the National Stamp Committee. The appointment of a committee having in charge the matter of presenting bill before Congress to permit the illustrations of U. S. postal issues for philatelic purposes.

The convention attendants were entertained by the Columbus Collectors' Club. A Reception and Smoker Monday evening at the Southern. Seeing Columbus by trolley Tuesday afternoon. Tuesday evening a trip to Indianola Park.

Wednesday afternoon an automobile trip for the ladies. There were trips to the Ohio Penitentiary, Hoster's Brewery and many other places of interest.

An auction sale was held Wednesday evening under the auspices of the local club, conducted by the E. S. Martin Co.

At the end of the year the membership numbered 1620.

CURRENT 2c ENVELOPE DIES.

By PESSIMIST.

(This study of the current 2c envelope will be read with interest by specialists in U. S. envelopes, of which there are many. While the writer disguises himself under the nom de plume of "Pessimist", we shall be pleased to forward any letters containing stamped, addressed envelope for reply. We hope to publish further articles from "Pessimist".—Ed.)

There's a lot of 'em and probably more coming. The writer is not an envelope specialist nor an "authority", but a beginner with only a small collection, believing that one way to get information from those who have it is to hand out some bait for them to criticize. The following descriptions are made up from good distinct specimens in my collection and not from ordinary average specimens which by wear of die or matrix or poor printing might be any kinds of "print varieties" which are not die varieties and will be referred to in a subsequent letter.

The classification of the several dies is that adopted for my own collection in the absence of full data and is not intended for adoption by collectors generally as that should be attended to by some one who is an authority, preferably a specialist collector who is not a dealer.

I have twelve dies, with two leading types which are the well known dies A and C. In the second class with C is die B with its swarm of freak print varieties. In class of die A are a lot of working dies grouped under A, D and E and many of which have probably been recut and including, with die A2, those which I have called Ab, Ac, Ad, A3,—D, D2, D3 and E. The first three I think must be recuttings of die A, the fourth a recutting of die A2, and D2 and D3 recuttings of die D. Die A is described for comparison with others and the leading points only given, with important points for each in italics.

Die A. NI diverge a little, E of United has top arm longest, 2d T of States is low, W is a little too low, O is oval, C is thick at top, EN are low, right 2 leans back, outside colorless oval line ¾ mm. wide, raised flat place at top of head, queue knot even with top of coat collar, end of queue forms dull angle with bottom of bust, coat collar widens rapidly at back, waistcoat line curves up at back, two curved horizontal lines divide the front wave of hair at temple into three nearly equal parts and vertical line separating the two waves is irregular and not prominent. (I expect to give typical diagrams of all these heads later.)

Die Ab has NI about parallel, arms of E in United are even, right 2 thinner than in A, outside colorless oval line is ½ mm. wide, waves are deeper in back line of queue, bottom of bust curves down by ¼ circle to tip of queue, hair generally as in A but is coarser. Earliest postmark I have with this die is Dec. 22, '09. (This die is also found with the bar connecting WO near the top like die A3.)

Die Ac has 2d S of States too far from E, outside colorless oval line ¾ mm. at bottom to ¾ mm. at top. Forehead not so full, bottom line of bust straight at front and at rear curves down to tip of queue on long radius centered at front foot of N in Cents. Earliest postmark, 12-27-'09.

Die Ad has N and I diverging sharply, first S of States is large with long ends, first T narrow and too low. A is very low, of Cents the N is too high and T is narrow and too high, right 2 more erect but base is shorter, left 2 top flatter and heavier, second wave of hair back of temple is smaller and farther from back of head, waistcoat line curves down at rear. Earliest postmark I have is April 24, '10.

Die A2 has E in United with arms even, point of queue longer below bust, first wave of hair shorter horizontally with deep straight vertical groove parting it from second wave which is larger than in A.

Die A3 has NI parallel, T of United has shorter arms, waistcoat line straight. Earliest postmark Jan. 8, '10. This die also appears in later printings with a bar connecting WO near the top. Earliest postmark of this variety, Mar. 1st, '10.

Die D as E of United with top arm short, D larger, first S of States wide with heavy top, first T narrow, too high and too near S, second T too near A. T of Two narrow and leans to left, C is too near O, and has ends cut off radially, N of Cents large and too high, T narrow and close to N, chin is small, projecting and hangs down, nose projects less but is longer, line of back of head strikes middle of top of T, hair similar to A but cross lines of small wave more vertical. Earliest postmark I have of this is April 13, '10.

Die D2 has S of States wide with ends cut off almost square, T's of States well placed, C is too close to E, N is crowded between E and T, forehead is straight and quite high, back line of head strikes left top corner of T, bottom of bust makes right angle with front of queue end and front of bust is close to frame line. Earliest postmark I have is Feb. 24, '10.

Die D3 has NI parallel, wide A with short legs, E of Cents even and not crowded and T well placed, chest line steep, forehead straight and very high, appearing to bulge at top, waves at back of queue very deep, front of bust angular. Earliest postmark I have is Mar. 5, '10.

Die E has I too near T, NI diverge, back of D not rounded enough, S of States wide with long pointed ends, T of Two has right arm short, W too high and too near T, C is taller, throat makes angle (no curve) with chest, forehead low retreating, top of head low, back similar to A, except on level with mouth queue bends back causing head to appear "bull necked", bottom front of bust is sharp angle. Earliest postmark I have is Feb. 16, '10.

Die C is too common and well known to describe beyond the round O, thin lettering and hollow at back of neck, T too far from W and top of E in Cents is square.

Die B is almost the same as A with all letters and figures heavier like A but with T nearer W, and top of E in Cents a little shorter and opened up a little, the O is not quite so round. Have not found any red brown die C, but die B in both colors, so suppose C came out long after B, but I have a series of envelopes grading from a very fine lined C to a very much worn and spread B and various experts have very gravely separated them and positively declared which were C's but no two have done the trick alike.

Good red brown prints from die B seem to be scarce but there are plenty of worn die print varieties. One remarkably variable thing is the outside colorless line of border. Of most all of the dies I have prints clear and sharp from new dies showing great variation of this line but otherwise absolutely alike. I hope some collector of the city where the envelopes are made will emulate Morris of Washington by digging up full information and getting it on record as soon as possible and in as great detail as possible for the benefit of the specialists, leaving the rest of us to forget what we don't care about.

ANOTHER MORRIS ENDORSEMENT.

At the session of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society held April 20, it was voted to endorse the candidacy of Chas. R. Morris for secretary of the A. P. S. The cordial support that Mr. Morris is receiving must be very gratifying to his many friends who know his sterling worth and his eminent fitness for the position for which he has been nominated.

EDITORIAL.

Fair Play—For several months unwarranted criticism has been leveled at the WEEKLY in certain quarters and while the innuendoes and false statements are made for political effect in the present campaign in the American Philatelic Society, doubtlessly, we should not have noticed them had our own prospects only been involved. As it is, the interests in mind are endeavoring to injure the candidacy of Charles R. Morris for secretary of the American Philatelic Society by denouncing him as a "hireling" of the WEEKLY. What these detractors broached first as a hazard, they brazenly assumed was the truth because no denial immediately was made; and thus, they loaned themselves to the circulation of a falsehood. All that Mr. Morris has ever done from a news viewpoint has been done gratuitously and with no expectation or desire for remuneration, we sincerely believe. We consider that this statement is necessary in justice to Mr. Morris and we hope that his critics will be generous enough to treat him fairly. The WEEKLY can bear with equanimity any undeserved criticism that may be launched against it but it does not want to be the means of causing Mr. Morris to be misrepresented.

Early in the Field—The collector who is interested in United States local stamps finds that many of the earlier private carriers called their enterprises, expresses. In the report of the postmaster-general, 1843, he said that "numerous private posts under the name of expresses, had sprung within a few years into existence extending themselves over the mail-routes between the cities and towns, and transporting letters and other mailable matter for pay to a great extent." Suits were instituted against carrying concerns in New York, Massachusetts and Maryland but it appears from the postmaster-general's report of 1844 that the government was unable to suppress the private expresses, which were still maintained "upon the leading post-routes." Many years elapsed before Congress passed laws that effectually stopped the posts; and the reason for this dilatoriness was not difficult to surmise; the posts had an accredited place in the commercial world and they enjoyed the patronage of powerful interests as contributing to a real convenience.

To the Fore—It is evident that there is a "recrudescence of interest" in United States envelopes. We shall not undertake to determine to what the increased appreciation of these envelopes may be attributed. It may be that they are enjoying their periodical revival of popularity that seems to come in cycles or it may be that a conviction is growing that the envelope varieties present a most fascinating field. A peculiarity about the present condition as it appears to some observers is that the dies themselves are so potent an attraction that all controversy between the adherents of the "entire" and "cut square" schools is allayed and the common interest has effected a truce between the two divisions. We believe that the Kohl plates of U. S. envelope dies and Toppan's little book on U. S. varieties have had their stimulating influence. Let the "cut square" man buy only cut squares which usually are a bit cheaper than entire envelopes; but should he secure entire envelopes at times, he should convince himself before he uses the shears that he is not destroying the value of a scarce size. The advantages that a knowledge of die differences affords need not be enlarged upon and it is essential that the collector become conversant with them early in his studies.

Up They Go—As showing the keen competition for envelopes and the importance of knowing dies and sizes, we cite prices realized at the recent auction sale of the Philadelphia Stamp Company; the first 535 lots were all entire envelopes priced according to Scott and Bartels, respectively. A total of nearly $2000 was reached for the envelopes and perhaps it was the most successful sale of its kind ever held:

How to Do It—The following letter was received from Alvah G. Clark, Trenton, New Jersey, soon after the appearance of our words appreciative of the labors of the Educational Committee of the American Philatelic Society: "Reading of the work of the Educational Committee of the A. P. S. leads me to write you of what is being done along this line in this city. About two years ago, Mr. E. A. Andrews, Sales Manager of the Trenton Philatelic Society and myself promised some of the boy collectors that we would organize a society for them; this was done and now the boys' society numbers perhaps twenty-five members. We devote each Saturday afternoon during the winter months to this society and have found it a regular meeting-place. The boys have their own officers, carry on their own business and have their exchange and sales departments, recruiting committee, etc., the same as a society of adults. We instruct them in parliamentary law and give them frequent talks on stamps and stamp collecting. Once a month, they have a contest; some months it may be an exhibition of certain countries or a group of countries. Last month, the competition took the form of a composition and to let you see the thoughts of the boys whose ages average from 12 to 16 years, I am enclosing the best paper of the lot, which was written by Chris H. Bowers, age 15. To show further the industrious natures of these boys, they have started a paper, issued in connection with their society and they do all the writing and illustrating. I send you a copy of Volume I, Number 1 of the Junior Enterprise. If some of the members of the American Philatelic Society would make the same sacrifice they could probably find several boys in each of their respective cities who would be only too glad to have this same opportunity to be educated along philatelic lines. The 'grown-ups' would find, as we do, much pleasure in meeting with the boys and looking after them. I might add that the Vice-President of the Trenton Philatelic Society is looking after a society of about fifteen boys in Lawrenceville, N. J. As soon as these boys are twenty-one years of age, they are eligible to membership in the Trenton Philatelic Society; and no doubt, they will make excellent members. Would not this plan work for the American Philatelic Society?"

tion of philately. While some of us halt to compare theories as to the best ways and means for making philately attractive for the young, these gentlemen take a practical short-cut and arrive at real results. The composition of Master Bowers is on "Why I Collect Postage Stamps" and is a most pleasant and plausible recital of their merits. The club paper, the Junior Enterprise is a type-written sheet produced by manifold process and its contents are of the kind that appeals to youth and that is not saying that they would not be appreciated by the elders. Editorially is the remark: "A conservative estimate of the boys collecting stamps in Trenton is 50. This does not include the many collectors who make it a practice of stealing approval sheets." Here is a sample note: "Oakley has an idea that he can read Chinese characters on cancelled stamps. Some one suggested that he might get a job as clerk reading laundry checks in Son Ling's emporium."

"OFFICIALLY SEALED" IMPERFS.

By CHAS R. MORRIS.

The philatelic press has recently chronicled the appearance of the blue "Officially Sealed" labels in imperforate condition and I have had two inquiries from different parts of the country in regard to them, one correspondent submitting two blocks of same for inspection with the request that I would ascertain if they were genuine.

The task was a pleasant one for I enjoy hunting out these things that are hard to learn.

These labels are not considered securities of the U. S. and are therefore printed at the Government Printing Office and not at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where the regular stamps are made.

There was quite a little surprise expressed when I first exhibited the stamps in imperforate condition for they claim to guard the manufacture of them as carefully as are the regular stamps in the Bureau. However, by making inquiry at one division and another where the stamps are handled in the process of making them into books, it was learned that the gumming of them was not done in the G. P. O. for they had no facilities for doing it and that the Director of the Bureau had refused to handle that part of the process and so it became necessary to invite proposals from outside firms to do this work and in sending out the proposals a sample sheet was sent to each prospective bidder and no request for its return was made.

Without a doubt it is these sample sheets that were sent to New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and other cities that have fallen into the hands of collectors and are being sold at ridiculous prices.

Those that were submitted to me for inspection were on a thinner, whiter paper than those ordinarily seen. This is accounted for at the Printing Office by the fact that there is no regular paper used for these stamps as there is with postage stamps. When a supply is needed a requisition for same is forwarded from the Post Office and they stipulate the thickness of paper desired and it may vary on each requisition and the paper may be supplied by different mills each time hence no uniformity may be expected in these labels.

NEW STAMPS ON THE TAPIS.

By H. CORMACK.

Chili: This country appears to be looming up as an important factor in surcharge lines. The recent appearance of the 1905, 30c green, surcharged "5 CENTS IMPUESTA", is to be followed shortly, it is said, by the appearance of the new Independence set, another one added to the Jubilee ranks. It is proposed to use the old 20c green plate and strike the new issue from that, making stamps the same throughout the series but surcharging them "1810-1910" and with the respective values of 1, 2, 5, 10 and 20 pesos. The old plate, which had been in possession of an outsider, has been tendered to the government for the purpose of creating the new issue. This will be a right royal set and will cost to buy in Chili some $25 gold, if not more. The 12c lake on black, 1905, and the 1 peso bronze green, same issue, have come to the surface again, and some of the 12c have already found their way to this country and it may be supposed that the peso will follow. The prices, however, are very high; a cutting from a Santiago paper states that the peso has been sold as high as $3 paper per copy.

Guatemala: The new regular issue of this country is reported as to have been issued on the 24th of April. Details have not been given.

Uruguay: A new issue of this country was promised for the 18th of April, but it was not stated whether jubilee or regular.

Paraguay: Recent advices state that the 1910 issue is on the eve of being put into circulation.

SEYBOLD AUCTION SALE.

(On April 14-15 Part III of the famous Seybold collection was sold by J. C. Morgenthau & Co. In the following article will be found the most interesting prices realized, all lots representing stamps on the original cover. Our thanks are tendered Morgenthau & Co. for priced catalog. It is not our custom generally to list auction prices, but feel that the importance of this sale warrants our so doing.—ED.)

The highest price of the evening's sale was $206, on order for two copies of the 2-pence deep blue Mauritius of the October, 1859, issue, known as the Fillet Head. They are used together on a cover from Mauritius, Nov. 10, 1859, to Marseilles. They are fine early impressions and lightly cancelled "Paid" in oval. Another Mauritius rarity, the 2-pence blue on bluish paper, issue of 1848, was bought on order for $106. It is on a small cover, cancelled "Mauritius, Sept. 19, 1853," and also "Inland." The stamp is in fine condition, with deep rich color, and early impression showing every line clear and distinct. The cover is somewhat marred by Mr. Seybold's name stamp showing through from the back. Other scarce stamps of this country were 2-pence blue on bluish paper, intermediate impression, issue of 1848, on a fine cover, $51 (New England Stamp Co.); 2-pence dull blue on bluish paper, late stage of the intermediate impression, lightly cancelled, on fine cover, $44 (order); 1 penny red on blue paper, worn impression, vertical pair, issue of 1848 on small cover, $43 (order); 2-pence blue, worn impression, issue of 1848, fine pair on cover, $22 (order); two horizontal pairs of 2-pence blue of issue of December, 1859, on cover, to Bordeaux, $53 (order), and two copies, on cover, of 4-pence green of 1854 with overprint "Four Pence," $22 (order).

Of the British Guiana stamps a 1c Magenta, 1852, block of four on cover, cancelled Demerara, Aug. 7, 1855, sold for $150 (John N. THE BRAZILIAN 1000 REIS.

By PESSIMIST.

The value of the "milreis" or 1000 reis of Brazil is very often misquoted and collectors should know that the common money tables give 54.6 cents as the value of the milreis and this is correct but only when referring to Brazilian gold coin which is not in circulation and can only be had from the national treasury by favor as nearly all of the gold in circulation is English coins, pounds. The common currency is paper and a certain class of bills corresponding to our gold notes and in common circulation with the rest may be exchanged at a gov't office for English gold at the rate of fifteen pence to the milreis (1000 reis).

As all this paper currency is receivable at any post office at face value for stamps, it follows that the face value of a 1000 reis stamp is very closely thirty cents and not 54.6 cents.

The milreis of Portugal and her colonies is altogether different.

The Paul Collection.

With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.

From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete.

Now, for a few weeks, we shall advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Dean McClusky reports having found the 2c of 1890 with two distinct vertical lines in the upper part of the left "2". Mr. McClusky also reports finding what appears to be a genuinely horizontal imperforate copy of the current 2c stamp.

G. de Lachasse writes as follows: "Knowing that some collectors are interested in the 'Penalty' envelopes, I would beg leave to bring to their notice that I just came across an 'official business' from the Post Office Department, office of the chief inspector, at Washington, with the new style of penalty (for the Post Office Department) in two lines, as well as the 'card' in the N. E. corner, printed in blue instead of black as heretofore. This is the second envelope from that Department I have seen having the notice and card printed in blue. As usual, the envelope is white laid paper, without watermark."

The Economist Stamp Co. reports finding the 2c Columbian stamps with the caps on the "2", the same as appears on the 1890 issue.

Our readers will understand in the note "f" in No. 1009, that the lower half of the block of 8c 1902 stamps should read "in 'lighter' shades", not "higher"

AZORES.—We are also indebted to Hermann Focke for specimens of the new Azores stamps.

BELGIUM.—L'Annonce Timbrologique states that the 1fr stamps are now printed in a very distinct shade of orange yellow.

BOSNIA.—Mr. Schachne reports the 5 on 5h card with no oblique line at upper left. Otherwise there is no change from the last.

CHINA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a new printing of the 4c stamp, the design being unchanged.

whilst there are also three types of the 1 centavo, instead of two only. The first and most common variety of the 1/2 centavo is that which corresponds to our Type 96, that is to say, having the maker's imprint—"LIT. J. L. ARANGO MEDELLIN COL."—an appreciable distance from the foot of the design and the value label overlapped by the two little foliate sprays above the letters 'o' of 'MEDIO' and 'N' of 'CENTAVO'; this is Type I. Type II has the value label overlapped as Type I, but the maker's imprint is now close up to the foot of the stamp; this is intermediate between Type I and Type III, which has the maker's imprint close up, but the value label is not now overlapped by the sprays.

"The stamps of Type III are in a rather deeper shade of yellow than is general with those of Types I and II, the lines of the background also appear to be closer together.

"The 1 centavo shows the same three type distinctions as the 1/2 centavo, with the additional variation in Type III that the letters of the value are slightly larger than in the other two types, the "UN," and the "N," "A," and "V" of 'CENTAVO' being distinctly wider. The colour of the stamps of Types II and III is brighter than that of Type I.

"The types of the 2 centavos and the 5 centavos are well described in the note in the Catalogue, and the clearest way is to tabulate the descriptions:

Type I.

Label overlapped by foliate sprays.
Maker's imprint low.

Type II.

Both hooks turned in (A).
Label overlapped by foliate spray.
Maker's imprint close.

Type III.

Both hooks turned in (A).
Label not overlapped.
Maker's imprint close.

"To this it may be added that in the case of the 5 centavos Type III there is an extra white line forming a cornice above each of the foliate ornaments in the upper corners, and that this peculiarity is to be found in no other type in this set. These stamps are easily distinguished from those of similar design of 1908, which bear the imprint in the case of the 2 centavos 'LIT: NATIONAL,' and of the 1/2 centavo and 5 centavos 'LIT: NATIONAL—BOGOTA E.F.Y.'"

COSTA RICA.—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has shown us several values of a new series of stamps from this country. The stamps are of small size, and dated 1909, and are in single colors. They appear to be from the American Bank Note Co., and a different design appears on each stamp. They are very handsomely engraved and printed. The INDIA.—It is now denied that the current 3a India stamp has been surcharged "ON H. M. S.", as stated in No. 1001.

ITALY.—Offices in Tripoli.—We have received from Mr. Schachne three Italian cards of the divided face variety with a two-line surcharge or overprint in black on the lower part of the stamp, "Tripoli—di Barberia".

MEXICO.—A correspondent writes to the London Philatelist as follows: "I notice that the word 'OFICIAL' on Mexican stamps now appear in a different form of lettering. I have just received a wrapper containing some official documents, two of the stamps on which are surcharged by hand as usual and the other two have the word 'OFICIAL' apparently printed. The letters are much clearer and broader in proportion to their height, the 'o' being nearly circular. I notice that on one stamp the space between the 'o' and the 'f' is greater than the other. At present I have only seen the new surcharge on the 3c."

NICARAGUA.—Philip Wolf reports having received the 5c and 15c stamps of the 1909 issue, with "C DPTO ZELAYA" surcharge, with the "o" of "DPTO" turned sideways and raised. Mr. Wolf suggests that probably all the other values up to 2 pesos exist with the same peculiarity. The 1c, 2c, 3c and 4c of the above issue are unobtainable at Cabo Gracias.

RUSSIA.—Offices in China.—The New England Co. has shown the current 1k, 2k, 4k, 7k, 10k and 70k stamps of Russia surcharged as usual for use in China.

TOGO.—Mr. Schachne shows us the 5pf card precisely similar to the current German card except that it has the usual colony stamp.

EUROPEAN COUNTRIES NOT POSSESSING POSTAL INSTITUTIONS OF THEIR OWN.

From a report lately issued by the German General Post Office we learn that there are several independent countries in Europe which have not their own Postal Institutions.

In the Principality Liechtenstein, situated on the Upper Rhine between the Austrian Province Vorarlberg and Switzerland, and comprising an area of about 60 square miles with a population of about 10,000 inhabitants, the Post Office Service is in the hands of the Austrian Government which uses their stamps. There exist five Post Offices, viz.:—Vaduz (the capital), Balzers, Neudeln, Schaan and Triesen.

In the Principality Monaco, the smallest independent state in the world, about three miles long and one-and-a-half miles broad, with about 6,000 inhabitants, the French Government undertakes the Postal Service, but uses special (Monaco) stamps. There exist two Post Offices, viz.:—Monaco and Monte Carlo, which are under the supervision of the district Post Office in Nice. With the exception of the Savings Bank Service the usual business is transacted, but there does not exist any local Telephone Service in the Principality.

The Republic San Marino, comprising about 33 square miles with about 11,000 inhabitants, has placed itself under the protection of Italy by a treaty concluded in 1872, and is therefore served by the Italian Post office under the supervision of the Post Office in Forli, but issues its own stamps. There are three Post Offices in the country, where every branch of postal business, with the exception of that of the Savings Bank, is transacted.

The miniature Republic Andorra, in the Pyrenees, with an area of 175 square miles and 6,000 inhabitants is under the joint suzerainty of Spain and France. There does not exist a single Post Office, and letters, etc., are delivered from the nearest Spanish and French Post Offices, and despatched by them. Letters, etc., for Spain are franked with Spanish stamps, and those for France with French stamps, and those for foreign countries with Spanish or French stamps and posted in the respective letter-boxes or handed to the postman on his round.

In the neutral district Neutral-Moresnet, situated between Belgium and Prussia, some merchants tried some time ago to institute a Postal Service, but were soon compelled by the Belgium Government to close their Post Office, and the postal service is carried out by both Belgium and Germany in the same way as in Andorra by Spain and France.

On the Island of Spitzbergen, which does not belong to any country, there exists during the summer months a Norwegian Post Office in Advent Bay.

Liechtenstein, Monaco, San Marino, Andorra, Neutral-Moresnet and Spitzbergen belong to the International Postal Union.—H. P. S. Monthly Report.

THE "SPECIMEN" STAMPS.

From Berliner Briefm. Zeitung.

By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

(Concluded.)

Paraguay.—Both series of the official stamps of 1885 have been overprinted "Specimen" in red, and black, horizontally and slanting.

Philippines.—The issue of 1892-93 with violet overprint "Muestra". The 1c and 40c of 1897 with small overprint of same color, and the issue of 1898 with similar overprint as that of 1892.

Porto Rico.—Of the issue of 1897, the 3c was provided with a small and the 80c with a larger overprint "Muestra". The 1 and 2 pesos of 1898 have "Muestra" in large type.

Russia.—The "war stamps" of 1905 were overprinted in large Russian characters, with a word corresponding to Specimen, in such a way that one letter of the word comes on each stamp.

Switzerland.—The Postage Due stamps of 1878, 1882, 1883 and 1884 were partly hand stamped "Specimen" in black, horizontally and with the word of such length that it run across two stamps. After 1882 these stamps were also overprinted with a stamp made from type. This overprint is small, 12 mm. long, black, and sometimes red, and runs horizontally. These specimens were probably not only intended for the Berne exchange but also for presentation purposes.

Somali Coast (French).—It is doubtful if the entire issue of 1894 is involved as the author has only seen the 4 and 50c hand stamped "Specimen" in black.

South African Republic (Transvaal).—Single copies have been seen with the word "Monstre" but also with "Specimen" as, for instance, the 5 pound of 1892. After 1902 the overprinting has been done similar to that on the stamps of other British Colonies.

United States.—The Postage Due stamps of 1891 were overprinted "Specimen" in small type. The overprint is red and 11 mm. long. It is a question if the issue of 1879 was similarly treated.

Great Britain.—Probably all issues from that of 1867-69 have been overprinted "Specimen" in black, sometimes horizontally and sometimes slanting with the word 15 mm. long. This also refers to the official stamps. The 1½p of 1870, rose on bluish paper, which never was issued, is also found overprinted "Specimen". On the Kings head stamps the overprint is sharper and more regular in form.

British Colonies.—From around 1879 we find as a standard type a black, sharp and uniform overprint "Specimen" 15 mm. long, placed horizontally, with the exception of the higher values in which it not seldom is found in a vertical position. Still there are a number of exceptions showing variations in the type used, the letters placed in the form of a semi-circle instead of a straight line, etc.

British Bechuanaland.—The issue of 1887 is found with black, diagonal, large "Specimen" 22 mm. long. The issue of 1904 has a semi-circular, black overprint. The latter style has also been observed on the issues of British Levant, Morocco and Kings head issues.

British Central Africa.—The high values of the issue of 1895 occur with large, horizontal overprint 25 mm. long.

British Guiana.—The issue of 1882 has the word "Specimen" perforated with small holes. The issue of 1867 has been found similarly perforated but which probably was done at a later date.

British East Africa.—The 5 and 7½ annas of the provisional issue of 1894 are found overprinted with hand stamp, in blue, either horizontally or slanting. The word is 15½ mm. long.

British South Africa (Rhodesia).—The issues 1898 to 1908 have the word "Specimen" perforated in the stamps.

Falkland Islands.—The issue of 1891-96 has a small, black, horizontal overprint 12 mm. long.

Labuan.—Issue of 1893 with black, diagonal overprint and period after "Specimen". The word measures 15 "cancelled to order" and delivered and sold in sets.

Although the list of "Specimen" stamps given in this article probably is the most complete compiled up to the present time, the serious collector can easily see how much still remains to be found in this field of philately. It offers splendid changes for independent research, and, what is best of all, the material for a collection is still in the market at prices which undoubtedly will look like remarkable bargains in years to come. Before the last Postal Congress at Rome, the number of Specimen stamps required of each value for the international exchange through the Bureau at Berne was 700, but the new regulations adopted at Rome have reduced this number considerably. Thus it will be seen that these Specimen stamps are really rare and a sudden demand is all that is needed to give them their true market value. From a philatelic point of view they are certainly desirable as the earliest impressions from new plates, and having the advantage of card or India proofs in showing gum and perforations, paper qualities and watermarks.

RHODE ISLAND PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Organized Feb. 2, 1885.

W. A. MOWRY, Pres.; B. A. WEBBER, Vice Pres.; GEO. C. ARNOLD, Sec., 124 Washington St., Prov., R. I.; W. IRVING COX, Treas.; JEROME FLEISCHER, Exch. Mgr.; F. M. MASON, Lib. and Chairman Auction Com.

Meetings held every third Wednesday at Room 4, 63 Washington St., Prov., R. I., at 8 P. M. Address all communications to the Secretary.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 20.

The 207th regular monthly meeting of the Society was held at 63 Washington St., at 8.20 P. M., Pres. W. A. Mowry in the chair; present 10 members.

Records of previous meeting read and approved. Application of A. W. Claffin referred to the executive committee. The executive committee reported favorably on the applications of Horace G. Belcher and Edward C. Stiniss and they were duly elected. W. C. Polk on vote was reinstated to membership.

It was voted that the Society purchase a photograph of the 25th Ann. Group, properly labelled and framed, to adorn the Society rooms.

A. B. Slater, Jr., read an interesting paper on the die variation of the current 2c envelope, in which all took a keen interest.

Mr. Mason was appointed a committee to procure a rubber stamp analogous to the Society Seal for stamping all publications received by the Librarian.

Voted that the A. P. S. of the R. I. P. Society indorse Chas. R. Morris of Washington, D. C., as Secretary of the Regular meetings 2nd Wednesday, Room 210, Corcoran Bldg., 533 15th St., N. W.

The 52nd regular meeting was held April 13. Eighteen members and two visitors were present. A committee was appointed to present some plan to facilitate exchange of stamps. A resolution of respect and sympathy relative to T. F. Schekels, who died April 13, was adopted. Wm. Feldhouse applied for membership. The Chairman of the Entertainment Committee was directed to arrange for an illustrated lecture at the Public Library or Chamber of Commerce room. A special effort will be made to have the June meeting one of great interest. It is expected to have some good talks and refreshments will be served.

F. R. Cornwall's prize collection of Cape of Good Hope was exhibited and the members enjoyed the special treat of viewing same. Mr. Cornwall was tendered a vote of thanks for his courtesy.

At the next meeting, May 11, a large auction sale will be held, the members contributing the stamps and the proceeds to be for the Library fund.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A. Herbst has sent us two labels issued in the interests of the Actors' Fund Fair, to be held in New York May 9. Mr. Herbst humorously writes: "One of these stamps shows a distinct variety, 'Orphejm' in place of 'Orpheum'. As this error occurs but once in each sheet of one hundred you will readily understand that the variety is sure to become very scarce. One of the local dealers who saw the 'error' told me that it ought to be worth some $300 'providing the catalogs list it'."

—Clippings received from Frank J. Guscetti, Dr. H. S. Johnson, Dr. W. L. Babcock, John F. Hinson and Clinton G. G. Brown.

—During the past week two of the Burroughs articles have been received, one from the Savannah (Ga.) Morning News, sent in by Mr. Hinson and another from a Detroit paper, submitted by Dr. Babcock. The article referred to is the African story written by the authority of the Educational Committee and dealing with stamps picturing "big game".

THE KING IS DEAD—LONG LIVE THE KING.

The death of King Edward coming almost without warning creates the most painful impression in America, where he was esteemed in extraordinary measure. It is not incumbent upon us to attempt an analysis of the qualities that contributed to the remarkable popularity that he enjoyed in the United States; suffice it to say that his career was followed with the keenest interest; and what may be called his personal side commended itself strongly to the American mind. It is a satisfaction to say in all sincerity that we mourn the man and that his inclination so often manifested for our people was cherished and reciprocated. So long as we can remember, on the street and on the stage, in the mart and on the platform, among the classes and among the masses, the mention of the name Edward, as gentleman, Prince of Wales or King inspired kindly, sympathetic thought. If the loss is shared so intimately by the American public, how much more deeply do stamp collectors here feel the visitation. A melancholy significance will attach to the King's Heads, through the study of which King Edward became so close to philatelists in recent years. Collectors will memorialize King Edward in their albums and they will think of the departed ruler almost as a friend and pay him tribute in which fondness has its place.

SINCE the death of our beloved King Edward VII we have received numerous letters asking as to the probable course of our prices on the stamps bearing his effigy.

For the present all stock on hand and to arrive from postmasters, indented upon and not yet heard from, our prices will remain unchanged until the appearance of our new Catalogue in the fall.

F. M. MASON, Box 1462, Providence, R. I.

in his own collection is the only one he knows of. There is a plate illustrating the 24 varieties as described by him, which is so well executed that we are able to trace his descriptions perfectly.

In Stanley Gibbons Weekly for April 16th the initial article is Charles J. Phillips on the first type of Chile. He elaborates Scott's Nos. 1 to 8 into 39 different stamps, according to the different printings. These naturally do not show sufficient variation to admit identification by any printed description and it is doubtful if collectors will be willing to follow the new S. G. catalogue in this instance, interesting as are the stamps of Chile. Scott's highest price is $10 for the No. 1, while the S. G. revised prices run to $30, $50 and in one case to $75. Verily the highest grade of specialism is an expensive thing to cultivate.

Among the new things dug up by Mr. Phillips in his South American tour was a Brazilian discovery,—a large stamp containing a whole portrait gallery, prepared to be used in 1909 at the opening of the Pan-American Medical College in Rio Janeiro. Supplies were printed and sent out to the different towns and then at the last moment it was found to be contrary to some Postal Union regulation and telegrams were sent to all the places to return the stamps. Of course some got out and S. G. have decided to catalogue it. It looks like a purely philatelic venture. Wonder who has the remainders or the recalled supply?

A VALUABLE CATALOGUE—U. S. ENVELOPE PRICES

Marked catalogue of the prices realized on the entire envelope section of our 24th auction sale should be in the hands of all envelope collectors. This catalogue is now ready and forms a valuable reference book, as many of the envelopes are unpriced in either Scott's or Bartels' catalogues. Prices are also given upon several new envelopes unpriced and unlisted in any of the catalogues. Altogether 535 envelope lots were sold in the first session, bringing about $2,000. Price 50c. The second session consisted of 575 lots, mostly 20th Century stamps, which will be furnished also at 50c or the two parts for $1.00.

A PHILATELIC TROPHY—OR PHILATELIC ATROPHY?

By "BON-BON," Nottingham, Eng.

Nearly each and every well mellowed and, incidentally, mildly mildewed of us notes in the stampic firmament must have had occasion at one time or other in the course of our quests and travails to moan wholesouledly, and, on very special provocation, to e'en wail distraughtly, at the doltlike depravity of some mediaeval minotaur of the sixties or seventies, who having gathered to himself choice copies galore of the "now nearly unattainables" has, in some ill-starred humour, pranked and patterned them, with full garnish of varnish, on platter a la plaque or what-not a la Watteau (What ho!).

From the young and virile present-day artist in these lines there is not, of course, more than the remotest possibility of repetition in such holocaustic chef d'œuvres; his "plate" numbers usually range merely among the "commonneys" in Europeans, "Uncle Sams" and Colonials, with haply an odd Hawaii sandwiched in between, or a brief inner circle of spry new Central Americans. And quite "class" enough these for the all-to-close attentions of gum brush behind plus gelatine and varnish atop. The old-time "stamp-snake," with its dingy-grown convolutions of "penny reds" and the like—the imperfector al perferato unofficially—is, to my mind, a less fearsome object than is one of these stamp plaques when, provided the varnish be not extra pale, a yearly cycle or two of Father Time's caresses shall have been lavished upon its devoted and ever embrowning head—or, rather, face. The one-time "thing of beauty" doth then become "alloy for ever" till, some bright spring-cleaning day the ash-bin grey shall woo and win it as its prey.

It is four or five years since first I was mysteriously whispered by a "phellow-phil" how that, stowed somewhere away in the furthestmost fastness of his business premises, one of our citizens had a tremendous "trophy" of old foreign stamps—"as big as a wall side" its somewhat ambiguously defined dimensions. Of it my informant had long been very anxious to obtain a view; but, although he had gone to the extent of placing a small business order or two with its owner, he had signally failed in attaining his end, the invariable excuse being that the large accumulation of other properties in front thereof quite barred its accessibility. Would I try what I could make out, and, if possible, get analytical sight of it, as he understood that the tableau had been most elaborately and expensively prepared upwards of thirty years previously and included stamps of high catalogue value.

Well, I duly started in on the job; but to this day have not been equal to getting all the way, although able to chronicle a certain amount of success. Its constructor and possessor is a somewhat fossilized genius of the composing stick, with one of the quaintest of old-world little printeries imaginable, stacked from floor to ceiling with back numbers in office furniture, worm-eaten wood block illustrations, and kindred "obsoletia". A shellbacky bachelor, with tastes and views pretty well as antique as his heirlooms, I probably first began to really enthrall him over the subject of Baxter-prints, which are having such a vogue with English connoisseurs nowadays. Yes, he had a lot of such oil-colour gems of the by-gone printer's art, somewhere among his piles of dust-covered boxes and parcels, if he could only "set about and hunt them out". That trophy of foreign stamps occupied his energies for several years as a young man, he subsequently informed me; might let me have a peep if I happened to call some day when it was "get-at-able". He had built his hopes on having it exhibited at the re-opening of Nottingham Castle after its restoration as our City Art Museum. The then Prince and Princess of Wales (our present King and Queen) performed that function in July, 1878; and but for the Mayor's sudden death a few weeks only prior to the royal inauguration, our friend might not have had cause to complain of the "callous, cold neglect" which set in when a fresh chieftain arose who "knew not Joseph" and took little or no interest in his pet prodigy. The non-acceptance of it for display at the Museum's opening spelt confirmed sourness of spirit in this matter to its projector, and it has been permanently retired by him these thirty odd years.

One morning last spring, happening in at the chock-piled little printing office, I gathered with surprised satisfaction that just a corner of the tableau had been temporarily exposed and was at the service of my optics. Up some creaking wooden stairs I followed my leader, and saw revealed one of the angles (about 30 inches square) of a large framed and glazed structure which, some six feet high by nine feet wide, stood on the floor along one side of the store-room. Bright-coloured rows of such stamps as the 12 cents purple U. S. 1872 bordered crescents and lozenges of green full-face Queenslands and the like; but, alas! the copies, though wonderfully undiscoloured, were coated down, even under their glass protection, with a special paper varnish, "clear as crystal"—in this particular conjunction, however, not quite so "fair to behold". And this was scarcely the worst of it, for I noticed that all the rich purple "Clays", etc., had been painfully converted into "pseudo-imperfs" by having their deckled edges cropped off close, so that they could butt up together in closest of amity. British Guiana and other rarities—some cataloguing as high as $250—were, I was told, in evidence on other of the trophy's compartments; and, of course, I haven't quite foregone the hope of gazing on these, in their "embalmed" state, anon.

Returning together to the press room below, quoth I:—"Great pity you didn't think to dispense with the varnish and rest content with the glass covering; there would then have been a fortune for you in that frame; and—oh, scissors! that shearing, what another sad mistake!" "Mistake!" cooed my very original friend fiercely and with fine scorn, "do you think I was going to spoil my work

Further combating on my part of such potent argument became, naturally enough, forthwith "ultra vires", and I—stamped.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

U. S. Postage Stamps, 1894-1910.—By Fred J. Melville. Published by the Melville Stamp Books, 47 Strand, London, Eng. This is the third and last of the set of U. S. books and will without doubt prove the most interesting of the series. It is superbly illustrated, containing several full page illustrations, such as the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, exterior and interior views; 2c 1894 showing varieties of the triangles; etc. It contains illustrations up to and including the special issues of last year, including the Lincoln, Alaska-Yukon and Hudson-Fulton. The chapter dealing with the unofficial perforations brings the book fully up to date and we predict a strong demand for this work from American collectors. Price 12c.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

It is very kind of our readers to so freely express their enjoyment of the WEEKLY as it reaches them from week to week, and we pen this word of acknowledgement having these kindly greetings in mind. There are editors who fail to appreciate the fact that we are seeking to build up a great philatelic newspaper and not a literary magazine. We are succeeding in our sphere and we wish the magazines success in theirs. With the hearty words of commendation that each day brings us and a circulation fast approaching the 7000 mark it would seem as though our paper is filling a real need.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

George, the Fifth—We shall not take this opportunity to dilate upon the philatelic effect of Edward's death but it is to be seen instantly that a decided influence will follow. It is to be expected that in due course of time the current issues of Great Britain and colonies will be changed according to custom and that King George's portrait will appear on the manifold issues. When this result is gained, philatelists will be pleased to pay homage to the likeness of one who, himself, is an ardent philatelist, one whose interest is not wholly dilettante but, on the contrary, an actual and working one. From one of the biographical sketches of King George the Fifth in the newspapers, we take the following: "The new king is one of the leading stamp collectors of the world. His collection, begun many years ago, he has industriously maintained, giving it his daily personal attention. Its value is now more than $500,000." We need not add that H. R. H., The Prince of Wales (now king), is president of the Royal Philatelic Society, London.

Another—As nicely confirmatory of the existence of the Thomasville, Georgia, five-cent black on white, provisional envelope, specimens of which have just been chronicled the Scott Stamp & Coin Company's Circular, we submit the following statements from Thomas Semmes, Jr., which will be followed with particular interest by those who appreciate Confederate locals: "I read with much interest the clipping enclosed taken from your issue of the 23rd of April and headed, New Confederate Envelopes. Nearly five years ago, I wrote to the Scott Stamp & Coin Company offering them these envelopes together with the 10 cent variety which I enclose for your inspection and which seems to have been entirely overlooked. I was told that there was little demand for envelopes such as these, although it was realized that they were very scarce, and the set of three which included the 10 cent not mentioned in the reprinted article was returned to me at my request. The singular part of my story is that all my envelopes are addressed to Milledgeville, Georgia, and if Mr. Roessler will give further details, no doubt you will find that all of the envelopes bear the address of Mrs. Wm. H. Hall of that place. It is very probable that they were part of the very lot, I, myself offered the Scott Stamp & Coin Company four years ago, or so. A few months before I wrote to this firm, Mrs. Hall, to whom the letters belonged originally, sent me a package of them asking me to sell them for her. After having written a number of the leading stamp dealers to get some idea as to their value, I notified Mrs. Hall that there seemed to be no demand for these envelopes at the time and that I would buy part of them and advised her to hold the rest, as they certainly were valuable to those who collected Confederate covers. So far as I know this is the only lot of Thomasville locals in existence; I believe that there were eight in all, the specimen enclosed being the only 10 cent in the lot."

Thomasville Ten—On the 10 cent envelope submitted for inspection by Mr. Semmes, the postmark reads: Thomasville, Ga., Aug. 3, and the "Paid 10" impression follows the type style of the 5 cent that has been recorded. There is no room to doubt that the 10 cent envelope is on the same sound basis as the five cent. The paper of the envelope in question is a heavy manila, showing many wisps of straw in its texture. The reference to Mr. Roessler by our correspondent was due to the fact that we quote him in connection with the reprinted article as saying that he has seen three Thomasville locals addressed to Milledgeville. Generally speaking, the provisional Confederate envelope with Paid impression and postmark is not always accepted unreservedly unless what may be termed adventitious aids to its establishing a character are forthcoming; these may be in the form of items from newspapers published at the time; the testimony of the issuing postmaster or persons of standing that the stamps or envelopes were used; or assurances that the items were sold over the counter, so to say, in such quantities as the buyer elected, for use at his convenience or option. The local that successfully passes this scrutiny is entitled to its place in the catalogue.

Imperforate Fours—A correspondent says that he may be able to give the WEEKLY the plain, unvarnished tale of the four cent 1902 imperforate. In this connection, H. W. Boers, Detroit, in speaking of the four-cent Grant, 1902, with Schermack perforations says:

Nassau Stamp Co., Ltd.

17th Sale

CATALOGUE ON REQUEST [tf]

231 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

"There is a person here who had twenty of the stamps from a roll but used all of them up except a strip of five now in his possession. An offer of large amount has been refused for the strip." These four-cent imperforates went to Detroit subsequently to the five-cent, 1902, imperforate, the whole supply of which was restricted and the very largest part of which were sent to Detroit, it appears.

Coincidental—Alvah G. Clark, Trenton, New Jersey, writes: "I read with interest the editorial, 'Early Stages,' which mentioned these early mail carriers as passing through our city. Further, in this connection, an eye-glass company in this city has been running a series of advertisements, 'History of Trenton in Pictures' and the one enclosed was published in the Evening Times of April 18th, two days after your article appeared." The illustration depicts the old-time inn, the stage-coach and horses, etc., with some fidelity to historical tradition, but the picture is cleverly modernized in certain of its aspects. The text is: "In the early days of the last century, stage coaches ran from Trenton to Philadelphia, New Brunswick, Elizabethport and New York. The Indian Queen tavern was a popular stopping place for the coaches. It was here, also, the Continental Congress met in 1784, when LaFayette visited Trenton."

LONDON PHILATELIC CONGRESS.

(The following clipping from the London Daily Mail was sent us by A. W. Dunning, who has been spending the winter abroad. We expect to have a detailed report of the Congress from Mr. Ward in our next issue.—Ed.)

Over 6,000 stamp collectors in all parts of the kingdom are represented by the ninety delegates who have gathered in London for the Philatelic Congress which opened at Caxton Hall April 27.

The Prince of Wales, himself the possessor of a magnificent collection of postal rarities, has given his patronage, and the vice-patrons are the Postmaster-General and his predecessor, Mr. Buxton, and the Earl of Crawford, and Mr. Henniker Heaton.

The congress brings together a remarkable assemblage of famous philatelists. The Earl of Crawford, who opened it, is well known as the owner of one of the finest collections of English stamps in the world. Major E. B. Evans, who will follow him with an address, has made a specialty of the "Mulready Envelope." Mr. W. D. Beckton, another delegate, is an expert on Grecian stamps, while Mr. M. P. Castle, J. P., recently disposed of his collection of Europeans at a record price.

Practical demonstrations of the manufacture of stamps are to be given by Mr. J. Dunbar Heath, of Messrs. Perkins, Bacon, and Co., who will produce a special issue commemorative of the congress with machinery which will be installed in the hall. Copies of this stamp are to be given to those present.

Tomorrow, April 28, the delegates will have an opportunity of inspecting Lord Crawford's collection at his residence in Cavendish square, and on Friday they will visit the British Museum to see the world-famed Taping collection, which is estimated to be worth about £100,000. Their guide will be Mr. E. D. Bacon, perhaps the greatest authority on stamps in the country.

Subjects to be discussed include the manufacture and sale of forged issues, with a proposal to bring the matter under the consideration of the various Governments; and a scheme for the foundation of a universal philatelic union.

THE U. S. 24c CONTINENTAL PRINT.

A letter recently received from Elliott Perry contained a question in regard to the stamp above referred to, which stamp has no doubt been a mystery to many collectors. We quote from his letter the following:

"Have you touched upon the 24c National-Continental U. S. postage in the WEEKLY lately? Scott now prices this stamp at $3.00. It used to be $5 but for several years was not priced at all. In an article by E. B. Power which you published within a year or two he stated that his firm had not had half a dozen real Continentals in as many years. Perhaps he meant unused. According to Luff's book there were several hundred thousand issued, or only a few, or any quantity in between. While there is so much interest in the grand old U. S. wouldn't some real light shed on this interesting stamp be welcomed by many collectors? I think so."

As a specialist in U. S. stamps we asked Mr. Rothfuchs for his opinion, and this is what the veteran dealer writes:

"The 24c stamp under discussion is one of the U. S. stamps which cannot be told with a certainty unless one saw it taken from the Continental Co.'s press. One dealer may call a National Bank Note Co.'s print a Continental and vice versa. Scott's gives its color as deep purple, Gibbons' deep violet and Mr. Power in his book on U. S. stamps calls it bluish purple.

In my list I use the Scott color, deep purple, but when I fill an order I always send the bluish purple or the one that shows the most blue.

In order to prove my statement that the 1873 24c stamp cannot be told to a certainty I should have to exhibit the different papers and colors in which the 24c stamps were printed and compare them with an exhibit of the 12c stamps of the National and Continental Bank Note Co.'s prints."

The WEEKLY will be pleased to hear from anyone who can give definite information in relation to the matter under consideration.

FOREIGN NOTES AND NEWS.
By L. HARALD KJELLSTEDT.

A Bouquet for Mr. Morris.—American philately has occupied more space in the European press lately than ever was given it before. Extensive reviews of Mr. Crocker's, Mr. Bellows', Mr. Power's and Dr. Chase's works have brought our literary achievements into the foreign limelight. Our late stamp issues with their many varieties have seemed to revive a rather dormant interest in our stamps, and the products of American philatelic writers are more frequently found in the columns of the journals of Europe. Mr. Henry J. Crocker has written on late Hawaiian discoveries in the press of Great Britain and that of Sweden. Mr. Bartels has an article on Mr. Pack's collection in a late number of the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly. The writer has discoursed fully on the "U. S. Stamp Books" in the Postage Stamp and has had a series of specialized articles on the later U. S. issues in the Philatelic Journal of Sweden. All this is as it should be, and everything that serves to make American philately appreciated and respected abroad is well worth the while. To see such appreciation take the form of kind words is gratifying to every American philatelist, and it is with pleasure I quote the following from the Postage Stamp of Apr. 16. "Mr Charles R. Morris of Washington has probably contributed more to the authentic knowledge of modern United States stamps than any other collector. I refer particularly to the stamps of the issues of the past two or three years. On several occasions I have appealed to this valued correspondent to find if there was official information on various subjects in connection with the issues, and he has that knack of getting to the bottom of things that makes the hunter after knowledge happy." It is Fred J. Melville, the most useful philatelic writer of our time, who thus voices his opinion, and I have reason to underline every word he has said. Frequent, and often troublesome, requests for information and research which have been addressed to Mr. Morris, have, in every case been met with the utmost willingness, promptness and thoroughness of reply. This to say nothing of Mr. Morris' connections which enable him to secure data which would be inaccessible to an outsider.

Check List of Literature.—The Swedish Philatelic Journal has adopted a novel and most excellent method of listing special articles appearing in the current philatelic publications. The countries about which articles have appeared during the last month are arranged in alphabetical order, and the article or articles pertaining to a certain country are mentioned with the name of the country as a heading. To illustrate this practical method, I translate a few examples from the last number of the journal referred to.

Crete.—MEKEEL'S WEEKLY March 5, 1910. Mr. W. Ward starts in this number an interesting article, "The Issues of Grecian Crete." Recommended to specialists.

Montenegro.—MEKEEL'S WEEKLY Mar. 12, 1910. William Evans has in this number an article, "The Seven Novtchiya of Montenegro" of interest to specialists.

Sweden.—Philatelic Record, March, 1910. Continuation of L. Harald Kjellstedt's translation of "Sveriges Frankotecken 1855-1905."

Victoria.—"Monthly Report of The Herts Phil. Society" for March has an article on the earlier issues of Victoria, written by the prominent specialist in Australian issues, Mr. L. L. R. Hausburg.

Thus not less than 23 countries are listed in the number mentioned, and it is hardly necessary to point out the practical value of such an arrangement to the philatelic student.

stamps of Alsace-Lorraine, I wish to refer to a recent article, "Something New About the Occupation Stamps of Alsace-Lorraine" which appeared in Berliner Briefmarken Zeitung. This article includes the following valuable table of old and new type varieties.

- 4 cent. Type I. "4" over "tim" in "centimes"
" II. "4" " " "im" "
" III. "4" " " "im" "
5 cent. Type I. The prolonged outside edge of the upright stroke in "5" cuts "s" in "Postes"
" II. The same edge prolonged runs between "o" and "s".
10 cent. Type I. The figure "1" over "n" in "centimes"
" II. The figure "1" over "n" in "centimes" 20 cent. Type I. "2" begins over "c" in "centimes"
" II. "2" begins over "e" in "centimes"
" III. "2" begins between "c" and "e".
" IV. With the figures higher up on the stamp, 3/4 mm. instead of 2 mm. above "centimes" 25 cent. Type I. Figure "2" begins over "c" in "centimes"
" II. Figure "2" begins over "e" in "centimes"
" III. The outside edge of the upright stroke of "5", prolonged, runs between "T" and "E" in "Postes".

Types III and IV of the 20 centimes, and type III of the 25 cent. are newly discovered types and worth looking for as they are undoubtedly very scarce.

Swiss Postage Dues.—As new Postage Due stamps for Switzerland are under preparation, the Schweizer Briefm. Zeit. obtained from the Postal Directorate, the number issued of the different values of the 1908-1909 issue, watermarked large cross. As such data are always of interest to dealers and collectors alike, I give them herewith: 1c, 800,000; 5c, 3,200,000; 10c, 3,200,000; 20c, 1,600,000; 50c, 600,000 and 100c, 200,000. The Postal Directorate has also announced that in response to numerous requests entire sheets of the 2, 5, 10 and 25c stamps, as arranged and printed for the stamp books, will be sold to the public at the post offices. These sheets, which consist of 90 stamps are very peculiarly arranged. They consist of 3 vertical rows of 10 stamps each with the stamps in normal position. Then follows a white strip of the width of the stamp, which is perforated vertically along the center. Next to this strip came 3 vertical rows of stamps in upright position followed by 3 vertical rows with the stamps upside down. It can thus be seen that from each sheet it is possible to obtain 10 pairs with the stamps tete beche. I have no doubt that when the time comes, these sheets can be obtained by American collectors by remittance of face value and return postage to the General Post-office at Berne.

Richard Senf Retires.—Under date of April 1, Mr. Richard Senf, the owner of the well known firm Gebrüder Senf of Leipzig, Germany, makes his final bow to the philatelic public whose interests he has unceasingly catered to for the last 30 years. Mr. Senf announces that his health becoming more and more impaired, he has decided to retire to private life, and has turned over his large stamp and publishing business to his son-in-law, Mr. Heinrich Neubauer. The latter announces at the same time that the business will be conducted under the old name and that the same high business standard will be maintained. Richard Senf occupied in relation to German philately, the same position as Stanley Gibbons held in England, and his catalogue has been the accepted standard in nearly all the countries of Europe and South America. His exit from the philatelic stage is of more than local importance.

The Paul Collection.
With a single exception (the Ayer Collection, also bought by the New England), the largest purchase ever made in the American Stamp World, and one of the largest ever made anywhere.
From Oct. 16th to Feb. 26th, inclusive, we published each week a list of rarities (look them over), stamps cataloguing as a rule from $100 to $5,000 each, and the list is by no means complete.
Now, for a few weeks, we shall advertise books made up by Countries, these books contain from $500 to $3,000 each, catalogue value, and are of course intended for somewhat advanced collectors, they will be sent to those well known to us, or to those furnishing satisfactory references.

RECRUITING COMMITTEE.

The above committee has been conducting its work this year with the soft pedal on and, for that reason, reports have not been made with regularity. However, fearing that the members at large may feel that the work is being neglected and wishing to give credit where it is due, I take pleasure in making the following announcement of results obtained by various members of the committee. Since taking hold of the work, the following number of applications have been secured. By W. O. Wylie, 40; I. C. Greene, 10; R. H. Beatty, 6; Ross O'Shaughnessy, 4; H. M. Clark, 4; W. G. Saxton, 4; F. B. Griffith, Jr., 4; W. M. Artman, 3; A. W. Dunning, 3; D. T. Eaton, 3; Geo. K. Smith, Jr., 3; Percy McG. Mann, 3; O. Kendall, 2; H. A. Davis, 2; H. A. Whipple, 2; J. A. Klemann, 2; S. M. Frechie, 1; F. B. Kirby, 1; L. G. Quackenbush, 1; H. L. Perkins, 1; Francis Rotch, Jr., 1; G. C. Cuenod, 1; W. D. Pierson, 1.

The above includes the Secretary's report of April 23rd.

I am sorry to report that a certain few of the committee men have seemingly failed to take any part in the work but at this time will refrain from specifying them by name in the hope that this little reminder will bring results.

But little more than one-third of the appropriation allowed for this work has been expended to date.

The thanks of this committee is extended to the many members outside its numbers who have gone "gunning" for applications with such good results, and the wide range of members proposing applicants at this time, shows a most healthy interest in the Society at large.

I will be pleased to send recruiting booklets to any member requesting them.

W. H. BARNUM,
Chairman Recruiting Com.

HIS ROYAL MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

PRES. OF THE ROYAL PHILATELIC SOCIETY, LONDON.

The ascendancy of King George the Fifth to the throne of Great Britain and Ireland will have a pronounced and beneficial effect on philately. Not alone in Great Britain and colonies will the stimulating example of the king's sympathy be felt but far and wide will the warming influence be extended. In many cases the newspapers have emphasized the king's penchant for stamp collecting and many a non-philatelic reader has been impressed by the statements; a new dignity has been loaned to the pursuit in the estimation of many who have not cared heretofore to examine into philately's claim for recognition. A desire to emulate the king's course may be felt by many who will find a satisfaction in following so distinguished a precedent. In good time, the King Edward issues will be supplanted by those of King George but, of a necessity, the change cannot be an immediate one; the transformation will be gradual and in no wise an inundation.

We cannot pretend to discuss intelligently what the future relationship of King George will be with the Royal Philatelic Society, London, of which as Prince of Wales he was president. At so recent a meeting of the London Society as that held March 17th, "the principal business on the agenda for the evening consisted of a display by the President of the issues of British Guiana between 1860 and 1882, the display being undertaken, at the request of His Royal Highness by the Hon. Secretary. The collection consisted of the issues between the dates mentioned, with the exception of the provisional issue of 1862, all the stamps being shown both used and unused. The necessary explanations and observations on the stamps comprised in the display were given by the Hon. Secretary, and the collection, which was much admired, was examined with the greatest interest by the members present."

A ROYAL PHILATELIST.
Abridged from previous article by C. A. HOWES.

Though the rolls of the London Philatelic Society have contained the names of not a few titled personages, it was with particular pride that the members welcomed one of the Royal Family to their circle in 1893. It is understood that the King, then Duke of York, intimated his desire to join the Society and was thereupon elected its Honorary Vice-President by acclamation. In 1896 he accepted office as President of the Council of the Society, and since 1900 has been its highest officer owing to the death of the Honorary President, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.
The interest of His Royal Majesty in stamps began, as with most of us, when he was a boy, and as he was brought up in the Royal Navy his voyages naturally gave him many opportunities of acquiring stamps at first hand. In 1892 his collection had attained considerable proportions but was then largely increased by the purchase of another collection of some magnitude, which caused an entire rearrangement into the modern form of movable leaf albums.
Subsequent additions which may be mentioned are: a valuable book of British, Colonial and other stamps, presented by the London Philatelic Society on the occasion of His Royal Majesty's marriage in 1893; a magnificent collection of the stamps of Great Britain, from the record sheets, presented by the Inland Revenue authorities; a very fine collection of British Colonial stamps, presented by the Crown Agents for the Colonies; a fine collection of New South Wales stamps, presented by the Sydney Philatelic Club; and a collection of British North Americans, presented by Canadian philatelists.
It is understood that the collection is now practically confined to the stamps of the British Empire, and the portions of it which have been exhibited show that the royal philatelist is an advanced collector of no mean order. His interest in our pursuit is evinced by his participation in the London Exhibition of 1897 and the private exhibitions of the London Society. It is also stated that "his stamps are always placed at the disposition of his fellow-members when they can be of service for any of the purposes of the London society."

But perhaps the greatest event in which the King figures philatelically, was his purchase of the 2 pence Post Office Mauritius at auction in January 1904 for $7500. This episode is familiar to the collecting world, but it created great astonishment in the lay mind when the news was telegraphed over the globe from London.
His Royal Majesty has also given the London Society the results of some of his own investigations in the philatelic field, the first being a note embodying his researches into the vexed question of the method of manufacture of the first stamp of Denmark, and again last year his valuable paper, read in person at a meeting of the London Society, upon the Postal Issues of the United Kingdom during the Present Reign.
We congratulate philatelists in general and the Premier Society in particular in having among their number one so prominent who not only takes a deep interest in our pursuit, but is willing to devote time from the innumerable demands upon one in his position to add his quota of personal effort to the cause. Among the several reputed "royal philatelists," we find here one who is really worthy of the name.

IN HONOR OF HENRY J. CROCKER.

A rare privilege is to be given the philatelists of Boston and vicinity to meet and greet Henry J. Crocker of San Francisco, Cal., whose collection of Hawaiian stamps is of international importance. This event will occur Wednesday eve, May 25, at Young's Hotel, Boston, in the large hotel parlor. The reception will take place at 8 o'clock, a special meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society having been called for that hour. Greetings will be extended our honored guest and we are assured that Mr. Crocker in responding will add to our store of philatelic knowledge concerning the stamps of the Hawaiian Ids. Mr. Crocker will have with him his famous collection and all who attend are assured a fine philatelic feast of good things.
On the same evening dinner will be served at the hotel at 6 o'clock and any philatelist will be welcome. Write C. A. Howes, 55 Kilby St., Boston, of your intention to be present.
The arrangements for the reception and dinner are in the hands of a committee consisting of James C. Woolley, Willard O. Wylie and C. A. Howes. Remember the date, Wednesday, May 25. Every collector who is able to attend one or both of these events is urged to be present.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.
—J. F. Hinson, A. P. S. 2768, sends us a clipping from the Savannah Morning News containing the Burroughs story on animal stamp designs, issued under the authority of the Educational Committee of the A. P. S. This story is having a wide reading. He also sends a 19c permit, issued from Baltimore, Md. This is certainly an odd permit value. Mr. Hinson in closing his letter writes:—"Chas. R. Morris of Washington, D. C., for A. P. S. secretary."
—"Enclosed find check for two years' renewal. MEKEEL'S is worse than Pear's Soap, for I can get along without the soap."—F. HUTCHINS.
—Frederic C. De Puy (sending us a couple of clippings) asks the question as to how many "King's heads" now current will have to be replaced with the head of King George. He writes that according to his figures the number is 362.
—In their page advertisement this week the Scott Co. announces an important purchase, a superb general collection of over 20,000 varieties. While the name of the former owner is not made public, there is every assurance that the collection is one of great merit and well worth all the claims made for it.
—Clippings received from David H. Brandt, Marcel E. Taller, C. Davidson, D. D. Berolzheimer, W. E. Halm and A. A. Doolittle.

DUTCH INDIES.

The Nederlandsch Tijdschrift voor Postzegelkunde brings a most important contribution on the subject of Dutch Indies.

M. J. Mijer has discovered the existence of two types of each of the values of the 1870-74 issue, with the exception of the 1 cent where there are three types, and the 2 1/2 gulden, where there is only one. Two types of the 1 cent have of course been known for some time:—

1 cent. Type 1. "1" upright.
" " 2. "1" leans over to right.
" " 3. "1" " " left.
5 cent. " 1. Vertical stroke of "5" is plumb.
" " 2. Vertical stroke of "5" leans over to left and the shape of the figure is different.
10 cent. " 1. "10 cent" normal.
" " 2. "10 cent" thinner.
15 cent. " 2. "1" and "5" further apart and of different shape.
20 cent. " 1. "20 cent" normal.
" " 2. "20 cent" thinner.
25 cent. " 1. Top of "5" is almost straight.
" " 2. Top of "5" is curly.
50 cent. " 1. "50 cent" normal.
" " 2. "50 cent" thinner, and the "5" is of different shape.

All the stamps with small holes perforation are of Type 1, except the 1 cent, which occurs in all three types. It is noteworthy that Gibbons only lists Variety 1 in this perforation.

Heer Mijer is heartily to be congratulated on his discovery. Meanwhile we await further developments, but would just add that our contemporary reproduces enlarged photographs of the different types from which the differences are quite obvious.—Phil. Jour. Great Britain.

BRITISH PHILATELIC CONGRESS.

By WM. WARD.

It would be hard for a philatelist to say which event proved the most interesting, the great aviation success of M. Paulhan or the holding of the Second British Philatelic Congress during the last week of April, 1910.

The petit Paulhan was banquetted, so were we who represented the philatelic societies of our islands. If the Frenchman had a more glorious time than we, then he did have a time.

The social success of this Congress can never be excelled—for once in their lives the philatelists who took part in the hospitality extended by the Herts Philatelic Society, the Junior Philatelic Society, the Earl of Crawford and Mr. Hayman of Liberian fame, were eminent princes and partaking of a royal hospitality. Like all good things the end came all too soon.

The social success spoilt the possibility of there being any businesslike success. Everybody had enjoyed themselves too well, to have been of much utility the day after.

However to give a very full report of what we did would take too much valuable space, even if it were of interest outside these islands.

That ardent collector of British and United States stamps, our premier active philatelist, the Earl of Crawford, opened up the first day with an excellent speech that could not have been excelled by any of his brother Lords in Parliament. Each word was carefully studied. The noble Earl spoke not only for himself but on behalf of the President of Congress, the Prince of Wales. He congratulated us upon so soon securing Royal patronage—the first public philatelic congress in the world to have that attainment. He referred to philately as a science—made us think a very great deal about our own importance.

The next speaker was Major Evans, who evidently spoke to the point—but as we were so unfortunate as not to catch a single word of his speech we must apologize for passing on to Mr. Dunbar Heath, descendant of the famous Charles Heath, engraver of the first stamp ever issued. This gentleman also conversed loud enough for himself to hear, upon the making of postage stamps. Had it not been that we had been previously instructed, we should have still been in the dark as to stamp manufacture at the close of the first meeting.

The delegates were right royally entertained in the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Hayman at their house in West Hampstead.

The following morning, Thursday, at the invitation of Earl Crawford we went to inspect his famous collection at his London residence in Cavendish Square. For the time being we coveted in thought, our host's glorious exhibition of postage stamps, and listened to several pithy stories of philatelic and general interest.

The afternoon's speeches resulted in a little more or less organized debate. Mr. Dorning Beckton's proposal to have a universal standard of philatelic terms was interesting even if not possibly practicable. Unfortunately American philatelists will spell the color "gray" and use the term "O. G." to define a mint unused state. The French collector is not likely to change his definition for perforation. The result of Mr. Becton's "observations" was the formation of a committee to attempt to make a philatelic dictionary.

The President of the Junior Philatelic Society made an important speech against the sending of approval selections to boys at school. Several half-tone dealers present of course opposed the black-listing for obvious reasons—but the majority agreed with Mr. Melville that this hungry form of soliciting trade was to be deprecated.

The Herts Philatelic Society entertained the delegates to a banquet at the Monico in the evening. Among the special guests were Mr. Henniker Heaton, the postal reformer, M. Coyette, the courteous president of the Societe Philatelic Francaise, Mr. Fred Hagen of Sydney, New South Wales. Herr Passer and Mr. Paul King, head of the Chinese Imperial Postal Administration.

The last day of Congress, opened in the afternoon by Major Evans' chat upon forgeries. Mr. T. H. Hinton then dealt with the subject of tampering with Exchange Packets, by the substitution of stamps. This abuse was unanimously condemned, but it was thought that the proper course was, on discovery of the offender, to place the case in the hands of the police.

The writer's paper on the proposal to form a Universal Philatelic Union was received with mixed appreciation—as some considered it out of the scope of a mere British Congress. However as no one attempted to dispute the possibility of such a scheme founded on the lines proposed by its author, the proposal was allowed to remain "as is," so that it may be placed before the foreign societies.

At the closing meeting, Mr. M. P. Castle was down to give a proposal to form an International Philatelic Union to suppress the issues of speculative issues. As however he never made mention of such proposal, we can only note that he condemned the issue of pictorial stamps generally and Liberia in particular. Mr. Hayman defended the issues of Liberia, with the result that Mr. Castle withdrew what he said, and pointed out that we (the Congress) had misunderstood what he had said. He wished the Congress to understand that he deprecated the provisional issues. Mr. Hayman then pointed out that the Liberian government surcharged certain stamps for good reasons. The same gentlemen stated that all remainders should be burnt. Mr. Castle replied by saying that he never intended to condemn the Liberian provisionals, he always considered them highly necessary. Thus all friendships were saved.

Mr. Henniker Heaton closed the meeting—and referred to himself doubly as the member of the first ecclesiastical city in the world, and as the Canterbury Lamb—a title that brought the remark from a prominent visitor, "that it was overdone."

The council dinner of the Junior Philatelic Society was given on Saturday evening, April 30th—the chief guest being Mr. Fred Hagen of Sydney, New South Wales. The toasts of the King and Queen were proposed by the President, Mr. Melville, who of course as chairman proposed the toast of the guest of the evening. The J. P. S. Council and the President were proposed by the writer.

There were many diversions to entertain the diners afterwards—the most amusing of which was an interesting pantomime taking off many well known philatelic characters, such as the Canterbury Lamb (overdone), Mr. Postal Unionstein from Berne, "Sir" Walter Scott's (Cardiff) ode on "Come into the Garden, Ward" (coats off) and many other skits too numerous to mention.

It was the most successful event of the successful events of the week.

EDITORIAL.

Opened—Reports of the proceedings of the second philatelic congress, London, will soon be available, and we have no doubt but that they will tell of practical work accomplished as well as sound theories advanced. We learn that the congress was opened under favorable conditions and that the auguries for successful sessions were of the brightest.

* * *

Victoria—In Mr. Kjellstedt's translation of the Berliner Briefmarken Zeitung, we find, under Victoria: "The issue of 1885 is found with black or blue, horizontal 'Specimen' measuring 16 mm. and of a script type. The charity stamps of 1897, 1 penny blue and 2½ pence red brown appear with small, red overprint in italics, measuring 12 mm." In this connection, it is to be said that under date of January 29th, 1901, the Comptroller of Stamps, Melbourne, Victoria, sent the following typewritten manifolded circular to an inquirer: "Cancelled Victorian Stamps. A set of Victorian Postage and Postage due Stamps of all denominations from ½d to 20sh, including Post Cards, Envelopes, and Newspaper Wrappers, may be purchased for £1. The full set, from ½d to £100, may be obtained for £5. A separate set of Postage due for 5sh. The stamps will be cancelled either by postmark, or by being marked 'Specimen' as the purchaser may desire, and can be procured on application to the Comptroller of Stamps, General Post Office, Melbourne." Accompanying the circular were two order forms, "Postage Due Stamps," ½d to 5sh inclusive, and "Revenue Stamps," ½d to £100, inclusive. On the "Revenue Stamps" requisition, no fewer than thirty-four denominations are listed; and on it, Section 4 of the Post Office Act of 1883 is quoted: "Any stamp issued under the authority of 'The Stamp Statute 1869,' of 'The Stamp Duties Act 1879,' of 'The Post Office Statute 1866,' hereby repealed, or of this Act, may be used for any of the purposes of the said Acts or of this Act, save and except where an Embossed Stamp is required." The great majority of the sets that were sold by the government to collectors were postmarked to order; these stamps may be distinguished by the beautifully clear postmark of Melbourne, the lines of which are thinner than in that of the regular postal cancellation.

One of the Objections.—A factor that had its effect in shaping legislation for the suppression of private posts and express companies was the tendency of such institutions to encourage, passively at least, clandestine correspondence and irregular conduct on the parts of those whose characters were weak or vicious. While the management of the better known posts was respectable and above catering to the inclinations of the wayward, yet, seemingly, they did not exercise a proper espionage over their postal operations. This consideration, we believe, never has been cited by the historians of the local posts. A critic of the '60's castigates the well-known Blood's Express in these words: "When Blood's Express was first established, its main object was to accommodate merchants, mechanics, and professional men generally, by furnishing a medium of communication with their customers, clients, &c., which would anticipate the slow movements of the old postal mode of delivery. If this continued to be the legitimate object, it is very probable the commercial community would have taken a much greater interest in it than they did; but, unfortunately for this new postal system, it assumed the character of a 'Parisian Bureau,' for the reception and delivery of small documents, where-in 'love, courtship and marriage' were all treated with an eye to excitement rather than as a virtuous incentive to their study and moral consequences. . . . Added to this, many made this penny system the medium to originate practical jokes, and thus the 'express' became a sort of Pandora's (postal) box for all sorts of people to try experiments with fickle fortune, either by marriage or swindling. Both in some instances succeeded." When the government took charge of the express, it soon suppressed these demoralizing "asides" and it was found that the post-office was too dignified a medium for the furtherance of puerile designs.

A Guess—In the Stamp Journal for May is a cut of a "shin-plaster" bearing the inscription, "Benton Post-Office, Due the Bearer, Five Cents, Payable in Postage," and the year, 1838. The owner of the piece of scrip, W. A. Sisson, St. Louis, says that "our Missouri Historical Society could throw no light on its history, when it was shown them." A natural surmise is made that Benton, Mo., was the town of issue. This may be the correct assumption; at least we cannot at this moment controvert it but in the absence of definite data, we name Benton, Mich., as a strong possibility. In an index of 1836, there are a half-dozen Bentons in as many different western and southern states. In 1838, Michigan was teeming with industry and growing rapidly; "wild-cat" currency was produced in great variety due to the sudden business expansion of the state and the paucity of government circulating medium; and we have a vague recollection that we saw, years ago, a somewhat similar piece of scrip in a collection of old Michigan bills that was examined so hastily that no note could be taken of the curiosity. We may refer further to the bill in question and the particular part that it played in the economy of that early day.

THE STAMP MARKET.

BY SENAX.

Brazil Jubilee, 1908, the oblong pictorial couple, offered per hundred, is a quotation that makes one open one's eyes.

Five French stamps that are worth all they are priced in the catalogues are: the 1c 1853, the 5fr 1863, the 75c 1876, the 20c 1900, and the 10c 1906 with ground. 100 copies of the 50c current unpaid have come one's way and are very acceptable.

20c to 75c values of such pictorial French Colonials as are obsolete may be viewed as a good exchange for one's surplus stamps of other kinds; such stamps will always be wanted by old-fashioned general collectors in this country who do not allow themselves to neglect outside issues.

Anyone who set himself to make a collection of the world's Postage Dues would find it a hard matter; in this sphere there are occasionally wonderful opportunities for the buyer who makes a practice of supplying out-of-the-way stamps.

A dealer who makes a specialty of the stamps of any particular country will be likely to provide some uncommon kinds of that country; two pages of a certain wholesale list to hand are devoted to the stamps of one country, per hundred, and the items are delightfully interesting in their extent and fullness.

Selections of stamps that can be described as "odds and ends" probably stand a little chance of attracting purchasers; perhaps the best selling sheet is that on which regular issues are set out in the order in which they occur in the catalogue.

Surcharged values of Crete, 1908-09, are a novelty possibly deserving attention, but are not cheap.

Some Tunis unpaids have come prominently under one's notice this Christmas, but one wonders whether the perforated varieties on issue prior to 1901 are, at all popular among collectors.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

COMMUNICATION.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

NEW YORK CITY, May, 1910.

Editor of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY,

Dear Sir:—In your issue of May 23rd, 1908, there was inadvertently published a communication signed by our Manager, Mr. E. B. Power, whereto was appended an article which had been published in the Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal, issued by Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., of England. This article reflected on the personal and professional character of Mr. Samuel Singer, formerly of Paris, France, and now of New York.

Upon the publication of this article Mr. Singer brought suit against us for libel; this suit has been amicably settled and discontinued and because of the reflections cast upon Mr. Singer we request you to publish this letter.

We now certify that the aspersions contained in said article were unmerited and unfounded and as far as we have been able to ascertain, after careful investigation, Mr. Singer is a gentleman who has raised to a fine art his profession of repairing valuable stamps.

Very truly yours,

STANLEY GIBBONS, INC.,
E. B. POWER, Mgr.

NEW BRITISH STAMP.

"We are able this week to give our readers exclusive information regarding a new stamp shortly to be issued by the British Post Office. It is quite an unexpected novelty and consists of an entirely new value, viz.: 7d. The stamp is of the usual size and will show the figures '7d' in a shield in each of the upper angles, the King's Head is in an oval, surmounted by a Crown, and the inscription is 'POSTAGE AND REVENUE'. The remaining space, in the lower angles, is filled with a floriate design. The space between the stamps is lined as in the present 4d value, sheets consist of 240 stamps, arranged in two panes of 120 stamps each, separated by the usual lined blocks, the margins of the sheets showing much, if not complete, similarity to the current 4d orange. The stamp will be printed on unsurfaced paper in slate-grey, but we cannot as yet state the actual date of issue, which will probably be about June 1st or July 1st next.

This value will be largely used for foreign letters weighing between 3 and 4 ounces, for inland parcels weighing between 5 and 7 lbs., or registered inland parcels weighing between 2 and 3 lbs. The stamp will also be of considerable use in the telegraph services, both home and radiotelegraph. To be issued shortly.—Oswald Marsh's Weekly Circular.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Any information regarding new issues will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, 17 Addison St., Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We cannot give applicants the addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Stephen Schreiter, Jr., sends us a photo of the upper right hand corner of a 2c Columbian stamp, which shows very plainly the upper ball of the figure "2" is separated from the rest of the figure by a broad black mark.

The Frank P. Brown Co. has shown us further specimens of Telegraph Franks, supplementary to those noted in No. 999. The new specimens include the 1908 green and 1909 yellow green of the Postal Telegraph Cable Co., with the initials, "I. C." (Illinois Central) at the top.

BAHAMAS.—Ewen's Weekly chronicles the current 4d King's Head stamp in pale yellow instead of orange yellow.

BELGIUM.—Others of the Belgian stamps appear to be coming in new colors, as well as the 1fr noted in No. 1010. Ewen's Weekly notes the 10c in rose red instead of pink and the 30c postage due stamp in bright blue instead of dull blue.

CEYLON.—In consequence of the unification of the postage, telegraph and foreign bill stamps, for which separate series have hitherto been provided, the Colonial Office Journal announces several forthcoming changes in the current postage stamps of this Colony. Six new denominations are to be issued, viz., 10c, 50c, 1, 2 and 10 rupees, and five of the existing values are to be discontinued, viz., 4c, 12c and 75c, R. 1.50, R. 2.25. In addition to the new values listed above new plates are to be brought into use for the printing of the 2c, 5c and 6c stamps of the current series, and in future the composition of the sheets of the various values of Ceylon stamps will be as follows:—5c, 480; 3, 10, 15, 25, 30, 50c and 1 rupee, 240; remainder, 120.

The colours are also to be revised to conform to the Colonial colour scheme, those of the new denominations being as under:—2c orange, 5c purple, 10c sage green and purple, 25c gray, 30c blue purple and green, 50c brown, R. 1 purple on yellow, R. 2 red on yellow, R. 5 black on green and R. 10 black on red. Of these, the 5c value only will be printed on chalky paper, as heretofore.

CHINA.—The two new stamps chronicled in No. 1011 each have a special mission. It appears that the 3c is issued to pay the postage on letters to Japan, and the 7c is for local registration purposes. These two denominations were first included in the Commemorative series, and it was then announced that they were subsequently to be added to the permanent set.

COLOMBIA.—The following recently appeared in Gibbons' Weekly, supplementary to the statement reprinted from the same paper in No. 1010:

"Following up the short description of type differences in the second issue of 1904, which appeared in our number of April 2nd, Mr. J. Mallings has sent us some further notes on the subject. Mr. Mallings has found two further types of the 1c, making five types in all; the first of these has the little left-hand hook turned outwards as in the first type of the 2c and 5c. The second resembles our publishers' Type I in all respects except that between the word 'Republica' and the row of pearls above it, three white lines of background may be counted instead of two.

"In describing the 2c, Mr. Mallings mentions that our Type II has an extra line in the front curl of the foot of the '2' which does not appear in Type I or Type III normal, but there is another type similar to Type III which has this second line.

"It also appears that our 5c, Type II, may be subdivided into two, the first with a diagonal stroke under the 'v' of 'Centavos' and a short stroke above the 'I' of 'Cinco'; the second without these two marks, but having a wavy line in the broad white border to the figure '5' and a thicker top border line to the tablet of value."

CONGO.—Die Post reports that the 50c value has been issued with both Belgian and Flemish inscriptions.

Adhesive.

50c green and black.

COSTA RICA.—The New England Stamp Co. supplements our recent chronicle of the low values of a new set, by showing us the 20c stamp. The design is similar to the others, the portrait being that of Julian Volio.

FUNCHAL.—Through the courtesy of Hermann Focke, we are able to confirm the note in No. 1011, regarding the use of the stamps of the mother country in this Colony. Mr. Focke shows us a cover mailed at Funchal, Madeira, April 25, 1910, with a 50r King Manuel stamp of Portugal.

GIBRALTAR.—The 2sh stamp has now been issued in the large form, and according to the new color scheme, on chalky multiple paper. A copy has been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. and also the 2d in a new shade of gray green, the red label being in a darker shade, and apparently in a little heavier type, though this may be due to heavier impression in printing.

Adhesive.

2sh violet and blue on blue.

ITALY.—As announced in No. 1008, two Commemorative stamps have been issued in honor of the 50th anniversary of the liberation of Sicily, and copies have been shown us by the New England Stamp Co. The stamps are larger than the current stamps of Italy, the design being 21x27½ mm., and quite striking in appearance. The inscriptions read "Francobollo—Postale Italiano" at the top in two lines running the whole width of the stamp, with the dates "1860" and "1910" at the bottom. "5" appears in the lower left corner, and "Cent." in the lower right corner, both in circles. A circle below the portrait has the three-legged arms of Sicily. The portrait of Garibaldi, which is the prominent feature of the design, seems large for the size of the stamp, and is framed in an upright oblong space by bands of laurel and oak. The 5c stamp is sold for 10 centesimos and the 15c for 20 centesimi, the difference between the face value and the selling price to be turned over to the fund for the Fetes to be held at Palermo. Three million copies of each stamp are said to have been printed. The stamps are perforated 14¼x14.

OVER 20,000 VARIETIES

The gentleman who made this collection has been known for years as one of the MOST PARTICULAR COLLECTORS in America. His ideal of fine condition was one very difficult to live up to, but by perseverance through many years, and never hesitating to pay a high price, even above catalogue, for a specimen that really pleased him, he formed a collection in TRULY WONDERFUL CONDITION.

There are many stamps which we have not had in stock for a long time. There are many stamps which are likely NEVER to be had again at present prices in the same condition.

DISCRIMINATING COLLECTORS who appreciate such an opportunity are invited to send want lists. With the exception of pairs and a few other very unusual items, the stamps will be sold at our regular discount of ten per cent from catalogue, although we should be justified in charging much over catalogue for many of the finest copies.

NEW YORK BUYERS may see the books of the collection, as fast as they can be priced, at our DOWNTOWN Branch, 207 Broadway, entrance opposite St. Paul's churchyard. Uptown customers may have any portions desired sent to our Uptown Store for inspection, by notifying or telephoning in advance.

Lists by Mail should be sent to our Uptown address, 127 Madison Ave., as usual.

From time to time, remainders, etc., of various issues come on the market in quantities, causing the prices to drop. Such price changes as are important are noted in the Monthly Circular and, for 12c a year, any collector can guard against being taken in.

Important price raises are noted as well as the important drops.

In addition, the Monthly Circular contains, in condensed form, latest market information and other real stamp news, together with offers of many bargains.

The subscription price is 12c a year, which pays the postage. Every stamp collector needs the Monthly Circular. You need it. Send 12c today!

Cash on hand this report,	$4,197.21

The showing made during the quarter is considerably better than that of the last quarter, although there is still room for much improvement.

The recent appeals to the members by the Sales Superintendent for a larger quantity of carefully prepared sales books with stamps arranged in alphabetical order, and also in the order of issue, have met with a very hearty response, and the sales made from these new books are averaging much better than under the old plan of arranging stamps in any way so that the books were filled.

We feel that the Department is now in splendid shape to furnish the members of the Society with a fine line of books of stamps marked at very reasonable prices, and we urge all members, who are making any purchases of stamps, to avail themselves of the privileges of the Sales Department. This feature of membership in our Society is one of the most valuable that we have to offer, and when its worth is fully realized, the business of the Department is sure to be greatly increased.

We may say briefly to those that have desirable duplicates for sale that they should write for blank sales books, which may be had from the Sales Superintendent for 5c each, fill them promptly and return to the Sales Superintendent for circulation.

The demand for good U. S. postage stamps at reasonable prices is at present greater than our supply, and while all stamps are meeting with a good sale, this class is rather more in demand at present. Do not forget to place the catalogue number and value under each stamp, as well as the net selling price.

The work of the branch managers has been progressing nicely and we append a list with the sales made through each thus far during the fiscal year:

1 J. W. Haseltine, Philadelphia, Pa.,	$873.60
2 Don R. Bennett, Detroit, Mich.,	486.12
3 Charles R. Morris, Washington, D. C.,	421.69
4 L. A. Van Toor, Milwaukee, Wis.,	303.02
5 John F. Rust & H. C. Crowell, Cleveland, 232.57
6 W. C. Emery, Springfield, Mass.,	154.22
7 Geo. W. Linn, Columbus, O.,	98.76
8 A. W. Dunning & J. H. Lyons, Boston,	83.34
9 T. C. Mann, St. Louis, Mo.,	82.42
10 Ross O'Shaughnessy, San Fran., Calif.,	66.45
11 W. O. Staab, Milwaukee, Wis.,	62.22
12 George B. Graham, Buffalo, N. Y.,	42.27
13 Max Wenzel, Brookline, Pa.,	41.13
14 Fred Doughty, Saginaw, Mich.,	32.77
15 Harrie Mueller, Wichita, Kansas,	30.79
16 E. J. Crawford, Fresno, Calif.,	16.15

I might add that the system of sending a large number of books to communities having local branches, has met with considerable success, as is evidenced by the statement above of sales made by branch managers in various cities and localities. We should be very happy to correspond with other groups of collectors or branches that would like to consider the question of receiving branch circuits. These branch managers receive a small commission, and also enter the lists for certain stamp prizes which are offered by the Sales Superintendent.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCIVAL PARRISH, Sales Supt.

MUSEUM COLLECTION ADDS NICE ONE.

(This stamp will at once be recognized as one of the higher values, used for revenue purposes. However, any one of our readers would gladly receive a similar present from the Bureau at Berne. Clipping from Marcel E. Teller.—Ed.)

WASHINGTON, May 17.—A postage stamp with a face value of $500 (Straits Settlements money—Ed.) was received today by Postmaster General Hitchcock from the International Postal Union at Berne, Switzerland.

The stamp bears the profile of the late King Edward VII. It was issued for the Straits Settlement, and is printed in two colors—light orange and lilac. The stamp has been turned over to Stanley I. Slack, curator of the Postal Museum, to be placed on exhibition.

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED.

As soon as your name has been published as an applicant you will probably have unsolicited selections of stamps sent you on approval. As a great many collectors object to this the Society desires to break the practice up. Please aid us and help protect yourself and others against further imposition, by holding such selections without purchasing therefrom until sufficient funds have been received from the sender to enable you to return the stamps to him by registered mail. Also please report to the Secretary of the Society the name of the dealer sending such unsolicited selections.

1910 DIE VARIETIES OF THE 2c CARMINE ENVELOPE.

By VICTOR M. BERTHOLD.

(Referring to a recent contribution by Pessimist in your publication I venture to send you a few descriptions of recent die varieties of the 2 cent carmine envelope such as I have seen. Later on I may send you also a description of the various new varieties of the 1 cent, green. Believing that the noting down of numerous little details of each variety makes it difficult to find the variety and is rather a bewildering task to the uninitiated, I have attempted to give as briefly as possible the characteristic or main features of the varieties that I have seen. So far it seems to me that all recut dies—compared with Die A—2 cents carmine—show the broadened "S"s, also letter "N" of UNITED is measurably taller; in fact it is 2½ mm. against 2 mm. in Die A. I hope that this attempt at classification may lead all collectors who are interested in this subject to unite in drawing up brief characteristic descriptions of the various varieties so that I may be able to catalogue them in the revised edition of Bartels' Catalogue which will appear before the fall of the present year.)

The main characteristic of the die varieties as far as known is the letter "S" of STATES, which instead of being short as in Die A is broader with enlarged ends. Thus "S" in Die A — "S" in Recuts.

A second important feature is the position of the words forming the inscription, which in most cases differs with the position of the words in Die A. Moreover, the distance or position between certain letters is often different from the distance or position of these letters in Die A.

Finally, letters NI of UNITED are 2½ mm., but in the original Die A only 2 mm.

Var. 1. "TW" inner oval line and nearly touching each other. "WO" widely separated. "O" low. "CENTS" much nearer inner oval line than in original Die A. "U" of UNITED some distance from 2. Bust is pointed at bottom of base.

Known: S. 13 White.
S. 13 Amber.
S. 13 O. Buff.

Var. 2. "U" of UNITED close to 2. End of bust is broad and looks "ragged." In many other respects excepting "S" similar to original Die A.

Known: S. 13 White
S. 13 Amber.
S. 13 O. Buff.
S. 13 Blue.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

Var. 3. "U" of UNITED far from 2. "S" of STATES slightly higher than TAT, the latter is close to inner oval line as are "ES." Same is true of the words "TWO" and "CENTS." End of bust rounded and not so wide at bottom.

Known: S. 5 White.
S. 5 Amber.

Var. 4. The main characteristics of this variety are the rather notchy outer line of the hair and a distinct Adam's apple. Bust ends somewhat angular. "CEN" close together. Cross bar of T in two shorter than others. "NI" in UNITED are parallel.

Known: S. 1 White.
S. 5 White.
S. 14 White.
S. 14 Blue.
S. 14 O. Buff.

Var. 5. Front of bust narrow, only one-half the width of that in Die A and far from oval line both front and back. Upper inscription near inner oval line also "two," "C" of CENTS separated from "E." The lines representing the cravat do not curve at the back, but are as in the original Die A.

Known: S. 5 White.
S. 5 Amber.
S. 5 O. Buff.
S. 5 Blue.

Var. 6. "O" of two some distance from "W" also "C" separated from ENTS. At the left end of the bottom of the bust over the "W" there is a perceptible notch. All T's except in UNITED have short top strokes.

Known: S. 5 White.
S. 5 Blue.

Var. 7. "ST" of STATES very close. "O" and "C" also nearer than in other varieties. "C" some distance from ENTS. ENT close together. Lines representing the cravat are as in original die, but they do not curve to the queue. Bottom of bust is angular in front and not a straight line at back above the S. Chin peculiarly pointed.

Known: S. 5 White.
S. 5 Amber.

Var. 8. Bust far from oval over "W" and end somewhat rounded. two nearer
